Longest E-x-p-a-n-s-i-o-n in U.S. History

By JOHN PIERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's economic advisers Saturday celebrated the longest expansion in U.S. peacetime history and said there's no reason why it can't go on and on and on.

"It is premature to say that business cycles have been eliminated," the Council of Economic Advisers said in a report to the President and his cabinet.

"But we now know that there is no necessary reason why an expansion must end in 26 months, 36 months, 50 months, 80 months or any other arbitrary length of time," the council said.

The current business advance is now in its 51st month, having begun in February 1961. It is exceeded only by the 80-month upswing that spanned World War II, and the council expressed optimism about its future.

"There is every reason to expect a great many more months of good economic expansion. So far, we see none of the traditional signs that have marked the beginning of the end of prosperity," the report said.

"Prosperity is determined not by the rhythm of the calendar, but by the actions of business, labor and government. So long as those actions remain responsible and constructive, prosperity will endure," the council added.

The report was crammed with the economic statistics of the past 50 months. It also contained what may be a statistical first—a grim account of how much production, profits, wages, employment and federal tax revenues would have been lost if there had been a recession last spring.

U.S. Viet Base Blasts Kill 21, Ruin 22 Planes

Dominican Junta Guns Jolt Rebels

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — About 1,500 troops of the civilian-military junta, backed by artillery and tanks, opened an offensive Saturday against rebels in northern Santo Domingo. They reported many prisoners taken in the first fighting.

The thunder of cannonading and explosions shook Santo Domingo as the junta strove to wipe out about 300 rebels north of the U.S. corridor.

* * * *

THE CORRIDOR runs from the Ozama River bridge on the eastern edge of Santo Domingo to the international zone for refugees in the waterfront area. The main rebel stronghold lies south of this line in downtown Santo Domingo.

Junta radio stations warned Dominicans to stay off the streets after 4 p.m. and said:

"The hour of cleanup has come."

Citizens were warned not to give shelter to refugees fleeing from the rebel-held zone.

Lively action was reported on the Ozama River front, where the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division on the east bank faces the rebels in their stronghold on the western side. One paratrooper was wounded as firing with light and heavy weapons continued.

THE DEATH toll of U.S. forces since the first of 22,000 troops landed April 28 rose to 18. The Defense Department announced the death Friday from bullet wounds of 2nd Lt. George D. Samples, son of an Army master sergeant stationed in Germany.

35 Hurt as Bombs Explode in Accident

Combined Wire Services

BIEN HOA, Viet Nam, Sunday—At least 21 persons were killed and 22 airplanes destroyed early today in an accidental series of explosions at this strategic U.S. air base.

A U.S. military spokesman said at least 35 were injured, some seriously. All or most of the casualties were believed to be U.S. servicemen, he said.

Eleven of the airplanes destroyed were fully loaded U.S. B57 jet bombers.

Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Moore, commander of the U.S. Air Force 2nd Air division, said the explosions were caused accidentally.

"No sabotage or enemy action is involved," he said. "It was an accidental explosion of a bomb on one aircraft which spread to others."

* * * *

MOORE SAID SOME OF THE planes were loaded with incendiary bombs.

The explosions, the spokesman said, were set off by a fire in a B57 preparing to leave on a combat mission. The fire set off the bomber's ammunition and spread to the 10 other planes on the flight line.

The seven other B57s at Bien Hoa had left earlier on combat missions to undisclosed targets.

An eyewitness to the explosions said: "My God, it's raging! Smoke must be rising hundreds of feet in the air!"

Some buildings in the part of the base ripped by the explosions were evacuated. Medics carried off seven stretcher casualties, presumably U.S. troops. Some were in serious condition.

The spokesman said the first blast went off at 8:25 a.m. (Saigon time) and seven minutes later, 750-pound bombs and fuel began exploding.

At 8:45 a.m. a plane flying overhead radioed the ramp had been wiped out.

Communications with the base were disrupted.

U.S. paratroopers of the recently arrived 173rd Airborne Brigade helped seal off the base and pitched in with the fire-fighting.

* * * *

IT WAS AT BIEN HOA THAT A sneak mortar attack by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas last Nov. 1 killed four Americans, wounded 74 others and knocked out 27 U.S. planes, including 20 parked B57s.

As the sneak mortar attack by the Viet Cong showed last fall, the Bien Hoa base is considered by them to be a prime target. The base is used by both U.S. and South Vietnamese planes for strikes against North Viet Nam and against the Viet Cong inside South Viet Nam.

Last November, the Viet Cong crept to the edge of the base through the surrounding jungle and fled before a counterattack could be launched.

A U.S. military board subsequently found the base's Vietnamese guards had been lax. It was then that the United States decided to step up its own security forces, including the 173rd Airborne Brigade brought in from Okinawa.

Russ Warn on German Airway Use

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union warned Saturday night that any new West German parliamentary meetings in Berlin will force the Russians to "insure the inviolability" of East Germany's frontiers.

Moscow Radio said the warning was contained in a note from the Soviet Foreign Ministry addressed to the United States.

The note said that air routes over East Germany were illegally used to fly in West Germans "for the revenge-mongering demonstration in West Berlin."

* * * *

WEST German legislators were flown to West Berlin—some in U.S. military planes—for the meeting of the Bundestag (lower house) last month after the Communist East Berlin regime barred ground routes to the lawmakers.

The West Germans regard Berlin as the traditional capital of Germany, with Bonn only a provisional seat for the federal republic.

The note said the movement of West German legislators was a violation of four-power agreements on Berlin.

"The Soviet Government has never assumed a commitment to guarantee free access into West Berlin for revenge-hungry militarists of the federal republic who have nothing to do with the city," a radio account of the note said.

* * * *

THE note was in reply to an American protest of April 7 complaining about the harassment of the Berlin Autobahn and other routes when the West German lawmakers were proceeding to the city.

The Russian reply defended the East German actions as necessary for the protection of East German security and rights.

"Such actions of a sovereign country," the note said, "cannot be a subject of discussion."

According to the spokesman, the four Marines, attached to the "Hawk" antiaircraft missile battalion at Da Nang, stole a quarter-ton truck after an evening of drinking in Da Nang.

As Told to United Press International

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (UPI)—It only lasted a minute at most. Then everything was deathly still—nobody crying out, nothing.

That was told me by my friends who were up at the Schneefernerhaus Hotel on the Zugspitze when the avalanche struck.

They said there was practically no warning.

There were small slides all morning. Nobody paid much attention when there was a rumbling above the hotel.

One of my friends was inside the building. "It all happened in a flash—a roar and a crash like a cannon shot and snow was everywhere," he said.

Looking down from the terrace, he said all you could see were huge blocks of snow, shreds of glass—but the worst thing were the lounge chairs.

They were swept off the terrace with about a dozen people, skiers who were sunbathing when the avalanche hit.

All that was left of the chairs were scraps of metal, all twisted and gleaming half-buried in the snow.

Another friend helped find people buried by the avalanche. The first thing he saw was a man's legs sticking up out of the snow.

It's called a "slab avalanche." A huge shelf of snow breaks off parallel to the ridge and crashes down in a slab.

The break Saturday was about 30 yards below the top, about 200 yards wide and anywhere from three to 13 feet deep.

Nobody at the hotel saw anything, my friend said. The top of the building blocked the view.

Most of the people on the terrace were facing out and away from what hit them.

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP)—A giant spring avalanche swept down the sun-drenched slopes of Mt. Zugspitze with a "doomsday roar" Saturday, burying scores of persons under tons of snow. As many as 38 persons were feared killed.

By late Saturday night, eight bodies had been dragged from the snow. Authorities said another 25 to 30 persons were still missing and presumed dead.

As torches and floodlights illuminated the disaster scene Saturday night, a German army officer in charge of the rescue said: "The snow is as hard as reinforced concrete. No one can still be alive under those masses of snow."

All the fatalities identified so far were Germans or Austrians. One American was reported injured.

1st Silver Dollars in 30 Years!

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson disclosed Saturday that silver dollars will be minted for the first time in 30 years.

The announcement that 45 million of the cartwheels will be produced this year comes at a time when the Treasury is still struggling to meet a shortage of other coins. It also is trying to find ways to head off an impending shortage of silver.

The administration last year supported a bill authorizing the minting of the silver dollars which was strongly favored by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. Mansfield hails from a "silver state" and he was up for re-election last year.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH hundreds of millions of the cartwheels have been minted over the years, most of them now are in the hands of dealers and collectors.

Treasury officials have predicted the 45 million will become collector's items and that they will never enter general circulation.

Production is scheduled to get under way, possibly some time next week, at the Denver mint. Johnson said distribution would be in those few Western states which still use the round dollars in regular trade. The silver dollars are especially prized in gambling centers.

There seems little chance that 45 million coins will make a dent in the tremendous demand from collectors, dealers and speculators. Some seven or eight years ago, the Treasury had 350 million cartwheels, some of which had never been put in circulation even though they were minted in the 1930s.

Abductor-Bandit Kills Himself in Motel Hideout; Victim Safe

NORTH HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A man who abducted a party guest after robbing all present of $4,600 in cash and jewels killed himself Saturday in the nearby community of Sepulveda, police reported.

The death of Maurice Dukall ended a widespread search for the 35-year-old truck driver and his hostage, Mrs. Sylvia Freid, 3[illegible].

Lt. M. S. Pena, commander of the Foothill Division of the Los Angeles Police Department, said Dukall's body was found in a motel in Sepulveda. He had killed himself with one of two .38-caliber revolvers used in the holdup of party guests Friday night, Pena said.

The officer reported that Mrs. Freid was safe. He said police took her to a nearby hospital for a physical checkup and then planned to return her to her home.

She is the mother of three children.

Dukall, of suburban Montebello, was one of eight guests at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Helling.

Officers said Dukall shot himself in the head just as they were about to arrest him.

Dukall was quiet and unobtrusive at the party the night before.

"He just sat around quietly all evening, watching," said another guest, Sylvia Goldfarb. "After we all sat down for coffee, he asked me to assist him in removing everyone's jewelry. He was pointing a gun at me."

L.A.C. Says:

Where Are You on This Asset Scale?

According to government statistics quoted in the Wall Street Journal the average net assets for all families in the nation is $22,588. But using the average is like comparing the average weight of one horse and one rabbit. If the horse weighs 1,000 pounds and the rabbit three pounds, the average weight is 501.5 pounds. Such figures are meaningless when applied to 50 million families where millionaires and farm laborers are averaged.

However, the statistics do give an idea of how net assets—meaning all savings, stock, property and cash, less debts—are held by heads of families by age groups. They show the following:

Under 25 ..	$ 762	45-54	$25,450
25-34	7,661	55-56	34,781
35-44	19,447	Over 65 ..	30,718

While this may be a good yardstick to check how you are doing, the real test is the "median" test. This is used to show the number of families having less than a certain amount and those having more. For example, the figure for those over 65 is an average of $30,718. But actually half of them have less than $10,500. It is the few very rich in the above figure group that brings up the average.

Quite a case is made by opponents of medical care for the aged that the older people are so well off. But, when the statistics showing their actual incomes are viewed it is quite different. The 1960 census figures show income of persons 65 or older as follows:

Less than $1,000 a year	52.7%
$1,000 to $1,999	23.7%
$2,000 to $2,999	10.2%
$3,000 to $4,900	7.2%
$5,000 and over	6.3%

It is these statistics which have a great bearing on Congress in deciding on the Medicare bill. Its opponents argue that the measure provides benefits for the rich as well as the poor. But it is apparent the rich are few by comparison. It is unfortunate that the House did not provide in its bill now before the Senate for benefits to be paid on the basis of a person's annual income. For example: that they pay the first 5% of their annual income for medical bills with the Medicare program paying 80% of the total above that. That would have eliminated all those with large incomes—while protecting the many against catastrophic medical costs. Such a proposal has just been made by Sen. Long of Louisiana.

The younger people do not have as much net assets as the average retired person. But they still have their earning power—while the over-65 are in many cases forced to retire. While many of their assets may be $10,000 or $30,000, these can be quickly wiped out by a long period of hospitalization or serious operations.

This writer is not happy over the Medicare bill passed by the House and expected to pass the Senate soon. It is a hodgepodge of benefits that provide 60 days in the hospital after a $40 payment—by those who have it. It does not provide for benefits in the hospital after these 60 days. But it is the longer periods that need to be covered. It should also provide that each patient pay something for every day. If such provisions are not used there will be an overcrowding of hospitals that can seriously affect the whole system. But it is apparent a measure is to be passed in this session of Congress. The great danger is that it may be expanded to lower-age groups and eventual socialization of medicine. Based on experience in other nations this can only mean a deterioration in the medical care Americans have had.—L.A.C.

$6 Billion for Defense Down Drain

I. P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Six billion dollars, enough to buy every American family a new television set, has been spent on military programs canceled in the past decade.

The amount was brought out by Defense Secretary Robert McNamara in congressional testimony released last week.

"A record of waste," is what McNamara called it in testimony before the House Defense appropriations subcommittee.

* * * *

McNAMARA submitted a doleful roll of defense projects that were aborted for various reasons.

"In some cases, halfway through the project it was found that the current estimated cost vastly exceeded the initial estimate and that projected increases made completion of the project too expensive.

"In other cases, it became clear after a substantial sum had been spent . . . that the original performance objectives could not be met.

"In still other cases, military requirements were initially ill-defined . . ."

McNamara said the $6 billion in down-the-drain propects" which cost "substantial amounts of money."

* * * *

SOME OF the more costly of the 57 programs listed by McNamara:

Skybolt air-launched ballistic missile, $440 million; Navaho air-breathing missile, $679.8 million; Seamaster jet-powered attack seaplane, $330.4 million; Dynasoar manned orbital rocket plane, $405 million; nuclear-powered airplane, $511.6 million.

Although the projects were spread among the three services, virtually all were for aircraft or missiles and most ($4.4 billion) were for the Air Force.

Although McNamara did not point this out, many of the projects were begun when the services were vying for domination of various phases of the missile field. One of the earliest was a jet engine begun in 1944 but not canceled until nine years later after $18 million had been spent. Most were begun during the 1950s.

Klan, 3 Accused Killers in North Carolina Rally

DUNN, N.C. (UPI)—The Ku Klux Klan moved into this tobacco-growing region Saturday with its biggest drawing cards—three accused killers and their lawyer—for an intensive membership drive.

The featured speakers this weekend were Matt Murphy Jr., a Birmingham lawyer, and his clients, accused of slaying civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo in Alabama.

The three men—Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, Eugene Thomas and William O. Eaton, walked with robed klansmen and klanswomen through downtown Dunn Saturday. The three were not robed.

* * * *

MURPHY and his clients were to speak at a rally Saturday night. Last weekend they appeared at a klan rally in Anniston, Ala., and were hailed as heroes. Earlier in the week Wilkins had won a mistrial in the Liuzzo slaying, but officials said he would be tried again.

The klan has been holding a series of recruitment rallies in the Carolinas. One weekend last month Vice President Hubert Humphrey found himself addressing a meeting in Durham, N.C., at the same hour Klan Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton was speaking at a rally 10 miles away.

About a dozen robed klansmen appeared at a high school music recital in Knightdale, near Raleigh, Friday night. They stayed 15 minutes and then filed out.

"They were unwelcome guests," said Wake County School Superintendent Fred Smith. "I do not appreciate their presence whatever their intent might have been. We will use whatever means are at our disposal to prevent a recurrence."

Detroit's Liuzzo File in Alabama---How?

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit police officials Saturday were attempting to determine how details of a confidential police report on a murdered civil rights worker wound up in the hands of a sheriff in Alabama.

A copy of the report on Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, Detroit housewife shot to death following a civil rights demonstration near Selma, Ala., also was displayed by Robert Shelton, imperial wizard of the United Klans of America.

Police Commissioner Marvin G. Lane of suburban Warren said he sent the report to Dallas County, Ala., Sheriff James Clark at Clark's request.

* * * *

DETROIT police officials said the information about Mrs. Liuzzo apparently was obtained from the files of the Intelligence Bureau.

Officers in the CIB said a dossier of Mrs. Liuzzo was compiled after her slaying March 25.

Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Girardin ordered an investigation to determine who gave the file to Lane.

The action came as Mayor Jerome Cavanagh called for disciplinary measures against the responsible policeman.

"There is no question but that the information was released or surreptitiously taken out of the Detroit Police Department and given to the Warren Department," Cavanagh said.

He said transmission of the information by Lane was "uncalled for."

MEANWHILE, in Lansing both the state senate and house called for an investigation into the propriety of the police activities in connection with the report.

Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe, said the probe would question whether there has been any assistance from Detroit to the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama.

In a resolution introduced in the house Friday, Rep. David Holmes, D-Detroit, asked what was the "procedure and policy" of the Warren police and other related agencies to determine whether there was a violation of the civil or person rights of Mrs. Liuzzo's husband, Anthony Jr., a Teamsters Union business agent.

L.A.C. Says:

Where Are You on This Asset Scale?

According to government statistics quoted in the Wall Street Journal the average net assets for all families in the nation is $22,588. But using the average is like comparing the average weight of one horse and one rabbit. If the horse weighs 1,000 pounds and the rabbit three pounds, the average weight is 501.5 pounds. Such figures are meaningless when applied to 50 million families where millionaires and farm laborers are averaged.

However, the statistics do give an idea of how net assets—meaning all savings, stock, property and cash, less debts—are held by heads of families by age groups. They show the following:

Under 25	$ 762	45-54	$25,450
25-34	7,661	55-56	34,781
35-44	19,447	Over 65	30,718

While this may be a good yardstick to check how you are doing, the real test is the "median" test. This is used to show the number of families having less than a certain amount and those having more. For example, the figure for those over 65 is an average of $30,718. But actually half of them have less than $10,500. It is the few very rich in the above figure group that brings up the average.

Quite a case is made by opponents of medical care for the aged that the older people are so well off. But, when the statistics showing their actual incomes are viewed it is quite different. The 1960 census figures show income of persons 65 or older as follows:

Less than $1,000 a year	52.7%
$1,000 to $1,999	23.7%
$2,000 to $2,999	10.2%
$3,000 to $4,900	7.2%
$5,000 and over	6.3%

It is these statistics which have a great bearing on Congress in deciding on the Medicare bill. Its opponents argue that the measure provides benefits for the rich as well as the poor. But it is apparent the rich are few by comparison. It is unfortunate that the House did not provide in its bill now before the Senate for benefits to be paid on the basis of a person's annual income. For example: that they pay the first 5% of their annual income for medical bills with the Medicare program paying 80% of the total above that. That would have eliminated all those with large incomes—while protecting the many against catastrophic medical costs. Such a proposal has just been made by Sen. Long of Louisiana.

The younger people do not have as much net assets as the average retired person. But they still have their earning power—while the over-65 are in many cases forced to retire. While many of their assets may be $10,000 or $30,000, these can be quickly wiped out by a long period of hospitalization or serious operations.

This writer is not happy over the Medicare bill passed by the House and expected to pass the Senate soon. It is a hodgepodge of benefits that provide 60 days in the hospital after a $40 payment—by those who have it. It does not provide for benefits in the hospital after these 60 days. But it is the longer periods that need to be covered. It should also provide that each patient pay something for every day. If such provisions are not used there will be an overcrowding of hospitals that can seriously affect the whole system. But it is apparent a measure is to be passed in this session of Congress. The great danger is that it may be expanded to lower-age groups and eventual socialization of medicine. Based on experience in other nations this can only mean a deterioration in the medical care Americans have had.—L.A.C.

North American Aviation's second—and, possibly, last—monster XB70 bomber will be rolled out of its Palmdale hangar May 29 to assume its share of a flight-test program which will pave the way for America's projected supersonic transport.

The No. 2 XB70 will actually be an improvement over the first of the weird-appearing giants. Major change will be incorporation of a 5-degree dihedral angle to the wings to alleviate a "wallowing" tendency at low speeds displayed by the first craft.

* * * *

ALSO, THE latest plane will be capable of intercontinental range. The No. 5 fuel tank on the first XB70 cannot be used because of sealing difficulties when it was built.

In haste to get the huge plane into the air, engineers gave up trying to make the tank leakproof, since ample fuel could be carried without it. However, all tanks are usable on the No. 2 plane.

With their hopes apparently blasted of getting the big bomber into production as a weapons system, North American executives are going all out to win acceptance of the XB70 as a test bed for exploring the flight regimes of future supersonic transports.

* * * *

THE XB70 closely matches projected SSTs in size and speed, they point out, as does no other aircraft. Safety can be built into the SST with knowledge gained from flights of the 2,000-mile-per-hour XB70, they say.

At present, the giant craft's flight-test program calls for only 180 hours. NAA is convinced this will be extended for the two planes to 320 hours but this, they feel, should be only the beginning.

Present subsonic jet transports had a background of the combined flight experience of military planes of a similar size, weight and speed. This will not be true of the SST as it is planned now.

* * * *

WITH ONLY two or three SST prototypes used to prove the design, no more than about 2,000 flight hours could be accumulated within a reasonable time. This is about 12% of the flight development and test time which preceded the service introduction of the much less sophisticated subsonic jet transports.

NAA is trying to sell construction of one or more additional XB70s so that as many hours of flight time as possible could be accumulated before the SST is placed in service.

One more aircraft, with a go-ahead in mid-1965, could be in the air within two years and could add about 4,000 hours of knowledge and flight experience by the end of 1972. Five planes, including the present pair, could raise the total to nearly 13,000 hours.

* * * *

ALSO under consideration is modification of the present planes to carry their originally intended four-man crews and up to an additional nine technical observers to help with various research tasks.

Among the knotty problems faced by SST planners is the sonic boom. Use of the XB70 to fly simulated airline operations would yield much available data, NAA says.

The 250-ton giants could also explore flight environment at SST altitudes.

Little is known of the effect of various properties of the upper atmosphere on the operation of heavy, long-range, supersonic aircraft. Knowledge is needed on temperature extremes, winds, clear-air turbulence and solar radiation.

* * * *

AS PART OF their effort to promote maximum utilization of their creation, NAA engineers have also studied possible use of the XB70 as a launch platform for numerous potential space projects.

Launched from an XB70, a lifting-body test vehicle could attain speeds up to 12,000 feet per second, or almost 8,200 miles an hour.

The XB70 could also be used as a launch platform for a delta-wing version of the X15 rocket plane, or another hypersonic cruise research craft.

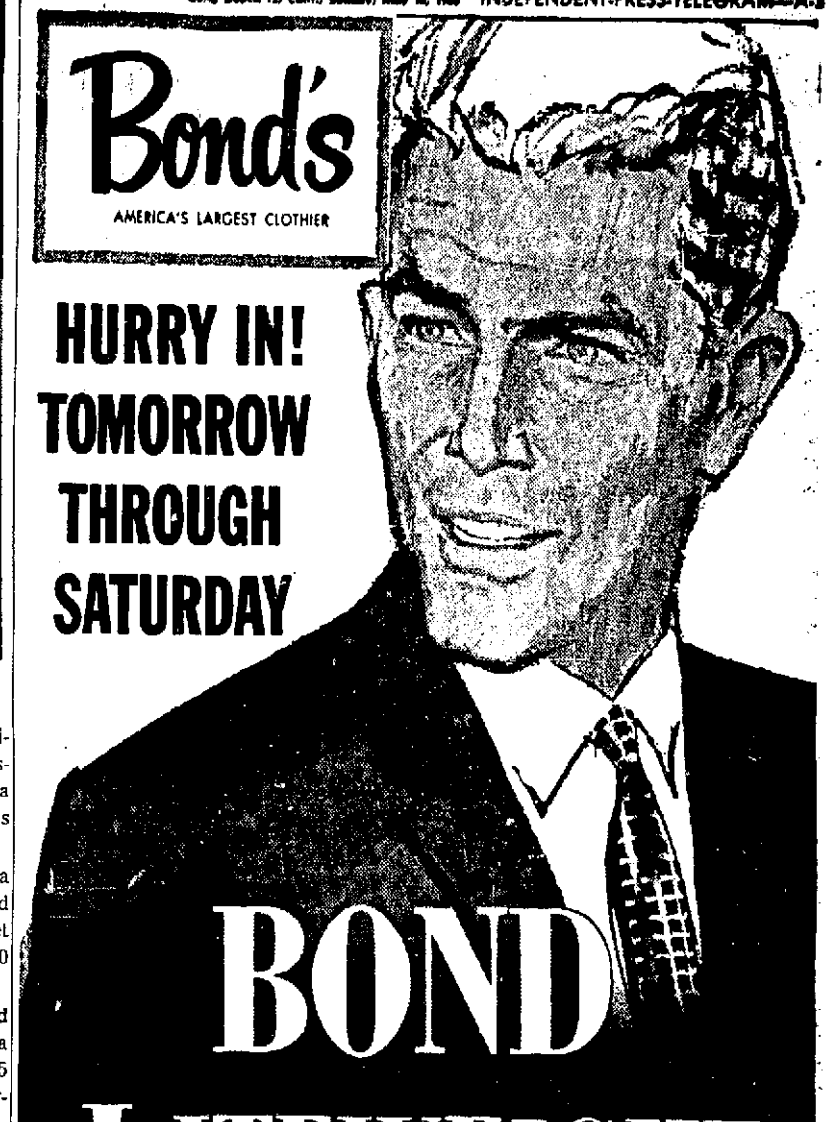

Another application considered is an inexpensive platform from which winged, manned space vehicles could be launched into orbit.

The public is invited to inspect the latest XB70 from 1 to 8 p.m. at NAA's facility at Air Force Plant 42, near Palmdale.

Douglas Contract Parleys to Open

Negotiations for a new contract affecting 14,000 Douglas Aircraft Co. employes will begin Tuesday, according to officials of the United Auto Workers.

The UAW, along with the International Association of Machinists, represents employes at Douglas' Long Beach and Huntington Beach plants.

The union is asking for wage increases and fringe benefit improvements along with "protection against job insecurity similar to that given to federal employes." The present contract expires July 15.

High on the list of the union's demands is a single agreement covering UAW workers at all Douglas plants.

* * * *

LEONARD Woodcock, UAW vice president, will head the union's bargaining team who will meet with company representatives at the Douglas headquarters in Santa Monica.

The negotiations are the first in this year's round of contract bargaining between the union and the nation's leading aerospace industry firms.

Negotiations between Douglas and the International Association of Machinists also open Tuesday. The two unions, traditionally allied in contract bargaining with the aerospace industry, represent most all the nation's aerospace workers.

UAW members include production and maintenance workers at Douglas plants at Long Beach, Tulsa, Okla., and members work at Douglas Charlotte, N. C. The IAM plants at Santa Monica and Torrance and at various missile sites.

VIET POLICY TEACH-IN

Bundy 'Regretfully' Ducks Debate

BUNDY SCHLESINGER MORGENTHAU KAHIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A highly touted championship debate between intellectual heavyweights over President Johnson's disputed Viet Nam policy fizzled Saturday when McGeorge Bundy, the White House contender, backed out at the last minute.

Bundy, who is the President's top security adviser, said in a telegram that "other duties" forced him to stay away from a nationwide "teach-in" staged as a confrontation between the administration and academic critics of its foreign policy.

The White House said it did not know anything about it and that Bundy's statement would have to speak for itself.

Some boos and laughter were heard in the ballroom of the Sheraton Park Hotel when Bundy's wire was read saying that "I have looked forward to this meeting and I hate to miss it."

* * * *

BUNDY'S place on a three-hour panel discussion, the main event of the 15-hour teach-in, was taken by Dr. Robert Scalapino of the University of Chicago.

Campus critics of American actions in Viet Name, especially the intensification of the war effort, had aimed to pin Bundy down for an accounting. He had refused them earlier.

Even though he pleaded an "enforced absence," Bundy used his telegram to reaffirm U.S. policy in Viet Nam and to hold out the olive branch to his professorial adversaries at home.

"We evidently differ on the choice of ways and means to peace," he said, but he added: "What divides us is less than what unites us.

Bundy was to have faced Dr. George M. Kahin, a political science professor from Cornell University, during a three-hour panel discussion starting at 2 p.m. EDT.

* * * *

AMONG Bundy's panel of seconds was Communist expert Zbygniew Brzezinski of Columbia University. Kahin's supporters included foreign relations Prof. Hans J. Morgenthau of the University of Chicago, a frequent critic of U.S. policy.

In other panel discussions, Prof. Eric Wolf of the University of Michigan said Americans were "deeply troubled" because policies that President Johnson condemned during the election campaign "are now being carried out in Viet Nam."

* * * *

MORGENTHAU charged that the administration had reacted with "scorn and contempt" to criticism of its role in Viet Nam.

Historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who left Harvard University in 1961 to be a White House adviser and resigned last year, deplored what he called over-simplification of the issues on both sides.

Speaking for himself and not the government, Schlesinger defended U.S. policy but took a few digs at the administration. He said the United States would be "better off in both countries" if it transferred its Marines from the Dominican Republic to Viet Nam.

U.S. Prosperity Goes On-On-On

omy moving ahead belongs to "constructive government policies" including last year's tax cut, which "unleashed" the growth potential of the private economy, the council said.

Gains of the current expansion as reported by Johnson's economic advisers include:

—Gross National Product (GNP) up $147.5 billion, or almost 30%.

—Wages and salaries up $76 billion, or 28%.

—Corporate profits up $17 billion, or 87%, after taxes.

—Individuals net financial wealth up more than $300 billion, to a total of $1.1 trillion at the start of 1965.

—Employment up by 5.3 million persons and the number of jobless down by 1.2 million. The unemployment rate dropped from 6.8% in the first quarter of 1961 to 4.8% in the first quarter of 1965.

—Wholesale prices steady, consumer prices up only 1.2% a year.

This prosperity has been widely shared among the 50 states, the report said. Income per capita crossed the $2,500 mark last year, and in eight states now exceeds $3,000.

Even the 12 states of the Southeast, the nation's poorest region, gained income faster than the nation as a whole during the past 50 months, the council said.

In entering its 51st month, the current expansion surpassed the 50-month recovery from the great depression. But the 1933-37 recovery barely managed to return the economy to where it had been in 1929, the report said.

Neither the length nor the extent of the current expansion can be explained as the rebound from a deep and prolonged recssion, the council said. The present advance proves that sustained growth is possibzle "with neither the stimulus of wartime conditions nor as the recovery from a great depression," it added.

Economists have figured business cycles back to 1854. Earlier economic records are sketchy.

Red China May 'Ship' A-Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atom bombs hidden in merchant ships could be one interim method of use for Red China's nuclear weapons, pending perfection of missile and manned-aircraft delivery systems.

This possibility emerged Saturday while U.S. strategists weighed the military significance of China's latest test of an atomic device.

While the detonation by China of the second nuclear device in seven months is viewed as new indication of progress toward a weapons system, most experts here emphasize that the Asian Communist power still needs a way to deliver weapons over long ranges.

* * * *

THE estimated 2,500 to 3,000 aircraft in the Red air force consist of jet fighters and light bombers, none of them of intercontinental range.

Car-Truck Crash Kills Mother of 2

A Compton mother of two was killed in a car-truck accident 15 miles west of Flagstaff, Ariz., highway patrolmen reported.

Killed was Ila Maxine Kaufman, 15519 Butler Ave. Patrolmen said her husband, Jack, 29, apparently fell asleep at the wheel and crashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer rig at high speed.

Kaufman was in serious condition at a Flagstaff hospital, and their two children, Timmy, 3, and Debbie, 6, were in good condition. The truck driver was uninjured.

Artillery Pounding Dominican Rebels

the battle in the northern part of the city "is progressing admirably. We have taken many prisoners." He described the rebels in northern Santo Domingo as hoodlums.

The new battlefront is an industrial area of northern Santo Domingo, south and east of the baseball stadium. U.S. troops are not involved.

While the drive is limited to northern Santo Domingo, Rivera Caminero told reporters he had enough forces, including navy and air force, to mop up all the insurgents, "when the time comes."

Rivera Caminero insisted the new fighting did not violate the cease - fire. Asked by a reporter about this, the young, husky general replied: "Our understanding is that the cease-fire applies exclusively to the downtown sector."

Rebel leaders conceded they had attacked in the north two days ago.

JUST CURIOUS

Boys Balked in Effort to 'Move Rails'

Two inquisitive teen-agers got to wondering Saturday what would happen if they "moved" the railroad tracks.

Police already knew what would happen and prevented the experiment.

Officer Chuck Beason nipped the great experiment in the bud when he saw the two boys, ages 13 and 15, trying to pound open a switch handle with a large rock.

The boys, who chose a Pacific Electric Co. switch at Pacific Coast Highway and Stanton Place for their "track-moving" try, were turned over to juvenile authorities for malicious mischief, and later released to their parents.

—Employment up by 5.3 million persons and the number of jobless down by 1.2 million. The unemployment rate dropped from 6.8% in the first quarter of 1961 to 4.8% in the first quarter of 1965.

—Wholesale prices steady, consumer prices up only 1.2% a year.

This prosperity has been widely shared among the 50 states, the report said. Income per capita crossed the $2,500 mark last year, and in eight states now exceeds $3,000.

Even the 12 states of the Southeast, the nation's poorest region, gained income faster than the nation as a whole during the past 50 months, the council said.

In entering its 51st month, the current expansion surpassed the 50-month recovery from the great depression. But the 1933-37 recovery barely managed to return the economy to where it had been in 1929, the report said.

Neither the length nor the extent of the current expansion can be explained as the rebound from a deep and prolonged recession, the council said. The present advance proves that sustained growth is possibzle "with neither the stimulus of wartime conditions nor as the recovery from a great depression," it added.

Economists have figured business cycles back to 1854. Earlier economic records are sketchy.

Red China May 'Ship' A-Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atom bombs hidden in merchant ships could be one interim method of use for Red China's nuclear weapons, pending perfection of missile and manned-aircraft delivery systems.

This possibility emerged Saturday while U.S. strategists weighed the military significance of China's latest test of an atomic device.

While the detonation by China of the second nuclear device in seven months is viewed as new indication of progress toward a weapons system, most experts here emphasize that the Asian Communist power still needs a way to deliver weapons over long ranges.

* * * *

THE estimated 2,500 to 3,000 aircraft in the Red air force consist of jet fighters and light bombers, none of them of intercontinental range.

Car-Truck Crash Kills Mother of 2

A Compton mother of two was killed in a car-truck accident 15 miles west of Flagstaff, Ariz., highway patrolmen reported.

Killed was Ila Maxine Kaufman, 15519 Butler Ave. Patrolmen said her husband, Jack, 29, apparently fell asleep at the wheel and crashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer rig at high speed.

Kaufman was in serious condition at a Flagstaff hospital, and their two children, Timmy, 3, and Debbie, 6, were in good condition. The truck driver was uninjured.

the battle in the northern part of the city "is progressing admirably. We have taken many prisoners." He described the rebels in northern Santo Domingo as hoodlums.

The new battlefront is an industrial area of northern Santo Domingo, south and east of the baseball stadium. U.S. troops are not involved.

While the drive is limited to northern Santo Domingo, Rivera Caminero told reporters he had enough forces, including navy and air force, to mop up all the insurgents, "when the time comes."

Rivera Caminero insisted the new fighting did not violate the cease-fire. Asked by a reporter about this, the young, husky general replied: "Our understanding is that the cease-fire applies exclusively to the downtown sector."

Rebel leaders conceded they had attacked in the north two days ago.

JUST CURIOUS

Boys Balked in Effort to 'Move Rails'

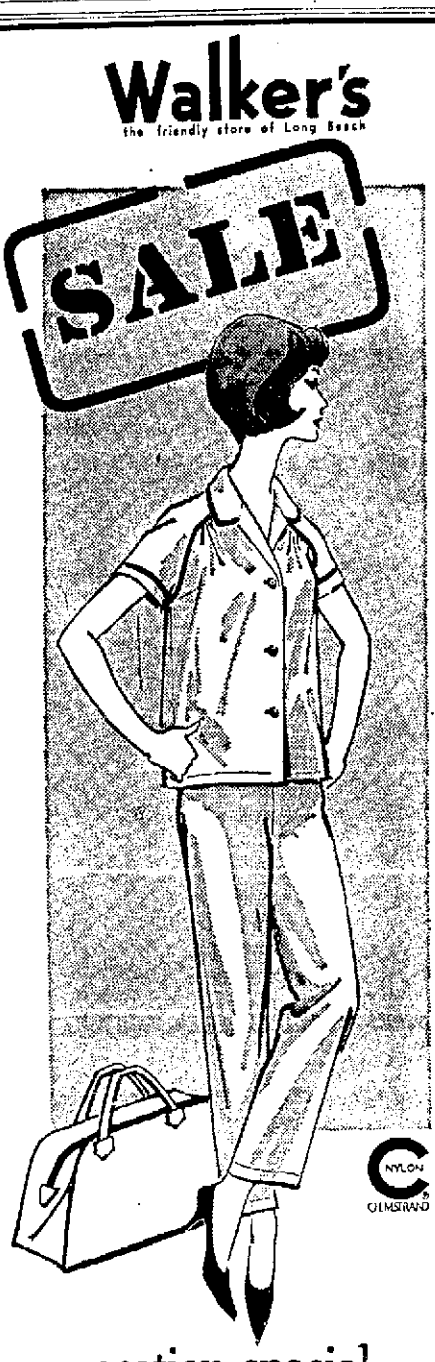

Two inquisitive teen-agers got to wondering Saturday what would happen if they "moved" the railroad tracks.

Police already knew what would happen and prevented the experiment.

Officer Chuck Beason nipped the great experiment in the bud when he saw the two boys, ages 13 and 15, trying to pound open a switch handle with a large rock.

The boys, who chose a Pacific Electric Co. switch at Pacific Coast Highway and Stanton Place for their "track-moving" try, were turned over to juvenile authorities for malicious mischief, and later released to their parents.

U. S. CONSUL, VIET TERROR-BOMB VICTIM, RESTING IN TORRANCE

By DON KIRKLAND

The fresh, 2-inch scar on the side of his head and the traces of cuts near his right eye—which almost cost him his sight—don't make it easy for Samuel Thomsen to forget the Viet Cong terrorist bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon only six weeks ago.

Yet, he confides, "I'm anxious to get back — to be with my Vietnamese friends.

* * * *

THOMSEN, 33, is the U.S. consul at Hue, a city of 100,000 population less than 100 miles from the border dividing the troubled country into two nations.

Three weeks ago, Thomsen returned to the United States for a reunion with his wife, Judy, and their children, Katie, 2, and Sammy, 4 months. All except Thomsen were evacuated early this year.

Now, Thomsen and his family will spend two hectic months together at the Torrance-area home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Wolf, of 21805 Halldale Ave. Until he returns to his diplomatic post in mid-July, Thomsen will be busily keeping up with a tight schedule of speaking appearances, many of them before student groups.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH the miles have separated Thomsen and his family for three months, he admits he is anxious to get back—back to a country where U.S. participation is welcome; in fact, expected.

"The South Vietnamese consider themselves to be the most important stronghold against world communism," says Thomsen. "Their morale has increased tremendously since we bombed North Viet Nam. Now they feel they have an ally."

—Staff Photo

SAMUEL B. THOMSEN, consul wounded in terrorist bombing of U.S. Embassy in Saigon, sits with his wife, Judy, and daughter Katy, 2, in their Torrance home.

What, if anything, will end the conflict? Thomsen thinks he has the answer:

"First, the North must stop supporting the war in the South, and we are attempting to convince Hanoi that it is not profitable. When the North is convinced of that, it will call the war off."

The over-all result, Thomsen says, is that the soldiers in the South would quit fighting, "especially if the South would be thoughtful enough to offer them amnesties."

DEFEAT for the Viet Cong will be "a rolling snowball," Thomsen predicts, adding speed as it takes hold. Already, Thomsen says, many high-ranking Viet Cong soldiers have defected to the south.

"Conceivably," he says, "the war could end at any time."

Of the U.S. position in Viet Nam, Thomsen said he is "amazed" to see how the views of Washington parallel those of the diplomatic corps actually on the scene.

Circulating widely among the Vietnamese, Thomsen has seen some tragic evidence of Viet Cong terrorist tactics.

* * * *

"IN ONE village," he recalls, "the Communists cut off the arm of an 8-year-old girl after killing her father, the leader of the local defense forces. The maiming of the child was meant to be an object lesson to those who cooperated with the government."

Thomsen was in the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, on temporary duty, when it was bombed by terrorists last March 30. Two Americans were killed and 52, including Thomsen, were wounded.

County Pay-Boost Hearings to Open

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Taxpayers, employe representatives and, ultimately, county supervisors will have their say starting Tuesday at 2 p.m. on what salaries should be paid county workers in fiscal 1965-66.

The annual salary hearings are scheduled to run through Thursday, if necessary, to hear all persons who wish to speak. They will be held in the supervisors' hearing room at the Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

Supervisors must adopt the 1965-66 salary ordinance on or before May 31, but are expected to take the action at their regular Tuesday meeting, May 25.

Officially before them are the recommendations of L. S. Hollinger, chief county administrative officer, who proposes raises ranging from 2.75% to 8.25% for virtually all of the 47,000 county workers.

For the average employe, Hollinger said, his recommendations would mean a 12-cent-an-hour, or a $21.37-a-month raise.

COST of his proposals would total $9.5 million for the 40,536 employes in general county service plus $1.5 million for the 5,661 employes of special districts, which have their own tax rates.

Various employe organizations also have submitted proposals for pay raises.

Largest of these is the 30,000-member Los Angeles County Employes Association, which submits requests for all county workers, whether association members or not.

Its proposal is somewhat similar to Hollinger's, except that it ranges from 2.75% to 11% and would cost an estimated $15 million.

Los Angeles County Employes Union, Local 434, AFL-CIO, which represents about 4,000 workers in lower-paid jobs such as laundry workers and hospital attendants, has demanded considerably greater raises.

The union has called a press conference Monday to announce its reasons for demanding a minimum wage of $2 an hour for county workers. This would mean a minimum of $346 a month instead of the present $300 a month floor.

* * * *

ALFRED S. Charlton, general manager of the union, said Hollinger's recommendations would result in no increase in wages for the lowest-paid laundry workers and only $1.85 to $2.30 per week for the majority of low-paid workers such as press operators, hospital attendants, clerks and stenographers.

Under the county charter, the county must pay its workers wages which prevail in similar jobs in private industry.

One other matter before the board Tuesday will be a proposal by Mrs. Mary E. Frisina of Huntington Park that the charter provision be amended so that the county workers' salaries be no more than prevailing wages and that fringe benefits of county employment be included in this computation.

U.S. Expedition Finds 70 Ancient Skeletons at Nile

DALLAS (UPI)—A U.S. archaeological expedition has uncovered 70 well-preserved skeletons from 8,000 to 12,000 years of age on the Egypt-Sudan border, the expedition leader announced Saturday in Dallas.

Dr. Fred Wendorf, professor of anthropology at Southern Methodist University, said that he and two other members of the SMU faculty excavated 51 of the skeletons near the Nile River at Sahaba in the northern part of Sudan in February and March.

The importance of the finds was emphasized by the expert appraisal of Philadelphia anthropologist Dr. Carleton S. Coon, who said:

"The specimens represent the world's greatest series of skulls from ancient times. These skeletons throw great light on the history of Africa. The sheer number of skeletons—so much larger than anything previously found—is important."

Dr. James J. Hester, adjunct professor of anthropology at SMU, reported that he and Philip M. Hobler of SMU uncovered 19 other skeltons at Tushka, near the Nile in southern Egypt—50 miles north of the other site.

U. S. CONSUL, VIET TERROR-BOMB VICTIM, RESTING IN TORRANCE

By DON KIRKLAND

The fresh, 2-inch scar on the side of his head and the traces of cuts near his right eye—which almost cost him his sight—don't make it easy for Samuel Thomsen to forget the Viet Cong terrorist bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon only six weeks ago.

Yet, he confides, "I'm anxious to get back — to be with my Vietnamese friends.

* * * *

THOMSEN, 33, is the U.S. consul at Hue, a city of 100,000 population less than 100 miles from the border dividing the troubled country into two nations.

Three weeks ago, Thomsen returned to the United States for a reunion with his wife, Judy, and their children, Katie, 2, and Sammy, 4 months. All except Thomsen were evacuated early this year.

Now, Thomsen and his family will spend two hectic months together at the Torrance-area home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Wolf, of 21805 Halldale Ave. Until he returns to his diplomatic post in mid-July, Thomsen will be busily keeping up with a tight schedule of speaking appearances, many of them before student groups.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH the miles have separated Thomsen and his family for three months, he admits he is anxious to get back—back to a country where U.S. participation is welcome; in fact, expected.

"The South Vietnamese consider themselves to be the most important stronghold against world communism," says Thomsen. "Their morale has increased tremendously since we bombed North Viet Nam. Now they feel they have an ally."

What, if anything, will end the conflict? Thomsen thinks he has the answer:

"First, the North must stop supporting the war in the South, and we are attempting to convince Hanoi that it is not profitable. When the North is convinced of that, it will call the war off."

The over-all result, Thomsen says, is that the soldiers in the South would quit fighting, "especially if the South would be thoughtful enough to offer them amnesties."

—Staff Photo

SAMUEL B. THOMSEN, consul wounded in terrorist bombing of U.S. Embassy in Saigon, sits with his wife, Judy, and daughter Katy, 2, in their Torrance home.

DEFEAT for the Viet Cong will be "a rolling snowball," Thomsen predicts, adding speed as it takes hold. Already, Thomsen says, many high-ranking Viet Cong soldiers have defected to the south.

"Conceivably," he says, "the war could end at any time."

Of the U.S. position in Viet Nam, Thomsen said he is "amazed" to see how the views of Washington parallel those of the diplomatic corps actually on the scene.

Circulating widely among the Vietnamese, Thomsen has seen some tragic evidence of Viet Cong terrorist tactics.

* * * *

"IN ONE village," he recalls, "the Communists cut off the arm of an 8-year-old girl after killing her father, the leader of the local defense forces. The maiming of the child was meant to be an object lesson to those who cooperated with the government."

Thomsen was in the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, on temporary duty, when it was bombed by terrorists last March 30. Two Americans were killed and 52, including Thomsen, were wounded.

County Pay-Boost Hearings to Open

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Taxpayers, employe representatives and, ultimately, county supervisors will have their say starting Tuesday at 2 p.m. on what salaries should be paid county workers in fiscal 1965-66.

The annual salary hearings are scheduled to run through Thursday, if necessary, to hear all persons who wish to speak. They will be held in the supervisors' hearing room at the Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

Supervisors must adopt the 1965-66 salary ordinance on or before May 31, but are expected to take the action at their regular Tuesday meeting, May 25.

Officially before them are the recommendations of L. S. Hollinger, chief county administrative officer, who proposes raises ranging from 2.75% to 8.25% for virtually all of the 47,000 county workers.

For the average employe, Hollinger said, his recommendations would mean a 12-cent-an-hour, or a $21.37-a-month raise.

COST of his proposals would total $9.5 million for the 40,536 employes in general county service plus $1.5 million for the 5,661 employes of special districts, which have their own tax rates.

Various employe organizations also have submitted proposals for pay raises.

Largest of these is the 30,000-member Los Angeles County Employes Association, which submits requests for all county workers, whether association members or not.

Its proposal is somewhat similar to Hollinger's, except that it ranges from 2.75% to 11% and would cost an estimated $15 million.

Los Angeles County Employes Union, Local 434, AFL-CIO, which represents about 4,000 workers in lower-paid jobs such as laundry workers and hospital attendants, has demanded considerably greater raises.

The union has called a press conference Monday to announce its reasons for demanding a minimum wage of $2 an hour for county workers. This would mean a minimum of $346 a month instead of the present $300 a month floor.

* * * *

ALFRED S. Charlton, general manager of the union, said Hollinger's recommendations would result in no increase in wages for the lowest-paid laundry workers and only $1.85 to $2.30 per week for the majority of low-paid workers such as press operators, hospital attendants, clerks and stenographers.

Under the county charter, the county must pay its workers wages which prevail in similar jobs in private industry.

One other matter before the board Tuesday will be a proposal by Mrs. Mary E. Frisina of Huntington Park that the charter provision be amended so that the county workers' salaries be no more than prevailing wages and that fringe benefits of county employment be included in this computation.

U.S. Expedition Finds 70 Ancient Skeletons at Nile

DALLAS (UPI)—A U.S. archaeological expedition has uncovered 70 well-preserved skeletons from 8,000 to 12,000 years of age on the Egypt-Sudan border, the expedition leader announced Saturday in Dallas.

Dr. Fred Wendorf, professor of anthropology at Southern Methodist University, said that he and two other members of the SMU faculty excavated 51 of the skeletons near the Nile River at Sahaba in the northern part of Sudan in February and March.

The importance of the finds was emphasized by the expert appraisal of Philadelphia anthropologist Dr. Carleton S. Coon, who said:

"The specimens represent the world's greatest series of skulls from ancient times. These skeletons throw great light on the history of Africa. The sheer number of skeletons—so much larger than anything previously found—is important."

Dr. James J. Hester, adjunct professor of anthropology at SMU, reported that he and Philip M. Hobler of SMU uncovered 19 other skeltons at Tushka, near the Nile in southern Egypt—50 miles north of the other site.

Rusk Asks Gromyko Viet Views in Vain

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko politely refused Saturday to be drawn into talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the war in Viet Nam, U.S. officials reported.

Here for Austria's 10th anniversary of postwar independence, Rusk buttonholed Gromyko privately at a dinner Friday night and again at a luncheon Saturday but got nowhere.

"The response from Gromyko was nil," U.S. informants said. "He did not say yes of no, he just did not react at all."

* * * *

THE OFFICIALS stressed, however, that Gromyko was "cordial and correct" in his manner and they speculated that the Russian's lack of response was dictated more by Soviet difficulties with Red China than by any intention to rebuff the United States.

Rusk confirmed he had cornered Gromyko in an attempt to start talks on Viet Nam.

"We discussed it very briefly," he said, "but we did not get very far. There was not time to have a real discussion."

Rusk and Gromyko came to Vienna with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville to participate in the 10th anniversary of Austria's release from occupation by the World War II Allies.

Amid fanfares and pealing church bells they re-enacted the scene in 1955 when the wartime Allies signed the independence treaty.

They appeared on the balcony of Vienna's Belvedere Palace to wave to the crowd. But most of the cheers went to the opposing candidates in next week's presidential election, Alfons Gorbach and Franz Jonas.

* * * *

RUSK, Gromyko, Stewart and Couve de Murville seemed less familiar to many in the crowd than their famed predecessors of 1955, John Foster Dulles, Harold Macmillan, Antoine Pinay and Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

The failure of Rusk and Gromyko to talk on the sidelines was also a disappointment to Austrian leaders. They had hoped that the celebrations would give the Big Four an opportunity to discuss some of the outstanding world problems.

$4-Billion Excise-Tax Slash Pushed by LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced Saturday he will recommend that Congress cut excise taxes by $1.75 billion on July 1, by a like amount next Jan. 1, and by $464 million more by 1970.

That adds up to almost $4 billion over a five-year period.

Johnson said he will recommend that the excise tax on automobiles and air conditioners be reduced effective Saturday.

Since it will be some time before Congress acts on the proposal, this means the tax cut will be retroactive on these items. The aim is to avoid the possibility of a buyers' strike which might develop while a future cut was under consideration.

* * * *

THE excise levy on new autos is 10%, which means it adds $225 to the cost of the average automobile. Johnson proposed cutting it to 7% now—a saving of about $75 to the average car buyer, and to 5% by 1967.

The President went before radio microphones and television cameras in the White House to sketch his tax-cut plans in broad outline. Details will be spelled out in a special message he plans to send to Congress on Monday.

"This reduction—more than double the amount I recommended in January, Johnson said, "is possible and desirable because Federal tax revenues responding strongly to our expanding economy are now expected to be about $1½ billion higher both in fiscal 1965 and fiscal 1966 than we estimated in January."

* * * *

HE proposed to reduce taxes on local and long distance telephone service from the present 10% to 3% by Jan. 1 and scrap them entirely by 1969.

Retail buyers would benefit from tax removal or reduction on such items as handbags, luggage, cosmetics and toilet articles, jewelry and furs.

Taxes on the manufacturers' level would be reduced or eliminated on sporting goods, radios, television sets, air conditioners, records, musical instruments, cameras and film, refrigerators and freezers and other items.

Victory Claimed Over McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key members claimed a victory for Congress Saturday over Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in their battle over a plan to merge Army Reserve units into the National Guard.

The Defense Department, advised of the claim, said it would have no comment.

McNamara pledged to submit supplemental legislation dealing with the merger for congressional approval—but not the plan itself. However, he promised to hold up the merger until the other legislation is acted upon. It is now due to take effect July 1.

The agreement was announced at a joint news conference by McNamara and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of an Armed Services sub-committee, who has been feuding with McNamara since the plan was disclosed last December.

Pacifists Try to Block Parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thirty-five pacifists protesting President Johnson's Viet Nam policy lay down on Manhattan's Fifth Avenue Saturday in an attempt to block 9,000 servicemen marching in an armed forces parade.

A special detail of policemen, waiting for the pacifist action, swooped down on the demonstrators and lifted, shoved and pushed them into waiting police vans and a bus. The demonstrators were rushed to a police station where they were booked for disorderly conduct.

Rusk Says China Wants No War but—

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he has no doubt at this time that Red China does not want a larger war "but they want Southeast Asia."

"Which of these desires will be the decisive one we cannot guarantee," he told a House Far Eastern affairs subcommittee at a closed session on March 31. The Rusk testimony was published Saturday night with a report by the subcommittee.

1,000 Students March to Back LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI)—About 1,000 Lithuanian-American students picketed the White House Saturday to demonstrate support for President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam.

The demonstration was arranged, a spokesman said, to contrast to a march on Washington conducted by thousands of youths four weeks ago to protest administration actions in Southeast Asia.

Unlike the earlier demonstrators, the Lithuanian-American group was well dressed, many of them in colorful native costumes. Strict discipline prevailed.

Mrs. Kennedy, Sister in Shopping Spree

LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, went on a shopping spree in downtown London Saturday shortly after her children left for a weekend in the country.

Mrs. Kennedy, looking more relaxed than Friday when she attended the inauguration of the Kennedy Memorial at Runnymede in honor of her slain husband, was driven with her sister to the most fashionable shopping district of London.

Pakistan Storm Toll of 5,000 Seen

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—The death toll in the cyclone and tidal wave which devastated much of East Pakistan Tuesday night was placed Saturday at 998.

Officials said, however, the number of dead may reach 5,000 when reports are received from dozens of densely populated areas which have been cut off since the savage storm.

A half-million persons were reported homeless. The cyclone roared out of the Bay of Bengal with wind speeds of 100 miles an hour.

Officials said, however, the number of dead may reach 5,000 when reports are received from dozens of densely populated areas which have been cut off since the savage storm.

A half-million persons were reported homeless. The cyclone roared out of the Bay of Bengal with wind speeds of 100 miles an hour.

BEFORE THE DAY was over, this house in Casselberry, Fla., had sunk Saturday until roof was at ground level. Three neighboring houses were damaged when earth above "sinkhole" gave away. Such holes are common throughout Florida.

LAWNBOY FINDS NO LAWN TO CUT

Subsidence Hits Florida

CASSELBERRY, Fla. (AP) — A three-bedroom house was swallowed completely and three others were damaged when a 40-foot sinkhole opened up Saturday.

It started at dawn when a neighbor heard "four real loud cracks like shots." No one was hurt, but Richard Rozolsky's roof sank to ground level by afternoon.

"I had seen the sinkholes in the backyard but never conceived of anything like this happening," he said.

Sinkholes, common throughout most of Florida, occur when subterranean limestone erodes creating a cavern that eventually collapses.

Neighbors whose houses were damaged as they tilted toward the crater began hauling away their furniture. High school student David Trudding arrived Saturday morning at Rozolsky's house in this community just north of Orlando.

"I came over to mow the lawn—but, no lawn," he said.

Missile to Take 'Whaleback' Voyage

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
I. P-T National Service

WASHINGTON — A ship that resembles a pregnant whale is due at the Seal Beach Naval Weapons Station next month to begin hauling moon-rocket sections from the West Coast to Cape Kennedy.

The USNS Pt. Barrow is due at the station on June 14 to load a huge section of the Saturn moon rocket for delivery to Michoud, La., for checkout. After checkout, the section will be taken by the Pt. Barrow to Cape Kennedy.

The 61-foot-long, 22-foot-diameter section, built by Douglas Aircraft Co., at Huntington Beach, will be transferred to the Pt. Barrow from the barge Orion. The barge will have brought the rocket section from a Douglas test facility near Sacramento.

The Pt. Barrow's trip from Seal Beach to Louisiana and Florida is the first of scores of such voyages she'll make before the Saturn rocket lifts men to the moon in late 1969 or early 1970.

A former cargo and vehicle carrier for the Military Sea Transportation Service, the Pt. Barrow currently is in a San Francisco Bay shipyard undergoing final conversion as a missile-section carrier.

This conversion has given her odd shape. The ship's 202-foot-long well deck has been filled with a bulging structure similar to a Quonset hut extending from amidships to stern. The over-all outline is that of an expectant whale.

The structure will cradle and protect the costly missile sections, which are delicate for all their size. The cradling mechanism has been designed to cushion the missile sections against the roll of the ship, and special dehumidifiers protect them from corrosion.

The Saturn IV stage that will be Pt. Barrow's first cargo in her new role is a ground-test section built solely to check out the facilities that will be handling flight versions of the rocket segments.

Pt. Barrow will be joined late next year by a sister ship, USNS Taurus, which is to be given even more elaborate missile-shipping facilities.

Both vessels will be operated by MSTS for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Unruh Blasts Caste System Care of Poor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh called Saturday for repudiation of the state's "almhouse philosophy" toward welfare that he said makes "beggars, not choosers," out of the sick and poor.

The Los Angeles Democrat urged support of pending legislation that would provide state funds for local programs of aid.

"Since the 1930s, social responsibility has been translated into public services at public expense in public agencies," said Unruh.

"The practical effect has been to establish public hospitals and welfare agencies which separate the poor from the rest of us . . .

"We have isolated people by means of a caste system of social services over which they have no control. Even though tax money rather than charity is paying the bill, clients still are beggars, not choosers. Either they use the services we provide or they get nothing."

Addressing the conference of the California Council for Retarded Children, Unruh asked support for bills currently under consideration in the legislature that would:

—Provide for diagnostic and counseling services at the local level for the mentally retarded.

—Make rent supplements available to poor people so they could rent "decent and clean homes like any other citizens" rather than forcing them into segregated and expensive welfare housing projects.

—Provide pre-paid medical insurance for the elderly, allowing them to get medical care instead of forcing them into county hospitals.

—Require school districts not offering special programs for the handicapped to pay for the child's education, with state financial support.

Christopher Says He's 'Available'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—George Christopher, former San Francisco mayor, said Saturday that he is available as a Republican candidate for governor in next year's election.

But he fell short of making a formal, unconditional announcement of candidacy.

The 57-year-old Greek immigrant said he was asking his friends to organize a preliminary campaign on his behalf and added: ". . . in all probability I will become an announced candidate for governor at the proper time."

He made the announcement on a Los Angeles television program. In addition, he distributed a news release outlining his campaign strategy.

* * * *

CHRISTOPHER said he had discussed the decision with U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, who has left the door open for his own possible candidacy.

Asked if he would run in next June's Republican primary against Kuchel, if the state's senior senator makes a bid, Christopher replied: "I have run in difficult situations in the past . . . but I do not want to preclude any contingency."

This left room for Christopher to withdraw from the race if Kuchel entered it. But, at the same time, he said he would not run for the lieutenant governor's spot.

Report 'Nazi' U-Boat Unit in S. Africa

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—A Swedish daily said Saturday a German Nazi ex-officer, Gen. Raymond Kritzenger Rudman, is heading a "heavily armed" South African Nazi movement, equipped with two old German submarines.

The Expressen, continuing its series of unveiling a Swedish Nazi movement with international ties, also published a facsimile of a letter from Rudman to a contact man in Cairo. It came from the movement's headquarters in Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, the newspaper said.

The letter was headed by the name "Die Boerenasie," an organization described by the paper as "headed by a group of ex-officers in Hitler's army. Rudman is also a grand dragon of the Klu Klux Klan, the daily said.

L.A. School Board Race Stirs Heat

By CHARLES SUTTON
I. P-T Staff Writer

A Los Angeles city school board election that normally might get no more than a yawn or two from the electorate is churning up a political storm in Los Angeles. The election will be held May 25.

Nominally, the contest is between a woman real estate agent and a Negro minister. But looming ever larger in the campaign is the controversial question of right-wing extremism and extremist efforts to "infiltrate" local school systems.

Supporters of Rev. James Edward Jones, a civil rights candidate, have charged his opponent, former FBI informer Mrs. Marion Miller, with being closely allied to the ultra-right, and have warned that her election to the school board would mean "a right-wing takeover of education in Los Angeles."

* * * *

ONLY ONE other race in the municipal election campaign has generated as much heat, if not excitement, as the school board race; and that's the contest between incumbent City Councilwoman Rosalind Wyman and attorney Edmund Edelman.

Political observers point out that there is comparatively little ground separating the two on issues. However, that hasn't prevented them from engaging in a hammer and tongs battle.

Mrs. Wyman, who came out of college 12 years ago to win her present council seat in a stunning political upset, is now fighting for her political life, observers say. And despite the backing of the prestigious Los Angeles Times, she is running well behind her opponent at this time.

* * * *

RECENTLY, Wyman backers sought to knock the former government labor lawyer out of the race by challenging his residency qualifications in court, but the case was dismissed. And it seems safe to say now that he'll be on the ballot.

The Wyman-Edelman battle has further been enlivened by the indirect support given Edelman by Mayor Sam Yorty, whose four-year feud with the councilwoman has generated an endless succession of sparks, not to mention some pretty bad blood.

The school board election, which is citywide, and the Wyman-Edelman donnybrook, which is restricted to the 5th councilmanic district (parts of Hollywood and surrounding territory), virtually obscure the other two councilmanic races and the discussion over 10 proposed city charter amendments.

* * * *

IN THE SCHOOL election, some sharp differences emerge.

Mrs. Miller, for example, is against federal aid to the schools; Jones welcomes it.

Mrs. Miller would slash all "frills" from the school administrative structure and economize to the bone; Jones hasn't stressed the issue.

Mrs. Miller sees no reason to get excited about de facto segregation, saying she does not detect any racial problems in the city's school system; Jones would take remedial steps, although he eschews the practice of busing students from one region to another to encourage integration.

* * * *

ALL THESE, however, may take a back seat on election day to the question of Mrs. Miller's alleged dalliance with the John Birch Society and other ultra-right-wing groups.

For her part, the former FBI undercover woman would prefer to leave out any mention of associations in the campaign. She regards the charges against her as "a venomous attack."

Officer Bill Bailey inspects plastic bag containing marijuana seeds and stems found between the seats of suspect's auto. Men were arrested on busy downtown Long Beach street at 9 p.m.

2 Nabbed with Dope on Downtown Street

Two men, both believed under the influence of marijuana, were arrested on a busy downtown Long Beach street Saturday night as the result of a routine traffic stop.

Jailed on suspicion of possessing marijuana and being under the influence of marijuana were Jimmy R. Yniguez, 21, of 3166 Gale Ave., and Odice Dean Harris, 25, of Los Angeles.

Police found two half-full plastic sacks of marijuana in the 1951 automobile, which was impounded.

Officers Bill Bailey and Gene McClendon stopped the car driven by Yniguez at Fifth Street and Pine Avenue shortly before 9 p.m.

Bailey said they had been following the auto from Long Beach Boulevard and Seventh Street because of the erratic manner in which it was being driven.

A search of the car, McClendon said, produced the two plastic sacks containing the marijuana.

Yniguez, a carpenter, told police the car belonged to his sister. Harris, a painter, denied any knowledge of the marijuana.

Dozens of passersby watched as police questioned and handcuffed the suspects.

AIRLINE FLYGIRLS

Once They Checked Floor Bolts, Flying Cigar Butts

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The era of the airline stewardess began 35 years ago today—with such duties as fasten your floor bolts and make sure cigar butts aren't tossed out of windows.

On May 15, 1930, eight young nurses began flying the routes of scheduled U.S. airlines. They were the vanguard of the corps of pulchritude, poise and personality that now numbers more than 30,000 throughout the world.

The carrier who took the original chance — over the violent objections of its pilots—was Boeing Transport, part of the United Air Lines system.

One of the eight was the girl who thought up the idea — Ellen Church. She took the first flight on which a feminine cabin attendant was part of the crew. She selected and trained the other seven, although the word "trained" is stretching things a bit.

* * * *

MISS CHURCH and a traffic agent, Steve Stimpson, wrote the first stewardess manual. It consisted of 11 mimeographed pages which listed duties such as:

—Check the floor bolts on the wicker seats in the Ford trimotors to make sure they were securely fastened before every flight; punch tickets.

— Warn passengers against throwing lighted cigar butts out of windows, particluarly over populated areas.

—Watch passengers going to the washroom to see that they opened the right door (rather than the adjacent emergency exit).

— Remember to carry aboard hampers containing cold fried chicken, apples, rolls, cake and vacuum bottles with hot coffee for passenger meals.

* * * *

THINGS HAVE changed. The 11-page manual now runs to 400 pages. Ellen Church trained her girls in less than a week and some carriers in the early days turned out a stewardess in three hours. United today requires six weeks of training.

* * * *

A NURSING requirement, adopted by every airline in the early days, gradually was relaxed or abandoned as air travel became more comfortable and routine and as the supply of nurses willing to fly dwindled.

Physical standards for hiring also have been altered. Ellen Church's original employment requirements specified not more than 25 year old (the limit now on most airlines is 27 for hiring), maximum weight 115 pounds (it's now 140), and not over 5'4" in height (now 5'9"). The height limit was increased as aircraft cabins became larger.

ANOTHER 'DISASTER?'

Queen Elizabeth to Visit in West Germany 10 Days

By HARRY J. STATHOS

LONDON (UPI)—The year was 1909 and the royal visit to Germany was a political mistake and a social disaster.

England's King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra rode in a train that went to the wrong destination, the horses pulling their carriage collapsed from exhaustion and the King fell asleep at the ballet.

Now, Queen Elizabeth is preparing for a 10-day visit to West Germany and some sections of parliament and the British press think her visit could be a disaster, too.

The royal visit, which begins Tuesday is looked upon as a symbolic end to the Anglo-German bitterness of World War II. But it is also seen as a trip loaded with political dynamite and significance.

* * * *

WHEN WORD got out that the Queen would visit West Berlin, it touched off worried questions in parliament from members who thought the communists might stir up trouble in the divided city while the Queen is there.

The oppositioon Conservative Party accused Prime Minister Harold Wilson of using the Queen's visit to further political goals. And a London Sunday newspaper alleged that large numbers of once-prominent Nazis had been invited to meet the Queen during her visit.

But a spokesman for West German President Heinrich Luebke called meetings with former Nazis "unthinkable.' Wilson pointed out that "the previous government advised the Queen to visit Germany," and Britain is reasonably confident that Russia will not use the royal visit as an occasion for stirring up more tension.

The queen is reported to be looking forward to the trip and the nationally circulated "Welt Am Sonntag" of Hamburg has written: "the visit shall seal the reconciliation between both countries after the war, as did similar visit of (French) President (Charles) De Gaulle and (American) President John F. Kennedy."

Owner of Store Shot Grappling With Assailant

A 63-year-old Paramount liquor-store owner was shot Saturday night wrestling with a gunman in his store.

The gunman and his companion escaped from the store at 14051 Paramount Blvd. empty-handed.

Reported in good condition at a hospital with a bullet wound in his right arm was George W. Campbell. He told deputies three shots were fired as he grappled with the would-be hold-up man shortly before 10 p.m. He was struck only once.

Peking Blast: A Sound of Fear in Asia

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

President Johnson warned Red China last week that its hopes of dominating all Asia are purely illusory.

"In this they will never succeed," he declared in a speech pinning on Peking's war lords the onus of Communist North Viet Nam's invasion of pro-American South Viet Nam.

While the President's words were still echoing around the world, China exploded its second atmospheric nuclear device—a blast long predicted by U.S. intelligence. Its first test, from a site believed vulnerable to American bombers, took place last Oct. 16.

* * * *

NOW, as then, U.S. diplocatic and military officials took the development in stride. They insist it will be at least five years before China can acquire a weapons stockpile and assemble delivery systems.

But they conceded it could have a dangerous psychological effect on troubled Asia and set back attempts to achieve peace in Viet Nam.

The United States quickly pledged protection of its Asian friends against "Chinese nuclear blackmail." The State Department said it was "deeply regrettable" that Chinese leaders have again totally disregarded the nuclear-test-ban treaty to which more than 100 nations have adhered.

A House defense appropriations subcommittee released testimony by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in which he declared the United States will use nuclear weapons "in any situation" when necessary to "protect our own interests." This could include Red China.

* * * *

IN HIS speech, the President again underwrote his determination to use American military might to save South Viet Nam—or any other free Asian nation which China covets. But he also renewed his call for unconditional peace talks and a massive Southeast Asia aid program which he hoped Soviet Russia would join.

He spoke more emphatically than usual about China's aims. He said "their target is not merely South Viet Nam—it is Asia." And in an apparent bid to drive a wedge between Hanoi and Peking, he again held out the promise of North Viet Nam sharing economic aid, once it stops its Peking-sponsored war and cooperates in peaceful progress.

SECRETARY McNAMARA
'In Any Situation'

Johnson blamed Peking for blocking negotiations which most of the world's non-Communist nations favor. He said of North Viet Nam that continuation of the war without talks means only vast damage to North Viet Nam and "no conquest."

* * * *

THIS WAS a reference to massive around-the-clock U.S. air raids on North Viet Nam targets and stepped up ground action in which 45,000 American troops and a vast air armada are now bolstering the South Vietnamese army.

Peking declared flatly that it has no intention of negotiating until the United States gives up and withdraws its troops. American officials acknowledged that China's second atomic test could strengthen North Viet Nam's will to fight.

But Johnson kept the door open for peace maneuvers, even while branding Hanoi a tool of Peking.

* * * *

RED CHINA'S propaganda machine proclaimed that Peking was building a nuclear arsenal to counter "nuclear blackmail and threats" from the United States and to "Safeguard the motherland and world peace." China has spurned the test-ban treaty as has French President Charles de Gaulle. This could eventually force the United States, Britain and Russia to resume atmospheric testing to meet the challenge.

The State Department said U.S.-Soviet cooperation had been "rendered difficult" by Moscow's support of so-called "wars of liberation." Russia had attacked the United States for "intervention" in Viet Nam and the rebellion-rocked Dominican Republic.

The Dominican crisis remained unresolved. There was new fighting between government and rebel forces in Santo Domingo. A government air strike temporarily silenced the rebel radio. The insurrectionists had been using it to recruit outside support and to berate the United States for sending in 23,000 troops to prevent a Communist takeover.

Two U.S. Army security agents were killed by rebel snipers, bringing the American death toll to 20.

The State Department voiced hope that a "broadly based interim government could be formed. So far it has refused to recognize either of the rival governments.

The Organization of American States (OAS) ordered a peace force into the Latin American Republic in hopes of reestablishing order. The United Nations Security Council also called for a strict ceasefire, with all parties cooperating.

* * * *

SECRETARY of State Dean Rusk, in London after attending a Nato meeting, said U.S. troops would remain in Santo Domingo until relieved by the OAS peacekeeping force.

In Congress the President's top priority Negro voting rights bill got entangled in a poll tax dispute. The Senate narrowly beat down an amendment that would have outlawed poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting in state-local elections. Johnson and his Senate lieutenants feared the amendment could not stand against a constitutional challenge.

But the House Judiciary Committee, sparked by Speaker John W. McCormack, Mass., voted for outright repeal of all such taxes. McCormack's break with Johnson all but assured House passage of a bill that the Senate presumably would reject.

* * * *

CHIEF obstacle to approval of a Senate bill was continued opposition of Southern senators, who offered more than 60 amendments, all open to debate.

At Cheyenne, Wyo., the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the public accommodations section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act does not apply to taverns engaged primarily in selling beer.

In other news spheres, the administration was weighing proposals for $5 billion of gradual cuts in excise taxes. The first cut —$1.75 billion—would take effect July 1, if Congress approved.

The President advised all federal departments that he wants them to take a tough approach to next year's budget and let the political chips fall where they may. At the same time he asked Congress to vote an $853 million annual pay hike for military personnel and government employes, effective next Jan. 1.

* * * *

IN A MOVE to reduce the balance of payments deficit abroad, the House Ways and Means Committee approved Johnson's request to cut from $100 to $50 the value of duty-free gonds U.S. tourists may bring from overseas.

Moscow gave a Negro American diplomat, Norris D. Garnett, a week to leave Russia. Garnett works in the embassy's cultural affairs section. He denied charges that he had asked African students to gather intelligence information for the United States.

Russia rocketed a space ship to the moon but failed to achieve a "soft landing." A soft landing must be assured for men landing on the moon.

* * * *

AT RUNNYMEADE, England, birth place of Western freedom, Queen Elizabeth II dedicated a memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy. "We wept for his death," her majesty said. Beside the queen were Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children. Also present were Sens. Robert F. and Edward Kennedy.

The National Education Association (NEA) imposed national sanctions on Oklahoma after teachers complained of "sub-minimal" school conditions. It urged teachers in other states not to accept jobs in Oklahoma and said they could be expelled from the NEA if they did.

L.A. School Board Race Stirs Heat

By CHARLES SUTTON
I. P-T Staff Writer

A Los Angeles city school board election that normally might get no more than a yawn or two from the electorate is churning up a political storm in Los Angeles. The election will be held May 25.

Nominally, the contest is between a woman real estate agent and a Negro minister. But looming ever larger in the campaign is the controversial question of right-wing extremism and extremist efforts to "infiltrate" local school systems.

Supporters of Rev. James Edward Jones, a civil rights candidate, have charged his opponent, former FBI informer Mrs. Marion Miller, with being closely allied to the ultra-right, and have warned that her election to the school board would mean "a right-wing takeover of education in Los Angeles."

* * * *

ONLY ONE other race in the municipal election campaign has generated as much heat, if not excitement, as the school board race; and that's the contest between incumbent City Councilwoman Rosalind Wyman and attorney Edmund Edelman.

Political observers point out that there is comparatively little ground separating the two on issues. However, that hasn't prevented them from engaging in a hammer and tongs battle.

Mrs. Wyman, who came out of college 12 years ago to win her present council seat in a stunning political upset, is now fighting for her political life, observers say. And despite the backing of the prestigious Los Angeles Times, she is running well behind her opponent at this time.

* * * *

RECENTLY, Wyman backers sought to knock the former government labor lawyer out of the race by challenging his residency qualifications in court, but the case was dismissed. And it seems safe to say now that he'll be on the ballot.

The Wyman-Edelman battle has further been enlivened by the indirect support given Edelman by Mayor Sam Yorty, whose four-year feud with the councilwoman has generated an endless succession of sparks, not to mention some pretty bad blood.

The school board election, which is citywide, and the Wyman-Edelman donnybrook, which is restricted to the 5th councilmanic district (parts of Hollywood and surrounding territory), virtually obscure the other two councilmanic races and the discussion over 10 proposed city charter amendments.

* * * *

IN THE SCHOOL election, some sharp differences emerge.

Mrs. Miller, for example, is against federal aid to the schools; Jones welcomes it.

Mrs. Miller would slash all "frills" from the school administrative structure and economize to the bone; Jones hasn't stressed the issue.

Mrs. Miller sees no reason to get excited about de facto segregation, saying she does not detect any racial problems in the city's school system; Jones would take remedial steps, although he eschews the practice of busing students from one region to another to encourage integration.

* * * *

ALL THESE, however, may take a back seat on election day to the question of Mrs. Miller's alleged dalliance with the John Birch Society and other ultra-right-wing groups.

For her part, the former FBI undercover woman would prefer to leave out any mention of associations in the campaign. She regards the charges against her as "a venomous attack."

2 Nabbed with Dope on Downtown Street

Two men, both believed under the influence of marijuana, were arrested on a busy downtown Long Beach street Saturday night as the result of a routine traffic stop.

Jailed on suspicion of possessing marijuana and being under the influence of marijuana were Jimmy R. Yniguez, 21, of 3166 Gale Ave., and Odice Dean Harris, 25, of Los Angeles.

Police found two half-full plastic sacks of marijuana in the 1951 automobile, which was impounded.

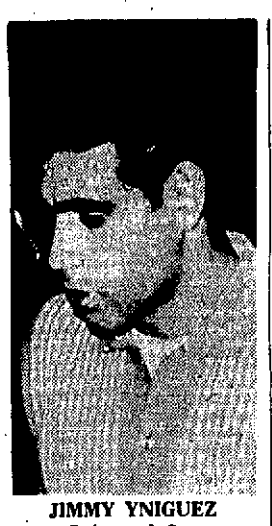

Officers Bill Bailey and Gene McClendon stopped the car driven by Yniguez at Fifth Street and Pine Avenue shortly before 9 p.m.

Bailey said they had been following the auto from Long Beach Boulevard and Seventh Street because of the erratic manner in which it was being driven.

A search of the car, McClendon said, produced the two plastic sacks containing the marijuana.

Yniguez, a carpenter, told police the car belonged to his sister. Harris, a painter, denied any knowledge of the marijuana.

Dozens of passersby watched as police questioned and handcuffed the suspects.

AIRLINE FLYGIRLS

Once They Checked Floor Bolts, Flying Cigar Butts

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The era of the airline stewardess began 35 years ago today—with such duties as fasten your floor bolts and make sure cigar butts aren't tossed out of windows.

On May 15, 1930, eight young nurses began flying the routes of scheduled U.S. airlines. They were the vanguard of the corps of pulchritude, poise and personality that now numbers more than 30,000 throughout the world.

The carrier who took the original chance — over the violent objections of its pilots—was Boeing Transport, part of the United Air Lines system.

One of the eight was the girl who thought up the idea — Ellen Church. She took the first flight on which a feminine cabin attendant was part of the crew. She selected and trained the other seven, although the word "trained" is stretching things a bit.

* * * *

MISS CHURCH and a traffic agent, Steve Stimpson, wrote the first stewardess manual. It consisted of 11 mimeographed pages which listed duties such as:

—Check the floor bolts on the wicker seats in the Ford trimotors to make sure they were securely fastened before every flight; punch tickets.

— Warn passengers against throwing lighted cigar butts out of windows, particluarly over populated areas.

—Watch passengers going to the washroom to see that they opened the right door (rather than the adjacent emergency exit).

— Remember to carry aboard hampers containing cold fried chicken, apples, rolls, cake and vacuum bottles with hot coffee for passenger meals.

* * * *

THINGS HAVE changed. The 11-page manual now runs to 400 pages. Ellen Church trained her girls in less than a week and some carriers in the early days turned out a stewardess in three hours. United today requires six weeks of training.

* * * *

A NURSING requirement, adopted by every airline in the early days, gradually was relaxed or abandoned as air travel became more comfortable and routine and as the supply of nurses willing to fly dwindled.

Physical standards for hiring also have been altered. Ellen Church's original employment requirements specified not more than 25 year old (the limit now on most airlines is 27 for hiring), maximum weight 115 pounds (it's now 140), and not over 5'4" in height (now 5'9"). The height limit was increased as aircraft cabins became larger.

ANOTHER 'DISASTER?'

Queen Elizabeth to Visit in West Germany 10 Days

By HARRY J. STATHOS

LONDON (UPI)—The year was 1909 and the royal visit to Germany was a political mistake and a social disaster.

England's King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra rode in a train that went to the wrong destination, the horses pulling their carriage collapsed from exhaustion and the King fell asleep at the ballet.

Now, Queen Elizabeth is preparing for a 10-day visit to West Germany and some sections of parliament and the British press think her visit could be a disaster, too.

The royal visit, which begins Tuesday is looked upon as a symbolic end to the Anglo-German bitterness of World War II. But it is also seen as a trip loaded with political dynamite and significance.

* * * *

WHEN WORD got out that the Queen would visit West Berlin, it touched off worried questions in parliament from members who thought the communists might stir up trouble in the divided city while the Queen is there.

The oppositioon Conservative Party accused Prime Minister Harold Wilson of using the Queen's visit to further political goals. And a London Sunday newspaper alleged that large numbers of once-prominent Nazis had been invited to meet the Queen during her visit.

But a spokesman for West German President Heinrich Luebke called meetings with former Nazis "unthinkable,' Wilson pointed out that "the previous government advised the Queen to visit Germany," and Britain is reasonably confident that Russia will not use the royal visit as an occasion for stirring up more tension.

The queen is reported to be looking forward to the trip and the nationally circulated "Welt Am Sonntag" of Hamburg has written: "the visit shall seal the reconciliation between both countries after the war, as did similar visit of (French) President (Charles) De Gaulle and (American) President John F. Kennedy."

Owner of Store Shot Grappling With Assailant

A 63-year-old Paramount liquor-store owner was shot Saturday night wrestling with a gunman in his store.

The gunman and his companion escaped from the store at 14051 Paramount Blvd. empty-handed.

Reported in good condition at a hospital with a bullet wound in his right arm was George W. Campbell. He told deputies three shots were fired as he grappled with the would-be hold-up man shortly before 10 p.m. He was struck only once.

Civic Beauty Dinner May 27

The Civic Beautification Committee of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce holds its annual Awards dinner May 27 in the Pacific Coast Club.

Mrs. George P. Taubman Jr., chairman, will present awards to commercial buildings in the city which have been built or remodeled in the last year, to schools for their participation in beautification and to individuals who have contributed time or money to the beautification program.

Guest speaker for the event will be Neil Deasy, Los Angeles architect, who works with the Los Angeles beautiful program, "Celebrate with Color."

The public is invited to attend the dinner. No host cocktails will be served at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. Dinner is $4.50. Reservations may be made with the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Housing, Negroes Talk Set

Two free lectures are scheduled this week by the forums department of Long Beach City College.

Dr. Julian J. Keiser, a director of the Department of Social Action, United Church of Christ Conference in Southern California and the Southwest, will speak on "Housing and the Negro" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Boyd High School auditorium, Eighth Street and Locust Avenue.

Editor of his denomination's regional publication, "The Stimulator," Dr. Keiser is a member of the United Civil Rights Executive Committee and the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Human Relations in Los Angeles. Monday's lecture is the third in the current series on "A Look at the American Negro."

Dr. Giles T. Brown, chairman of the social science department, California State College at Fullerton, opens a series of four illustrated talks on "Emerging West Africa" at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Boyd Auditorium. His topic will be "Algeria at the Crossroads."

Peking Blast: A Sound of Fear in Asia

By HARRY SHARPE
United Press International

President Johnson warned Red China last week that its hopes of dominating all Asia are purely illusory.

"In this they will never succeed," he declared in a speech pinning on Peking's war lords the onus of Communist North Viet Nam's invasion of pro-American South Viet Nam.

While the President's words were still echoing around the world, China exploded its second atmospheric nuclear device—a blast long predicted by U.S. intelligence. Its first test, from a site believed vulnerable to American bombers, took place last Oct. 16.

* * * *

NOW, as then, U.S. diplocatic and military officials took the development in stride. They insist it will be at least five years before China can acquire a weapons stockpile and assemble delivery systems.

But they conceded it could have a dangerous psychological effect on troubled Asia and set back attempts to achieve peace in Viet Nam.

The United States quickly pledged protection of its Asian friends against "Chinese nuclear blackmail." The State Department said it was "deeply regrettable" that Chinese leaders have again totally disregarded the nuclear-test-ban treaty to which more than 100 nations have adhered.

A House defense appropriations subcommittee released testimony by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in which he declared the United States will use nuclear weapons "in any situation" when necessary to "protect our own interests." This could include Red China.

* * * *

IN HIS speech, the President again underwrote his determination to use American military might to save South Viet Nam—or any other free Asian nation which China covets. But he also renewed his call for unconditional peace talks and a massive Southeast Asia aid program which he hoped Soviet Russia would join.

He spoke more emphatically than usual about China's aims. He said "their target is not merely South Viet Nam—it is Asia." And in an apparent bid to drive a wedge between Hanoi and Peking, he again held out the promise of North Viet Nam sharing economic aid, once it stops its Peking-sponsored war and cooperates in peaceful progress.

SECRETARY McNAMARA
'In Any Situation'

Johnson blamed Peking for blocking negotiations which most of the world's non-Communist nations favor. He said of North Viet Nam that continuation of the war without talks means only vast damage to North Viet Nam and "no conquest."

* * * *

THIS WAS a reference to massive around-the-clock U.S. air raids on North Viet Nam targets and stepped up ground action in which 45,000 American troops and a vast air armada are now bolstering the South Vietnamese army.

Peking declared flatly that it has no intention of negotiating until the United States gives up and withdraws its troops. American officials acknowledged that China's second atomic test could strengthen North Viet Nam's will to fight.

But Johnson kept the door open for peace maneuvers, even while branding Hanoi a tool of Peking.

* * * *

RED CHINA'S propaganda machine proclaimed that Peking was building a nuclear arsenal to counter "nuclear blackmail and threats" from the United States and to "Safeguard the motherland and world peace." China has spurned the test-ban treaty as has French President Charles de Gaulle. This could eventually force the United States, Britain and Russia to resume atmospheric testing to meet the challenge.

The State Department said U.S.-Soviet cooperation had been "rendered difficult" by Moscow's support of so-called "wars of liberation." Russia had attacked the United States for "intervention" in Viet Nam and the rebellion-rocked Dominican Republic.

The Dominican crisis remained unresolved. There was new fighting between government and rebel forces in Santo Domingo. A government air strike temporarily silenced the rebel radio. The insurrectionists had been using it to recruit outside support and to berate the United States for sending in 23,000 troops to prevent a Communist takeover.

Two U.S. Army security agents were killed by rebel snipers, bringing the American death toll to 20.

The State Department voiced hope that a "broadly based interim government could be formed. So far it has refused to recognize either of the rival governments.

The Organization of American States (OAS) ordered a peace force into the Latin American Republic in hopes of reestablishing order. The United Nations Security Council also called for a strict ceasefire, with all parties cooperating.

* * * *

SECRETARY of State Dean Rusk, in London after attending a Nato meeting, said U.S. troops would remain in Santo Domingo until relieved by the OAS peacekeeping force.

In Congress the President's top priority Negro voting rights bill got entangled in a poll tax dispute. The Senate narrowly beat down an amendment that would have outlawed poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting in state-local elections. Johnson and his Senate lieutenants feared the amendment could not stand against a constitutional challenge.

But the House Judiciary Committee, sparked by Speaker John W. McCormack, Mass., voted for outright repeal of all such taxes. McCormack's break with Johnson all but assured House passage of a bill that the Senate presumably would reject.

* * * *

CHIEF obstacle to approval of a Senate bill was continued opposition of Southern senators, who offered more than 60 amendments, all open to debate.

At Cheyenne, Wyo., the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the public accommodations section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act does not apply to taverns engaged primarily in selling beer.

In other news spheres, the administration was weighing proposals for $5 billion of gradual cuts in excise taxes. The first cut —$1.75 billion—would take effect July 1, if Congress approved.

The President advised all federal departments that he wants them to take a tough approach to next year's budget and let the political chips fall where they may. At the same time he asked Congress to vote an $853 million annual pay hike for military personnel and government employes, effective next Jan. 1.

* * * *

IN A MOVE to reduce the balance of payments deficit abroad, the House Ways and Means Committee approved Johnson's request to cut from $100 to $50 the value of duty-free goods U.S. tourists may bring from overseas.

Moscow gave a Negro American diplomat, Norris D. Garnett, a week to leave Russia. Garnett works in the embassy's cultural affairs section. He denied charges that he had asked African students to gather intelligence information for the United States.

Russia rocketed a space ship to the moon but failed to achieve a "soft landing." A soft landing must be assured for men landing on the moon.

AT RUNNYMEADE, England, birth place of Western freedom, Queen Elizabeth II dedicated a memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy. "We wept for his death," her majesty said. Beside the queen were Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children. Also present were Sens. Robert F. and Edward Kennedy.

The National Education Association (NEA) imposed national sanctions on Oklahoma after teachers complained of "sub-minimal" school conditions. It urged teachers in other states not to accept jobs in Oklahoma and said they could be expelled from the NEA if they did.

GOP Women Lead the Way

THE CALIFORNIA Federation of Republican Women this week provided their party an example of the kind of decisive, forceful, and responsible political action required to put the GOP back in contention in national politics.

In no uncertain terms, they blasted the crackpot right wing's "defamatory and slanderous" telephone attacks on national leaders and called for an FBI investigation of those attacks.

Local Republicans should be proud of the fact that the action against the propaganda campaign was initiated by a Long Beach member of the Federation, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell.

Mrs. O'Donnell became incensed upon studying the contents of a message which a Birch-promoted outfit that calls itself "Let Freedom Ring" puts out by way of a recording over the telephone.

The message informs the public that former President Dwight Eisenhower is an "ersatz conservative with the pro-Communist record" and "one of the greatest phonies ever put over on the American people." It describes Chief Justice Earl Warren as a "pro-Communist toady."

In a resolution approved unanimously by the 32 directors present at a San Francisco conference, the Federation condemned such "false and treacherous propaganda" and warned against well-organized, well-financed conspiracies "of either right or left, which are equally dangerous to freedom."

This lumping of the right with the left shows a degree of political sophistication. Some Republicans tended to defend the right-wing extremists because those extremists profess to be Republicans, which is no more the truth than the contention of the far left wing that it is a genuine part of the Democratic party. The fact is that the far right and the far left are closer to one another than to either of the major political parties. This point should be made more often.

For their fine sense of discrimination and their political courage, we congratulate the California Federation of Republican Women. We hope all their political cousins will take notice.

We Get Picketed

WE GOT PICKETED THIS week. It helped, for otherwise it wasn't a very interesting week. Soybeans closed strong on the Chicago exchange, and that was about it.

The pickets put out an advance notice they were coming to protest our policy against appeasement and isolationism. We got the idea we were going to be surrounded by serious-minded young collegiates.

When the appointed hour came, we walked down to the street. We were greatly disappointed to find that the organizer was a local character whom we've known for years—a tax reformer who has been publicized by the local Better Business Bureau. ("If you are solicited . . . it would no doubt be helpful to have an accounting of how such donations are being employed . . .") The last time he was of college age must have been 40 years ago.

His pickets arrived and began walking up and down in front of the office. A fat man, who turned out to be a special investigator, stood watching. On top of the old Penney building, across the street, police photographers focussed their cameras. Over in front of Thrifty Drug, someone representing somebody whispered into a walkie-talkie.

The plot thickened. A blind lady with an accordion shuffled down Pine Ave. singing "You Are My Sunshine." From a block away came the accusatory fulminations of a bearded street-corner evangelist who waved a Bible in the clogged May air. A newspaper reporter wandered along with a circus poster tacked to the end of a stick. A car stalled in the middle of the street. Grant Holcomb, the TV man, marched through the picket line with more assistants than there were agitators. Meanwhile, the sun came out for the first time this week.

Presently, the real collegiates turned up with placards, and they were on our side. Sullen, the enemy handed in their signs and departed. Then, the anti-anti-pickets sauntered over to Thrifty to buy ice cream cones. The street fell silent again.

Across the way, the news vendor's phlegmatic dachshund lay on his side taking a sunbath and saying, in effect, "A plague on both your houses."

"I'm Getting Off"

JOHN O'HARA

Barry Finished as a Nominee but Still Has Big Following

SOME OF the faithful have been writing in to ask why I have failed to write something about the victorious loser. They know that I came out for Goldwater, and voted for him, and they have correctly guessed that I took a lot of abuse from the ever-tolerant, anti-conformist liberals. Now, say the faithful, is my chance to get back at the people who said Goldwater was trigger-happy, that he would be sending more troops to Viet Nam, that he would use atomic weapons, and so on; and that anyone who supported Goldwater was mad, mad, mad. Inasmuch as Johnson is doing the very things that he said Goldwater would do if elected President, why not gloat a little?

Friends, I gloat a little twice every day: in the morning when I read the newspapers, and at night when I tune in on the news programs. If I have not gloated in print it is only because I try to keep these messages lively through variety. As good a writer as Westbrook Pegler was, he finally became a bore by repetition. If you saw the name Eleanor in a column of Pegler's, it was a column you could skip, and the first duty of a journalist is to stay readable. As a former sports writer (and none better), Pegler should have known how to mix them. The temptation to become a pamhpleteer need not be irresistible to a journalist who does not shut out other interests. Some of the best writing Pegler or any other journalist ever did in his final months as a columnist, in those reminiscences of his early days in the newspaper business. They unfortunately came too late. Pegler had driven his people away, and William Randolph Hearst Jr. was being shielded from the Pegler talent by Bob Considine and Frank Conniff.

CONSIDINE, who could be called the greatest living reporter if I could be called Harvey Cushing, is—to put it delicately — inhospitable to superior talents. It would surprise me very much to hear that he threatened to resign if Hearst fired Pegler. As for Conniff, the newspaper shop-talk is that he ghosts the pieces that appear under Hearst's byline, and, like Gore Vidal he ran for Congress. He inherited, if that is quite the word, Pegler's position on the comment page of the New York Journal-American. But even without the assistance of Considine and Conniff, the non-revolving door had opened outward for Pegler, and he had principally himself to blame.

So I learned a little lesson there. However, as I have not said much about Goldwater in the past four or five months, he has not become a tiresome topic of these messages. I am inclined to believe that as a presidential nominee he is through. But as a man with a following he has to be reckoned with. From letters and converastions I surmise that his following is virtually intact, and until a stronger man comes along Goldwater will continue to retain his leadership. He still has the largest following on the Republican side.

GOLDWATER

In the East we hear of quiet activity on the part of Richard Nixon. It will get nowhere. Nixon made a political mistake in moving to New York. Although he lost the California governorship to Pat Brown, he might have won next time out. By changing his residence he dissipated his local strength, and in New York he certainly will get no help from Nelson Rockefeller or Jacob Javits. In spite of the left-handed assistance he is getting from the misbehavior of the Democratic legislature, Rockefeller can be counted out, and he would not support Nixon anyhow. Javits is not a Republican Republican, and in any other state but New York he would not get Republican support.

* * * *

NIXON'S political future is that of a young elder statesman. The fantastic thought comes to me that if he were to run for anything in New York, Jim Farley could beat him.

JIM M'CAULEY

Revised Teale Bill Further at Odds With Court Decree

Independent, Press-Telegram State Bureau

SACRAMENTO—Prospects for the Senate Plan on Redistricting have been dimmed by two developments.

No. 1 blow was a 90-page report of four Assembly consultants, political science-government professors at state colleges. The report questioned the constitutionality of any plan that varies greatly from the one-man, one-vote principle as ordered by the federal court —meaning all votes in Senate races are to have virtually equal weight.

McCAULEY

The second setback was dealt by a surprise Senate amendment further increasing the ratio between the size of the largest urban Senate district and smallest rural-northern Senate district.

As written originally, the Senate reapportionment bill of Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point, still was weighted so that the largest urban district was 2.3 times as large as the smallest rural district. And federal courts have rejected several reapportionment plans in other states with districts out of whack by less than that.

However, the newly-revamped Teale bill is further out of balance due to an amendment proposed by Sen. James Cobey, D-Merced. Cobey forced on the Teale bill an amendment that took out Madera County from a sparsely-settled proposed district in the High Sierra.

It means that the Senate Reapportionment Bill now calls for the typical Los Angeles County district to have 2.6 times as many people as the mountain-district of Sen. Teale.

If federal court approval of the Senate Reapportionment Plan could be rated as uncertain before, it now must be considered highly unlikely. Reason: the Cobey amendment.

However, the Senate's heel-dragging is natural. With each shift of a seat from north to south, it consigns one cow-county senator to political oblivion. Under present apportionment, Los Angeles County's king-sized senate district is 422.5 times as large as the 26th District in Inyo, Mono and Alpine Counties.

But some day Southern California people may be as influential as northern cows.

Senate heel-dragging to a one-man-one-vote reapportionment accounts for the fact that the present plan calls only for 12 Los Angeles County senators, and not the 15.5 that would be due the county under strict interpretation of the federal court order.

Those extra 3.5 seats are staying in the north—to make political life easier for legislators like Sen. Teale, Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D- Williams, and Sen. Fred Farr, D-Carmel.

OTHER Sacramento Soundings:

GOP AIDS KENNICK — Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach, got an unexpected assist on his plan to abolish Economic Development Agency, the bungling agency that snubbed Long Beach in promotional brochures. Republicans have proposed phasing out EDA and turning over the function to a new agency that will find 200,000 jobs a year to spur state growth.

* * * *

NEGATIVE ENDORSEMENTS — Most interesting political battle-plan of the day comes from the newly-formed California Moderate Democrats, Inc. CMD will refuse to support any one endorsed by CDC (California Democratic Council).

* * * *

MONOGAN BOOM — Assemblyman George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, thinks the GOP could tap as a gubernatorial nominee Assembly Minority Leader Bob Monagan if neither Thomas Kuchel nor George Christopher emerge as strong moderate candidates. Monagan has drawn a lot of Capitol praise for his leadership over Assembly Republicans.

New Math on Polls Reveals Hidden Christopher Power

I, P-T Political Editor

GEORGE CHRISTOPHER is not yet running but he told his supporters Saturday to go ahead with organization efforts toward his 1966 GOP gubernatorial candidacy.

Christopher, 56, two-term mayor of San Francisco, until 1963, thus is first. Actor Ronald Reagan has scored higher among Republicans on polls than Christopher and than the undecided U.S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel. Reagan has said he requires only confirmation of a broad-based support to get in the race. But Christopher's Saturday announcement puts him the closest to official candidacy of any of the Republican potentials.

HOUSER

Poll reading, at a superficial glance, may not seem to support Christopher's apparent confidence. But there is a more subtle reading which does. The polls seem to say he has a vast reservoir of non-enemies.

Some of the clinchers which may have gone into Christopher's "all-but" candidacy:

First, he had advised Kuchel he would make his decision yesterday, a deadline extended one month in apparent courtesy to Kuchel. Kuchel would make the strongest race against Governor Brown, the polls say, but Reagan outshines him among Republicans who have to nominate their candidate in June, 1966.

OF COURSE there are no 100% voter turnouts in California, but for purposes of comparing poll strengths, assume that all registered voters as of Jan. 1—4,168,989 Democrats and 2,835,485 Republicans—voted according to poll percentages in 1966. Kuchel would defeat Brown by 952,000 votes; Christopher over Brown by 312,000; Brown over Reagan by 404,000; Brown over Joseph Shell by 558,000, and Brown over Max Rafferty by 590,000.

Political speculators say the Kuchel-Christopher talks may have been in the nature of a "stop Reagan" pact, i.e., if Christopher can win, Kuchel would need not risk his Senate seat nor prestige in the governor race.

The Christopher advantage of non-enemies goes like this:

An April 20 California Poll ranked GOP contenders among Republican voters "excellent, good, fair, poor, no opinion."

CHRISTOPHER got the least vote as "poor." It was 9%, compared to 10% for Kuchel, 16 for Shell, 27 for Rafferty, 28 for former Gov. Goodwin Knight and 32 for Reagan.

A Feb. 11 poll made similar ratings among the general public and among Republican voters. Christopher got "excellent" mention from the general public by only 6%, compared to 7 for Rafferty, 8 for Shell, 10 for Kuchel and 12 for Reagan. However, while Reagan scored high on excellent with 12%, he also scored 39% on "poor" while Christopher had only a 17% "poor" rating.

Among Republicans voting "excellent," it was Reagan 22, Kuchel 10, Christopher 8. But again, Reagan and Kuchel both drew 23% "poor" designations while only 12% gave Christopher a "poor" mark.

Another reading of that Feb. 11 polls: Adding up "excellent, good and fair" marks, Christopher was high man with 88% among GOP voters. Other scores—Kuchel 77, Shell 75 and Rafferty 64.

The later April 20 poll, figured the same way, puts Kuchel at the top with 68, Knight 57, Christopher 47, Reagan 44, Shell 40 and Rafferty 39.

It is valid argument that being low man on the "poor" scale may indicate only lack of knowledge or interest in the candidate. This is borne out by Christopher's relatively high scores in the "no opinion" column.

HOWEVER, IT may mean more than that in the context of the current Republican divisions. The GOP seems to be polarized between Kuchel as the man polls say could whip Brown handily, and Reagan who shines as first GOP choice but dims to an apparent loser against Brown.

The emotion will be spent on this debate. And suddenly that great non-enemy of anybody looms in the middle of the road.

Small Traffic Case Doesn't Need Jury

EDITOR:

I would like to raise some counter-arguments to your recent editorial concerning the bill introduced by Assemblyman Carrell, which would remove the right to jury trial from certain traffic offenses.

Passage of the bill is a must if our municipal courts are to be kept from absolute chaos. So many signal light and stopsign crashers, persons who speed 5 or 10 miles over the limit, those who make turns from the wrong lane, and similar offenders are demanding jury trials that the calendars are crowded beyond court ability to handle them.

It doesn't make sense financially that 12 jurors, a prosecutor, judge, clerk and bailiff must be paid at least a day's wages for a case where, if conviction is secured, the fine will be no more than $7, $12 or some similar small sum.

The editorial expressed concern over removing the right to jury trial in cases where the penalties can be severe. State law provides that the only possible penalties are cash fine and/or suspension of the defendant's driving privilege. In other words, no jail term can be imposed, and this is the only situation where the Constitution guarantees jury trials.

The law states that "A traffic infraction is not a crime and the punishment imposed therefor shall not be deemed for any purpose a penal or criminal punishment."

The offenses covered by the proposed legislation are not the more serious ones such as driving while under influence of alcohol, reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident or drag-racing. They include crossing the center line, unsafe passing, failure to yield the right of way and following too closely.

Actually, the defendant still can have his day in court, with his case heard by a judge, or commissioner. Passage of this bill seems to be a much better solution to the ever-increasing court congestion than the alternative of great increase in the number of courts and personnel.

Well, None of Us Are Perfect

EDITOR:

Many newspaper references to the Dominican Republic recently have shown a surprising ignorance of many aspects of that country. Perhaps most surprising have been the mistakes in naming the country. The worst I have seen so far is "Santa Domingo," which is both bad Spanish and bad geography.

But now Walter Ridder in his column has made reference several times to "Dominica." Doesn't Mr. Ridder know that Dominica is a British island in the Lesser Antilles, with no connection whatever with the Dominican Republic?

Campus Bill Misses Mark

EDITOR:

Assembly Bill 2545 which was introduced April 19, would repeal section 25512 of the Education Code which permits "any student political organization which is affiliated with the official youth division of any political party which is on the ballot of California" to hold meetings "on a junior college campus."

One might assume that this bill was designed to stop further incidents like that at Berkeley. However, when you take a closer look at the bill it is clear that it does not achieve this purpose at all. It specifies junior college campuses, thus leaving out Berkeley. It further specifies ". . . official youth division of any political party which is on the ballot." The FSM never has been and, with God's help, never will be on any ballot.

This bill would abolish all Young Democrat and Young Republican organizations on junior college campuses in California. These organizations' members are thinking young Americans who are interested in world affairs and not the type of people who picket, hold sitins, or burn draft cards.

Don't let these organizations that teach our youth how our political system works be taken off our junior college campuses.

Dick and Nancy are helped in their selection of a diamond engagement ring with matching wedding ring and a groom's ring by Hal J. Lewis, third generation of the Lewis jewelry family. They wisely chose C. C. Lewis, "Long Beach's Oldest Jewelers," for this most important purchase of their lives. This complete jewelry store offers a large selection of diamonds in all of the distinctive modern shapes in a complete range of prices. Budget terms are available, tailored to individual needs. Owned and operated by the same family since 1889, the C. C. Lewis Jewelry Company is located downtown at 333 Pine Avenue with plenty of free parking within one-half block. Phone HE 5-6335.

Marriages may well be "made in heaven" but Nancy and Dick know it takes a lot of down-to-earth planning to arrange a heavenly wedding. One of the most important details is floral decor. That's why they are seeking the advice of Vickie and Ron Hughes, noted florists and bridal consultants. Vickie and Ron know how to achieve the most imaginative, romantic and personal floral effect with the least trouble for the busy bride. Nancy and Dick learned Flowers by Vickie also has facilities to furnish complete floral decor for, not only receptions and weddings, but parties and luaus. Flowers by Vickie is located at 442 East First Street. Estimates are offered without charge by phoning HE 7-7961, or HE 6-0026.

Our lovely bride-to-be consults with Pam Peters of La Feme Hair Stylists, 5325 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. (in the Outrigger Inn), about a becoming hair style to suit her wedding veil and gown. Adding to the highly skilled staff of stylists at La Feme are two expert manicurists. An air of luxury and serenity prevails. There's a continual backdrop of soft music and the furnishings, including antique gold mirrors, are in French decor. Beautiful brides of today or yesteryear are invited to make an appointment—Telephone: 433-4919.

All the beauty and meaning they've dreamed of for the wedding seems wrapped up in this lovely setting. Nancy and Dick envision their exchange of vows as they make arrangements for their marriage ceremony at the enchanting Chimes Chapel. They are fascinated with the old world charm of the chapel, and their minds are at ease knowing that its competent staff, supervised by Wilma Hastings, will efficiently take care of all details. The non-denominational Wilma Hastings Chimes Chapel is located at 430 E. Ocean Blvd., HE 2-4511 or HE 7-4441.

Senate Committee Will Take Long Look at Tax-Tattlers

I, P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — A Senate subcommittee this week is due to begin probing the Internal Revenue Service's use of tax-tattlers, and there are indications that there may be investigations of folks who fink for the feds.

Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., chairman of the subcommittee and an outspoken foe of stool-pigeonry, has sent out questionaires to heads of various agencies asking to what extent they use informers in discharging their missions.

Presumably the department heads will answer fully and completely. Otherwise, someone within their organizations might snitch to the subcommittee.

MORALE IN government agencies has shot upward noticeably as President Johnson announced new appointments of agency heads. More than most of his predecessors, LBJ is turning to career employes for the top jobs. The most recent to be named was Lawson Knott, picked to head the General Services Administration. His agency has wide impact. It is in charge of all federal construction, and the face the government presents to the local community depends in large measure on GSA's management. Much of the architecture of federal buildings, post offices, and the like is atrocious. Knott is now working on agreement with the American Institute of Architects which would improve it. AIA would set up a selection panel, similar to the American Bar Association panel which recommends federal judges to the Justice Department. With AIA in the act, selection of architects on federal projects would be far less "political" and the buildings might be more inspiring.

WHEN HE SERVED as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., conducted a persistent campaign against gobbledygook. Now that he's a senator, Ribicoff is extending the crusade to other governmental agencies. At a committee hearing last week, he scolded Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler about a report on customs reorganization just issued. Not only was the language impossible to comprehend, Ribicoff complained, the reports' pages weren't even numbered. Fowler acknowledged somebody goofed, but said he hasn't got his number yet.

STRONG BIPARTISAN opposition is developing towards the administration's proposed cut-back in the amount of duty-free goods which overseas tourists may bring home.

The proposal to halve the present $100 duty-free maximum cleared the House Ways and Means Committee last week only after a bitter dispute among committee members and intervention by the White House.

But both Democratic and Republican representatives have indicated they will fight the measure when it gets to the floor within the next few weeks. Opponents of the limitation claim it is a negative way of attempting to correct the balance of payments deficit.

A Republican Representative, H. Allen Smith of California, last week suggested the problem could be solved by greater use of a dollar exchange program authorized by Congress in 1960.

Under this plan, tourists exchange their dollars at U.S. Embassies and consulates for local currency paid for surplus commodities. Tourist use of these monies would prevent their ever being used as claims against our gold supply, Smith says.

Although 30 countries have agreed to the program, it has been put into effect only in Egypt and Israel.

The currency exchange program's expansion might even make it possible to boost the duty free minimum, according to Smith.

'Prestige Loss' a Myth

I, P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — United States military actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic have had as one of their results the generating of such a variety of brand new myths as would delight Senator Fulbright, foe of old myths.

One of these myths is that the United States has been losing friendships all over the world by taking matters into its own hands.

There have now been, in effect, two votes of confidence taken on this issue. The results are what show the myth to be a myth.

One vote was in the Organization of American States on a resolution backed by the United States to form an inter-American force to help restore and maintain order in the Dominican Republic.

On this, 13 Latin American countries lined up with the United States. A 14th, Venezuela, abstained. She had said in advance she would contribute to such a force. There were five countries opposed: Chile, Ecuador, Mexico, Peru, and Uruguay.

It has been noted that it took some vigorous and skillful diplomacy to obtain this result. It was, however, obtained.

Almost at the same time, the nations of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization were meeting in London and debating whether to write and sign a communique endorsing the United States action in Viet Nam. When everyone had said what he had to say, the communique received the straight endorsement of Australia, the United Kingdom, New Zealand, the Philippines, and Thailand, along with that of the United States. Pakistan signed and made an additional comment which was somewhat ambiguous, but those at the meeting consider that Pakistan was actually in strong support. France stood aloof. It may be said that if the friendship of France has cooled, it is not as a consequence of anything as recent as the action in Viet Nam.

The SEATO vote was taken at the height of the Dominican crisis, and the gentlemen around the table certainly took account of it in reaching their decision. Likewise, OAS consideration of the Dominican case proceeded in awareness of a kinship between the U.S. action there and its action in Viet Nam.

The United States, in these two votes, found support in Latin America, Europe, and Asia. Parenthetically it may be noted that although no comparable registering of opinion is at hand for Africa, there is no substantial sign that friendship has been lost there, where it was previously enjoyed, because of the Viet Nam and Dominican actions. There is much more to this than a question of evanescent popularity for the United States.

It can be argued with considerable force that the estimates the adversary makes as to the degree of support the United States has for its actions has a marked, conceivably decisive influence on what the adversary does. If it feels the United States is isolated, that would logically seem a good time to push harder. If the United States possesses wide support, pushing makes considerably less sense.

The policy of the United States must itself take this factor of support into consideration.

It is beyond the power of man to eliminate dissent and debate in the United States at this moment, even if some misguided person considered that to be desirable. The dissent would be more persuasive, however, and the debate more rewarding if it relied less on new myths, like the one about losing friends by actions clearly taken in behalf of friends, not only those directly under attack but in a longer view, those seemingly remote from involvement.

Ford Museum Is Americana on Wheels

DETROIT—One of my toughest assignments as a young newspaperman was to interview Europe,s 12 greatest men, ranging from Mussolini to President Ebert of Germany.

A more pleasurable assignment later was to interview America's ten greatest men. Among them, perhaps the greatest, certainly the most interesting, were Henry Ford, Thomas Edison, and Luther Burbank.

PEARSON

I was reminded of this when, in keeping with President Johnson's advice that we see the USA instead of spending American dollars abroad; I visited Greenfield Village, Mich., on the outskirts of Detroit, a historical shrine developed by Henry Ford partially in honor of his friend, Thomas Edison. It was a fascinating sanctuary of American history and you can readily understand why 1,317,000 tourists came here last year.

My interview with Henry Ford was in the summer of 1924. The Ford Motor Company was then a relatively modest organization, and Henry had offices in the engineering building just across the road from his home—"Fairlane," for which one of his grandson's models is now named. Henry was a lanky, restless gentleman, then about 60, more interested in action than in words, and very loath to give interviews. However, he warmed up somewhat when I asked about his favorite subject, getting industry out of the big city.

Ford had located several small plants just outside Detroit on the River Rouge. His theory was that farmers needed part-time industrial work and that factory workers needed to get away from the city.

"The big city is doomed," Henry Ford told me. And went on to explain how the high cost of big cities was going to force both people and industry into the outlying areas.

* * * *

WHILE the big city of today is not exactly doomed, nevertheless downtown areas of the big cities have been suffering blight, and Ford was certainly accurate when he forecast a trek to the suburbs. Ever since then, the problem of the big city has been occupying Congress and individual mayors, with President Johnson seriously considering a new Department of Urban Affairs.

Some years later when Henry Ford was over 80, he challanged me to a foot race. I chickened out. Not long afterward, 1947, he died at the age of 83.

Henry Ford's No. 1 hobby during his later years was Greenfield Village, which now contains an assortment of early American furniture, silverware, steam engines, carriages, locomotives, and automobiles rivaling if not surpassing those in the Smithsonian Institution. It is a treasure-house of Americana ranging from cigar store Indians, once a commonplace but now worth $5,000, to a ten-man bicycle built in 1896 in Waltham, Mass., able to make a speed of 45 miles an hour.

Most valuable piece in the collection is George Washington's camp chest, which belies the tradition that Washington slept in private homes all over the Eastern Seaboard.

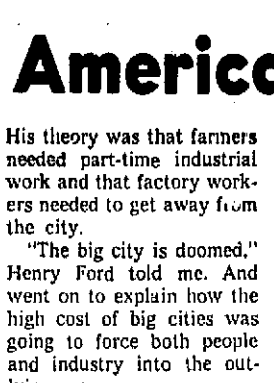

For the chest contains a canvas cot on an iron frame, plus one pillow all neatly packed as a field kit. A separate leather-bound trunk studded with brass tacks contains tin boxes for tea and sugar, plus glass salt-and-pepper shakers. The Father of Our Country apparently lived with his troops.

Henry Ford's collection of vehicles ranges from old-fashioned buggies, mountain wagons, the Gypsy wagon owned by King Steve, a butcher wagon, a grocery store delivery wagon, a surrey with a fringe on top, water wagons once used to cool the dust on village streets, and of course a vast assortment of automobiles. They date from the old Roper Steam Carriage built by Sylvester Roper of Roxbury, Mass., in 1863, oldest auto in the United States.

Fresh Water Suit Nears Settlement

By GEORGE WEEKS

A three-year-old suit to conserve underground fresh water in Southeast Los Angeles County is scheduled for final settlement this week in superior court.

The suit has already had the effect of reversing the depletion of natural supply, raising the water table in the Long Beach area by as much as 40 feet, General Manager Brennan S. Thomas of the Municipal Water Department reports.

That was accomplished by a voluntary interim agreement under which owners of more than 75% of the 86 billion gallons of annual pumping rights reduced their pumpage by 20%.

* * * *

THE HEARING scheduled for Monday before Superior Court Judge Edmund Moor in Los Angeles is intended to formalize and expand the agreement by court order.

If granted, the order will apply to pumping by owners of more than 1,000 wells, including cities from Montebello to Long Beach and La Mirada to Los Angeles, as well as water districts, public utilities and industries.

The case was filed Jan. 2, 1962, for the Central and West Basin Water Replenishment District. Technically, Long Beach is a defendant, one of more than 1,400. Actually the Municipal Water Department has worked toward the limitation on water overdrafts and was an early signer of the interim agreement that went into effect in October, 1962.

Other agencies have since signed the agreement. The city of Los Angeles, although not a formal signer, has cooperated to bring effectiveness of the cutback to 91%, according to water officials.

* * * *

A FORMAL court order would make the reduction almost 100% effective and on a permanent basis, subject to adjustment to meet changing conditions.

Also a backer of the adjudication is the Central Basin Municipal Water District, with offices at 7439 E. Florence Ave., Downey. It acts as an agent in buying water from the Metropolitan Water District and supplying it to 21 cities which are not MWD members.

Among the Central Basin District members are Bell, Bell Gardens, Bellflower, Commerce, Cudahy, Dairy Valley, Downey, Hawaiian Gardens, Huntington Park, Lakewood, La Mirada, Lynwood, Maywood, Montebello, Norwalk, Pico Rivera, Santa Fe Springs, Signal Hill, South Gate, Vernon and Whittier. With adjacent county territory, they have a population of 1.25 million.

As a charter member of MWD, Long Beach gets its supplemental suppply direct from that agency.

L.B. MAN'S VIEW OF FUTURE

Monorail With Wings

By BILL DUNCAN

Visualize for a moment a rapid transit system with wings, speeding across the Southland at 150 miles an hour clinging to a single rail.

That may be the rapid transit of the future.

It is more than a dream with Bill Spellman, a 64-year-old retired Long Beach automotive electrician, who has a working model of an air-rail that will let commuters fly between Long Beach and Los Angeles with one foot on the ground.

SPELLMAN, of 2146 Maine Ave., has designed a monorail with wings, that could, he believes, provide rapid transit for the Southland faster and more economically than models now proposed. It could speed a commuter from Long Beach to Los Angeles in 10 to 12 minutes, he predicts.

What he envisions, however, goes beyond the immediate need for a Southland rapid transit system. He sees his design as a practical revolution in rail transportation with the winged rail system spanning the United States.

He has built a mockup of the rail system in his garage, cluttered with other inventions he has made over the years.

"I HAVE worked toward this design for 25 years, changing the plans as I went along," he says. "It is now perfected and ready for development."

The design calls for:

—A maximum speed of 120 miles an hour, with commuting speeds of 65 miles per hour.

—Rails of thick-walled steel pipe. Two of the cylinder rails are used in the design, built one over the other.

— Retractable wings that fan out in open country to create a reserved air foil which will result in downward pressure to hold the train on the track at high speeds.

—Cars built like an airplane cabin with an aluminum skin.

— A retractable sky hook that will lift the car onto an overhead rail for switching and for loading and unloading passengers.

— Powered by electricity with an air compressor booster for takeoffs.

SPELLMAN sees the air-rail built along existing rights-of-way such as the freeway banks, flood control channel banks, existing unused railroad rights-of-way and even alongside bridges.

The rails would be 10 to 40 feet above the ground. Depots could be built at second story window levels in the larger buildings in metropolitan centers, he says.

"The air-rail, because it is electrically powered, would be smogless," he points out.

WHAT MAKES Spellman's design different from other monorail conceptions?

"It would be safer," he says. "I have stressed safety factors above all else."

The air-rail, powered electrically, would have reduced currents to slow down the streamliner on curves and at points where the vehicle would be stopping or switching.

"The monorails in operation today skid or lurch around corners and the models with overhead tracks are prone to sway in high winds," he points out. "That is why I have designed the air-rail with the rail on the bottom and dual rails to give it more stability."

THE FIXED wing, with air pressure rushing over and under, gives the vehicle more stability, he says. The dual wheels, to be made of hard plastic coated magnesium, will be controlled by hydraulics. They are fashioned to grip the steel rails.

Spellman has developed the aero-rail, but his biggest problem is still ahead —selling it.

Name Chef County's Oustanding Worker

L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

A 58-year-old San Pedro chef has been named by the Los Angeles County Employes Association as outstanding county employe of the year—the first Negro to win the honor.

He is Ralph M. White, 832 Upland Ave., head cook for county probation camps Kilpatrick and Miller in Malibu.

RALPH M. WHITE
San Pedro Worker

The citation noted his "conscientious, dedicated and exemplary" work and praised him for "identifying closely with the therapeutic goals of the camp" through his work with juvenile delinquents.

White has been in county service for 17 years. For nine years, he has been a Civil Defense block warden, and for 16 years has served as a neighborhood counselor and job-finder for former inmates of the probation camps.

He is active in San Pedro's Foursquare Church and participates in the International Businessmen's Fellowship, which performs charity and missionary work in India, Nigeria, Japan and Haiti.

White has sponsored many immigrants from Haiti, obtaining jobs for them, finding them housing and guaranteeing that they will not become a public charge.

"Often he pays for their needs out of his own modest funds," the citation stated.

Population Growth Expert Speaks at LBSC Monday

Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar of India, authority on population growth problems, will speak at Long Beach State College at 8 p.m. Monday.

Chandraskehar, a visiting professor of sociology at the University of California at Riverside, is India's leading demographer, a member of the upper house of Parliament and director of the Indian Institute of Population Studies.

Chandarsekhar's lecture in Science Building 1-141 is sponsored by the college's General Honors Program and the National Science Foundation In-Service Institute in Biology.

The speaker is the former director of Demographic Research in Paris for UNESCO. His latest book is "Red China: An Asian View."

NAACP Fetes Anniversary of Desegregation Ruling

Members of the Long Beach branch of the National Association of Colored People will observe Freedom Sunday today—the 11th anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision on school desegregation.

A panel discussion of the federal government's anti-poverty program, open to all, will be presented at 1490 California Ave. at 3 p.m.

Participants include George Logan, Long Beach Community Welfare League; Earnest Preacely, Long Beach Community Improvement League; and a representative of the Los Angeles County Welfare Department.

Local NAACP President Earnest B. Campbell called for all persons sympathetic to the civil rights movement to rededicate themselves "to the task of securing freedom from discrimination in voting, employment and housing" on this anniversary.

"The NAACP may well be proud of the major part it played in bringing about the Supreme Court desegregation decision . . . thereby setting the legal precedent for eliminating bigotry and ignorance in our democratic society," Campbell said.

P&G Wins Safety Award

The National Manufacturing Chemists' Association has awarded a certificate of achievement to the Long Beach Procter & Gamble plant for a 100% on-the-job safety record during 1964.

Cmdr. R. E. Lee Exchange Club Speaker

Cmdr. Robert E. Lee, USN logistic officer, staff commander Mine Force, U.S. Pacific Fleet, will speak on "Logistic Support of Mine Countermeasures Ships" at the Long Beach Exchange Club luncheon Wednesday, at the Lafayette Hotel.

Commander Lee's present assignment is the responsibility, under the Force Commander, for the technical, administrative and financial support of 43 mine countermeasures ships and 46 boats and service craft.

Col. Wayne Fitzgerald, USAF (Ret) is chairman of the day. Frank Bowman, Club President, will preside.

95 to Study in Sweden in Summer

Ninety-five American college students, including 27 from Long Beach State College, will attend classes at the University of Uppsala this summer as part of the Swedish school's third International Summer Session.

Courses in Scandanavian literature, history and political science, and elementary Swedish will be offered. The classes will be conducted in English.

Students from all parts of the country participate but the greatest number from any one school thus far, has been from Long Beach State.

M. R. Rutherford, coordinator of international programs at State, said "inspiration for the Uppsala summer program is an honor shared by Dr. Lars Ahnebrink of Uppsala, who was a guest lecturer at Long Beach in 1961, and Dr. Frank Nelson, of LBSC's English Department, who some years ago helped in establishing the University of Oslo International Summer School, administered by St. Olaf College in Minnesota."

The Uppsala program, launched in 1963, is administered in this country by Long Beach State. The recruiting also is done here.

Choosing from an "Acre of Furniture" is fun, especially when guidance is offered by experienced and courteous personnel trained in colors and style combinations---whether it be French or Italian Provincial, traditional or contemporary. Leo Shultz Furniture Co., 700 Long Beach Blvd., has a tremendous selection of popular priced merchandise by America's largest and finest furniture manufacturers. Young couples like Nancy and Dick can buy at Leo Shultz on easy credit terms with up to three years to pay; just as their parents and grandparents have done since 1918. Here, with the advice of Leo Shultz, they are selecting their living room set from an exciting collection that displays the inherent characteristics of today's style minded buyers. Their choice, from the Downtown Leo Shultz Furniture Co., is this French Provincial deep tufted grouping in a vast array of exquisite fabrics . . . such as; blocked linen prints, matelasses, cut pile jacquard velvets and brocatelles.

Dick wants an exclusive Desmond's Townway®-tailored Tropeze® suit. It's his favorite tropical . . . and Southern California's standard of fashion and value. He likes the lighterweight modern fiber blends . . . their cool comfort, amazing wrinkle resistance, lasting freshness and good looks. Dick is wearing a smart Natural Shoulder Tropeze® Sunaire® suit at 57.50. He's already bought a 2-button Tropeze® tailored with the new baby notch lapel at 67.50, and is considering an Imperial Tropeze® in a luxury blend of Dacron Polyester and Wool Mohair at 72.95. Next stop for Dick is Desmond's Woman's Shop, where Nancy is trousseau shopping. All fashions available at Desmond's-Long Beach, Broadway at Locust, and Desmond's-Lakewood, 4821 Del Amo Boulevard.

At Dick Browning Oldsmobile, 1227 Long Beach Blvd., Jimmy Thompson delivers Dick and Nancy a sparkling new Olds Cutlass 4-42 convertible from the Oldsmobile family of fine automobiles. They will pamper their newlywed's budget with the long look of luxury, and the economy and prestige of Oldsmobile. Dick and Nancy selected the F 85 convertible from one of 37 different body styles and models as low as $2285 (plus tax and license). Dick Browning Oldsmobile also offers an attractive leasing plan as well as a new car rental plan for honeymooning and other special occasions.

Nancy and Dick visited Belmont Savings at 5200 E. Second Street where Joyce Coffee helped them open a joint savings account. Being a very wise young couple, Dick and Nancy realize if they are to attain their savings goals, they must save first and spend what is left rather than save what is left after spending. They learned that Belmont pays interest at the highest prevailing rate compounded daily. Wherever they live in the Long Beach-Los Angeles area, there will be an office of Belmont Savings and Loan Association convenient to them.

Omarr Reads the Stars

By SYDNEY OMARR

FORECAST FOR TODAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Day for being quiet within. Review principles, personal philosophy. Obtain needed privacy. Avoid confusion. Consult spiritual advisor. Gain indicated through reading, writing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Conservative approach best today, especially where partnership, investments enter picture. Finish project. Accept responsibility, and you grow in dignity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Consult mate or partner before taking impulsive action. Obtain hint from today's Taurus message. Keep communication lines open. Be receptive to intelligent suggestions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Be aware of those who depend upon you. Means pets or family may require special attention. Exercise independence, originality. Fine time for visiting one who is confined.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good lunar aspect highlights pleasure, children. Don't argue with well-meaning friend. State position in fair but firm manner. Relax! Key is patience.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Give attention to home, family affairs. Good day for special occasion honoring associates . . . perhaps for entertaining boss! Check details. Be patient with loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Time to stick close to home base, if possible. Cooperate with in-law, other relatives. Battling over minor matters will only drain emotional strength.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be aware of need for repairs. Check budget. Realize some expenditures may be necessary —now. Even minor changes can give satisfaction. Examine various possibilities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Maintain steady pace. Don't rock the boat! Means control tendency to make sudden changes. Give attention to home, family, possessions. Highlight fact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take comfort by realizing conscience is reliable guide. Adhere to principles. You gain through quiet day. Read—absorb knowledge for future opportunity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Remain on familiar ground. Applies especially to friends. Stick with the tried-and-true. Avoid those who whine, complain. Be with ones who make you happy.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Your response to unusual actions important. Conservative course best now. Certain situations must be accepted . . . but don't hide head in sand. Be frank.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are sincere, dedicated, interested in history and you are extremely perceptive. GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Sagittarius, Capricorn. Special word to Gemini: Attitude of cooperation gains much.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Avoid rushing. Indirect approach gets best results. Face long-standing problem. Discussion with mature individual pays dividends. Keep feet on ground!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Trying to hide facts may create delay. Explore the unknown. Delve deep to find the answers. Checking with special advisor helps. Be aware and you reap dividends.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Day to take initiative . . . utilize versatile approach. Show others you can laugh at yourself. Foibles of one you admire soon become evident. But don't cast first stone!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Go slow. Realize those who serve you may be shy, apprehensive. Be understanding. Fine example, tolerance of limitations in others reveals your strength. Think!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Obtain hint from today's Gemini message. Try various methods—experiment. Good lunar aspect highlights love, romance, excitement. Key is action.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Abrupt possible changes possible. Be ready with alternative methods. Don't force issues. Compromise if necessary. Bide your time. Answers will come later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Some ideas need more attention. May be wise to rewrite letters and reports. Your forces may be scattered. Finish one thing at a time . . . in quiet contemplation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Fine time for repairs, domestic adjustment. Day to "mend fences." You gain through help, cooperation. Not time for making demands. Steady pace now means progress later.

SAGGITARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Look behind the scenes . . . read between the lines. Check facts. Be sure. Don't be victim of false pride. Cycle high. But self-respect, confidence required.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Being quiet within now provides inspiration. You learn, and set pattern for accomplishment. Many want your opinions. You gain by being discreet, retiring and cooperative.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Obtain hint from today's Aries message. Put finishing touches on pet project. Relatives, associates need time to understand your motives. Don't argue. Be reasonable!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Seek quality by trading on experience. Don't be impressed with tinsel, boastful claims. Be aware of domestic problems. You move ahead if not over-anxious.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you can expect many opportunities to come your way. You are person who thrives on testing, trying, experimenting. GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius. Special word to Cancer: Key is being perceptive. Offer aid to worried friend.

Which one—or both? Now, for the first time you may enjoy matching cabinets for organs and pianos by Hammond. Bob (Mr. Piano) Pierce, explains to Nancy and Dick that Hammond Organs are the only organs in the world that never need tuning. The tremendous versatility, well known in churches and entertainment centers is just as apparent in a home, too. Marriage and music go together at Hammond Organ Studio and Mr. Piano Salon, 2188 Lakewood Blvd. GE 9-0918.

What bride wouldn't love to have Repertoire by Drexel transform her dining room into a decorating triumph. Nancy and Dick are both impressed with the artistry and craftsmanship of this exciting new collection at Davis Furniture, 1975 Long Beach Blvd., 591-1347. Hilmer Johnson, Davis manager, tells the young couple how a special finish was developed for Repertoire, a finish that's light and luxurious with woods that are cherry veneers, solid mahogany and Carpathian elm burl. Accents of cane and decorative Neostone tops that are impervious to stains are but a few of the collection's features. Repertoire by Drexel is elegant and Davis has it.

Nancy and Dick take time out to relax while Dick McCarty, their customer-service man at Acme Mattress, tells them about the points of quality to look for in a sleeping ensemble. Mr. McCarty stressed the custom features (tailored to personal preference) that could be "built-in" at nominal cost for the young couple because they are dealing on location at the factory. They were delighted with the tremendous versatility of Acme luxury and impressed even more with the fabulous selection, from budget priced to the industries finest. All told, Nancy and Dick had fun "sleep shopping" and left with the knowledge that every Acme "sleep set" is custom-manufactured right on the premises at 3425 E. Anaheim St. in Long Beach. Phone 438-9451. They also have showrooms at 411 W. 5th Street in Santa Ana. KI 3-6716 and at 17412 Bellflower Blvd. in Bellflower, Phone 925-5955.

Joe Kenny of Lakewood Home Appliances tells Dick that the new 40-inch Custom Imperial FLAIR electric Range by Frigidaire will allow him to have more time with his bride. "She won't be a slave to the clock. Put the food in the oven and leave it. The NEW single-set Meal Minder automatic oven control turns on and off — and cooks her meals to perfection." Nancy is obviously thrilled with the dramatic built-in beauty of the Flair, which doesn't require the muss and fuss of tearing out a wall. The Flair's new, exclusive Tender-matic roasting tenderizes your roast regardless of the price you paid for it. The economy-minded newlyweds can have chuck roast that will carve like the tenderest, expensive roast beef. "Kenny", whose policy of lowest prices and guaranteed satisfaction, has been located for over 15 years at 17127 Lakewood Blvd., Bellflower, TO 6-3766 or ME 3-6967.

Garrison Takes P&O Publicity Position

Troy S. Garrison, formerly director of public relations and advertising for the Port of Los Angeles, has been appointed as public relations director for P & O Orient Line's North American headquarters in San Francisco.

The appointment of the 48-year-old Garrison to the post was announced by Warren S. Titus, president of the company.

Garrison, who headed the Los Angeles Harbor Department's public relations department for 10 years, formerly was public relations representative for the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power.

He has served at various times as chairman of the publicity committee of the Pacific Coast and California Associations of Port Authorities and as West Coast representative on the public relations committee of the Propeller Club of the United States.

Garrison recently moved from his Torrance home to the San Francisco bay area.

McMahan's
IF YOUR GROWING FAMILY IS TIRED OF A REFRIGERATOR TOO SMALL TO BE SENSIBLE... YOU'RE READY FOR...
13.5 BIG CUBIC FEET OF CAREFREE KELVINATOR CONVENIENCE!
... Family-sized, Family-priced refrigerator-freezer with easy automatic defrosting and a spacious 100 pound frozen food section!

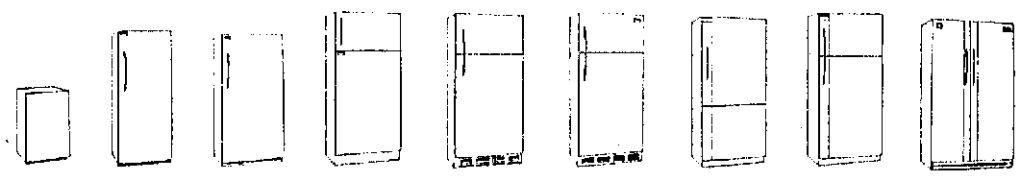

40 MONTHS TO PAY!

Yes! With this big beautiful 13.5 cubic foot Kelvinator you'll never feel cramped... you'll have the space you want and need to feed your family better. Save time! Because it holds more than your old refrigerator... you shop less often! Save money! Now you can stock up when your supermarket is running a sale! And that's VALUE for you! Space alone does not make this refrigerator desirable - it offers all the convenience features and quality construction you've been looking for. Note these freezer features... big 100 pound capacity across-the-top-freezer has a separate door for easy access, it's insulated to maintain zero-cold... keeps frozen food, ice-cream and pre-cooked meals safe and fresh longer. There is always ice on hand with two aluminum lever ice trays and, convenient door shelf provides extra storage space for frozen food packages and juice cans... no more digging or stooping for these often-used items.

The refrigerator section is thoughtfully designed for your greatest convenience in everyday use. The upper shelf adjusts to the position that meets your exact storage needs. Porcelain-on-steel 10.3 quart twin crispers have a Clear-view cover shelf that seals in the all-important moisture to keep fruits fresh as dew, vegetables crackling crisp and garden fresh. The double row egg shelf holds 14 eggs safely, compactly. Two high capacity door shelves keep milk cartons, and tall bottles upright and handy at all times. An in-the-door dairy chest stores cheese and keeps butter in its own serving dish. When hands are full how you'll appreciate its unique magnetic door seal, lets doors close easily and tightly, seals cold in, heat out-yet the doors open with a gentle pull for maximum convenience. An important safety feature too... doors also open easily from inside!

THERE IS A KELVINATOR REFRIGERATOR JUST RIGHT FOR YOU!
Whatever the size of your family, whatever your unique food storage needs may be! Have a ball, look at them all... some with automatic defrosting, some with no-frost systems, in almost any size you desire... even under-the-counter models! Then select the one just right for you!

Why You Can Afford New Translucent* Dentures at Dr. Campbell's

*Made with translucent teeth and translucent denture material the kind which do not have the telltale hard brilliance formerly characteristic of artificial teeth . . . accepted by dentists as the finest for making dentures, the closest imitation of natural teeth.

Dr. F. E. Campbell, dentist, says—
I SAVE YOU MONEY IN THESE TWO WAYS:
1. I buy supplies and equipment at volume prices for 12 dental offices.
2. I save in making each denture because I make so many of all types each day.

MADE IN MY OWN LABORATORY
Each of my 12 offices has its own dental laboratory . . . on its own premises. This works for close professional supervision and for efficiency and economy.

Save Even More With Rebuilt Dentures
For a new fit with your old teeth, have them reset in new translucent material. You save a considerable part of the cost of entirely new dental plates.

Adm. Irvine Memorial Day Speaker

Rear Adm. Donald G. Irvine, USN, commander, Cruiser Destroyer Flotilla Three, will be the speaker at the Memorial Day service at 1:30 p.m. May 30 in Municipal Auditorium.

The solemn tribute to the nation's war dead will be presented by Arthur L. Peterson Post, American Legion.

The Post this year is honoring American Gold Star Mothers at the service. The three major faiths will be represented. Vice-Mayor James A. Hayes will welcome the audience and the Long Beach Municipal Band, directed by Charles J. Payne, "The Caravan Singers," directed by Dean and Many Brown, and soloists are to be featured. Fred Nessler is program chairman.

Garage Looted

Furniture and a washing machine valued at $120 were reported stolen Saturday from the home of Mrs. Ellen M. Eatman at 2109 Olive Ave. She told police the items were taken from her garage.

Assisting in planning perfect wedding receptions since 1934 is Myrtle Seiler of the Wine Mess. The young couple can depend on advice concerning etiquette, serving and vintages. The father of the bride will appreciate having the choice from the finest champagnes in the world, domestic or imported. They also discovered some of the most unusual party delicacies and supplies, a Wine Mess specialty. The problem of finding a punch bowl and stemware is easily solved since these are available at the Wine Mess, HEmlock 6-8901, 1770 East Broadway.

Thomasville's nationally advertised "Country Classic" has caught the fancy of Nancy and Dick as they select their bedroom furniture at Aaron Schultz Furniture, 4321 Atlantic Avenue, GA 7-5431. Byron Loveall, decorator-consultant, explains to the young couple that the pieces they are admiring are only a few of the 120 open stock pieces in the collection. Country Classic includes living room, dining room, and occasional pieces as well as bedroom. The collection has been designed with our changing world in mind, they can switch rooms, even homes, and always look right. Made from warm native woods . . . pecan solids with veneers in a cherry-butternut-pine combination with a winey Antique Spice finish, Country Classic has that relaxed manor-house look of beauty.

Dick and Nancy are getting the latest information on Singer products and services at the Singer Sewing Center. The center's tremendous selection of fine fabrics and complete line of notions make sewing one's wardrobe a simple matter. The young couple are being shown the wonderful features of the new Touch and Sew, brilliant zig-zag sewing machine by Singer. Payments are only $2.90 per week following a small down payment. Nancy will never know how creative she can be until she has a chance to sew on the new Touch and Sew, the sewing machine that makes sewing a breeze. It's beautifully simple for a beginner to operate and a joy for the expert to use. At Singer Sewing Centers, 640 Pine Ave., downtown. 4488 Atlantic Ave., Bixby Knolls. 5531 Stearns., Los Altos; 17424 Bellflower Blvd., Bellflower; 268 E. Compton; and 719 Pacific Ave., San Pedro.

For the modern bride there's no such thing as wash-day blues. Here, Wade Brown, manager of Butler's Appliance Dept., 5252 Lakewood Blvd., Lakewood Center shows Nancy and Dick Maytag's Custom De-Luxe all-fabric Washer & Dryer. (This is a completely programmed laundry pair . . . push the fabric selection button and all cycles are programmed automatically.) During Butler's Maytag Week, all Maytag Washers and Dryers will be offered to all Spring Brides at special low prices plus additional savings via valuable S&H Green Stamps. Maytag Washers start as low as 218.50, model #A103. Maytag Dryer prices start start as low as $158.50, model #DE102. TRAVEL Notes—San Diego County's back country must rate with the best in California for lovely countryside at this season.

I spent a day of the week in Pauma Valley. Roaming the rolling and verdant valley floor, looking up at the rocky ramparts of Paloma and other surrounding heights, I found the visit a dip in a refreshing pastoral pool.

There are a number of valleys like that down there. But little by little they are being discovered by the developers, and in a few years they won't offer the same rustic atmosphere. Right now it's a great place for brief surcease from the rigorous life in urbanized area.

WITH others of my service club, I played the Pauma Valley Country Club course, one of the most beautiful anywhere.

Please note that I didn't say I played golf. There are observers who deny that what I do on a course, especially one like that, can be called golfing.

Among these is Frank Newell, the Skylinks pro, who plays with our gang. Frank shakes his head when he sees me on the links. But he has never suggested that I take a lesson. Obviously, he regards me beyond redemption. Even at a fee, no teacher would want to subject himself to certain failure with a pupil.

Pauma, as I related once before here, is noted for its traps. There's a trap awaiting every errant shot, and some are ready for shots not too errant. A couple of fairways look as if they'd been bombed. It's a great course for sand wedge artists, a category in which I'm emphatically not included.

But even if you're a lousy golfer, what a place to get out amid the trees and on the grass and in the weedy rough with the sun on your back. It's easy there to ignore your bad score.

WHENEVER I write about places like that, someone wants to know how to get there.

Go toward San Diego as far as Oceanside, turn east on Hwy. 76. The winding country road goes east of U.S. 395 to reach Pauma Valley.

A couple of hours or so will put you there.

B-C READERS with kind hearts might like to send a card to Pamela Thomas, 14, a little girl who is in the hospital and is lonesome.

Pamela lupus erythematosus, a disease that affects the blood, bones and tissues. In her case, it has affected her muscles, making her an invalid. She has high hopes for the future, but now and then gets despondent and friends are sure she'd be helped and encouraged by receiving cards.

She can be addressed: Pamela Thomas, 4114 E. Wilton St. While Pamela knows about the seriousness of her condition, it would be better if it weren't discussed in the mail. How about sending her a cheery message?

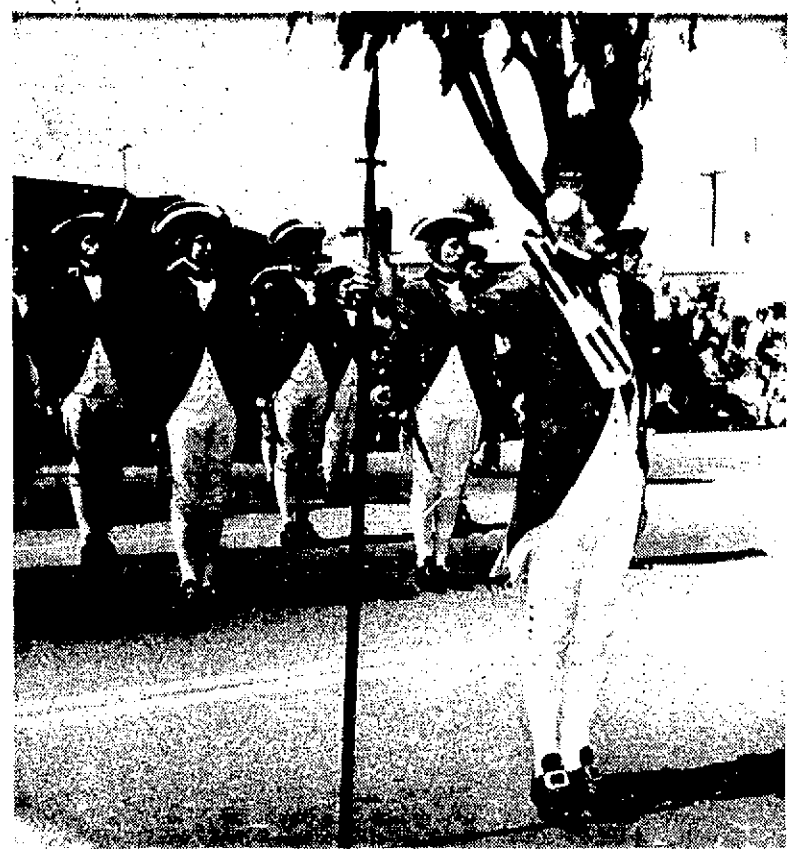

IF ANYBODY has been encouraged by a wolf whistle ringing out in the vicinity of 158 Claremont, here's the bad news.

It's not from some male human intrigued by a pretty face or shapely figure—it's the work of a female mockinghird.

Florence Thomas lives at the address. She says this bird was raised in a pet shop, has a nest on a utility pole, and will sit on a human shoulder. She not only has developed an excellent wolf whistle, real lecherous, but can whistle Yankee Doodle with just one sour note.

ARMED FORCES HOSTS AGAIN TODAY

Throngs See Display by Defense Services

By BUCK LANIER
I. P-T Naval Affairs Reporter

The Long Beach area took time out on a perfect day Saturday to take a look at the nation's military might on Armed Forces Day.

And Charles J. Hitch, assistant secretary of Defense for finance told a luncheon in Allen Center at Long Beach Naval Base that "it is our great strategic power which serves as a deterrent to a large-scale, open Communist attack on the free world."

Torrance's sixth annual Armed Forces Day Parade and exhibits drew nearly 100,000 persons, Harold A. McKean was chairman.

* * * *

ABOUT 70,000 persons went through the Long Beach Naval Base, including the shipyard and supply center.

The base's 25 open warships were deluged with visitors—from the giant antisubmarine carrier USS Hornet (CVS-12) to the smallest inshore minesweeper.

Los Alamitos Naval Air Station drew nearly 30,000 guests with its airplane activity and displays drawing the major attention.

The 98-unit Torrance Parade, easily tops in the West now, was highlighted by the appearance of the Old Guard Fife & Drum Corps from Fort Myer, Va.

* * * *

AS IT RENDERED "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "The World Turned Upside Down," and "The White Cockade," it received thunderous applause. The unit was easy winner of the Best Military Music Unit and Outstanding Entry, Open Class, trophies.

Sec. Hitch was grand marshal and addressed the luncheon at Allen Center, sponsored by the City of Torrance and its industrial organizations.

"Our Armed Forces today are engaged in the collective defense of the Free World—in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. The nation has no idea of letting the Communists take over with their 'wars of national liberation' which we know as wars of insurrection and subversion," Hitch said.

He outlined current programs and noted "we have committed but a small part of our total power in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. This is an effective brake on Communist adventurism."

The Open House continues today from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Naval Base.

Officials are expecting another record turnout of "stockholders" to check on their investment as they did Saturday.

TRADE SURVEY

Foreign Leaders To Visit L.B. Port

By LOU JOBST
I. P-T Marine Editor

Business leaders from throughout the world will take a close-up look at Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors and the nation's second largest market this week.

At least 50 foreign executives from 18 different nations are to visit the waterfront as part of the Southern California observance of the 39th annual World Trade Week which begins today.

Invitations to participate in the LB-LA metropolitan area event, which will include both aerial and waterborne tours of the harbor district, were sent to 136 trade associations in almost every nation in the world.

* * * *

THE FOREIGN visitors will be given a complete briefing on the emergence of the LB-LA area as the nation's number two market with $10 billion annually in retail sales.

They'll also be told that LB-LA has the highest per capita income in the nation, $2,810, and the second largest concentration of industry of more than 16,000 factories with total annual manufactures in excess of $11.2 billion.

* * * *

The international guests will participate in the annual Executives' Harbor Day, sponsored by the Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners, and will attend a LB-LA Propellor Club sponsored luncheon at San Pedro.

Speakers at the "National Maritime Day" luncheon in the Ports of Call restaurant will be Ralph B. Dewey, president of the Pacific American Steamship Assn.

World Trade Week is jointly sponsored by Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, International Airport and the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

World trade in the 4,071-square-mile LB-LA metropolitan area is a $1.5 billion-a-year business, with the bulk of the commerce passing across the local waterfront.

* * * *

LONG BEACH and Los Angeles harbors combined to form the fifth busiest port complex in the nation.

The harbor district, encompassing more than 100 shipping berths and about 75 miles of waterfront, serves the entire Southwest U.S. and, specifically, the LB-LA metropolitan area, a region of nearly seven million persons.

The ports' 122 steamship lines logged 5,293 ship sailings and moved about 37 million tons of cargo across their docks last year.

Total value of the cargo is about $3 billion.

International Airport, one of the world's busiest air terminals, served more than 11 million passengers in 1964.

* * * *

ALSO AMONG World Trade Week events is luncheon and tour of the harbor today sponsored for industry, government leaders from Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties. The event is sponsored by the Long Beach Port Ambassadors, a local service group.

Final event is the 16th annual World Trade Week Dinner Dance at 8 p.m. Friday in the International Ballroom, Beverly Hilton Hotel.

RULES DRAFTED

Council Out to Halt Garrulous Speakers

Long Beach city councilmen, a bit irked by garrulous speakers who sometimes address them at the start of their weekly meetings, are trying to draft rules that will help them get on with their business.

At the request of Councilman Raymond C. Kealer, the ordinance and rules committees have been asked to suggest changes in procedure, including one that would keep some speakers waiting until the end of the session.

Kealer complained that occasionally the entire first hour is given to the citizen speakers. He proposed they wait until the end unless their remarks relate directly to the day's city business.

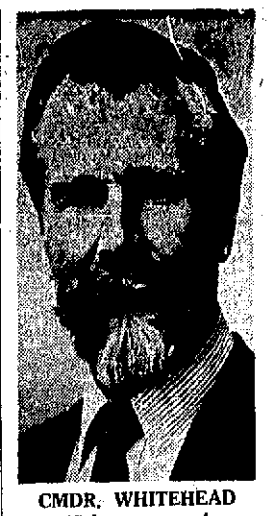

Council rules give first priority to "opportunity of citizens to address the council on matters of general city business." So far, general city business has been interpreted as anything from the curse of communism to the cure of cancer.

Honor 250 Grads of Citizenship Class

More than 250 graduates of Long Beach City College citizenship classes, representing 40 countries, will be honored by the Soroptimist Club of Long Beach in a program beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Boyd High School auditorium, Eighth Street and Locust Avenue.

Certificates will be presented to the citizenship graduates by Dr. Wiley D. Garner, president of Long Beach City College, and Dr. William E. Keeley, dean of the LBCC Adult Centers. In charge of program arrangements is Frances Williams, of the Soroptimist Club.

"What American Citizenship Means to Me" will be the topic of two student speakers, Mrs. Martin Booth from Colombia and Floyd Ellis from Canada.

CMDR. WHITEHEAD
'Schweppesman'

Lions Club Will Hear Whitehead

Commander Edward Whitehead, president of Schweppes (USA) Ltd. will address the Downtown Lions Club at noon in the Lafayette Hotel. He will speak on, "The Human Factor . . . How to Succeed in Business by Really Trying."

Chairman of the day will be Martin C. Guley. Charles Novotny will preside.

Whitehead, in addition to being president of Schweppes (USA) Ltd., is also chairman of Schweppes (Canada) Ltd., a director of Schweppes (Overseas) Ltd. and of the parent company of all these, Schweppes Ltd. Schweppes Ltd. owns a number of other companies, including L. Rose & Co. Ltd (lime juice) and Chivers-Hartley Ltd. (preserves).

During World War II Whitehead served in the Royal Navy and rose to the rank of Commander.

EDITORIAL

GOP Women Lead the Way

THE CALIFORNIA Federation of Republican Women this week provided their party an example of the kind of decisive, forceful, and responsible political action required to put the GOP back in contention in national politics.

In no uncertain terms, they blasted the crackpot right wing's "defamatory and slanderous" telephone attacks on national leaders and called for an FBI investigation of those attacks.

Local Republicans should be proud of the fact that the action against the propaganda campaign was initiated by a Long Beach member of the Federation, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell.

Mrs. O'Donnell became incensed upon studying the contents of a message which a Birch-promoted outfit that calls itself "Let Freedom Ring" puts out by way of a recording over the telephone.

The message informs the public that former President Dwight Eisenhower is an "ersatz conservative with the pro-Communist record" and "one of the greatest phonies ever put over on the American people." It describes Chief Justice Earl Warren as a "pro-Communist toady."

In a resolution approved unanimously by the 32 directors present at a San Francisco conference, the Federation condemned such "false and treacherous propaganda" and warned against well-organized, well-financed conspiracies "of either right or left, which are equally dangerous to freedom."

This lumping of the right with the left shows a degree of political sophistication. Some Republicans tended to defend the right-wing extremists because those extremists profess to be Republicans, which is no more the truth than the contention of the far left wing that it is a genuine part of the Democratic party. The fact is that the far right and the far left are closer to one another than to either of the major political parties. This point should be made more often.

For their fine sense of discrimination and their political courage, we congratulate the California Federation of Republican Women. We hope all their political cousins will take notice.

We Get Picketed

WE GOT PICKETED THIS week. It helped, for otherwise it wasn't a very interesting week. Soybeans closed strong on the Chicago exchange, and that was about it.

The pickets put out an advance notice they were coming to protest our policy against appeasement and isolationism. We got the idea we were going to be surrounded by serious-minded young collegiates.

When the appointed hour came, we walked down to the street. We were greatly disappointed to find that the organizer was a local character whom we've known for years—a tax reformer who has been publicized by the local Better Business Bureau. ("If you are solicited . . . it would no doubt be helpful to have an accounting of how such donations are being employed . . .") The last time he was of college age must have been 40 years ago.

His pickets arrived and began walking up and down in front of the office. A fat man, who turned out to be a special investigator, stood watching. On top of the old Penney building, across the street, police photographers focussed their cameras. Over in front of Thrifty Drug, someone representing somebody whispered into a walkie-talkie.

The plot thickened. A blind lady with an accordion shuffled down Pine Ave. singing "You Are My Sunshine." From a block away came the accusatory fulminations of a bearded street-corner evangelist who waved a Bible in the clogged May air. A newspaper reporter wandered along with a circus poster tacked to the end of a stick. A car stalled in the middle of the street. Grant Holcomb, the TV man, marched through the picket line with more assistants than there were agitators. Meanwhile, the sun came out for the first time this week.

Presently, the real collegiates turned up with placards, and they were on our side. Sullen, the enemy handed in their signs and departed. Then, the anti-anti-pickets sauntered over to Thrifty to buy ice cream cones. The street fell silent again.

Across the way, the news vendor's phlegmatic dachshund lay on his side taking a sunbath and saying, in effect, "A plague on both your houses."

'I'm Getting Off'

JOHN O'HARA

Barry Finished as a Nominee but Still Has Big Following

SOME OF the faithful have been writing in to ask why I have failed to write something about the victorious loser. They know that I came out for Goldwater, and voted for him, and they have correctly guessed that I took a lot of abuse from the ever-tolerant, anti-conformist liberals. Now, say the faithful, is my chance to get back at the people who said Goldwater was trigger-happy, that he would be sending more troops to Viet Nam, that he would use atomic weapons, and so on; and that anyone who supported Goldwater was mad, mad, mad. Inasmuch as Johnson is doing the very things that he said Goldwater would do if elected President, why not gloat a little?

Friends, I gloat a little twice every day: in the morning when I read the newspapers, and at night when I tune in on the news programs. If I have not gloated in print it is only because I try to keep these messages lively through variety. As good a writer as Westbrook Pegler was, he finally became a bore by repetition. If you saw the name Eleanor in a column of Pegler's, it was a column you could skip, and the first duty of a journalist is to stay readable. As a former sports writer (and none better), Pegler should have known how to mix them. The temptation to become a pamhpleteer need not be irresistible to a journalist who does not shut out other interests. Some of the best writing Pegler or any other journalist ever did in his final months as a columnist, in those reminiscences of his early days in the newspaper business. They unfortunately came too late. Pegler had driven his people away, and William Randolph Hearst Jr. was being shielded from the Pegler talent by Bob Considine and Frank Conniff.

CONSIDINE, who could be called the greatest living reporter if I could be called Harvey Cushing, is—to put it delicately — inhospitable to superior talents. It would surprise me very much to hear that he threatened to resign if Hearst fired Pegler. As for Conniff, the newspaper shop-talk is that he ghosts the pieces that appear under Hearst's byline, and, like Gore Vidal he ran for Congress. He inherited, if that is quite the word, Pegler's position on the comment page of the New York Journal-American. But even without the assistance of Considine and Conniff, the non-revolving door had opened outward for Pegler, and he had principally himself to blame.

So I learned a little lesson there. However, as I have not said much about Goldwater in the past four or five months, he has not become a tiresome topic of these messages. I am inclined to believe that as a presidential nominee he is through. But as a man with a following he has to be reckoned with. From letters and converastions I surmise that his following is virtually intact, and until a stronger man comes along Goldwater will continue to retain his leadership. He still has the largest following on the Republican side.

GOLDWATER

In the East we hear of quiet activity on the part of Richard Nixon. It will get nowhere. Nixon made a political mistake in moving to New York. Although he lost the California governorship to Pat Brown, he might have won next time out. By changing his residence he dissipated his local strength, and in New York he certainly will get no help from Nelson Rockefeller or Jacob Javits. In spite of the left-handed assistance he is getting from the misbehavior of the Democratic legislature, Rockefeller can be counted out, and he would not support Nixon anyhow. Javits is not a Republican Republican, and in any other state but New York he would not get Republican support.

* * * *

NIXON'S political future is that of a young elder statesman. The fantastic thought comes to me that if he were to run for anything in New York, Jim Farley could beat him.

BOB HOUSER

New Math on Polls Reveals Hidden Christopher Power

I, P-T Political Editor

GEORGE CHRISTOPHER is not yet running but he told his supporters Saturday to go ahead with organization efforts toward his 1966 GOP gubernatorial candidacy.

Christopher, 56, two-term mayor of San Francisco, until 1963, thus is first. Actor Ronald Reagan has scored higher among Republicans on polls than Christopher and than the undecided U.S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel. Reagan has said he requires only confirmation of a broad-based support to get in the race. But Christopher's Saturday announcement puts him the closest to official candidacy of any of the Republican potentials.

HOUSER

Poll reading, at a superficial glance, may not seem to support Christopher's apparent confidence. But there is a more subtle reading which does. The polls seem to say he has a vast reservoir of non-enemies.

Some of the clinchers which may have gone into Christopher's "all-but" candidacy:

First, he had advised Kuchel he would make his decision yesterday, a deadline extended one month in apparent courtesy to Kuchel. Kuchel would make the strongest race against Governor Brown, the polls say, but Reagan outshines him among Republicans who have to nominate their candidate in June, 1966.

OF COURSE there are no 100% voter turnouts in California, but for purposes of comparing poll strengths, assume that all registered voters as of Jan. 1—4,168,989 Democrats and 2,835,485 Republicans—voted according to poll percentages in 1966.

Kuchel would defeat Brown by 952,000 votes; Christopher over Brown by 312,000; Brown over Reagan by 404,000; Brown over Joseph Shell by 558,000, and Brown over Max Rafferty by 590,000.

Political speculators say the Kuchel-Christopher talks may have been in the nature of a "stop Reagan" pact, i.e., if Christopher can win, Kuchel would need not risk his Senate seat nor prestige in the governor race.

The Christopher advantage of non-enemies goes like this:

An April 20 California Poll ranked GOP contenders among Republican voters "excellent, good, fair, poor, no opinion."

CHRISTOPHER got the least vote as "poor." It was 9%, compared to 10% for Kuchel, 16 for Shell, 27 for Rafferty, 28 for former Gov. Goodwin Knight and 32 for Reagan.

A Feb. 11 poll made similar ratings among the general public and among Republican voters. Christopher got "excellent" mention from the general public by only 6%, compared to 7 for Rafferty, 8 for Shell, 10 for Kuchel and 12 for Reagan. However, while Reagan scored high on excellent with 12%, he also scored 39% on "poor" while Christopher had only a 17% "poor" rating.

Among Republicans voting "excellent," it was Reagan 22, Kuchel 10, Christopher 8. But again, Reagan and Kuchel both drew 23% "poor" designations while only 12% gave Christopher a "poor" mark.

Another reading of that Feb. 11 polls: Adding up "excellent, good and fair" marks, Christopher was high man with 88% among GOP voters. Other scores—Kuchel 77, Shell 75 and Rafferty 64.

The later April 20 poll, figured the same way, puts Kuchel at the top with 68, Knight 57, Christopher 47, Reagan 44, Shell 40 and Rafferty 39.

It is valid argument that being low man on the "poor" scale may indicate only lack of knowledge or interest in the candidate. This is borne out by Christopher's relatively high scores in the "no opinion" column.

HOWEVER, IT may mean more than that in the context of the current Republican divisions. The GOP seems to be polarized between Kuchel as the man polls say could whip Brown handily, and Reagan who shines as first GOP choice but dims to an apparent loser against Brown.

The emotion will be spent on this debate. And suddenly that great non-enemy of anybody looms in the middle of the road.

Revised Teale Bill Further at Odds With Court Decree

Independent, Press-Telegram State Bureau

SACRAMENTO—Prospects for the Senate Plan on Redistricting have been dimmed by two developments.

No. 1 blow was a 90-page report of four Assembly consultants, political science-government professors at state colleges. The report questioned the constitutionality of any plan that varies greatly from the one-man, one-vote principle as ordered by the federal court —meaning all votes in Senate races are to have virtually equal weight.

McCAULEY

The second setback was dealt by a surprise Senate amendment further increasing the ratio between the size of the largest urban Senate district and smallest rural-northern Senate district.

As written originally, the Senate reapportionment bill of Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point, still was weighted so that the largest urban district was 2.3 times as large as the smallest rural district. And federal courts have rejected several reapportionment plans in other states with districts out of whack by less than that.

However, the newly-revamped Teale bill is further out of balance due to an amendment proposed by Sen. James Cobey, D-Merced. Cobey forced on the Teale bill an amendment that took out Madera County from a sparsely-settled proposed district in the High Sierra.

It means that the Senate Reapportionment Bill now calls for the typical Los Angeles County district to have 2.6 times as many people as the mountain-district of Sen. Teale.

If federal court approval of the Senate Reapportionment Plan could be rated as uncertain before, it now must be considered highly unlikely. Reason: the Cobey amendment.

However, the Senate's heel-dragging is natural. With each shift of a seat from north to south, it consigns one cow-county senator to political oblivion. Under present apportionment, Los Angeles County's king-sized senate district is 422.5 times as large as the 26th District in Inyo, Mono and Alpine Counties.

But some day Southern California people may be as influential as northern cows.

Senate heel-dragging to a one-man-one-vote reapportionment accounts for the fact that the present plan calls only for 12 Los Angeles County senators, and not the 15.5 that would be due the county under strict interpretation of the federal court order.

Those extra 3.5 seats are staying in the north—to make political life easier for legislators like Sen. Teale, Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D- Williams, and Sen. Fred Farr, D-Carmel.

* * * *

OTHER Sacramento Soundings:

GOP AIDS KENNICK — Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach, got an unexpected assist on his plan to abolish Economic Development Agency, the bungling agency that snubbed Long Beach in promotional brochures. Republicans have proposed phasing out EDA and turning over the function to a new agency that will find 200,000 jobs a year to spur state growth.

* * * *

NEGATIVE ENDORSEMENTS — Most interesting political battle-plan of the day comes from the newly-formed California Moderate Democrats, Inc. CMD will refuse to support any one endorsed by CDC (California Democratic Council).

* * * *

Small Traffic Case Doesn't Need Jury

EDITOR:

I would like to raise some counter-arguments to your recent editorial concerning the bill introduced by Assemblyman Carrell, which would remove the right to jury trial from certain traffic offenses.

Passage of the bill is a must if our municipal courts are to be kept from absolute chaos. So many signal light and stopsign crashers, persons who speed 5 or 10 miles over the limit, those who make turns from the wrong lane, and similar offenders are demanding jury trials that the calendars are crowded beyond court ability to handle them.

It doesn't make sense financially that 12 jurors, a prosecutor, judge, clerk and bailiff must be paid at least a day's wages for a case where, if conviction is secured, the fine will be no more than $7, $12 or some similar small sum.

The editorial expressed concern over removing the right to jury trial in cases where the penalties can be severe. State law provides that the only possible penalties are cash fine and/or suspension of the defendant's driving privilege. In other words, no jail term can be imposed, and this is the only situation where the Constitution guarantees jury trials.

The law states that "A traffic infraction is not a crime and the punishment imposed therefor shall not be deemed for any purpose a penal or criminal punishment."

The offenses covered by the proposed legislation are not the more serious ones such as driving while under influence of alcohol, reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident or drag-racing. They include crossing the center line, unsafe passing, failure to yield the right of way and following too closely.

Actually, the defendant still can have his day in court, with his case heard by a judge, or commissioner. Passage of this bill seems to be a much better solution to the ever-increasing court congestion than the alternative of great increase in the number of courts and personnel.

Well, None of Us Are Perfect

EDITOR:

Many newspaper references to the Dominican Republic recently have shown a surprising ignorance of many aspects of that country. Perhaps most surprising have been the mistakes in naming the country. The worst I have seen so far is "Santa Domingo," which is both bad Spanish and bad geography.

But now Walter Ridder in his column has made reference several times to "Dominica." Doesn't Mr. Ridder know that Dominica is a British island in the Lesser Antilles, with no connection whatever with the Dominican Republic?

Campus Bill Misses Mark

EDITOR:

Assembly Bill 2545 which was introduced April 19, would repeal section 25512 of the Education Code which permits "any student political organization which is affiliated with the official youth division of any political party which is on the ballot of California" to hold meetings "on a junior college campus."

One might assume that this bill was designed to stop further incidents like that at Berkeley. However, when you take a closer look at the bill it is clear that it does not achieve this purpose at all. It specifies junior college campuses, thus leaving out Berkeley. It further specifies ". . . official youth division of any political party which is on the ballot." The FSM never has been and, with God's help, never will be on any ballot.

This bill would abolish all Young Democrat and Young Republican organizations on junior college campuses in California. These organizations' members are thinking young Americans who are interested in world affairs and not the type of people who picket, hold sit-ins, or burn draft cards.

Don't let these organizations that teach our youth how our political system works be taken off our junior college campuses.

WHAT A WAY TO GO

Chicago Cubs' Dick Ellsworth slumps in despair after Dodger Al Ferrara's pinch-hit home run in eighth inning cost him shut-out, game—and no-hitter. Dodgers won on single blow, 3-1.

Big Hand for Ferrara... 'e Sure Gave 'em 'ells-worth

By GEORGE LEDERER

A broken hand fractured a no-hitter and broke two hearts at Dodger Stadium Saturday.

Al Ferrara's pinch-hit home run, with one out in the eighth inning, was the only Dodger hit off Dick Ellsworth and it produced a 3-1 victory over the Cubs.

It also produced as much excitement and drama as any edifice — concrete and steel to the contrary—could stand.

For two tension packed hours, the 25-year-old Ellsworth had mesmerized the Dodgers as no one had since Don Larsen pitched his perfect game in the 1956 World Series.

The Long Beach Day crowd of 29,546 had visions of a no-hitter from the fourth inning, when second baseman Glenn Beckert made one of those unbelievable plays that seems to accompany pitching perfection. Beckert, a believer in turnabout is fair play, made a diving stop of Maury Wills's drive to the right of second and threw him out.

In the top half of the fourth, Wills had deprived Doug Clemens of a hit with a similar half-gainer into a dry pool.

After Beckert's effort beyond the call of duty, there wasn't another difficult fielding chance for the Cubs until third baseman Ron Santo erred on Jeff Torborg's bouncer to start the eighth.

Three times Ellsworth had made things difficult for himself with walks, one in the fifth inning and two in the sixth. A double play ended the fifth with Ellsworth having faced the minimum 15 men. He ended the sixth by striking out Wes Parker after walking Dick Tracewski and Wills.

The seventh inning was a breeze. Willie Davis grounded to first, Ron Fairly fanned and Jim Lefebvre flied to center.

Six outs to go for the first regular-season no-hitter against the Dodgers since the late Vern Bickford pitched one for the Boston Braves, Aug. 11, 1950.

Ellsworth got only one of the outs.

Santo, who joined Ellsworth in the lonely and broken-hearts clubhouse of the losers, charged Torborg's leadoff bouncer in the eighth and muffed it.

Ellsworth next blew a chance for an out when he elected to throw to second on Tracewski's sacrifice bunt. His throw was too late to head off pinch-runner Willie Crawford and both runners were safe, Tracewski on a fielder's choice.

John Kennedy sacrificed for Derrell Griffith and now there was one out when there could have been three.

Up stepped Ferrara, batting for winner Bob Miller and for the first time since he broke a bone in his left hand while crashing into the fence at Cincinnati, May 5.

Ferrara took the first pitch for a ball and fouled off the second. It stung and he winced. "It was a good sinker, away," said Ferrara, "and it really hurt."

Ellsworth was hurt more on the next pitch.

Ferrara drove it into the left field lower boxes for his first homer of the year and second in the majors. Both times he broke hearts and no-hit bids by the Cubs.

"This one didn't hurt my hand," said Ferrara. "Not at all. I knew it would have enough distance, but I was worried that it might curve foul. My drives have a tendency to do that. But this one got in by a good margin (about 10 feet). I guess you'd have to say I felt pretty good."

Ferrara, who once aspired to be a concert pianist, never received a bigger ovation, not even in Carnegie Hall, where he played as a teenager.

He hit a fast ball, a bit high, but said he wasn't looking for the particular pitch. "In fact," he said, "I was trying to hit the ball through the middle. That shows you how much I know about this game."

Ironically, Ferrara's first major league hit was against Ellsworth, at Wrigley Field, Aug. 7, 1963, and it helped the Dodgers to a 3-1 win. The next day Ferrara broke up a perfect game by Bob Buhl with a home run in the fifth inning.

* * * *

ELLSWORTH, a 22-game winner in 1963, came close to a no-hitter once before. At least he won that one, 2-0, although Wes Covington of the Phillies spoiled the perfecto by beating out a bunt in the eighth inning.

For a chap who had just met such fate, Ellsworth was extremely pleasant and courteous in the gloom that otherwise filled the Cub-house.

"I was aware of the no-hitter early," he said, "but I certainly didn't feel the pressure. It was a 1-0 game and I was just trying to win it."

He said the fans had tried to rattle him the last time he was in the on-deck circle, "but they didn't bother me. I knew what I had to do. It was close."

Ellsworth had no remorse about pitching to Ferrera, even with first base open after Kennedy's sacrifice. "I had to figure I'd get 'em out. I'd been doing it all day."

Dodgers manager Walter Alston couldn't and wouldn't second-guess the Cubs' strategy. "First base was open, all right, but with only one out and Wills coming up, you had to pitch to him. It isn't easy to double up Wills."

A lot of the Dodgers were doubled up from the gaiety of the sudden turn of events.

"We didn't waste any hits today," said Alston. "I'll say one thing for Al—he hit it pretty good with a broken hand."

Claude Osteen, who started for the Dodgers and again was unlucky in not getting the win, said:

"All I had to do was get out of there. I knew we'd score then."

Alston took out Osteen

ANGELS-DODGERS TRADE HINTED

Dean Chased in First; White Sox Romp, 8-3

By ROSS NEWHAN
I, P-T Staff Writer

CHICAGO — The Windy City continued to blow ill for the Angels Saturday, but there were rumors circulating that the first-ever transaction on a major-league level between the tenant and landlord of Dodger Stadium may be close at hand.

At Comiskey Park, the Cy Young Award took on a speck of rust as Dean Chance lasted but two-thirds of an inning as the White Sox scored four times and then coasted to an 8-3 victory extended their league lead over the Angels to four games.

At the Edgewater Beach Hotel, the Independent, Press-Telegram was told that relief may be near for the beleaguered Angel bullpen which, with Bob Lee drawing a day's rest, was touched for eight hits and four of the Chicago runs Saturday.

* * * *

A HIGH-RANKING Angel official made the following statement to the writer:

"We are extremely interested in Ron Perranoski and we understand Dodger management has become disenchanted with him."

Knowledge of that disenchantment could only come if the subject had been broached by the Angel front office. The I, P-T's source would not divulge what the Angels had or would offer, but money is certainly not one of Walter O'Malley's needs.

While the deadline for inter-league trading has expired, there are clandestine measures through which Perranoski might be underground out of the National League. The Angels and Dodgers have never dealt on a major league level and it is ironic that the first trade could mean a pennant for the tenant and the loss of same for the landlord.

Meanwhile, Chicago breezed to its fifth consecutive victory while rapping 13 hits. The Sox are hardly concerned that Chance might come right back today, for he hardly wore himself out while facing eight batters.

The loss was Dean's second against three victories and his ERA is an unglamorous 3.69. It marked the first time since April 21 of last year that Chance has been removed in the opening round.

Chance was clipped for singles by Danny Cater, Floyd Robinson, Pete Ward, J. C. Martin and a double by Ken Berry. He issued one intentional walk and was hurt by Jim Fregosi's error on a Bill Skowron grounder which might have been converted into a double play, limiting the inning to one run. It was, however, a difficult play and the fourth loss in five games on this trip is Chance's responsibility, not Fregosi's.

Possibly, Chance was shocked by an extravagant two-run lead the Angels supplied in their half of the first round. A walk and singles by Fregosi (who had three hits), Willie Smith and Costen Shockley accounted for the temporary lead off eventual winner Bruce Howard.

Chicago cushioned its lead off Barry Latman, Ron Piche and Aubrey Gatewood, all of whom were touched for runs.

The Angels squandered several opportunities against Howard (3-1) before a blister forced him out of action after five rounds. Hoyt Wilhelm, the amazing knuckleball master, pitched a perfect four innings for his second save.

It will be recalled that Angels manager Bill Rigney protested Friday's game on the grounds that catcher Martin was employing an over-sized mitt to handle another knuckle-ball pitcher, Eddie Fisher.

Clark, Gurney Complete First Row in Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Defending champion A. J. Foyt and veterans Jim Clark and Dan Gurney set themselves in the front row for the 500-mile race May 31 with record-blistering qualification runs Saturday.

The three squeezed Mario Andretti into the second row in a furious half-hour after the 25-year-old rookie from Nazareth, Pa., had brought the crowd to a screaming peak of delight by breaking Clark's 1964 records for the qualifying run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Clark, 29-year-old former world champion from Duns, Scotland, followed Andretti on the track and snatched the record back.

MINUTES later Foyt, 32-year-old two-time winner of the 500 from Houston, Tex., won the pole position with a scorching average of 161.233 mph for the four trips around the 2½-mile track. His best lap was turned at a record 161.958.

'LUCKY' HURT, RUNS OUT

Tom Rolfe Survives Inquiry in Preakness

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Tom Rolfe, driving through the stretch like an express train, survived a foul claim to win the $180,600 Preakness Stakes by a neck Saturday as Lucky Debonair, the Kentucky Derby winner, bucked a shin in the race and finished seventh.

X-rays were to be taken this morning of Lucky Debonair's leg.

Dapper Dan, runner-up in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, again was second with Hail To All third in the field of nine 3-year-olds.

* * * *

IN THE drive to the wire, Dapper Dan streaked down the rail and as he and Tom Rolfe neared the wire Tom Rolfe moved towards the rail. After the race, jockey Ismael Valenzuela claimed a foul against the winner but after viewing films the stewards did not allow it.

It was ruled Valenzuela did not have to stop whipping and driving his horse in the furious finish which saw Tom Rolfe, third in the Kentucky Derby, score by a neck.

It was four long lengths back to Hail To All, who beat Native Charger by another neck in the mile and three-sixteenths event.

Both Tom Rolfe, ridden by Canadian Ron Turcotte, and Dapper Dan, owned by Ogden Phipps of New York, came from out of the clouds.

They were the only two horses running in the closing yards of the second of the Triple Crown classics with Tom Rolfe scoring across the finish line in 1:56⅕, one of the fastest renewals of the Maryland race.

The crowd of 38,108 made Tom Rolfe its second choice and he paid $9.20, $5.00 and $3.80 across the boards. Dapper Dan, denied a Kentucky Derby victory by the same margin by which he lost the Preakness, returned $7.20 and $4.60, while Hail To All paid $5.60.

TOM ROLFE, taken to the rail for a saving of ground soon after the start, was permitted to make his own pace under light restraint for five furlongs, gradually came out from the rail to circle the first flight under intermittent rousing on the final turn and drew clear under heavy right-hand punishment after straightening into the stretch. DAPPER DAN made up ground gradually next to the rail after three furlongs, came around the tiring FLAG RAISER and dropped back to the rail without having to change strids in the early stretch, closed fast under right-hand punishment to the final sixteenth of a mile and then gained only very gradually in the last stages. HAIL TO ALL, kept out from the rail at all stages, was placed under steady left-hand punishment to reach closer contention entering the last three furlongs, rallied steadily and was up to best. NATIVE CHARGER while coming in light contact with that rival in the last strides. NATIVE CHARGER, in hand for a half-mile was sent past LUCKY DEBONAIR on the inside and in pursuit of the pace under light pressure after settling into the backstretch, came around SWIFT RULER and FLAG RAISER to challenge for the lead on the final turn, then drifted slightly near the end and brushed lightly with HAIL TO ALL while holding on fairly well. SWIFT RULER began fastest, regained a short advantage along the inside under pressure on the final turn and held on fairly well. SELARI lacked early speed and closed belatedly. LUCKY DEBONAIR was lightly raised outside the first flight for five furlongs, responded only slightly when called upon around the turn and weakened in the drive. NEEDLES COUNT was outrun. FLAG RAISER came out a trifle on SWIFT RULER sprinting into command at the first turn, raced along freely with a long lead for six furlongs, faltered badly and was not pressed through the last furlong.

Ford Museum Is Americana on Wheels

DETROIT—One of my toughest assignments as a young newspaperman was to interview Europe.s 12 greatest men, ranging from Mussolini to President Ebert of Germany.

A more pleasurable assignment later was to interview America's ten greatest men. Among them, perhaps the greatest, certainly the most interesting, were Henry Ford, Thomas Edison, and Luther Burbank.

PEARSON

I was reminded of this when, in keeping with President Johnson's advice that we see the USA instead of spending American dollars abroad, I visited Greenfield Village, Mich., on the outskirts of Detroit, a historical shrine developed by Henry Ford partially in honor of his friend, Thomas Edison. It was a fascinating sanctuary of American history and you can readily understand why 1,317,000 tourists came here last year.

My interview with Henry Ford was in the summer of 1924. The Ford Motor Company was then a relatively modest organization, and Henry had offices in the engineering building just across the road from his home—"Fairlane," for which one of his grandson's models is now named. Henry was a lanky, restless gentleman, then about 60, more interested in action than in words, and very loath to give interviews. However, he warmed up somewhat when I asked about his favorite subject, getting industry out of the big city.

Ford had located several small plants just outside Detroit on the River Rouge. His theory was that farmers needed part-time industrial work and that factory workers needed to get away from the city.

"The big city is doomed," Henry Ford told me. And went on to explain how the high cost of big cities was going to force both people and industry into the outlying areas.

WHILE the big city of today is not exactly doomed, nevertheless downtown areas of the big cities have been suffering blight, and Ford was certainly accurate when he forecast a trek to the suburbs. Ever since then, the problem of the big city has been occupying Congress and individual mayors, with President Johnson seriously considering a new Department of Urban Affairs.

Some years later when Henry Ford was over 80, he challanged me to a foot race. I chickened out. Not long afterward, 1947, he died at the age of 83.

Henry Ford's No. 1 hobby during his later years was Greenfield Village, which now contains an assortment of early American furniture, silverware, steam engines, carriages, locomotives, and automobiles rivaling if not surpassing those in the Smithsonian Institution. It is a treasure-house of Americana ranging from cigar store Indians, once a commonplace but now worth $5,000, to a ten-man bicycle built in 1896 in Waltham, Mass., able to make a speed of 45 miles an hour.

Most valuable piece in the collection is George Washington's camp chest, which belies the tradition that Washington slept in private homes all over the Eastern Seaboard.

For the chest contains a canvas cot on an iron frame, plus one pillow all neatly packed as a field kit. A separate leather-bound trunk studded with brass tacks contains tin boxes for tea and sugar, plus glass salt-and-pepper shakers. The Father of Our Country apparently lived with his troops.

Henry Ford's collection of vehicles ranges from old-fashioned buggies, mountain wagons, the Gypsy wagon owned by King Steve, a butcher wagon, a grocery store delivery wagon, a surrey with a fringe on top, water wagons once used to cool the dust on village streets, and of course a vast assortment of automobiles. They date from the old Roper Steam Carriage built by Sylvester Roper of Roxbury, Mass., in 1863, oldest auto in the United States.

Senate Committee Will Take Long Look at Tax-Tattlers

I, P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — A Senate subcommittee this week is due to begin probing the Internal Revenue Service's use of tax-tattlers, and there are indications that there may be investigations of folks who fink for the feds.

Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., chairman of the subcommittee and an outspoken foe of stool-pigeonry, has sent out questionnaires to heads of various agencies asking to what extent they use informers in discharging their missions.

Presumably the department heads will answer fully and completely. Otherwise, someone within their organizations might snitch to the subcommittee.

* * * *

MORALE IN government agencies has shot upward noticeably as President Johnson announced new appointments of agency heads. More than most of his predecessors, LBJ is turning to career employes for the top jobs. The most recent to be named was Lawson Knott, picked to head the General Services Administration. His agency has wide impact. It is in charge of all federal construction, and the face the government presents to the local community depends in large measure on GSA's management. Much of the architecture of federal buildings, post offices, and the like is atrocious. Knott is now working on agreement with the American Institute of Architects which would improve it. AIA would set up a selection panel, similar to the American Bar Association panel which recommends federal judges to the Justice Department. With AIA in the act, selection of architects on federal projects would be far less "political" and the buildings might be more inspiring.

* * * *

WHEN HE SERVED as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., conducted a persistent campaign against gobbledygook. Now that he's a senator, Ribicoff is extending the crusade to other governmental agencies. At a committee hearing last week, he scolded Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler about a report on customs reorganization just issued. Not only was the language impossible to comprehend, Ribicoff complained, the reports' pages weren't even numbered. Fowler acknowledged somebody goofed, but said he hasn't got his number yet.

* * * *

STRONG BIPARTISAN opposition is developing towards the administration's proposed cut-back in the amount of duty-free goods which overseas tourists may bring home.

The proposal to halve the present $100 duty-free maximum cleared the House Ways and Means Committee last week only after a bitter dispute among committee members and intervention by the White House.

But both Democratic and Republican representatives have indicated they will fight the measure when it gets to the floor within the next few weeks. Opponents of the limitation claim it is a negative way of attempting to correct the balance of payments deficit.

A Republican Representative, H. Allen Smith of California, last week suggested the problem could be solved by greater use of a dollar exchange program authorized by Congress in 1960.

Under this plan, tourists exchange their dollars at U.S. Embassies and consulates for local currency paid for surplus commodities. Tourist use of these monies would prevent their ever being used as claims against our gold supply, Smith says.

Although 30 countries have agreed to the program, it has been put into effect only in Egypt and Israel.

The currency exchange program's expansion might even make it possible to boost the duty free minimum, according to Smith.

FREDERIC W. COLLINS

'Prestige Loss' a Myth

I, P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — United States military actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic have had as one of their results the generating of such a variety of brand new myths as would delight Senator Fulbright, foe of old myths.

One of these myths is that the United States has been losing friendships all over the world by taking matters into its own hands.

There have now been, in effect, two votes of confidence taken on this issue. The results are what show the myth to be a myth.

One vote was in the Organization of American States on a resolution backed by the United States to form an inter-American force to help restore and maintain order in the Dominican Republic.

On this, 13 Latin American countries lined up with the United States. A 14th, Venezuela, abstained. She had said in advance she would contribute to such a force. There were five countries opposed: Chile, Ecuador, Mexico, Peru, and Uruguay.

It has been noted that it took some vigorous and skillful diplomacy to obtain this result. It was, however, obtained.

Almost at the same time, the nations of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization were meeting in London and debating whether to write and sign a communique endorsing the United States action in Viet Nam. When everyone had said what he had to say, the communique received the straight endorsement of Australia, the United Kingdom, New Zealand, the Philippines, and Thailand, along with that of the United States. Pakistan signed and made an additional comment which was somewhat ambiguous, but those at the meeting consider that Pakistan was actually in strong support. France stood aloof. It may be said that if the friendship of France has cooled, it is not as a consequence of anything as recent as the action in Viet Nam.

The SEATO vote was taken at the height of the Dominican crisis, and the gentlemen around the table certainly took account of it in reaching their decision. Likewise, OAS consideration of the Dominican case proceeded in awareness of a kinship between the U.S. action there and its action in Viet Nam.

The United States, in these two votes, found support in Latin America, Europe, and Asia. Parenthetically it may be noted that although no comparable registering of opinion is at hand for Africa, there is no substantial sign that friendship has been lost there, where it was previously enjoyed, because of the Viet Nam and Dominican actions. There is much more to this than a question of evanescent popularity for the United States.

It can be argued with considerable force that the estimates the adversary makes as to the degree of support the United States has for its actions has a marked, conceivably decisive influence on what the adversary does. If it feels the United States is isolated, that would logically seem a good time to push harder. If the United States possesses wide support, pushing makes considerably less sense.

The policy of the United States must itself take this factor of support into consideration.

It is beyond the power of man to eliminate dissent and debate in the United States at this moment, even if some misguided person considered that to be desirable. The dissent would be more persuasive, however, and the debate more rewarding if it relied less on new myths, like the one about losing friends by actions clearly taken in behalf of friends, not only those directly under attack but in a longer view, those seemingly remote from involvement.

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

The Clients Compose

"Thanks for finally coming to the front to do battle for the boys of Long Beach that would rather be athletes than juvenile delinquents.

"It's about time that somebody showed some interest in kid baseball. The paper does a school sports coverage as fully as any can do, but do you realize how few boys attending the schools in Long Beach have a chance of making a school team? When there are hundreds in each school to choose from only the FINEST players can possibly make a school team, so what about the other hundreds of average youngsters who have the desire and urge to play? Do we just forget them, tell them to go play tiddley-winks, or would the city fathers care to do their part in a SMALL way (like furnishing lights at Blair Field) to keep them out of the gang-war bit and general misbehavior they are going to get in to because they have nothing else to do? PLEASE pour on the coal as far this minor (?) item is concerned. I am a mother, a 24-year taxpayer and a very concerned adult about our youngsters." (signed Evelyn M. Gauntt, 4718 Hersholt Ave.

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

(The coals apparently never will reach Newcastle. Only councilman favoring the reduced light bill proposal was Bert Bond.)

"We believe the City Council is carrying its economy too far when it fails to decrease the electric tab on kids who want to play baseball on Blair Field at night. With youthful delinquency as rampant as it is, it seems the Council should encourage—not discourage—our youngsters to play and not charge them for it. Just wonder how much it costs the city to light and keep the parking lot at the foot of Magnolia Ave. patrolled at night to even make a dent in controlling crime in that area? We have just received a notice that the city plans to put in some fancy street lights in Naples, tearing out lights that are already adequate, and that our share of the cost will be $80 for our 40-foot lot. If the city must charge for its electrical displays, we'd a lot rather have our share of it spent at Blair Field where somebody would enjoy and benefit by it." (signed) J. Paul Gleason, 226 Venetia Dr.

(So would many others. Apparently, however, you still can't fight City Hall.)

"YOU'RE SICK, BUDDY! Your perpetual mouthings about Wilt Chamberlain, the greatest basketball player that ever lived, is nauseating. Just 15 minutes of the pressure that he lives with and you would be honking like a duck, forevermore. Bill Russell stands to Chamberlain's shoulder, and the rest of them, talent-wise, are around his waist. So you don't like the guy personally. That aint' no big thing, governor." (signed) Jack Keane, 5943 Elkport, Lakewood.

(When an athlete comes out with a two-part magazine article on the "bush" league in which he plays, as Wilt did, he is not a credit to his profession. Russell doesn't stand to Chamberlain's shoulder, physically, talent-wise, nor class-wise, either. Bill is far superior all-around, governor.)

"The Bee-Vee-Ettes invite you to watch them play volley tennis on any Monday 10-2 at Banning Park. This group is composed of about 50% mothers and 50% grandmothers. If you want to see an active bunch playing a fascinating game, come on over. You don't see any health problems among active women. Come on out and I'll explain the game to you." (signed) Jenny Cluff, 1215 Banning, Wilmington.

(Sounds thrilling, Jenny, but what would this do to my longstanding theory of keeping women barefoot and in the kitchen?)

"IT SEEMS TO ME that it was perfectly obvious that the theater owners who spent so much money to get the Pay TV proposition on the ballot, were interested strictly in the anticipated competition and losses at the box office rather than the thought of TV viewers actually going broke trying to pay for the programs they might want to watch. (So the Lakers, Liston-Clay and Indianapolis 500 race are on theater TV!) Many columnists, including yourself, brought out both sides of this for the public to decide for themselves. The point that bothered me so much was the fact that any industry should be allowed competition and then let the industry grow. To allow the public to vote out natural competition somehow seems wrong. I think now this theater group is adding insult to injury by capitalizing on subscription TV's misfortunes. It is worth some comment." (signed) Richard A. Roeder, 40 W. 49th St.

(My comment is a matter of record: I never was against subscription TV on home sets. Rather I was against the action of organized theater groups to kill free enterprise. Theater people now are doing exactly what they had warned the public that home TV would do —charge fat prices to view juicy events!)

"Are you dedicated to protecting the Dodger image? With everything else, I think your column on Dodger 'power,' in another park, of course, was the low point in your less-than-sensational career. Get off the Dodger bandwagon. It will collapse the same time as you." (signed) Edward McGuire, Torrance.

(As the man says, Eddie, you can't win 'em all.)

Stuart's Slam Clips Braves

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A grand slam home run by Dick Stuart powered the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-4 victory over Milwaukee Saturday.

With the Phillies trailing 2-1 in the third Cookie Rojas singled, John Callison walked and Richie Allen beat out an infield single to load the bases.

Stuart cracked a no-strike, one-ball pitch atop the roof of the left field stands for his fourth home run of the season and eighth grand slam of his major league career. It came off Hank Fischer, who had come on in relief of starter Wade Blasingame.

Joe Torre, hitting in his 12th straight game, opened the Braves' second with his eighth home run.

ANGELS--

writers shoulder and whispered:

"Will Rigney protest the blister?"

ANGEL ANGLES: Chicago cuts two undefeated pitchers Tommy John (2-0) and John Buzhardt (3-0) on the mound today in a road trio concluding twin-bill. Rudy May (2-1 with a 1.91 ERA) will hurl the opener for the Angels with George Brunet (1-1) making his first start after seven relief appearances in the nightcap. Angels then return home, opening seven-game stand against the Twins and White Sox Monday evening . . . A Wednesday twi-night doubleheader will feature a between game's match pitting the KMPC disk jockeys and Playboy Bunnies.

Rigney has withdrawn his protest of Friday night's game won by Chicago 2-1. Rigney felt that Martin was employing the same mitt he did last year to handle knuckle-baller Eddie Fisher. Umpire John Rice measured the glove after the game and it was easily within specifications. "I still do not believe they should allow exceptions," said Rigney. "They legislated against the webbing in first-base gloves so why should they allow an oversized catcher's mitt."

Trade talks involving Fisher have collapsed. The Angels offered centerfielder Dick Simpson. "Why should we trade our best relief pitcher for a minor leaguer?" asked Chicago GM Ed Short.

Funeral services for Dick Wantz will be conducted Tuesday at 11 a.m. at Forest Lawn in Cypress. Jackie Robinson was at the mike as Saturday's contest was ABC's game of the week. Jose Cardenal had a six-game hitting streak snapped, but he displayed his fine arm in the sixth when he cut down Buford attempting to score from third on Robinson's fly to center.

FLOYD AIMING FOR DEMPSEY MONEY MARK

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Floyd Patterson said Saturday that he expects to overtake Jack Dempsey's ring record for total money earnings.

Patterson, who Friday night scored a third-round TKO over Tod Herring of Houston, Tex., has earned around $8,000,000 in his 12 years as a pro while Dempsey is estimated to have grossed $10 million.

"If Cassius Clay beats Sonny Liston in Lewiston, Maine, on May 25, and gives me a title fight and I win, I can face Clay again or Liston and reach Dempsey's sum," said the 30-year-old Patterson.

"However, that is not my goal. What I want is a title fight against Clay or a third match against Liston, which would give me the chance to take revenge for the two one-round defeats against him."

Mays, McCovey Lead Giants, 8-2

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Willie McCovey and Willie Mays crashed back-to-back homers Saturday during a first inning four-run explosion that carried the San Francisco Giants past the skidding Houston Astros, 8-2.

The victory went to Bob Bolin, his first against three defeats. The sidearming righthander took over for Ron Herbel in the second inning. Bolin also got two singles in four trips to the plate.

It marked the fourth consecutive loss and sixth in the last seven decisions for the Astros, who had amazed the baseball world earlier this season by winning 10 straight.

Pirates Skinned for 18th Time in 22 Tilts

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pinch hitter Bob Skinner smacked a two-run triple and continued home on an error, capping a four-run outburst in the seventh inning that carried St. Louis past Pittsburgh 5-1 Saturday.

Tracy Stallard pitched a six-hitter for his second victory against one defeat. The loss was the Pirates' 18th in their last 22 games.

Redlegs Slug Mets; 5 RBI for Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — Deron Johnson drove in five runs and relief pitcher Billy McCool cut short a New York surge as Cincinnati outslugged the Mets, 12-7, Saturday.

Johnson tripled with the bases loaded in the first inning following singles by Pete Rose and Vada Pinson and a walk to Gordy Coleman. Johnson then scored on John Edwards' double. The hits were the first of four each for Rose and Pinson.

The Mets, who were double play victims in each of the first four innings, finally exploded against Jim O'Toole in the fifth inning. They scored six runs until McCool came in and struck out Bob Taylor.

A'S FIRE McGAHA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Manager Mel McGaha of the last-place Kansas City Athletics was fired Saturday and replaced by Haywood Sullivan, now manager of the A's farm club at Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League.

* * * *

SULLIVAN, 34, becomes the youngest manager in the major leagues.

McGaha, who appeared at the news conference, indicated he had no plans for the future, "because I just heard about this three minutes ago."

The A's have had eight managers since the club moved into Kansas City in 1955 after leaving Philadelphia.

IN FAST COMPANY

Berny Osendorf, 11, who was Batboy for a Day at Dodgers - Cubs game Sunday, flexes muscle for benefit of pitcher named Sandy Koufax in dugout before game. Berny, of North Long Beach, was proud winner of the batboy contest conducted by Independent, Press-Telegram.

DODGERS--

after Billy Williams, with two down in the eighth, had doubled for the second time and Santo was walked intentionally. Miller retired Ernie Banks on a soft fly to right and thereby was the recipient of his third win.

Jim Brewer pitched a 1-2-3 ninth for his second save, also saving the Dodgers' 2½-game league lead.

* * * *

DIS AND DATA—Santo's error made all the Dodger runs unearned . . . Santo crammed himself into his locker and sat motionless long after reporters had left the clubhouse . . . The Cubs' run was earned, but could have been prevented had Griffith been able to get a jump on Santo's fly ball to left after Williams' leadoff double in the fourth . . . Griffith started much too late, then missed a shoestring effort and allowed the ball to get by for a run and two bases.

Osteen, who needed help for the first time in the middle of an inning, has received only .160 batting support from his teammates in his last five starts . . . in those five starts he has allowed only 10 runs, but won only once . . . "What's wrong?" Osteen repeated the question. "I'm not hitting good." Osteen said he has "been through this before with Washington—well, maybe it wasn't quite so bad. But things have to change sooner or later. They changed a little today. Not for me, but for us."

Alston said he toyed with the idea of using Don Drysdale as a pinch-hitter instead of Ferrara . . . "I knew Ferrara was willing to play. He told me so before the game. But I was more interested in getting his hand healed so it won't be sore all year. I knew A wanted to hit. He was walking around with a bat in his hands."

Miller, the winner of the almost-no-hitter, was the loser in Sandy Koufax' no-hitter against the Mets here in 1962 . . . There have been three no-hitters in Dodger Stadium, two by Koufax (Mets and Giants), the other by ex-Angel Bo Belinsky against Baltimore.

Drysdale (5-2) and Johnny Podres (2-0) pitch this afternoon against Larry Jackson (2-4) and Kenny Koonz (3-1) in the concluding game of the home stand and the Dodgers' first doubleheader of the season.

CLAY-LISTON MAY 25

Indy '500,' Title Bout on Theater TV in L.B.

Two of the top sports attractions of 1965 will be staged within the next 16 days and fans will be able to see both via closed circuit TV on Long Beach screens.

The heavyweight championship fight between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston on Tuesday, May 25, will be shown here at the West Coast Theater and the Municipal Auditorium.

There are plenty of choice seats available for the fight of the century and they can be obtained for the West Coast telecast at the West Coast and the auditorium.

* * * *

THE INDIANAPOLIS 500-mile Speedway Classic will be shown this year at the Long Beach Arena Monday, May 31. Four screens will be set up and some 12,000 seats will be available.

Tickets, which are selling at a brisk clip, can be obtained at the Fox theaters or at the Arena box office.

Horton Raps 3 More Hits in Tiger Win

Newest Slugging Sensation Hikes Average to .406

BOSTON (UPI) — Slugging Willie Horton's two singles and a double figured in most of the Tiger scoring Saturday as he paced Detroit to its sixth straight victory, a 6-2 decision over Boston.

Horton, whose torrid home run streak was checked in the game, hiked his major league-leading average another 23 points to .406 while helping Mickey Lolich to his fifth victory.

Horton, who now has 15 hits in his last 19 times at bat, drove in only one of the Detroit runs with a sacrifice fly, but two of his three hits in the game either started or helped along Detroit scoring rallies.

* * * *

SINGLES by Don Demeter and Bill Freehan and a passed ball after Horton's double in the second gave the Tigers two runs.

The run batted in was Horton's 16th in his last 19 official trips to the plate.

Lolich needed help from Larry Sherry in the ninth.

Mantle's HR in 8th Bests Orioles, 3-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mickey Mantle's opposite field home run, his 50th lifetime homer against Baltimore, broke an eighth inning tie and gave the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory over the Orioles Saturday night.

Mantle's leadoff clout into the left field bleachers, while batting left-handed, came on a 2-2 pitch from Dick Hall, an old Yankee nemesis who had squelched a seventh-inning rally when New York scored the tying run off Steven

Inside Straight

AGAJANIAN

Reluctant Revolution

By RICH ROBERTS

PARNELLI JONES opened the parcel addressed to him at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Inside was a roll of tape, bailing wire, crying towels, a sympathy card and a bottle of Elmer's Glue-All.

"We haven't got the tape anymore," he later told a friend. "We used it on my car."

Jones, like the rest of the "500" fraternity, finds himself caught in the middle of the rear-engine revolution which has now worked up a full head of horsepower for the May 31 race.

A rear-engine car never has won the 500-mile race, but not because they don't go fast enough. They're the hottest things on wheels . . . as long as they stay on wheels.

* * * *

THE TROUBLE IS, the wheels have a way of breaking off, which can be rather annoying at, say, 160 mph.

Scotland's Jimmy Clark set a qualifying record in his English-built Lotus-Ford last year and was running away with the race when his left rear wheel assembly collapsed, a pure case of scotch on the rocks.

And by the end of the race, most of the other hot little mosquitos were in the pits, too, while the durable old front-engine Offenhauser roadsters rumbled home to the four-beat theme of, "I Ain't Down Yet," just like they have since Barney Oldfield was a boy.

But the rumble seat roar got its message across, because now A. J. Foyt and Parnelli Jones, the last two winners of the "500," have made the jump. If the lightweight cars could be built to hold up, they felt, they had to win.

So obliging sponsors offered Foyt and Jones their choice of driving Lotus-Fords or new Lola racers—sort of a heavy duty Lotus—with their old Offeys waiting in the garage, just in case.

As it turned out, the Lolas couldn't be checked out in time, so Foyt and Jones went with the Lotuses in Saturday's qualifying.

* * * *

J. C. AGAJANIAN bought Clark's old Lotus and spent some $20,000 beefing it up. He could have saved the money. Parnelli broke off a wheel about the first time out, and Foyt did, too.

"I don't like the funny cars," Foyt said. They're fast and they're the coming thing, but I dont' feel they're completely safe."

For a time, the Lotuses were barred from practice as unsafe, and a discouraged Jones remarked, "I'm looking for Old Calhoun."

"Calhoun" is the old four-banger roadster which Agajanian has been asked to donate to the Speedway museum, right along with the Stutzes and all the other antiques.

Parnelli's fondness for the mischievous machine is hard to understand. It lost its brakes (and the race) under him in 1962, leaked its way to an oily finish in '63 and virtually blew him out of the cockpit when the gas tank exploded in '64.

Agajanian, one suspects, would have just as soon stuck with the cantankerous clunker but is swept along with the rear-engine craze, which reflects in 45 of 66 entries this year. He may even try for two berths with a second driver in the Lola next weekend.

"The Englishmen build cars light and small," he says, "just for one race. Ours might last five years. If they contact the wall they just glance off with hardly any damage. The others fall apart."

* * * *

AGGIE HOPES the new Lola cars built by one Eric Broadley of Lola Car Co., Ltd., are the eventual compromise solution to the dilemma of speed vs. durability.

All told, it's a $45,000 gamble for him to put a Lola on the track, but nobody's passing a crash helmet for Aggie. His fantastically successful motorcycle cards at Ascot Park, along with other racing promotions, help finance his Indy action.

And if he can't book the 500-miler himself, he's got the next best thing. Agajanian controls some 45,000 theater seats up and down the state, including the L.A. Sports Arena, for the closed-circuit telecast of the race and is flying the plush crowd back to Indiana on a chartered jet.

But despite all his progressive thinking, he is slow to accept the inevitable takeover of the new machinery.

"The rear-engine cars have better traction and less drive line," he admits, "but it's a different technique of driving. With a roadster the rear part of the car can slide back and forth quite a bit without losing control. The front end is the anchor point.

"But with a rear engine, if the back starts to go you've had it. You have to drive like you're on rails. But drivers like to win, so they'll drive what it takes to win."

Moore Spikers Mow 'Em Down

Poly Advances 8 to CIF Semis; Millikan, Lakewood Top Bees

By DOUG IVES

If there is such a thing as a perfect day in track and field, the Moore League in general, and Poly in particular, enjoyed it Saturday in the CIF prelims.

On a beautifully sun-kissed afternoon at Lakewood High, Poly's Big Five made a clean sweep and the Moore League cleanly swept the eight other participating leagues off their collective feet by qualifying a whopping 55 boys in three divisions.

Poly won eight first places and, oddly, that was its total number of qualifiers. Except for relay help, the Big Five of Manuel Murrell, Fred Muench, John Hubbell, Al Nichols and Larry Freeman accounted for all the blue-ribbon performances.

Strangely, the Poly sweep wasn't made complete by a "victory" in total varsity qualifiers. That honor went to Wilson, which had nine on 2 firsts, 5 seconds and 2 field event fourths.

* * * *

WHILE Poly continued to appear as a varsity CIF title threat, Millikan looked the part in Bees by qualifying nine boys. And right behind the Rams is Lakewood with seven.

Broken down by classes, the Moore League qualified 23 in varsity, 22 in Bees and 10 in Cees for next Friday night's semis at Westminster. Poly will send 13, Lakewood and Millikan 12 and Wilson and Jordan 9, so the wealth of talent is diverse.

Murrell and Muench were double winners. Neither improved on their best marks, but then this was a preliminary meet and neither was forced to exert himself.

Muench ran 9.8 and 21.8 in the sprints, bucking a head wind in the furlong, and Murrell long-jumped 22-11 and low-hurdled 19.5 — also against a head wind.

The same pair also started and finished the 880 relay, which Poly won in 1:28.5. Billy Williams and Julice Haggerty ran the middle legs. Murrell ran the best of the bunch and Poly breezed home.

Freeman won the high jump with a no-sweat 6-5, Hubbell rebounded into the 60-foot level again with a 61-¼ effort and Nichols duplicated his season's half-mile best of 1:56.0.

It was the 880 that produced the most excitement—namely Nichols for his lopsided win, Lakewood's John Alderete for his thrilling comeback victory and Sierra's Richard Joice for his awesome 1:52.9 clocking without a "push."

Running in the first heat, the bull-strong Nichols shot out like the police were chasing him and left two 1:56 halfmilers bewildered. He had a 30-yard lead with 300 yards left and didn't even have to kick to assure his victory.

Alderete, meanwhile, had to make up a 30-yard deficit in the final 300 yards. Zipping off a 28.3 final 220, he caught Lowell's Lee Haight with eight yards remaining and nipped Westminster's Greenman at the tape. His time was 1:56.2, tying his previous best.

* * * *

TALENTED Fred Nicholl got Wilson its two triumphs. He won easily in the high hurdles at 14.2 and then had to extend himself a little to take the lows in 19.7.

Best Bee efforts were a 1:22.9 in the 660 by Millikan's Ed Ricke, a 30-yard 3:10.2 triumph by Lakewood's Bill DeVore in the 1320, and double wins by Lakewood's Conley DeVerse in the hurdles (8.8 and 13.6) and Millikan's Greg Ward in the sprints (9.9 and 22.6).

RAMBO INJURED

L.B. State Snares Region Spike Title

HAYWARD (UPI) — Long Beach State College captured four first places Saturday in winning the team title for the first time ever in the Pacific Coast NCAA regional college track and field championship.

The 49ers had finished second on three occasions.

* * * *

THE 49ERS racked up 55 points to 49 for second-place Nevada, winner of the Far West Conference title.

Olympic bronze medalist John Rambo was forced to withdraw from the high jump after suffering a torn calf muscle when he missed the 6-foot, 4-inch mark.

The meet was decided by the final event, the mile relay. Long Beach's quartet of Frank Harris, George Davis, Jeff Clements and Kerry Wright stepped to a clocking of 3:16.5 to edge Nevada.

SD Marines Double Up on City 10-5

By GARY RAUSCH

SAN DIEGO—The Marines parlayed a pair of four-run innings and Dick Dare's seven-hit pitching to whip Long Beach City College, 10-5, Saturday at Beeson Field.

Bart Hammer accounted for all but one Viking run. He doubled off the right field fence to score Rick Hayes and Alan Goldberg in the sixth inning.

Two innings later, the all-Metropolitan Conference third baseman socked a two-run homer over the left field barrier, scoring Barney Scholl ahead of him.

Hayes' single, an infield out and a throwing error got home the LBCC run in the ninth.

PUTMAN STARS FOR CHAMPS

Wilson Tops All-City Swim Choices

City champion Wilson High has dominated the All-City swimming team with four of the eight selections as chosen by the Independent, Press-Telegram Board of Athletics.

Jeff Losch, John Melin, Kurt Kimball and John Kiddie were the quartet of Bruins joining Jordan's Dennis Putman and Larry Bender, Millikan's Frank Richards and Poly's Brian Magree on the honor roll.

Putman set the pace by reaching the CIF finals in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyles, where he finished fourth.

All others except Kiddie and Kimball were Moore League champions — Losch in butterfly, Magree in the 200-free, Richards in the medley, Melin in backstroke and Bender in the 400-free. Kimball was a city breaststroke titlist behind a Downey boy.

Kiddie competed in Cees in CIF, but he was still a unanimous varsity selection based on city-best marks in three events during the regular season when he competed in class A.

Millikan duplicated Wilson's domination in varsity by landing four selections on the Bee team, freestylist Dick Williams, butterflyer Walt Halverson, backstroker Bruce Mobley and breaststroker Don Taylor.

Filling out the 8-man squad were Poly's Russ Kunkel (200-free), George Hedley (indiv. medley) and Bill Murrell (sprints) and Wilson's Jeff Shepard.

All won league or city titles except Murrell, who was ill and later excelled in CIF, and Shepherd, who had two seconds and helped Wilson win the varsity city crown before dropping down to Bees.

In Cees, Lakewood's Martin Miner and Al Lum, Wilson's Mike Walley and Bob Bonzer and Jordan's Tony Stramaglio — all city or league titlists — were the selections.

With one less event than other classes, Kiddie moving up to varsity, and Miner a double winner, the Cee team was limited to five selections.

All All-City boys may pick up their emblems at the I, P-T sports office any day from 8 a.m. to midnight, except Sunday (5 p.m. to midnight).

HONORABLE MENTION

Varsity: Durnin (Wilson), Langner (Jordan), Lepault (Lakewood). Relay: Batsille, Duncan, Logan, all Millikan. Bees: Tilley (Lakewood), Sandler (Jordan), Bordewich (Millikan). Relay: Steinknecht, Wilkes, both Millikan).

Cees: Osborn (Poly), Celero (Lakewood), Davidson (Lakewood), Maurstad (Lakewood), Omdahl (Millikan). Relay: Park (Wilson).

Ryun Runs Prep Record 3:58.3 Mile

Compiled from Wire Reports

Jim Ryun of Wichita, Kansas, became the first high school runner to better four minutes in a prep mile race Saturday as he raced to a 3:58.3 clocking for an interscholastic record.

The 18-year-old 1,500 meter Olympic entrant at Tokyo bettered the 4:02 mark he set two weeks ago at Hutchinson, Kan.

World pole vault record holder Fred Hansen, who soared 17-4 in the U.S.-Russia meet last July, retired Saturday from further competition to devote his time to dentistry.

* * * *

HANSEN tabbed two prep competitors who might surpass his record efforts. Paul Wilson, current Interscholastic record holder at 16-6½, and teammate Bob Steinhoff from Warren High are the prospects.

Oregon, paced by Neal Steinhauer's double weight victory, won its 12th successive Pacific Eight Northern Division championship, while Kansas edged Oklahoma, 100-91, to give outgoing coach Bill Easton his 12th team crown in 14 years of Big Eight competition.

49ers Sweep Fresno, Finish 2nd in CCAA

FRESNO — Twenty-eight-year-old Ed Perry closed out his collegiate baseball career in sparkling fashion as Long Beach State won a doubleheader from Fresno State, 6-4, 13-9, to complete a three-game series sweep here Saturday.

A Most Memorable Round of Golf

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—He's in the tree! He's in the lake! He's all over the place! It is Superman? Two Supermen?

It may have looked like it at times from where the two local swingers were shooting from, but it actually turned out to be one of the most unusual, albeit memorable, golf matches I've witnessed in some time.

After finishing with the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas, we took part of our vacation for a quick trip to this part of the country and a visit with my ol' buddy, Walt Ditzen.

WALT DITZEN
Cartoonist Up a Tree

You know Walt, the author of the great sports cartoon feature, Fan Fare, which runs in The Independent.

The furthest thing from my mind was golf . . . but we ran smack into the match of the ages upon arriving here. And we must admit that we ultimately saw things one would never believe possible on a golf course. Even the experts couldn't come up with shots like some we witnessed—even if they tried to hit 'em that way.

For instance, there was Walt's beautiful drive that landed on the top of a palm tree and balanced there, refusing to drop down (see picture). Another drive went into a neighboring backyard where it became an unplayable lie in the swimming pool because the swimmers were declared natural hazards.

Walt was scheduled to meet Earl Shipp, a gracious and leading local businessman, in a second round handicap match in the Mountain Shadows Country Club championship on the afternoon of what was to be our day of sightseeing since it was our first trip to the area.

I dropped Walt at the club, but decided to wait around until they teed off. This was so classic, I tagged along for a couple of holes . . . and finally wound up gallerying the whole darned match.

On No. 8, Walt said, "Hey, I thought you were going to pick up the girls and look the town over?"

"Yeah, but this is too good to miss," I explained.

ACTUALLY, THE BEST PART of the match was when Walt and Mr. Shipp were called to the first tee.

Host pro Jimmy Cotter, whose next tour appearance will be in the West Open, and Chuck Cronrath, manager of the adjacent Mountain Shadows hotel, one of the most beautiful resorts in the country, joined them to make a foursome.

Then, Jerry McLain, one of Del Webb's top executives and a fine photographer in his own right, rode up in a golf cart loaded with cameras. Turning to Walter, he said that Life magazine had wired him to cover the match.

Jerry then handed me a blank piece of paper, explaining that Life had heard I was in town and had requested I serve as the official scorer and referee.

Walt, of course, laughed . . . but the needle struck home anyway, in the wrong man. Mr. Shipp's eyes were as big as half-dollars, not knowing what to make of all this.

HE HAD JUST TAKEN UP golf a short while ago and this was his initial taste of competition . . . and his first "gallery."

I'm sure that any of you who play golf can appreciate his feelings and thoughts as the gallery began to grow.

I've gone through the same thing. And in that situation, while you're hoping and praying you won't shank one in front of all the onlookers, getting off the first tee is the roughest part of all.

And it was obvious that Mr. Shipp was completely "psyched out" when he was given the honors and stepped up to tee off. We never did find the ball he hit.

Since the wind was blowing pretty good that day, Walt played it "safe"—either by accident or design; he would never admit which—by rolling his tee shot down the short fairway of the 95-yard, par three hole onto the green, sank the putt for a deuce to go 1-up.

MOUNTAIN SHADOWS, by the way, is the new type of golf course proving so popular at many of the nation's leading resorts. It is only 2,865 yards long and par is 56. Nestled at the foot of the area's famed Camelback Mountain, it is long enough and tricky enough with its lakes, streams, ponds, sand traps, "swimming pools," trees, etc., to be a fine test of golf . . . but still enough so that the average players don't have to knock themselves out on a long, tough layout.

To make a long story short, Walt pulled out to a 4-up lead on the front side, but Mr. Shipp pulled himself together on the back nine and whittled away at the deficit until he was only one down going into No. 18.

But his ball then took a bad hop and rolled under the only bush within 50 yards of the hole . . . and that was that.

Walt not only won, 2-up, but he lost only one ball, found four. "That had to make it my best round in years," he said.

Mr. Shipp's comment: "What an experience!"

You can say that again!

CCAA Sets New Ceiling on Grid Aid

Feared Breakup of Loop Quelled at Summit Meet

FRESNO — The feared breakup of the California Collegiate Athletic Association was quelled Saturday when college representatives voted unanimously to set a $45,000 limit on athletic aid expenditures.

The six members agreed also that when the ruling takes effect in 1967, a maximum of $25,000 of that total may be spent on athletic scholarships. This also squelched rumors that certain league members might de-emphasize their football programs.

"We feel the CCAA will be a healthier league now," said Dr. Walter Crowe, Long Beach State College athletic director.

"Fresno and San Diego will have to pull back gradually because they would exceed this figure while Valley State and Cal Poly (SLO) will have to come up. Right now our budget is $23,000 for grants while our over-all total expenditures are around $35,000.

* * * *

"WE WERE in favor of the $25,000 ceiling. We have a couple of years to see how everything works out before the new ruling takes effect.

"Actually we, along with Los Angeles, were caught in the middle of this financial aid business. But I think now the league will pull together and we'll certainly have more consistency," said Crowe.

Wood's Blow Tops Chiefs

OXNARD—Larry Wood cracked a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give Oxnard a 4-2 win over Lakewood in a Western Softball Conference game Saturday night.

The win was Oxnard's second against three losses in league play, while Lakewood is now 3-2.

Pro Tennis Giants Set to Go

By BOB MARTIN

Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Pancho Gonzales — the Big Three of the tennis world—head a field of 10 great professional players who'll be seeking first prize money in the $15,000 Masters Round Robin Tournament opening Monday night in Los Angeles.

The eight-day meet will be held at the new Pan Pacific Tennis Stadium, 7600 Beverly Blvd.

Laver is the hottest thing in tennis today, having won five of seven tournaments this year. Rosewall has been king of the pros the last three years and Gonzales for eight years before him.

There will be round robin play the first six days, with the field divided into two brackets. The top two in each bracket will qualify for Sunday's semifinals.

Gonzales, Rosewall, Pancho Segura, Luis Ayala and Mal Anderson are in one bracket. In the other are Laver, Andres Gimeno, Earl Buchholz, Alex Olmedo and Mike Davies.

All except Gonzales are scheduled to play in charity exhibition matches starting at 1:30 p.m. today at the Jack Kramer Club in Rolling Hills Estates.

The Masters schedule:

MONDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Rosewall vs. Anderson; Laver vs. Olmedo; doubles match; Segura vs. Ayala.

TUESDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Gonzales vs. Anderson; Laver vs. Gimeno; doubles match; Buchholz vs. Olmedo.

WEDNESDAY, 7:30 p.m. — Rosewall vs. Ayala; Segura vs. Gonzales; doubles match; Davis vs. Gimeno.

THURSDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Gimeno vs. Olmedo; Laver vs. Buchholz; doubles match; Anderson vs. Ayala.

FRIDAY, 7:30 p.m. — Segura vs. Anderson; Rosewall vs. Gonzales—doubles match; Buchholz vs. Davies.

SATURDAY, 1:30 p.m.—Davies vs. Olmedo; Gonzales vs. Ayala; doubles match.

SATURDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Gimeno vs. Buchholz; Rosewall vs. Segura; doubles match; Laver vs. Davies.

SUNDAY, 1:30 p.m. — Semifinals, singles and doubles.

MONDAY, May 24, 7:30 p.m.—Finals, singles and doubles.

BEAMING TEXAN
Defending national driving champion A. J. Foyt has reason for broad smile as he climbs from cockpit of his Lotus racer following record-breaking 161.233 mph qualifying run for 500.

FOYT--

as he followed Foyt on the track and beat Andretti's time to grab the outside spot in the three-car front row for the race.

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., winner of the pole in 1962 and 1963, had the top speed among the first 10 qualifiers but wound up in the middle of the second row between Andretti and Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C.

Foyt, Clark, Gurney and Jones all drove Lotus-Fords, and Andretti's car also is Ford-powered. Foster's is a rear-engine Offenhauser.

Clark's 1964 records—158.828 for the 10 miles and 159.377 for one lap — had appeared doomed on the basis of practice speeds.

Jones came close at 158.625. Then Andretti brought the crowd up with a roar by edging over the record at 158.849, with a fast lap at 159.405.

* * * *

THERE was scarcely time to sit down before Clark took the records back, averaging 160.729 with all four laps over 160, the fastest at 160.973.

Then Foyt hit 161.958 on his first lap.

Gurney was out next, and cranked up his Lotus-Ford to 158.898.

Qualifications will continue today and next Saturday and Sunday, and only the 33 fastest cars will start the race.

Record 12,203 See Drag-Bomp

Tom McEwen of Long Beach, driving the Yeakel Plymouth special dragster won top speed honors Friday at the Drag-Bomp at Lions Drag Strip.

The Mongoose blasted to 205.46 and an elapsed time of 7.79 seconds to garner top speed and low time for the evening.

A crowd of 12,203, largest in the 10-year history of the strip, also saw Bob Brown of Palos Verdes grab top gas eliminator title. He drove his supercharged Chrysler dragster to 189.36 mph and an elapsed time of 8.34 seconds.

James Warren of Bakersfield defeated Seane Schubert of Anaheim to win top fuel eliminator, clocking 198.66 mph.

The two-day bomp concludes today starting at 9 a.m.

Today's program will not only boast top notch match races with some of the Southland's best drivers trying to get a part of the more than $12,000 in prize money, but there will be added sidelights.

ED (BIG DADDY) Roth will unveil his revolutionary "Yellow Fang" delta-shaped beauty in a series of exhibition runs.

The KFWB disc jockeys will add a note of humor to the whole affair when they stage an impromptu drag race Sunday at halftime. It is promised to be one of the program's highlights with Bomp National Trophy queen April Stevens judging the whole affair.

The famed "Ace of Clubs" Motorcycle Club will put on a display of award winning precision riding during the halftime.

Hogle Wins Midget Race

Bob Hogle of Buena Park utilized the pole position to his advantage Saturday night as he led from wire to wire to capture the 50-lap United USAC midget championship at Ascot Park.

Hogle withstood a challenge to Allen Heath of Northridge late in the race to win by one car length.

Main event (50 laps)—Hogle, Heath, Colby Scroggins (Eagle Rock), George Benson (San Jose), Johnny Moorhouse (Santa Ana). 15:43.44.
Semi-main (10 laps)—Henderson, Billy Vukovich (Fresno), Ed Johns (Monterey Park), Bob Yelley (Los Angeles). 3:08.38.
Trophy dash (5 laps)—Heath, Scroggins, Lowell Sachs (San Diego), Tom Trader (Hanford). 52.07.30.
Attendance—2,957.

Durade Returns After Big Flip

Super modified point leader George Durade will try to bounce back from near tragedy today when he goes off as the favorite in the California Auto Racing main event at Ascot Park.

Durade narrowly escaped serious injury in his last outing when he flipped his Cobra-powered car five times.

Also on the card is a 50-car stock car race with Clem Proctor and Jim Cook heading up the field. Stock car racing starts at noon with the first super modified race at 2.

Hawks Rap Errant Downey

By CHUCK MEDICK

The Long Beach Nitehawks scored seven unearned runs Saturday night at Imperial Park and handed the Downey Impalas a 7-2 defeat in Western Softball Congress play.

The Hawks erupted for five runs in the fourth inning as the Impalas committed three errors afield.

Don Sarno went the route for the Hawks, allowing seven hits, two more than the Hawks garnered off the combined offerings of Bob Wills and Bert Verdugo.

The Nitehawks now have a 3-4 record in league play while the Impalas are 2-4.

Ashe Wins AAWU Net Title

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe of UCLA overcame a disastrous first set Saturday to whip second-seeded Tom Edlefsen of Southern California and win the championship of the AAWU tennis tournament.

Edlefsen pounded his fellow Davis Cupper, 6-0, in the first set, but Ashe rebounded to win the last two sets, 6-4, 11-9.

Edlefsen, however, teamed up with Jerry Cromwell of USC to take the doubles crown from Ashe and Ian Crookenden of UCLA, 7-5, 7-5.

UCLA, which clinched the team title Friday, wound up with 18 points to 15 for USC, 5 for California and Stanford, 2 for Washington and 1 for Oregon State.

In the singles semifinals Saturday, Ashe topped teammate Dave Sanderlin, 12-10, 4-6, 6-2. Edlefsen mowed down Crookenden, 6-4, 6-3.

Fresh Water Suit Nears Settlement

By GEORGE WEEKS

A three-year-old suit to conserve underground fresh water in Southeast Los Angeles County is scheduled for final settlement this week in superior court.

The suit has already had the effect of reversing the depletion of natural supply, raising the water table in the Long Beach area by as much as 40 feet, General Manager Brennan S. Thomas of the Municipal Water Department reports.

That was accomplished by a voluntary interim agreement under which owners of more than 75% of the 85 billion gallons of annual pumping rights reduced their pumpage by 20%.

* * * *

THE HEARING scheduled for Monday before Superior Court Judge Edmund Moor in Los Angeles is intended to formalize and expand the agreement by court order.

If granted, the order will apply to pumping by owners of more than 1,000 wells, including cities from Montebello to Long Beach and La Mirada to Los Angeles, as well as water districts, public utilities and industries.

The case was filed Jan. 2, 1962, for the Central and West Basin Water Replenishment District. Technically, Long Beach is a defendant, one of more than 1,400. Actually the Municipal Water Department has worked toward the limitation on water overdrafts and was an early signer of the interim agreement that went into effect in October, 1962.

Other agencies have since signed the agreement. The city of Los Angeles, although not a formal signer, has cooperated to bring effectiveness of the cutback to 91%, according to water officials.

* * * *

A FORMAL court order would make the reduction almost 100% effective and on a permanent basis, subject to adjustment to meet changing conditions.

Also a backer of the adjudication is the Central Basin Municipal Water District, with offices at 7439 E. Florence Ave., Downey. It acts as an agent in buying water from the Metropolitan Water District and supplying it to 21 cities which are not MWD members.

Among the Central Basin District members are Bell, Bell Gardens, Bellflower, Commerce, Cudahy, Dairy Valley, Downey, Hawaiian Gardens, Huntington Park, Lakewood, La Mirada, Lynwood, Maywood, Montebello, Norwalk, Pico Rivera, Santa Fe Springs, Signal Hill, South Gate, Vernon and Whittier. With adjacent county territory, they have a population of 1.25 million.

As a charter member of MWD, Long Beach gets its supplemental suppply direct from that agency.

L.B. MAN'S VIEW OF FUTURE

Monorail With Wings

By BILL DUNCAN

Visualize for a moment a rapid transit system with wings, speeding across the Southland at 150 miles an hour clinging to a single rail.

That may be the rapid transit of the future.

It is more than a dream with Bill Spellman, a 64-year-old retired Long Beach automotive electrician, who has a working model of an air-rail that will let commuters fly between Long Beach and Los Angeles with one foot on the ground.

SPELLMAN, of 2146 Maine Ave., has designed a monorail with wings, that could, he believes, provide rapid transit for the Southland faster and more economically than models now proposed. It could speed a commuter from Long Beach to Los Angeles in 10 to 12 minutes, he predicts.

What he envisions, however, goes beyond the immediate need for a Southland rapid transit system. He sees his design as a practical revolution in rail transportation with the winged rail system spanning the United States.

He has built a mockup of the rail system in his garage, cluttered with other inventions he has made over the years.

"I HAVE worked toward this design for 25 years, changing the plans as I went along," he says. "It is now perfected and ready for development."

The design calls for:

—A maximum speed of 120 miles an hour, with commuting speeds of 65 miles per hour.

—Rails of thick-walled steel pipe. Two of the cylinder rails are used in the design, built one over the other.

— Retractable wings that fan out in open country to create a reserved air foil which will result in downward pressure to hold the train on the track at high speeds.

—Cars built like an airplane cabin with an aluminum skin.

— A retractable sky hook that will lift the car onto an overhead rail for switching and for loading and unloading passengers.

— Powered by electricity with an air compressor booster for takeoffs.

SPELLMAN sees the air-rail built along existing rights-of-way such as the freeway banks, flood control channel banks, existing unused railroad rights-of-way and even alongside bridges.

The rails would be 10 to 40 feet above the ground. Depots could be built at second story window levels in the larger buildings in metropolitan centers, he says.

"The air-rail, because it is electrically powered, would be smogless," he points out.

WHAT MAKES Spellman's design different from other monorail conceptions?

"It would be safer," he says. "I have stressed safety factors above all else."

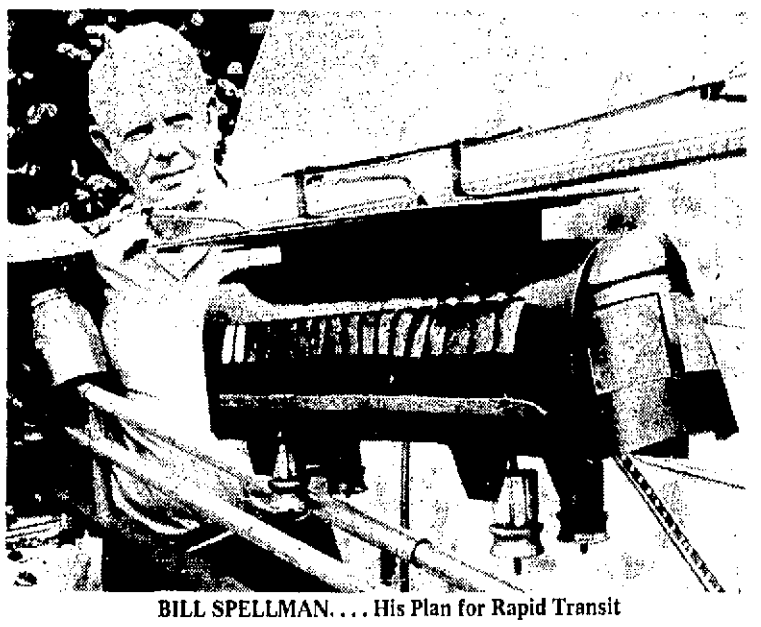

The air-rail, powered electrically, would have reduced currents to slow down the streamliner on curves and at points where the vehicle would be stopping or switching.

"The monorails in operation today skid or lurch around corners and the models with overhead tracks are prone to sway in high winds," he points out. "That is why I have designed the air-rail with the rail on the bottom and dual rails to give it more stability."

THE FIXED wing, with air pressure rushing over and under, gives the vehicle more stability, he says. The dual wheels, to be made of hard plastic coated magnesium, will be controlled by hydraulics. They are fashioned to grip the steel rails.

Spellman has developed the aero-rail, but his biggest problem is still ahead —selling it.

Name Chef County's Oustanding Worker

L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

A 58-year-old San Pedro chef has been named by the Los Angeles County Employes Association as outstanding county employe of the year—the first Negro to win the honor.

He is Ralph M. White, 832 Upland Ave., head cook for county probation camps Kilpatrick and Miller in Malibu.

RALPH M. WHITE
San Pedro Worker

The citation noted his "conscientious, dedicated and exemplary" work and praised him for "identifying closely with the therapeutic goals of the camp" through his work with juvenile delinquents.

White has been in county service for 17 years. For nine years, he has been a Civil Defense block warden, and for 16 years has served as a neighborhood counselor and job-finder for former inmates of the probation camps.

He is active in San Pedro's Foursquare Church and participates in the International Businessmen's Fellowship, which performs charity and missionary work in India, Nigeria, Japan and Haiti.

White has sponsored many immigrants from Haiti, obtaining jobs for them, finding them housing and guaranteeing that they will not become a public charge.

"Often he pays for their needs out of his own modest funds," the citation stated.

Population Growth Expert Speaks at LBSC Monday

Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar of India, authority on population growth problems, will speak at Long Beach State College at 8 p.m. Monday.

Chandraskehar, a visiting professor of sociology at the University of California at Riverside, is India's leading demographer, a member of the upper house of Parliament and director of the Indian Institute of Population Studies.

Chandarsekhar's lecture in Science Building 1-141 is sponsored by the college's General Honors Program and the National Science Foundation In-Service Institute in Biology.

The speaker is the former director of Demographic Research in Paris for UNESCO. His latest book is "Red China: An Asian View."

NAACP Fetes Anniversary of Desegregation Ruling

Members of the Long Beach branch of the National Association of Colored People will observe Freedom Sunday today—the 11th anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision on school desegregation.

A panel discussion of the federal government's anti-poverty program, open to all, will be presented at 1490 California Ave. at 3 p.m.

Participants include George Logan, Long Beach Community Welfare League; Earnest Preacely, Long Beach Community Improvement League; and a representative of the Los Angeles County Welfare Department.

Local NAACP President Earnest B. Campbell called for all persons sympathetic to the civil rights movement to rededicate themselves "to the task of securing freedom from discrimination in voting, employment and housing" on this anniversary.

"The NAACP may well be proud of the major part it played in bringing about the Supreme Court desegregation decision . . . thereby setting the legal precedent for eliminating bigotry and ignorance in our democratic society," Campbell said.

Cmdr. R. E. Lee Exchange Club Speaker

Cmdr. Robert E. Lee, USN logistic officer, staff commander Mine Force, U.S. Pacific Fleet, will speak on "Logistic Support of Mine Countermeasures Ships" at the Long Beach Exchange Club luncheon Wednesday, at the Lafayette Hotel.

Commander Lee's present assignment is the responsibility, under the Force Commander, for the technical, administrative and financial support of 43 mine countermeasures ships and 46 boats and service craft.

Col. Wayne Fitzgerald, USAF (Ret) is chairman of the day. Frank Bowman, Club President, will preside.

P&G Wins Safety Award

The National Manufacturing Chemists' Association has awarded a certificate of achievement to the Long Beach Procter & Gamble plant for a 100% on-the-job safety record during 1964.

95 to Study in Sweden in Summer

Ninety-five American college students, including 27 from Long Beach State College, will attend classes at the University of Uppsala this summer as part of the Swedish school's third International Summer Session.

Courses in Scandanavian literature, history and political science, and elementary Swedish will be offered. The classes will be conducted in English.

Students from all parts of the country participate but the greatest number from any one school thus far, has been from Long Beach State.

M. R. Rutherford, coordinator of international programs at State, said "inspiration for the Uppsala summer program is an honor shared by Dr. Lars Ahnebrink of Uppsala, who was a guest lecturer at Long Beach in 1961, and Dr. Frank Nelson, of LBSC's English Department, who some years ago helped in establishing the University of Oslo International Summer School, administered by St. Olaf College in Minnesota."

The Uppsala program, launched in 1963, is administered in this country by Long Beach State. The recruiting also is done here.

Running Day for Azure Te

By ERNIE MASON

If Pfc. Jerry Lambert's race-riding specialties ever infiltrate his heavy weapons company, his battalion commander may lead their next charge riding in a rear-engine, cut-down sports coupe.

Lambert, who spends his Saturdays on the race track and his weekdays soldiering at Hunter Liggett Reservation in Northern California, jumped aboard another souped-up speedster from the Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Shapiro Stable, Azure Te, at Hollywood Park and guided the bay son of Nashville to a two-length victory in the 14th running of the $28,500 Debonair Stakes in 1:09⅘.

Chiclero held on for a nose verdict over favored Nasharco in the battle for second, while slow-starting Ky. Front turned in an amazing performance to take fourth in the field of 10.

* * * *

BLASTING from the barrier like a shot, Azure Te had a two-length bulge on his rivals before the other riders had a chance to look for a position.

It was a three-horse race for the entire six furlongs, but the only battle was for the runner-up spot. Chiclero and Nasharco were head-and-head down the backstretch and into the far turn.

But when Ken Church, trapped down on the inside aboard the favorite, realized he needed clear running room, he took back off his tenacious rival and swung to the outside.

Alvaro Pineda did his best to cut away at Azure Te's margin with Chiclero but not only couldn't gain on the leader in the drive but he wilted badly in the final studies, and narrowly held on to the place prize. Nasharco closed strongly once in the clear and just missed the runner-up spot.

Azure Te, in winning his initial added money event, paid $19.40, $8 and $4.60 across the board. Chiclero returned $7.40 and $4.40 and Nasharco paid $3 to show.

Martindale, Devlin Move Ahead by 1

Nicklaus Takes 72, Slips to Fourth for Final Round

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Australian Bruce Devlin sank a 60-foot putt on the final hole for a 67 while Bill Martindale ran in three long snakers for a 68 Saturday to go ahead of Jack Nicklaus and take the lead in the $100,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Devlin and Martindale had 54-hole scores of 204, 12 under par for three trips around the 7,020-yard, par-72 Lakewood course. They had a one stroke margin over Dick Mayer, 1957 National Open champion, who came out of obscurity with a brilliant 66 for 205.

Nicklaus fell into a chipping and putting slump after two strong rounds and shot an even par 72, tieing at 206 with Phil Rodgers, a 68-shooter for the third round.

* * * *

BIG JACK went 45 holes before he finally had a bogey.

Arnold Palmer managed to scrape out a 70 for 213, leaving him well back going into Sunday's final round.

Another favorite, British Open champion Tony Lema, withdrew because of a bad back after playing nine holes.

Ram, Bruin Golfers Eye CIF Crown

By JOHN CASH

From what started in 1938 as a putting and driving contest, the CIF team golf championships has grown more rapidly than any other prep sport with respect to entries.

Millikan High plays host to the 1965 team championships Monday, May 24. This year's field is so large that coach Jim Haddy of Millikan, in charge of preparations, says he will have players tee off from both the first and tenth tees beginning at 8 a.m. at El Dorado Golf Club.

There are 41 leagues in the CIF Southern Section with 24 of them sending team representatives to the tourney.

* * * *

SIX TEAMS appear to have an excellent chance of grabbing the top spot. Host Millikan and co-Moore League titlist Wilson rate evenly with defending champion San Marcos, Suburban League entrants La Serna and La Mirada and San Gabriel Valley League winner California.

The Rams have a dual match record of 12-2-1 compared to Wilson's 13-3.

AAWU Golf Crown to Troy's Finger

PALM DESERT (AP)—Southern California's Sherman Finger successfully defended his AAWU golf title Saturday, and USC repeated as the team winner.

Finger shot a 72-hole total of 286, three strokes better than teammate Jerry Pruess.

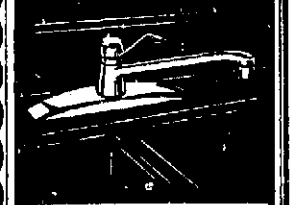

Other top finishers:
Terry Harlshorn, UCLA, 293. Jim Rhelm, Stanford, 294, Dave Ledbetter, UCLA, 298, Rick Rhoades, USC, 299, and John Hedlund, Oregon, 299.

Cal Outrows UCLA

VALLEJO (AP) — California defeated UCLA by a length in varsity rowing over the sheltered Mare Island channel Saturday. Cal is undefeated and UCLA was until this race.

CONTROVERSIAL CHARGE TO WIRE

lengths ahead of him, Tom Rolfe started to fly. Coming into the stretch, Swift Ruler, second in the early stages, took the lead as Turcotte took Tom Rolfe to the outside to launch his successful drive through the stretch.

Halfway down the straightway, the Kentucky-bred colt had pulled clear but a big threat had generated on the rail.

Saving ground by hugging the rail, Dapper Dan moved up from sixth place. As he charged along the rail, Tom Rolfe moved over.

It appeared at the outset that something might be wrong with Lucky Debonair who failed to run "no more than a quarter mile," said jockey Willie Shoemaker. The colt had a swollen ankle two days earlier but trainer Frank Catrone had pronounced him ready for the race after the swelling had subsided.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Conservative approach best today, especially where partnership, investments enter picture. Finish project. Accept responsibility, and you grow in dignity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Consult mate or partner before taking impulsive action. Obtain hint from today's Taurus message. Keep communication lines open. Be receptive to intelligent suggestions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Be aware of those who depend upon you. Means pets or family may require special attention. Exercise independence, originality. Fine time for visiting one who is confined.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good lunar aspect highlights pleasure, children. Don't argue with well-meaning friend. State position in fair but firm manner. Relax! Key is patience.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Give attention to home, family affairs. Good day for special occasion honoring associates . . . perhaps for entertaining boss! Check details. Be patient with loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Time to stick close to home base, if possible. Cooperate with in-law, other relatives. Battling over minor matters will only drain emotional strength.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be aware of need for repairs. Check budget. Realize some expenditures may be necessary —now. Even minor changes can give satisfaction. Examine various possibilities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Maintain steady pace. Don't rock the boat! Means control tendency to make sudden changes. Give attention to home, family, possessions. Highlight tact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take comfort by realizing conscience is reliable guide. Adhere to principles. You gain through quiet day. Read—absorb knowledge for future opportunity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Remain on familiar ground. Applies especially to friends. Stick with the tried-and-true. Avoid those who whine, complain. Be with pals who make you happy.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Your response to unusual actions important. Conservative course best now. Certain situations must be accepted . . . but don't hide head in sand. Be frank.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . your are sincere, dedicated, interested in history and you are extremely perceptive.

GENERAL TENDTNCIES: Cycle high for Sagittarius, Capricorn. Special word to Gemini: Attitude of cooperation gains much.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Avoid rushing. Indirect approach gets best results. Face long-standing problem. Discussion with mature individual pays dividends. Keep feet on ground!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Trying to hide facts may create delay. Explore the unknown. Delve deep to find the answers. Checking with special advisor helps. Be aware and you reap dividends.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Day to take initiative . . . utilize versatile approach. Show others you can laugh at yourself. Foibles of one you admire soon become evident. But don't cast first stone!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Go slow. Realize those who serve you may be shy, apprehensive. Be understanding. Fine example, tolerance of limitations in others reveals your strength. Think!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Obtain hint from today's Gemini message. Try various methods—experiment. Good lunar aspect highlights love, romance, excitement. Key is action.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Abrupt possible changes possible. Be ready with alternative methods. Don't force issues. Compromise if necessary. Bide your time. Answers will come later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Some ideas need more attention. May be wise to rewrite letters and reports. Your forces may be scattered. Finish one thing at a time . . . in quiet contemplation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Fine time for repairs, domestic adjustment. Day to "mend fences." You gain through help, cooperation. Not time for making demands. Steady pace now means progress later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Look behind the scenes . . . read between the lines. Check facts. Be sure. Don't be victim of false pride. Cycle high. But self-respect, confidence required.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Being quiet within now provides inspiration. You learn, and set pattern for accomplishment. Many want your opinions. You gain by being discreet, retiring and cooperative.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Obtain hint from today's Aries message. Put finishing touches on pet project. Relatives, associates need time to understand your motives. Don't argue. Be reasonable!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Seek quality by trading on experience. Don't be impressed with tinsel, boastful claims. Be aware of domestic problems. You move ahead if not over-anxious.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you can expect many opportunities to come your way. You are person who thrives on testing, loving, experimenting.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius. Special word to Cancer: Key is being perceptive. Offer aid to worried friend.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Great Fishing in Northern Area

The outdoor writers who went to Redding and surrounding areas last weekend came back with some glowing tales of fishing in Copco Lake, the Klamath River, Shasta Lake, Dwinnell Reservoir (Crowley Lake of the north), Lewiston Lake and the McCloud River arm of Shasta Lake.

Because of a slight illness, I was one of those who stayed at home when the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland Association presented an award to the sportsman of the year. He was Robert Paul McKeehan, chosen by the outdoor writers because of his continuous contribution to the enhancement, preservation and conservation of California's fish and wildlife resources.

Bill Beebe, outdoor editor of the Santa Monica Outlook and sidekick of mine on numerous hunting and fishing trips, doubled for me on the Redding trip, and I am happy to say that he caught the largest fish in Copco Lake on Thursday and the largest trout in the Klamath River above Copco Lake on Friday.

The writers who fished the Klamath River above Copco had no trouble in getting limits of nice, native rainbows from 11 to 18 inches. Copco is privately owned. W. H. (Cliff) Clifford bought it, lock, stock and barrel, and is developing it into a major resort, with private homes, rental cottages, boats and motors.

THE WRITERS FLEW north in a Shell Oil Company plane, a De Haviland Dove, with Paul Jones as pilot and Richard Karshner as host. They landed at the Montague strip and were picked up by Clifford, whose resort is only 19 miles away.

The next day they flew to Redding and went to Kamloops, Inc., camp for a cookout. Jim Ruch, editor of Outdoor California, showed up everybody right at the camp by catching three bass that went about four pounds each. The honor of getting the largest trout went to John Gartner, editor of Western Outdoors, for a 3½-pound brown caught in Shasta Lake.

Right now the tree-lined Shasta at 1,100 feet is full and overflowing at the dam. It covers 29,500 surface acres, the largest body of fresh water in California. There are 24 government campgrounds, several private ones and 365 miles of shoreline.

Shasta has had its poor years in fishing, but this year it's one of the hottest spots in the state for bass, Kamloops trout, brown trout, crappie, bluegill and catfish. There is a good reason for the comeback at Shasta. The Department of Fish and Game planted 900 threadfin shad in the lake in 1961. They have multiplied into the millions and it's the finest forage fish that can be introduced into any water.

OTHER ANGLERS TRIED Lewiston Lake, which is a comparatively small 610-acre body of water just below the big Trinity Lake. They had excellent fishing for rainbows, catching fish that weighed up to one and two pounds.

The Department of Fish and Game has been stocking Lewiston since 1963 and the fish grow rapidly. The water is cold, inasmuch as it is drawn off the bottom of Trinity, now called Clair Engle Lake. In all respect to the late Clair Engle, I still think that it should remain Trinity because its main tributary is the Trinity River. Writers found that lake extremely dirty from rapid runoff and few fish were caught.

Beebe said that there was more snow on Mt. Shasta than had been seen for several years, which means good skiing for the northerners, as well as a late runoff that will benefit Shasta when it starts to recede.

Beebe drew Guy Marschner as a guide. Marschner is well known to many Long Beach residents. Several years ago Guy had a pack-in service at Roads End on the Kern River. Guy now lives in Weed and offers guide service into the Marble Mountain Wilderness area.

Beebe says that the Marble Mountain Wilderness remains virtually untouched because there are so many good fishing streams and lakes at lower levels. The public takes the easy way out and the fish in the Marbles just keep growing.

THERE IS NOW AN official Long Beach Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America, a tremendous conservation organization, especially in the east and midwest. The Long Beach chapter is the first to be organized in California for 10 years.

The chapter was given its charter last night by the state convention of the IWLA in session Friday through today at the Lafayette Hotel. The Long Beach chapter officers are Hal Lowe, president; Ed Mueller, first vice president; Charles Woolverton, second vice president; Gene Gregson, secretary; Robert Briggs, treasurer, and the following directors: Charles McKim, Robert Joy, R. A. Lowe, Frank Black and Donnell Culpepper.

Other charter members are Richard Joy, Kenneth Enga, John Frank, Mel Masterson, Don Waggoner, Johnnie Miller, Dr. N. R. McCoy Sr., Lynn Harschbarger and Clay Hopper.

The officers chartered last night will be replaced in September because that is the month selected for election and installations. Those installed in September will serve for one year.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Analysts Happy at 'Spring Rally'

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market got off to a dull start last week but finished with a substantial gain in the averages and a fairly bullish list. Trading was fairly active.

Some easiness was noted in both Monday's and Tuesday's session but the list closed mixed on both days. A strong spurt pushed the Dow-Jones Industrial average up 3.25 Wednesday and a continuation of the upswing handed the indicator a 4.70 gain Thursday. Friday's session was dull but the average advanced 0.75.

So far the analysts are pleased with the markets progress during what many consider the "spring rally." The inflow of first quarter reports continued to provide sparkling highlights in the list and the economic statistics have lent support.

* * * *

WORRIES bout the future of the economy in the later part of 1965, which gave rise to considerable conjecture around January, seem to have been soothed by the latest statistics.

Last week, Dow Jones Industrials closed up 7.10 at a new peak of 939.62. However, rails skidded 3.89 to 209.50, their lowest level since March 5. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.25 at 90.10.

Trading totaled 29,386,059 shares compared with 29,562,190 shares a week before and 25,374,630 shares in the same week last year.

Gains outnumbered losses 708 to 648 as 1,533 issues crossed the tape. There were 259 new 1965 highs and 88 new lows.

* * * *

CHRYSLER took honors for activity. It advanced 1¾ to 54½ on 696,500 shares. Thursday, Chrysler reported its early May sales were 50% above the 1964 level.

Low priced Lehigh Valley Industries took second place in the active list with a gain of ⅜ at 4⅝ on 460,300 shares. RCA was in third spot with a loss of ⅝ at 36⅜ on 372,800 shares.

A block of 174,000 shares valued at $7.3 million, put Standard Oil of Indiana on the active list. It closed up ¼ at 42¾ on a total volume of 300,000 shares.

Other autos were generally lower. General Motors fell 1⅝ and Ford tumbled 3⅜. Steels were mostly lower. Lukens dropped 1¾, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem 1 each and Youngstown Sheet and Republic fractions.

DuPont was by far the week's biggest gainer. It soared 15½ points.

Eastman Kodak ran into selling pressure for the most part but managed to gain ¼. Union Carbide was also under pressure but advanced ¾.

INTEREST in electronics continued and a number of impressive gains were scored. Texas Instruments advanced 5¾, Admiral 4¾, Electronic Associates 4⅜, National Cash Register 3⅛, Control Data 2⅝, Litton 1½ and Honeywell 1⅜. IBM failed to join the upswing and lost 3½.

Garrison Takes P&O Publicity Position

Troy S. Garrison, formerly director of public relations and advertising for the Port of Los Angeles, has been appointed as public relations director for P & O Orient Line's North American headquarters in San Francisco.

The appointment of the 48-year-old Garrison to the post was announced by Warren S. Titus, president of the company.

Garrison, who headed the Los Angeles Harbor Department's public relations department for 10 years, formerly was public relations representative for the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power.

He has served at various times as chairman of the publicity committee of the Pacific Coast and California Associations of Port Authorities and as West Coast representative on the public relations committee of the Propeller Club of the United States.

Garrison recently moved from his Torrance home to the San Francisco bay area.

IF YOUR GROWING FAMILY IS TIRED OF A REFRIGERATOR TOO SMALL TO BE SENSIBLE... YOU'RE READY FOR...

13.5 BIG CUBIC FEET OF CAREFREE KELVINATOR CONVENIENCE!

... Family-sized, Family-priced refrigerator-freezer with easy automatic defrosting and a spacious 100 pound frozen food section!

40 MONTHS TO PAY!

Yes! With this big beautiful 13.5 cubic foot Kelvinator you'll never feel cramped... you'll have the space you want and need to feed your family better. Save time! Because it holds more than your old refrigerator... you shop less often! Save money! Now you can stock up when your supermarket is running a sale! And that's VALUE for you! Space alone does not make this refrigerator desirable - it offers all the convenience features and quality construction you've been looking for. Note these freezer features... big 100 pound capacity across-the-top-freezer has a separate door for easy access, it's insulated to maintain zero-cold... keeps frozen food, ice-cream and pre-cooked meals safe and fresh longer. There is always ice on hand with two aluminum lever ice trays and, convenient door shelf provides extra storage space for frozen food packages and juice cans... no more digging or stooping for these often-used items.

The refrigerator section is thoughtfully designed for your greatest convenience in everyday use. The upper shelf adjusts to the position that meets your exact storage needs. Porcelain-on-steel 10.3 quart twin crispers have a Clear-view cover shelf that seals in the all-important moisture to keep fruits fresh as dew, vegetables crackling crisp and garden fresh. The double row egg shelf holds 14 eggs safely, compactly. Two high capacity door shelves keep milk cartons, and tall bottles upright and handy at all times. An in-the-door dairy chest stores cheese and keeps butter in its own serving dish. When hands are full how you'll appreciate its unique magnetic door seal, lets doors close easily and tightly, seals cold in, heat out—yet the doors open with a gentle pull for maximum convenience. An important safety feature too... doors also open easily from inside!

THERE IS A KELVINATOR REFRIGERATOR JUST RIGHT FOR YOU!

Whatever the size of your family, whatever your unique food storage needs may be! Have a ball, look at them all... some with automatic defrosting, some with no-frost systems, in almost any size you desire... even under-the-counter models! Then select the one just right for you!

Why You Can Afford New Translucent* Dentures at Dr. Campbell's

*Made with translucent teeth and translucent denture material

the kind which do not have the telltale hard brilliance formerly characteristic of artificial teeth . . . accepted by dentists as the finest for making dentures, the closest imitation of natural teeth.

Dr. F. E. Campbell, dentist, says—

I SAVE YOU MONEY IN THESE TWO WAYS:

1. I buy supplies and equipment at volume prices for 12 dental offices.
2. I save in making each denture because I make so many of all types each day.

MADE IN MY OWN LABORATORY

Each of my 12 offices has its own dental laboratory . . . on its own premises. This works for close professional supervision and for efficiency and economy.

Save Even More With Rebuilt Dentures

For a new fit with your old teeth, have them reset in new translucent material. You save a considerable part of the cost of entirely new dental plates.

EXCELLENT PORTRAYAL

Magnolia Players in Dialect Drama

By RALPH HINMAN JR.

Eight rehearsals back, a handful of regulars at Magnolia Theater took on a chore that curdles the souls of many a Broadway crew.

Theirs was the job of bringing to believable life a dialect play, a French-Canadian "You Can't Take It With You" entitled "The Happy Time," by playwright Samuel Taylor.

A dialect play? "Sacred name of a blue pig!" as several actors would exclaim at appropriate moments.

This weekend they carried it off flawlessly, and more importantly, consistently, through three acts set in Ottawa during the early 1920s.

* * * *

MORE subtle, perhaps, was the perfectionism displayed in those peculiarly Gallic mannerisms which make a Frenchman stand out in a crowd of Anglo-Saxons. A twitch of the nose, a raised eyebrow, sweeping hands — these are the marks of the Gaul, and our cast did them to perfection.

Runaway star of the show was young Chris Kroesen, a Stanford Junior High School eighth grader, portraying a boy at the awkward age, seeking "to learn of truth and love." Without once boo-booing a line, the knickered Chris variously displayed the mawkish toughness, sentimentality and earth integrity of a boy growing up in "a home where there is much love."

This is the story of that home, and of the rollicking people who live there: Maman Susan and Papa Bonnard, the brothers Bonnard, Desmonde, who "chases girls all over Canada," and Louis, "who drinks wine from a water cooler."

* * * *

AND Grandpere Bonnard, a provincial Adolphe Menjou still pursuing "the widow," and of Mignonette, "an acrobat's assistant who really is a chanteuse."

This is their story, or series of anecdotes strung together with crackling, sharp moving dialectic dialog. There is no real plotline—but who needs it when the conversation is so good? The acting so fine?

"The Happy Time"—which is just that for the audience—will continue the next three weekends at the playhouse, 2400 Magnolia Ave.

SAUCY HIT AT OFF-BROADWAY

'Anything Goes' Scores

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

Paced by a rather funny fellow, Jerry Anderson (Moonface Martin), with the pint size and big brashness of a young Mickey Rooney, Off-Broadway's production of Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" went over the top as saucy, irreverent musical entertainment in its opening at 211 Lime Ave., Friday night.

And this in spite of an awkward bridging of scenes, abrupt-ending and punchless singing and dancing here and there, and the show's compact size imposed by its war-on-poverty budget.

The young blond Mr. Anderson, always fast with a quip, is such a delight that without anything approaching a singing voice, he was able to dramatize and clown his way through the notorious Australian Bush Song, "Be Like The Bluebird," so niftily that he nearly walked off with the night's singing honors. But it is as "Moonface, Public Enemy No. 13" eager to get his friends anything they want "wholesale" —with his handy menacing gun — that he made the 1928 (Spring) transatlantic crossing in the musical's routine plot gagworthy, if not seaworthy.

* * * *

IN A PERT, little sex-dish of a girl with a Calamity Jane voice and of brief, compelling attire, Eve Belyea (as Bonnie) Anderson had an able accomplice in crime and charm. Miss Belyea, helped by Anderson and Scot Hunter as Billy Crocker, put a tingling handclasp on the bouncy "Friendship" song.

After that the celebrity hunting transatlantic voyage on Ralph Hunt's sharp sets became quite interesting, thanks to Cole Porter's intricate melodies and accompaniments (which are still far ahead of their time) and thanks to Joan Ririe's remarkable choreography which really "jumped" with the "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" ensemble number. Somewhat listless before, those shapely dancing converts, Virtue (Dona Stovall), Purity (Betty Cooper), Chastity (Linda Terrell), Charity (Barbara Lyda) came alive in this number, well-lighted by Reg Bieberdorf and Phyllis Palmer, and were a lot of fun from then on.

* * * *

ONE OF THE best highlights of the evening was the playing and singing, particularly in that old torch, "I Get a Kick Out of You" by Ann Leverett. Hardly the slinky musical comedy chanteuse, the tall Miss Leverett, as the dulious reformer Reno, used her find dramatic instincts to good appealing effect. She and Anderson would make a nice "Stop the World . . ." team.

Two of the romantic triangular leads, a very beautiful blonde girl, Carolee Waring as Hope Harcourt and Hunter as Crocker, were almost fatally eclipsed by the demanding "Night and Day" number, but proved competent in the dramatic episodes.

* * * *

OTHERS WHO made the trip well—piloted by Director John R. Williams, musical comedy-worthy were romantic lead, good-looking Gordon Elliott as the "fervorless" Englishman, Sir Evelyn Oakleigh, baffled by American sex-slang, Monna High (Mrs. Harcourt) and Robert Saxen (Elisha J. Whitney).

David Pease (Steward), Mike Katcher (Reporter), Mike Katcher (Purser), S. W. McElhone (Captain) and the Chinese "converts"—presumably from Moonface's "Indo China" and "Outdoor China" —David Pease (Ching) and Katcher (Ling) filled in the bit parts in a show which, despite its limitations, should be really swinging by now.

Clyde Edwards (pianist) and Koert Maher (drums) supply the background music.

Honor 250 Grads of Citizenship Class

More than 250 graduates of Long Beach City College citizenship classes, representing 40 countries, will be honored by the Soroptimist Club of Long Beach in a program beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Boyd High School auditorium, Eighth Street and Locust Avenue.

Certificates will be presented to the citizenship graduates by Dr. Wiley D. Garner, president of Long Beach City College, and Dr. William E. Keeley, dean of the LBCC Adult Centers. In charge of program arrangements is Frances Williams, of the Soroptimist Club.

"What American Citizenship Means to Me" will be the topic of two student speakers, Mrs. Martin Booth from Colombia and Floyd Ellis from Canada.

CMDR. WHITEHEAD
'Schweppesman'

Lions Club Will Hear Whitehead

Commander Edward Whitehead, president of Schweppes (USA) Ltd. will address the Downtown Lions Club at noon in the Lafayette Hotel. He will speak on, "The Human Factor . . . How to Succeed in Business by Really Trying."

Chairman of the day will be Martin C. Guley. Charles Novotny will preside.

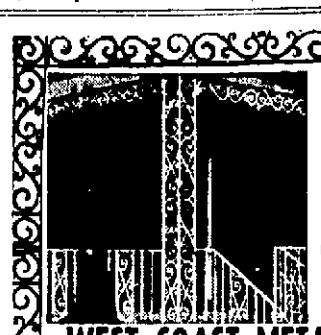

Whitehead, in addition to being president of Schweppes (USA) Ltd., is also chairman of Schweppes (Canada) Ltd., a director of Schweppes (Overseas) Ltd. and of the parent company of all these, Schweppes Ltd. Schweppes Ltd. owns a number of other companies, including L. Rose & Co. Ltd (lime juice) and Chivers-Hartley Ltd. (preserves).

During World War II Whitehead served in the Royal Navy and rose to the rank of Commander.

Compensation Low But Lengthy

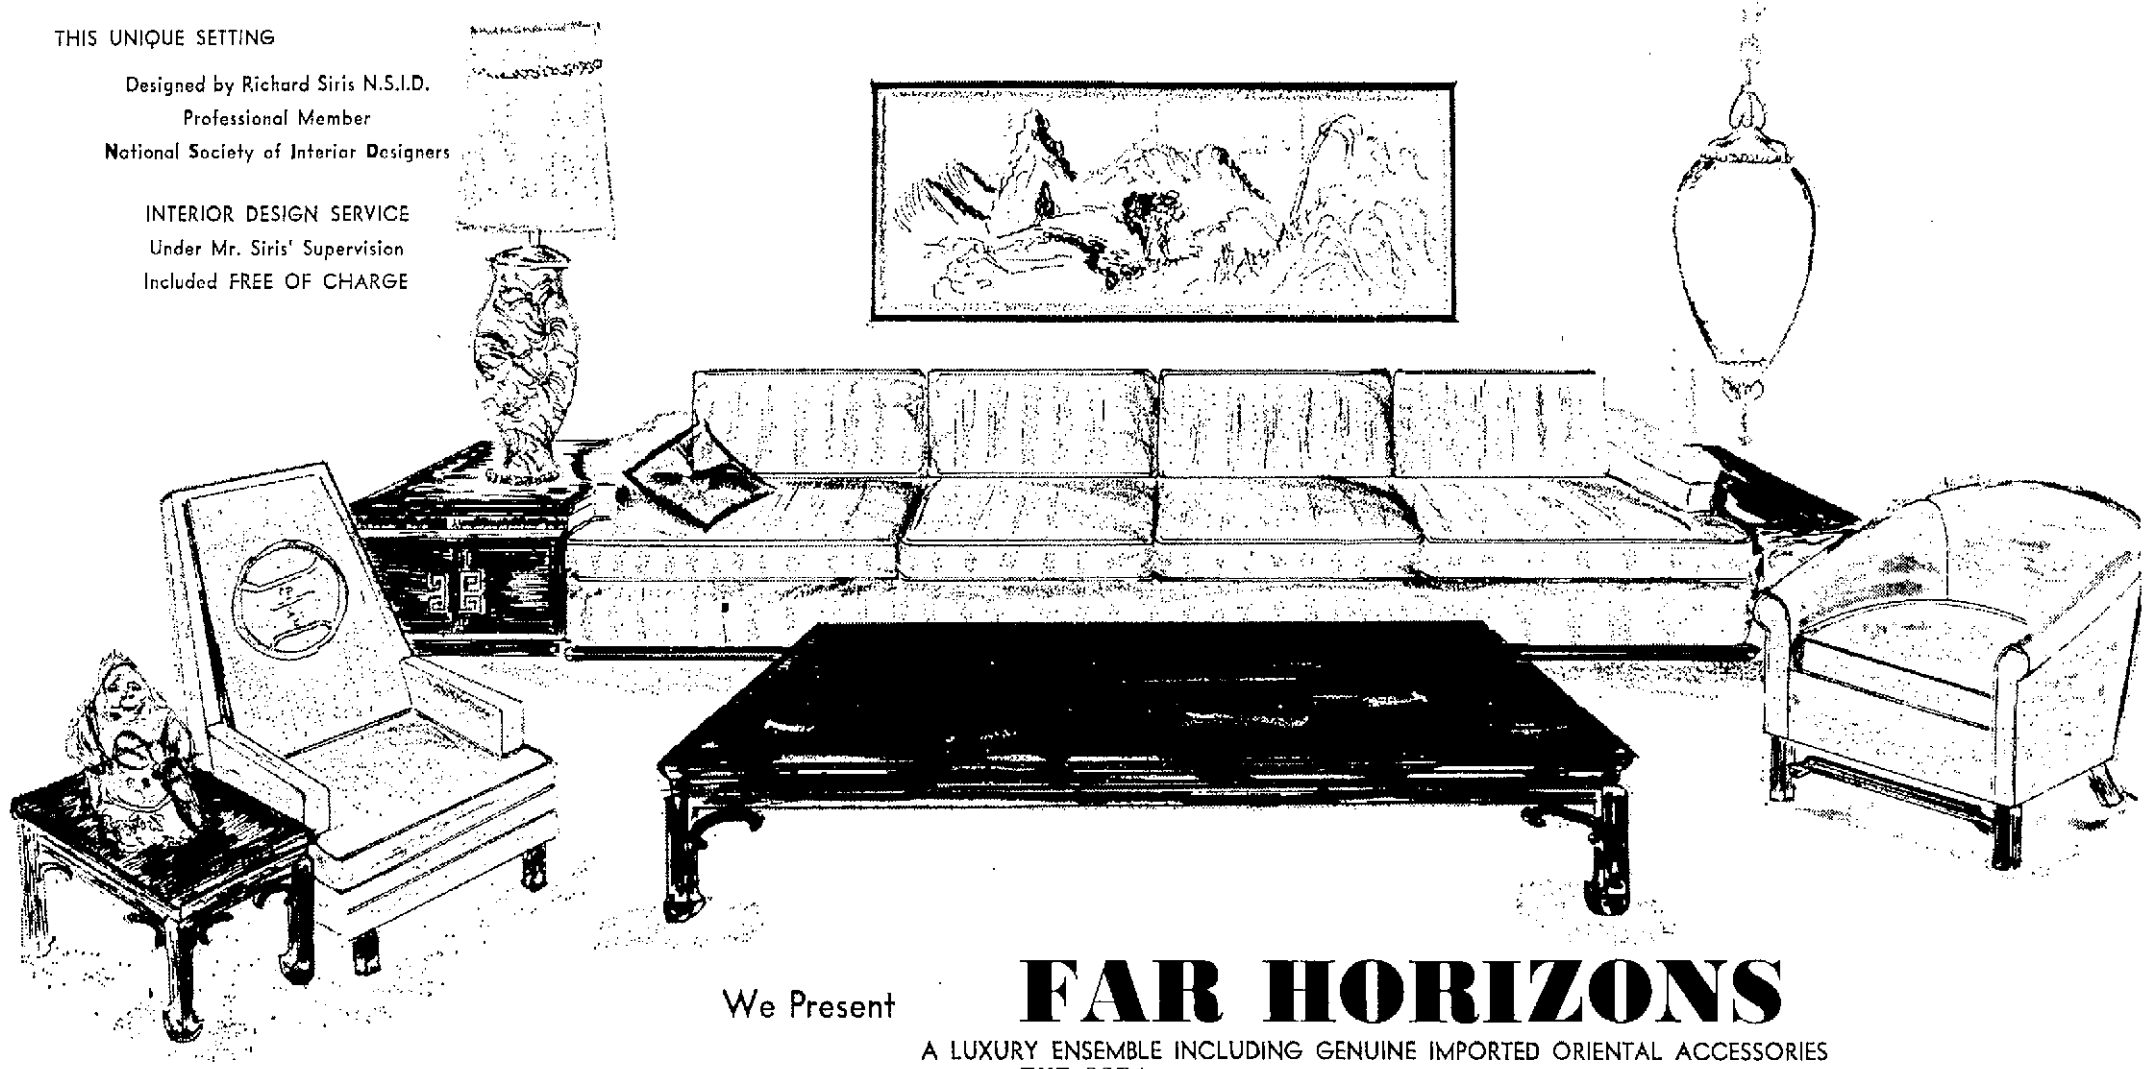

MORTIMER, England (UPI)—John Martin, 77, who lost two toes while working in a quarry 58 years ago, still gets compensation from an insurance company — at the rate of one penny a week.

WHAT A WAY TO GO

Chicago Cubs' Dick Ellsworth slumps in despair after Dodger Al Ferrara's pinch-hit home run in eighth inning cost him shut-out, game—and no-hitter. Dodgers won on single blow, 3-1.

Big Hand for Ferrara... 'e Sure Gave 'em 'ells-worth

By GEORGE LEDERER

A broken hand fractured a no-hitter and broke two hearts at Dodger Stadium Saturday.

Al Ferrara's pinch-hit home run, with one out in the eighth inning, was the only Dodger hit off Dick Ellsworth and it produced a 3-1 victory over the Cubs.

It also produced as much excitement and drama as any edifice — concrete and steel to the contrary—could stand.

For two tension packed hours, the 25-year-old Ellsworth had mesmerized the Dodgers as no one had since Don Larsen pitched his perfect game in the 1956 World Series.

The Long Beach Day crowd of 29,546 had visions of a no-hitter from the fourth inning, when second baseman Glenn Beckert made one of those unbelievable plays that seems to accompany pitching perfection. Beckert, a believer in turnabout is fair play, made a diving stop of Maury Wills's drive to the right of second and threw him out.

In the top half of the fourth, Wills had deprived Doug Clemens of a hit with a similar half-gainer into a dry pool.

After Beckert's effort beyond the call of duty, there wasn't another difficult fielding chance for the Cubs until third baseman Ron Santo erred on Jeff Torborg's bouncer to start the eighth.

Three times Ellsworth had made things difficult for himself with walks, one in the fifth inning and two in the sixth. A double play ended the fifth with Ellsworth having faced the minimum 15 men. He ended the sixth by striking out Wes Parker after walking Dick Tracewski and Wills.

The seventh inning was a breeze. Willie Davis grounded to first, Ron Fairly fanned and Jim Lefebvre flied to center.

Six outs to go for the first regular-season no-hitter against the Dodgers since the late Vern Bickford pitched one for the Boston Braves, Aug. 11, 1950.

Ellsworth got only one of the outs.

Santo, who joined Ellsworth in the lonely and broken-hearts clubhouse of the losers, charged Torborg's leadoff bouncer in the eighth and muffed it.

Ellsworth next blew a chance for an out when he elected to throw to second on Tracewski's sacrifice bunt. His throw was too late to head off pinch-runner Willie Crawford and both runners were safe, Tracewski on a fielder's choice.

John Kennedy sacrificed for Derrell Griffith and now there was one out when there could have been three.

Up stepped Ferrara, batting for winner Bob Miller and for the first time since he broke a bone in his left hand while crashing into the fence at Cincinnati, May 5.

Ferrara took the first pitch for a ball and fouled off the second. It stung and he winced. "It was a good sinker, away," said Ferrara, "and it really hurt."

Ellsworth was hurt more on the next pitch.

Ferrara drove it into the left field lower boxes for his first homer of the year and second in the majors. Both times he broke hearts and no-hit bids by the Cubs.

"This one didn't hurt my hand," said Ferrara. "Not at all. I knew it would have enough distance, but I was worried that it might curve foul. My drives have a tendency to do that. But this one got in by a good margin (about 10 feet). I guess you'd have to say I felt pretty good."

Ferrara, who once aspired to be a concert pianist, never received a bigger ovation, not even in Carnegie Hall, where he played as a teenager.

He hit a fast ball, a bit high, but said he wasn't looking for the particular pitch. "In fact," he said, "I was trying to hit the ball through the middle. That shows you how much I know about this game."

Ironically, Ferrara's first major league hit was against Ellsworth, at Wrigley Field, Aug. 7, 1963, and it helped the Dodgers to a 3-1 win. The next day Ferrara broke up a perfect game by Bob Buhl with a home run in the fifth inning.

* * * *

ELLSWORTH, a 22-game winner in 1963, came close to a no-hitter once before. At least he won that one, 2-0, although Wes Covington of the Phillies spoiled the perfecto by beating out a bunt in the eighth inning.

For a chap who had just met such fate, Ellsworth was extremely pleasant and courteous in the gloom that otherwise filled the Cub-house.

"I was aware of the no-hitter early," he said, "but I certainly didn't feel the pressure. It was a 1-0 game and I was just trying to win it."

He said the fans had tried to rattle him the last time he was in the on-deck circle, "but they didn't bother me. I knew what I had to do. It was close."

Ellsworth had no remorse about pitching to Ferrara, even with first base open after Kennedy's sacrifice. "I had to figure I'd get 'em out. I'd been doing it all day."

Dodgers manager Walter Alston couldn't and wouldn't second-guess the Cubs' strategy. "First base was open, all right, but with only one out and Wills coming up, you had to pitch to him. It isn't easy to double up Wills."

A lot of the Dodgers were doubled up from the gaiety of the sudden turn of events.

"We didn't waste any hits today," said Alston. "I'll say one thing for Al—he hit it pretty good with a broken hand."

Claude Osteen, who started for the Dodgers and again was unlucky in not getting the win, said:

"All I had to do was get out of there. I knew we'd score then."

Alston took out Osteen

ANGELS-DODGERS TRADE HINTED

Dean Chased in First; White Sox Romp, 8-3

By ROSS NEWHAN
I, P-T Staff Writer

CHICAGO — The Windy City continued to blow ill for the Angels Saturday, but there were rumors circulating that the first-ever transaction on a major-league level between the tenant and landlord of Dodger Stadium may be close at hand.

At Comiskey Park, the Cy Young Award took on a speck of rust as Dean Chance lasted but two-thirds of an inning as the White Sox scored four times and then coasted to an 8-3 victory extended their league lead over the Angels to four games.

At the Edgewater Beach Hotel, the Independent, Press-Telegram was told that relief may be near for the beleaguered Angel bullpen which, with Bob Lee drawing a day's rest, was touched for eight hits and four of the Chicago runs Saturday.

* * * *

A HIGH-RANKING Angel official made the following statement to the writer:

"We are extremely interested in Ron Perranoski and we understand Dodger management has become disenchanted with him."

Knowledge of that disenchantment could only come if the subject had been broached by the Angel front office. The I, P-T's source would not divulge what the Angels had or would offer, but money is certainly not one of Walter O'Malley's needs.

While the deadline for inter-league trading has expired, there are clandestine measures through which Perranoski might be underground out of the National League. The Angels and Dodgers have never dealt on a major league level and it is ironic that the first trade could mean a pennant for the tenant and the loss of same for the landlord.

Meanwhile, Chicago breezed to its fifth consecutive victory while rapping 13 hits. The Sox are hardly concerned that Chance might come right back today, for he hardly wore himself out while facing eight batters.

The loss was Dean's second against three victories and his ERA is an unglamorous 3.69. It marked the first time since April 21 of last year that Chance has been removed in the opening round.

Chance was clipped for singles by Danny Cater, Floyd Robinson, Pete Ward, J. C. Martin and a double by Ken Berry. He issued one intentional walk and was hurt by Jim Fregosi's error on a Bill Skowron grounder which might have been converted into a double play, limiting the inning to one run. It was, however, a difficult play and the fourth loss in five games on this trip is Chance's responsibility, not Fregosi's.

Possibly, Chance was shocked by an extravagant two-run lead the Angels supplied in their half of the first round. A walk and singles by Fregosi (who had three hits), Willie Smith and Costen Shockley accounted for the temporary lead off eventual winner Bruce Howard.

Chicago cushioned its lead off Barry Latman, Ron Piche and Aubrey Gatewood, all of whom were touched for runs.

The Angels squandered several opportunities against Howard (3-1) before a blister forced him out of action after five rounds. Hoyt Wilhelm, the amazing knuckleball master, pitched a perfect four innings for his second save.

It will be recalled that Angels manager Bill Rigney protested Friday's game on the grounds that catcher Martin was employing an over-sized mitt to handle another knuckle-ball pitcher, Eddie Fisher.

Clark, Gurney Complete First Row in Indy '500'

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI — Defending champion A. J. Foyt and veterans Jim Clark and Dan Gurney set themselves in the front row for the 500-mile race May 31 with record-blistering qualification runs Saturday.

The three squeezed Mario Andretti into the second row in a furious half-hour after the 25-year-old rookie from Nazareth, Pa., had brought the crowd to a screaming peak of delight by breaking Clark's 1964 records for the qualifying run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Clark, 29-year-old former world champion from Duns, Scotland, followed Andretti on the track and snatched the record back.

* * * *

MINUTES later Foyt, 32-year-old two-time winner of the 500 from Houston, Tex., won the pole position with a scorching average of 161.233 mph for the four trips around the 2½-mile track. His best lap was turned at a record 161.958.

Gurney, 34, Costa Mesa, Calif., went almost unnoticed

'LUCKY' HURT, RUNS OUT

Tom Rolfe Survives Inquiry in Preakness

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Tom Rolfe, driving through the stretch like an express train, survived a foul claim to win the $180,600 Preakness Stakes by a neck Saturday as Lucky Debonair, the Kentucky Derby winner, bucked a shin in the race and finished seventh.

X-rays were to be taken this morning of Lucky Debonair's leg.

Dapper Dan, runner-up in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, again was second with Hail To All third in the field of nine 3-year-olds.

* * * *

IN THE drive to the wire, Dapper Dan streaked down the rail and as he and Tom Rolfe neared the wire Tom Rolfe moved towards the rail. After the race, jockey Ismael Valenzuela claimed a foul against the winner but after viewing films the stewards did not allow it.

It was ruled Valenzuela did not have to stop whipping and driving his horse in the furious finish which saw Tom Rolfe, third in the Kentucky Derby, score by a neck.

It was four long lengths back to Hail To All, who beat Native Charger by another neck in the mile and three-sixteenths event.

Both Tom Rolfe, ridden by Canadian Ron Turcotte, and Dapper Dan, owned by Ogden Phipps of New York, came from out of the clouds.

They were the only two horses running in the closing yards of the second of the Triple Crown classics with Tom Rolfe scooting across the finish line in 1:56⅕, one of the fastest renewals of the Maryland race.

The crowd of 38,108 made Tom Rolfe its second choice and he paid $9.20, $5.00 and $3.80 across the boards. Dapper Dan, denied a Kentucky Derby victory by the same margin by which he lost the Preakness, returned $7.20 and $4.60, while Hail To All paid $5.60.

TOM ROLFE, taken to the rail for a saving of ground soon after the start, was permitted to make his own pace under light restraint for five furlongs, gradually came out from the rail to circle the first flight under intermittent rousing on the final turn and drew clear under heavy right-hand punishment after straightening into the stretch. DAPPER DAN made up ground gradually next to the rail after three furlongs, came around the turning FLAG RAISER and dropped back to the rail without having to change stride in the early stretch, closed fast under right-hand punishment to the final sixteenth of a mile and then gained only very gradually in the last stages. HAIL TO ALL, kept out from the rail at all stages, was placed under steady left-hand punishment to reach closer contention entering the last three furlongs, rallied steadily and was up to best. NATIVE CHARGER, while coming in light contact with that rival in the last strides, NATIVE CHARGER, in hand for a half-mile, was sent past LUCKY DEBONAIR on the inside and in pursuit of the pace under light pressure after sailing into the backstretch, came around SWIFT RULER and FLAG RAISER to challenge for the lead on the final turn, then drifted slightly near the end and brushed lightly with HAIL TO ALL. While holding on fairly well, SWIFT RULER began fastest, regained a short advantage along the inside under pressure on the final turn and held on fairly well. SELECT, tucked early speed and closed belatedly. LUCKY DEBONAIR was lightly rated outside the first flight for five furlongs, responded only slightly when called upon around the turn and weakened in the drive. NEEDLES COUNT was outrun. FLAG RAISER came out a trifle on SWIFT RULER sprinting into command at the first turn, raced along freely with a long lead for six furlongs, faltered badly and was not pressed through the last furlong.

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

The Clients Compose

"Thanks for finally coming to the front to do battle for the boys of Long Beach that would rather be athletes than juvenile delinquents.

"It's about time that somebody showed some interest in kid baseball. The paper does a school sports coverage as fully as any can do, but do you realize how few boys attending the schools in Long Beach have a chance of making a school team? When there are hundreds in each school to choose from only the FINEST players can possibly make a school team, so what about the other hundreds of average youngsters who have the desire and urge to play? Do we just forget them, tell them to go play tiddley-winks, or would the city fathers care to do their part in a SMALL way (like furnishing lights at Blair Field) to keep them out of the gang-war bit and general misbehavior they are going to get in to because they have nothing else to do? PLEASE pour on the coal as far this minor (?) item is concerned. I am a mother, a 24-year taxpayer and a very concerned adult about our youngsters." (signed Evelyn M. Gauntt, 4718 Hersholt Ave.

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

(The coals apparently never will reach Newcastle. Only councilman favoring the reduced light bill proposal was Bert Bond.)

"We believe the City Council is carrying its economy too far when it fails to decrease the electric tab on kids who want to play baseball on Blair Field at night. With youthful delinquency as rampant as it is, it seems the Council should encourage—not discourage—our youngsters to play and not charge them for it. Just wonder how much it costs the city to light and keep the parking lot at the foot of Magnolia Ave. patrolled at night to even make a dent in controlling crime in that area? We have just received a notice that the city plans to put in some fancy street lights in Naples, tearing out lights that are already adequate, and that our share of the cost will be $80 for our 40-foot lot. If the city must charge for its electrical displays, we'd a lot rather have our share of it spent at Blair Field where somebody would enjoy and benefit by it." (signed) J. Paul Gleason, 226 Venetia Dr.

"YOU'RE SICK, BUDDY! Your perpetual mouthings about Wilt Chamberlain, the greatest basketball player that ever lived, is nauseating. Just 15 minutes of the pressure that he lives with and you would be honking like a duck, forevermore. Bill Russell stands to Chamberlain's shoulder, and the rest of them, talent-wise, are around his waist. So you don't like the guy personally. That aint' no big thing, governor." (signed) Jack Keane, 5943 Elkport, Lakewood.

(When an athlete comes out with a two-part magazine article on the "hush" league in which he plays, as Wilt did, he is not a credit to his profession. Russell doesn't stand to Chamberlain's shoulder, physically, talent-wise, nor class-wise, either. Bill is far superior all-around, governor.)

"The Bee-Vee-Ettes invite you to watch them play volley tennis on any Monday 10-2 at Banning Park. This group is composed of about 50% mothers and 50% grandmothers. If you want to see an active bunch playing a fascinating game, come on over. You don't see any health problems among active women. Come on out and I'll explain the game to you." (signed) Jenny Cluff, 1215 Banning, Wilmington.

(Sounds thrilling, Jenny, but what would this do to my longstanding theory of keeping women barefoot and in the kitchen?)

"IT SEEMS TO ME that it was perfectly obvious that the theater owners who spent so much money to get the Pay TV proposition on the ballot, were interested strictly in the anticipated competition and losses at the box office rather than the thought of TV viewers actually going broke trying to pay for the programs they might want to watch. (So the Lakers, Liston-Clay and Indianapolis 500 race are on theater TV!) Many columnists, including yourself, brought out both sides of this for the public to decide for themselves. The point that bothered me so much was the fact that any industry should be allowed competition and then let the industry grow. To allow the public to vote out natural competition somehow seems wrong. I think now this theater group is adding insult to injury by capitalizing on subscription TV's misfortunes. It is worth some comment." (signed) Richard A. Roeder, 40 W. 49th St.

(My comment is a matter of record: I never was against subscription TV on home sets. Rather I was against the action of organized theater groups to kill free enterprise. Theater people now are doing exactly what they had warned the public that home TV would do —charge fat prices to view juicy events!)

"Are you dedicated to protecting the Dodger image? With everything else, I think your column on Dodger 'power,' in another park, of course, was the low point in your less-than-sensational career. Get off the Dodger bandwagon. It will collapse the same time as you." (signed) Edward McGuire, Torrance.

(As the man says, Eddie, you can't win 'em all.)

Stuart's Slam Clips Braves

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A grand slam home run by Dick Stuart powered the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-4 victory over Milwaukee Saturday.

With the Phillies trailing 2-1 in the third Cookie Rojas singled, John Callison walked and Richie Allen beat out an infield single to load the bases.

Stuart cracked a no-strike, one-ball pitch atop the roof of the left field stands for his fourth home run of the season and eighth grand slam of his major league career. It came off Hank Fischer, who had come on in relief of starter Wade Blasingame.

Joe Torre, hitting in his 12th straight game, opened the Braves' second with his eighth home run.

ANGELS--

writers shoulder and whispered:

"Will Rigney protest the blister?"

ANGEL ANGLES: Chicago puts two undefeated pitchers Tommy John (2-0) and John Buzhardt (3-0) on the mound today in a road trip concluding twi-night. Rudy May (2-1 with a 1.91 ERA) will hurl the opener for the Angels with George Brunet (1-1) making his first start after seven relief appearances in the nightcap. Angels then return home, opening seven-game stand against the Twins and White Sox Monday evening . . . A Wednesday twi-night doubleheader will feature a between game's match pitting the KMPC disk jockeys and Playboy Bunnies.

Rigney has withdrawn his protest of Friday night's game won by Chicago 2-1. Rigney felt that Martin was employing the same mitt he did last year to handle Buckle-challer Eddie Fisher. Umpire John Rice measured the glove after the game and it was easily within specifications . . . "I still do not believe they should allow exceptions," said Rigney. "They legislated against the webbing in first base gloves so why should they allow an oversized catcher's mitt."

Trade talks involving Fisher have collapsed. The Angels offered centerfielder Dick Simpson. "Why should we trade our best relief pitcher for a minor leaguer?" asked Chicago GM Ed Short.

Funeral services for Dick Wantz will be conducted Tuesday at 11 a.m. at Forest Lawn in Cypress. Jackie Robinson was at the mike as Saturday's contest was ABC's game of the week. Jose Cardenal had a six-game hitting streak snapped, but he displayed his fine arm in the sixth when he cut down Buford attempting to score from third on Robinson's fly to center.

FLOYD AIMING FOR DEMPSEY MONEY MARK

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Floyd Patterson said Saturday that he expects to overtake Jack Dempsey's ring record for total money earnings.

Patterson, who Friday night scored a third-round TKO over Tod Herring of Houston, Tex., has earned around $8,000,000 in his 12 years as a pro while Dempsey is estimated to have grossed $10 million.

"If Cassius Clay beats Sonny Liston in Lewiston, Maine, on May 25, and gives me a title fight and I win, I can face Clay again or Liston and reach Dempsey's sum," said the 30-year-old Patterson.

"However, that is not my goal. What I want is a title fight against Clay or a third match against Liston, which would give me the chance to take revenge for the two one-round defeats against him."

Mays, McCovey Lead Giants, 8-2

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Willie McCovey and Willie Mays crashed back-to-back homers Saturday during a first inning four-run explosion that carried the San Francisco Giants past the skidding Houston Astros, 8-2.

The victory went to Bob Bolin, his first against three defeats. The sidearming righthander took over for Ron Herbel in the second inning. Bolin also got two singles in four trips to the plate.

It marked the fourth consecutive loss and sixth in the last seven decisions for the Astros, who had amazed the baseball world earlier this season by winning 10 straight.

Pirates Skinned for 18th Time in 22 Tilts

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pinch hitter Bob Skinner smacked a two-run triple and continued home on an error, capping a four-run outburst in the seventh inning that carried St. Louis past Pittsburgh 5-1 Saturday.

Tracy Stallard pitched a six-hitter for his second victory against one defeat. The loss was the Pirates' 18th in their last 22 games.

Redlegs Slug Mets; 5 RBI for Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — Deron Johnson drove in five runs and relief pitcher Billy McCool cut short a New York surge as Cincinnati outslugged the Mets, 12-7, Saturday.

Johnson tripled with the bases loaded in the first inning following singles by Pete Rose and Vada Pinson and a walk to Gordy Coleman. Johnson then scored on John Edwards' double. The hits were the first of four each for Rose and Pinson.

The Mets, who were double play victims in each of the first four innings, finally exploded against Jim O'Toole in the fifth inning. They scored six runs until McCool came in and struck out Bob Taylor.

QUARTERBACKS SHARP AT UCLA

Quarterbacks Gary Beban and Norman Dow dominated UCLA's spring intrasquad workout Saturday.

Under a complex scoring system originated by coach Tommy Prothro, the offensive squad outpointed the defensive team, 41-16.

Beban carried the ball 17 times, scoring one touchdown by zig-zagging into the end zone on a fake pass.

Two Home Runs Offset Hinton's Slam, Nats Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington home runs by Woodie Held and Bob Chance offset Chuck Hinton's grand slammer as the Senators snapped a four-game losing streak by beating Cleveland, 9-7, Saturday.

Held and Chance, who were traded to the Senators for Hinton, accounted for five of Washington's last six runs.

after Billy Williams, with two down in the eighth, had doubled for the second time and Santo was walked intentionally. Miller retired Ernie Banks on a soft fly to right and thereby was the recipient of his third win.

Jim Brewer pitched a 1-2-3 ninth for his second save, also saving the Dodgers' 2½-game league lead.

★ ★ ★ ★

DIS AND DATA—Santo's error made all the Dodger runs unearned . . . Santo crammed himself into his locker and sat motionless long after reporters had left the clubhouse . . . The Cubs' run was earned, but could have been prevented had Griffith been able to get a jump on Santo's fly ball to left after Williams' leadoff double in the fourth . . . Griffith started much too late, then missed a shoestring effort and allowed the ball to get by for a run and two bases.

Osteen, who needed help for the first time in the middle of an inning, has received only .160 batting support from his teammates in his last five starts . . . In those five starts he has allowed only 10 runs, but won only once . . . "What's wrong?" Osteen repeated the question. "I'm not hitting good."

Osteen said he has "been through this before with Washington—well, maybe it wasn't quite so bad, but things have to change sooner or later. They changed a little today. Not for me, but for us."

Alston said he toyed with the idea of using Don Drysdale as a pinch-hitter instead of Ferrara . . . "I knew Ferrara was willing to play. He told me so before the game. But I was more interested in getting his hand healed so it won't be sore all year. I knew Al wanted to hit. He was walking around with a bat in his hands."

Miller, the winner of the almost-no-hitter, was the loser in Sandy Koufax' no-hitter against the Mets here in 1962 . . . There have been three no-hitters in Dodger Stadium, two by Koufax (Mets and Giants), the other by ex-Angel Bo Belinsky against Baltimore.

Drysdale (5-2) and Johnny Podres (2-0) pitch this afternoon against Larry Jackson (3-2) and Cal Koonce (3-1) in the concluding game of the homestand and the Dodgers' first doubleheader of the season.

A'S FIRE McGAHA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Manager Mel McGaha of the last-place Kansas City Athletics was fired Saturday and replaced by Haywood Sullivan, now manager of the A's farm club at Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League.

* * * *

SULLIVAN, 34, becomes the youngest manager in the major leagues.

McGaha, who appeared at the news conference, indicated he had no plans for the future, "because I just heard about this three minutes ago."

The A's have had eight managers since the club moved into Kansas City in 1955 after leaving Philadelphia.

Horton Raps 3 More Hits in Tiger Win

Newest Slugging Sensation Hikes Average to .406

BOSTON (UPI) — Slugging Willie Horton's two singles and a double figured in most of the Tiger scoring Saturday as he paced Detroit to its sixth straight victory, a 6-2 decision over Boston.

Horton, whose torrid home run streak was checked in the game, hiked his major league-leading average another 23 points to .406 while helping Mickey Lolich to his fifth victory.

Horton, who now has 15 hits in his last 19 times at bat, drove in only one of the Detroit runs with a sacrifice fly, but two of his three hits in the game either started or helped along Detroit scoring rallies.

* * * *

SINGLES by Don Demeter and Bill Freehan and a passed ball after Horton's double in the second gave the Tigers two runs.

The run batted in was Horton's 16th in his last 19 official trips to the plate.

Lolich needed help from Larry Sherry in the ninth.

Can you find her SOS on one of the following?

QUALITY CONTROL CLERK—This is one of the more interesting and busy jobs at Mattel. You'll plot results of tests and graphs and calculate and prepare summaries—transmitting and receiving this information among several departments.

CREDIT—This clerical position is to assist our credit men by getting background information, doing paper work and similar activities with our many customers. There's no direct customer contact involved, but it's an exciting job and requires experience in Accounts Receivable and/or Wholesale Credit Collections.

AGAJANIAN

Reluctant Revolution

By RICH ROBERTS

PARNELLI JONES opened the parcel addressed to him at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Inside was a roll of tape, bailing wire, crying towels, a sympathy card and a bottle of Elmer's Glue-All.

"We haven't got the tape anymore," he later told a friend. "We used it on my car."

Jones, like the rest of the "500" fraternity, finds himself caught in the middle of the rear-engine revolution which has now worked up a full head of horsepower for the May 31 race.

A rear-engine car never has won the 500-mile race, but not because they don't go fast ennugh. They're the hottest things on wheels . . . as long as they stay on wheels.

* * * *

THE TROUBLE IS, the wheels have a way of breaking off, which can be rather annoying at, say, 160 mph.

Scotland's Jimmy Clark set a qualifying record in his English-built Lotus-Ford last year and was running away with the race when his left rear wheel assembly collapsed, a pure case of scotch on the rocks.

And by the end of the race, most of the other hot little mosquitos were in the pits, too, while the durable old front-engine Offenhauser roadsters rumbled home to the four-beat theme of, "I Ain't Down Yet," just like they have since Barney Oldfield was a boy.

But the rumble seat roar got its message across, because now A. J. Foyt and Parnelli Jones, the last two winners of the "500," have made the jump. If the lightweight cars could be built to hold up, they felt, they had to win.

So obliging sponsors offered Foyt and Jones their choice of driving Lotus-Fords or new Lola racers—sort of a heavy duty Lotus—with their old Offeys waiting in the garage, just in case.

As it turned out, the Lolas couldn't be checked out in time, so Foyt and Jones went with the Lotuses in Saturday's qualifying.

* * * *

J. C. AGAJANIAN bought Clark's old Lotus and spent some $20,000 beefing it up. He could have saved the money. Parnelli broke off a wheel about the first time out, and Foyt did, too.

"I don't like the funny cars," Foyt said. They're fast and they're the coming thing, but I dont' feel they're completely safe."

For a time, the Lotuses were barred from practice as unsafe, and a discouraged Jones remarked, "I'm looking for Old Calhoun."

"Calhoun" is the old four-banger roadster which Agajanian has been asked to donate to the Speedway museum, right along with the Stutzes and all the other antiques.

Parnelli's fondness for the mischievous machine is hard to understand. It lost its brakes (and the race) under him in 1962, leaked its way to an oily finish in '63 and virtually blew him out of the cockpit when the gas tank exploded in '64.

Agajanian, one suspects, would have just as soon stuck with the cantankerous clunker but is swept along with the rear-engine craze, which reflects in 45 of 66 entries this year. He may even try for two berths with a second driver in the Lola next weekend.

"The Englishmen build cars light and small," he says, "just for one race. Ours might last five years. If they contact the wall they just glance off with hardly any damage. The others fall apart."

* * * *

AGGIE HOPES the new Lola cars built by one Eric Broadley of Lola Car Co., Ltd., are the eventual compromise solution to the dilemma of speed vs. durability.

All told, it's a $45,000 gamble for him to put a Lola on the track, but nobody's passing a crash helmet for Aggie. His fantastically successful motorcycle cards at Ascot Park, along with other racing promotions, help finance his Indy action.

And if he can't book the 500-miler himself, he's got the next best thing. Agajanian controls some 45,000 theater seats up and down the state, including the L.A. Sports Arena, for the closed-circuit telecast of the race and is flying the plush crowd back to Indiana on a chartered jet.

But despite all his progressive thinking, he is slow to accept the inevitable takeover of the new machinery.

"The rear-engine cars have better traction and less drive line," he admits, "but it's a different technique of driving. With a roadster the rear part of the car can slide back and forth quite a bit without losing control. The front end is the anchor point.

"But with a rear engine, if the back starts to go you've had it. You have to drive like you're on rails. But drivers like to win, so they'll drive what it takes to win."

Moore Spikers Mow 'Em Down

Poly Advances 8 to CIF Semis; Millikan, Lakewood Top Bees

By DOUG IVES

If there is such a thing as a perfect day in track and field, the Moore League in general, and Poly in particular, enjoyed it Saturday in the CIF prelims.

On a beautifully sun-kissed afternoon at Lakewood High, Poly's Big Five made a clean sweep and the Moore League cleanly swept the eight other participating leagues off their collective feet by qualifying a whopping 55 boys in three divisions.

Poly won eight first places and, oddly, that was its total number of qualifiers. Except for relay help, the Big Five of Manuel Murrell, Fred Muench, John Hubbell, Al Nichols and Larry Freeman accounted for all the blue-ribbon performances.

Strangely, the Poly sweep wasn't made complete by a "victory" in total varsity qualifiers. That honor went to Wilson, which had nine on 2 firsts, 5 seconds and 2 field event fourths.

* * * *

WHILE Poly continued to appear as a varsity CIF title threat, Millikan looked the part in Bees by qualifying nine boys. And right behind the Rams is Lakewood with seven.

Broken down by classes, the Moore League qualified 23 in varsity, 22 in Bees and 10 in Cees for next Friday night's semis at Westminster. Poly will send 13, Lakewood and Millikan 12 and Wilson and Jordan 9, so the wealth of talent is diverse.

Murrell and Muench were double winners. Neither improved on their best marks, but then this was a preliminary meet and neither was forced to exert himself.

Muench ran 9.8 and 21.8 in the sprints, bucking a head wind in the furlong, and Murrell long-jumped 22-11 and low-hurdled 19.5 — also against a head wind.

The same pair also started and finished the 880 relay, which Poly won in 1:28.5. Billy Williams and Julice Haggerty ran the middle legs. Murrell ran the best of the bunch and Poly breezed home.

Freeman won the high jump with a no-sweat 6-5, Hubbell rebounded into the 60-foot level again with a 61-¼ effort and Nichols duplicated his season's half-mile best of 1:56.0.

It was the 880 that produced the most excitement—namely Nichols for his lopsided win, Lakewood's John Alderete for his thrilling comeback victory and Sierra's Richard Joice for his awesome 1:52.9 clocking without a "push."

Running in the first heat, the bull-strong Nichols shot out like the police were chasing him and left two 1:56 half-milers bewildered. He had a 30-yard lead with 300 yards left and didn't even have to kick to assure his victory.

Alderete, meanwhile, had to make up a 30-yard deficit in the final 300 yards. Zipping off a 28.3 final 220, he caught Lowell's Lee Haight with eight yards remaining and nipped Westminster's Greenman at the tape. His time was 1:56.2, tying his previous best.

* * * *

TALENTED Fred Nicholl got Wilson its two triumphs. He won easily in the high hurdles at 14.2 and then had to extend himself a little to take the lows in 19.7.

Best Bee efforts were a 1:22.9 in the 660 by Millikan's Ed Ricke, a 30-yard 3:10.2 triumph by Lakewood's Bill DeVore in the 1320, and double wins by Lakewood's Conley DeVerse in the hurdles (8.8 and 13.6) and Millikan's Greg Ward in the sprints (9.9 and 22.6).

RAMBO INJURED

L.B. State Snares Region Spike Title

HAYWARD (UPI) — Long Beach State College captured four first places Saturday in winning the team title for the first time ever in the Pacific Coast NCAA regional college track and field championship.

The 49ers had finished second on three occasions.

THE 49ERS racked up 55 points to 49 for second-place Nevada, winner of the Far West Conference title.

Olympic bronze medalist John Rambo was forced to withdraw from the high jump after suffering a torn calf muscle when he missed the 6-foot, 4-inch mark.

The meet was decided by the final event, the mile relay. Long Beach's quartet of Frank Harris, George Davis, Jeff Clements and Kerry Wright stepped to a clocking of 3:16.5 to edge Nevada.

SD Marines Double Up on City 10-5

By GARY RAUSCH

SAN DIEGO—The Marines parlayed a pair of four-run innings and Dick Dare's seven-hit pitching to whip Long Beach City College, 10-5, Saturday at Beeson Field.

Bart Hammer accounted for all but one Viking run. He doubled off the right field fence to score Rick Hayes and Alan Goldberg in the sixth inning.

Two innings later, the all-Metropolitan Conference third baseman socked a two-run homer over the left field barrier, scoring Barney Scholl ahead of him.

Hayes' single, an infield out and a throwing error got home the LBCC run in the ninth.

Ryun Runs Prep Record 3:58.3 Mile

Compiled from Wire Reports

Jim Ryun of Wichita, Kansas, became the first high school runner to better four minutes in a prep mile race Saturday as he raced to a 3:58.3 clocking for an interscholastic record.

The 18-year-old 1,500 meter Olympic entrant at Tokyo bettered the 4:02 mark he set two weeks ago at Hutchinson, Kan.

World pole vault record holder Fred Hansen, who soared 17-4 in the U.S.-Russia meet last July, retired Saturday from further competition to devote his time to dentistry.

HANSEN tabbed two prep competitors who might surpass his record efforts. Paul Wilson, current Interscholastic record holder at 16-6½, and teammate Bob Steinhoff from Warren High are the prospects.

Oregon, paced by Neal Steinhauer's double weight victory, won its 12th successive Pacific Eight Northern Division championship, while Kansas edged Oklahoma, 100-91, to give outgoing coach Bill Easton his 12th team crown in 14 years of Big Eight competition.

49ers Sweep Fresno, Finish 2nd in CCAA

FRESNO — Twenty-eight-year-old Ed Perry closed out his collegiate baseball career in sparkling fashion as Long Beach State won a double-header from Fresno State, 6-4, 13-9, to complete a three-game series sweep here Saturday.

Perry picked up both victories in relief as coach Bob Wuesthoff's 49ers clinched second place in final CCAA standings with a 10-5 record. San Fernando Valley split with Cal Poly (SLO), but still clinched the championship with an 11-4 mark.

Craig Mueller was the 49ers' chief nemesis at the plate: Fresno pitchers never got him out all day. Mueller collected five hits, scored four runs and drove in a pair as LBSC hiked its over-all season record to 30-14-1.

Comets in AAU Test at Mt. SAC

The Long Beach Comets have entered a full team of 40 in the district AAU championship meet at 1 p.m. today at Mt. San Antonio College, near Pomona.

This is a qualifying test for the Southland title meet to be held at San Diego, and the state meet in Oakland.

PUTMAN STARS FOR CHAMPS

Wilson Tops All-City Swim Choices

City champion Wilson High has dominated the All-City swimming team with four of the eight selections as chosen by the Independent, Press-Telegram Board of Athletics.

Jeff Losch, John Melin, Kurt Kimball and John Kiddie were the quartet of Bruins joining Jordan's Dennis Putman and Larry Bender, Millikan's Frank Richards and Poly's Brian Magree on the honor roll.

Putman set the pace by reaching the CIF finals in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyles, where he finished fourth.

All others except Kiddie and Kimball were Moore League champions — Losch in butterfly, Magree in the 200-free, Richards in the medley, Melin in backstroke and Bender in the 400-free. Kimball was a city breaststroke titlist behind a Downey boy.

Kiddie competed in Cees in CIF, but he was still a unanimous varsity selection based on city-best marks in three events during the regular season when he competed in class A.

Millikan duplicated Wilson's domination in varsity by landing four selections on the Bee team, freestylist Dick Williams, butterflyer Walt Halverson, backstroker Bruce Mobley and breaststroker Don Taylor.

Filling out the 8-man squad were Poly's Russ Kunkel (200-free), George Hedley (indiv. medley) and Bill Murrell (sprints) and Wilson's Jeff Shepard.

All won league or city titles except Murrell, who was ill and later excelled in CIF, and Shepherd, who had two seconds and helped Wilson win the varsity city crown before dropping down to Bees.

In Cees, Lakewood's Martin Miner and Al Lum, Wilson's Mike Walley and Bob Bonzer and Jordan's Tony Stramaglio — all city or league titlists — were the selections.

With one less event than other classes, Kiddie moving up to varsity, and Miner a double winner, the Cee team was limited to five selections.

All All-City boys may pick up their emblems at the I, P-T sports office any day from 8 a.m. to midnight, except Sunday (5 p.m. to midnight).

HONORABLE MENTION

Varsity: Durnin (Wilson), Langner (Jordan), Legault (Lakewood), Relay: Bandle, Duncan, Logan, all Millikan. Bees: Tilley (Lakewood), Sandler (Jordan), Bordewich (Millikan), Relay: Sirnknecht, Wilkes, both Millikan).

Cees: Osborn (Poly), Calero (Lakewood), Davidson (Lakewood), Maurstad (Lakewood), Goodell (Millikan), Relay: Park (Wilson).

A Most Memorable Round of Golf

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—He's in the tree! He's in the lake! He's all over the place! It is Superman? Two Supermen?

It may have looked like it at times from where the two local swingers were shooting from, but it actually turned out to be one of the most unusual, albeit memorable, golf matches I've witnessed in some time.

After finishing with the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas, we took part of our vacation for a quick trip to this part of the country and a visit with my ol' buddy, Walt Ditzen.

WALT DITZEN
Cartoonist Up a Tree

You know Walt, the author of the great sports cartoon feature, Fan Fare, which runs in The Independent.

The furthest thing from my mind was golf . . . but we ran smack into the match of the ages upon arriving here. And we must admit that we ultimately saw things one would never believe possible on a golf course. Even the experts couldn't come up with shots like some we witnessed—even if they tried to hit 'em that way.

For instance, there was Walt's beautiful drive that landed on the top of a palm tree and balanced there, refusing to drop down (see picture). Another drive went into a neighboring backyard where it became an unplayable lie in the swimming pool because the swimmers were declared natural hazards.

Walt was scheduled to meet Earl Shipp, a gracious and leading local businessman, in a second round handicap match in the Mountain Shadows Country Club championship on the afternoon of what was to be our day of sightseeing since it was our first trip to the area.

I dropped Walt at the club, but decided to wait around until they teed off. This was so classic, I tagged along for a couple of holes . . . and finally wound up gallerying the whole darned match.

On No. 8, Walt said, "Hey, I thought you were going to pick up the girls and look the town over?"

"Yeah, but this is too good to miss," I explained.

ACTUALLY, THE BEST PART of the match was when Walt and Mr. Shipp were called to the first tee.

Host pro Jimmy Cotter, whose next tour appearance will be in the West Open, and Chuck Cronrath, manager of the adjacent Mountain Shadows hotel, one of the most beautiful resorts in the country, joined them to make a foursome.

Then, Jerry McLain, one of Del Webb's top executives and a fine photographer in his own right, rode up in a golf cart loaded with cameras. Turning to Walter, he said that Life magazine had wired him to cover the match.

Jerry then handed me a blank piece of paper, explaining that Life had heard I was in town and had requested I serve as the official scorer and referee.

Walt, of course, laughed . . . but the needle struck home anyway, in the wrong man. Mr. Shipp's eyes were as big as half-dollars, not knowing what to make of all this.

HE HAD JUST TAKEN UP golf a short while ago and this was his initial taste of competition . . . and his first "gallery."

I'm sure that any of you who play golf can appreciate his feelings and thoughts as the gallery began to grow.

I've gone through the same thing. And in that situation, while you're hoping and praying you won't shank one in front of all the onlookers, getting off the first tee is the roughest part of all.

And it was obvious that Mr. Shipp was completely "psyched out" when he was given the honors and stepped up to tee off. We never did find the ball he hit.

Since the wind was blowing pretty good that day, Walt played it "safe"—either by accident or design; he would never admit which—by rolling his tee shot down the short fairway of the 95-yard, par three hole onto the green, sank the putt for a deuce to go 1-up.

MOUNTAIN SHADOWS, by the way, is the new type of golf course proving so popular at many of the nation's leading resorts. It is only 2,865 yards long and par is 56. Nestled at the foot of the area's famed Camelback Mountain, it is long enough and tricky enough with its lakes, streams, ponds, sand traps, "swimming pools," trees, etc., to be a fine test of golf . . . but still enough so that the average players don't have to knock themselves out on a long, tough layout.

To make a long story short, Walt pulled out to a 4-up lead on the front side, but Mr. Shipp pulled himself together on the back nine and whittled away at the deficit until he was only one down going into No. 18.

But his ball then took a bad hop and rolled under the only bush within 50 yards of the hole . . . and that was that.

Walt not only won, 2-up, but he lost only one ball, found four. "That had to make it my best round in years," he said.

Mr. Shipp's comment: "What an experience!"

You can say that again!

CCAA Sets New Ceiling on Grid Aid

Feared Breakup of Loop Quelled at Summit Meet

FRESNO — The feared breakup of the California Collegiate Athletic Association was quelled Saturday when college representatives voted unanimously to set a $45,000 limit on athletic aid expenditures.

The six members agreed also that when the ruling takes effect in 1967, a maximum of $25,000 of that total may be spent on athletic scholarships. This also squelched rumors that certain league members might de-emphasize their football programs.

"We feel the CCAA will be a healthier league now," said Dr. Walter Crowe, Long Beach State College athletic director.

"Fresno and San Diego will have to pull back gradually because they would exceed this figure while Valley State and Cal Poly (SLO) will have to come up. Right now our budget is $23,000 for grants while our over-all total expenditures are around $35,000.

* * * *

"WE WERE in favor of the $25,000 ceiling. We have a couple of years to see how everything works out before the new ruling takes effect.

"Actually we, along with Los Angeles, were caught in the middle of this financial aid business. But I think now the league will pull together and we'll certainly have more consistency," said Crowe.

Wood's Blow Tops Chiefs

OXNARD—Larry Wood cracked a two-run homer in the eighth inning to give Oxnard a 4-2 win over Lakewood in a Western Softball Conference game Saturday night.

The win was Oxnard's second against three losses in league play, while Lakewood is now 3-2.

Pro Tennis Giants Set to Go

By BOB MARTIN

Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Pancho Gonzales — the Big Three of the tennis world—head a field of 10 great professional players who'll be seeking first prize money in the $15,000 Masters Round Robin Tournament opening Monday night in Los Angeles.

The eight-day meet will be held at the new Pan Pacific Tennis Stadium, 7600 Beverly Blvd.

Laver is the hottest thing in tennis today, having won five of seven tournaments this year. Rosewall has been king of the pros the last three years and Gonzales for eight years before him.

There will be round robin play the first six days, with the field divided into two brackets. The top two in each bracket will qualify for Sunday's semifinals.

Gonzales, Rosewall, Pancho Segura, Luis Ayala and Mal Anderson are in one bracket. In the other are Laver, Andres Gimeno, Earl Buchholz, Alex Olmedo and Mike Davies.

All except Gonzales are scheduled to play in charity exhibition matches starting at 1:30 p.m. today at the Jack Kramer Club in Rolling Hills Estates.

The Masters schedule:

MONDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Rosewall vs. Anderson; Laver vs. Olmedo; doubles match; Segura vs. Ayala.

TUESDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Gonzales vs. Anderson; Laver vs. Gimeno; doubles match; Buchholz vs. Olmedo.

WEDNESDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Rosewall vs. Ayala; Segura vs. Gonzales; doubles match; Davis vs. Gimeno.

THURSDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Gimeno vs. Olmedo; Laver vs. Buchholz; doubles match; Anderson vs. Ayala.

FRIDAY, 7:30 p.m. — Segura vs. Anderson; Rosewall vs. Gonzales; doubles match; Buchholz vs. Davies.

SATURDAY, 1:30 p.m.—Gimeno vs. Olmedo; Gonzales vs. Ayala; doubles match.

SATURDAY, 7:30 p.m.—Gimeno vs. Buchholz; Rosewall vs. Segura; doubles match; Laver vs. Davies.

SUNDAY, 1:30 p.m. — Semifinals, singles and doubles.

MONDAY, May 24, 7:30 p.m.—Finals, singles and doubles.

BEAMING TEXAN
Defending national driving champion A. J. Foyt has reason for broad smile as he climbs from cockpit of his Lotus racer following record-breaking 161.233 mph qualifying run for 500.

as he followed Foyt on the track and beat Andretti's time to grab the outside spot in the three-car front row for the race.

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., winner of the pole in 1962 and 1963, had the top speed among the first 10 qualifiers but wound up in the middle of the second row between Andretti and Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C.

Foyt, Clark, Gurney and Jones all drove Lotus-Fords, and Andretti's car also is Ford-powered. Foster's is a rear-engine Offenhauser.

Clark's 1964 records—158.828 for the 10 miles and 159.377 for one lap — had appeared doomed on the basis of practice speeds.

Jones came close at 158.625. Then Andretti brought the crowd up with a roar by edging over the record at 158.849, with a fast lap at 159.405.

* * * *

THERE was scarcely time to sit down before Clark took the records back, averaging 160.729 with all four laps over 160, the fastest at 160.973.

Then Foyt hit 161.958 on his first lap.

Gurney was out next, and cranked up his Lotus-Ford to 158.898.

Qualifications will continue today and next Saturday and Sunday, and only the 33 fastest cars will start the race.

Record 12,203 See Drag-Bomp

Tom McEwen of Long Beach, driving the Yeakel Plymouth special dragster won top speed honors Friday at the Drag-Bomp at Lions Drag Strip.

The Mongoose blasted to 205.46 and an elapsed time of 7.79 seconds to garner top speed and low time for the evening.

A crowd of 12,203, largest in the 10-year history of the strip, also saw Bob Brown of Palos Verdes grab top gas eliminator title. He drove his supercharged Chrysler dragster to 189.36 mph and an elapsed time of 8.34 seconds.

James Warren of Bakersfield defeated Seane Schubert of Anaheim to win top fuel eliminator, clocking 198.66 mph.

The two-day bomp concludes today starting at 9 a.m.

Today's program will not only boast top notch match races with some of the Southland's best drivers trying to get a part of the more than $12,000 in prize money, but there will be added sidelights.

* * * *

ED (BIG DADDY) Roth will unveil his revolutionary "Yellow Fang" delta-shaped beauty in a series of exhibition runs.

The KFWB disc jockeys will add a note of humor to the whole affair when they stage an impromptu drag race Sunday at halftime. It is promised to be one of the program's highlights with Bomp National Trophy queen April Stevens judging the whole affair.

The famed "Ace of Clubs" Motorcycle Club will put on a display of award winning precision riding during the halftime.

Hogle Wins Midget Race

Bob Hogle of Buena Park utilized the pole position to his advantage Saturday night as he led from wire to wire to capture the 50-lap United USAC midget championship at Ascot Park.

Hogle withstood a challenge to Allen Heath of Northridge late in the race to win by one car length.

Main event (50 laps)—Hogle, Heath, Colby Scroggins (Eagle Rock), George Benson (San Jose), Johnny Moorhouse (Santa Ana), 15.43.44.

Semi-main (10 laps)—Henderson, Billy Vukovich (Fresno), Ed Johns (Monterey Park), Bob Tiley (Los Angeles), 3.08.38.

Trophy dash (3 laps)—Heath, Scroggins, Lowell Sachs (San Diego), Tom Trader (Hanford) 52.07.30.

Attendance—2,957.

DOUBLE TITLE CARD SLATED

The largest crowd of the year is expected at Municipal Auditorium Tuesday night for the first double championship card in Long Beach.

Heavyweight champion Pedro Morales will defend against Billy Red Lyons. The new tag team champions, The Assassins, will oppose the Von Stroheim brothers in the other title match. The Von Stroheims lost the crown to The Assassins last week.

Hawks Rap Errant Downey

By CHUCK MEDICK

The Long Beach Nitehawks scored seven unearned runs Saturday night at Imperial Park and handed the Downey Impalas a 7-2 defeat in Western Softball Congress play.

The Hawks erupted for five runs in the fourth inning as the Impalas committed three errors afield.

Don Sarno went the route for the Hawks, allowing seven hits, two more than the Hawks garnered off the combined offerings of Bob Wills and Bert Verdugo.

The Nitehawks now have a 3-4 record in league play while the Impalas are 2-4.

Ashe Wins AAWU Net Title

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe of UCLA overcame a disastrous first set Saturday to whip second-seeded Tom Edlefsen of Southern California and win the championship of the AAWU tennis tournament.

Edlefsen pounded his fellow Davis Cupper, 6-0, in the first set, but Ashe rebounded to win the last two sets, 6-4, 11-9.

Edlefsen, however, teamed up with Jerry Cromwell of USC to take the doubles crown from Ashe and Ian Crookenden of UCLA, 7-5, 7-5.

UCLA, which clinched the team title Friday, wound up with 18 points to 15 for USC, 5 for California and Stanford, 2 for Washington and 1 for Oregon State.

In the singles semifinals Saturday, Ashe topped teammate Dave Sanderlin, 12-10, 4-6, 6-2. Edlefsen mowed down Crookenden, 6-4, 6-3.

Running Day for Azure Te

By ERNIE MASON

If Pfc. Jerry Lambert's race-riding specialties ever infiltrate his heavy weapons company, his battalion commander may lead their next charge riding in a rear-engine, cut-down sports coupe.

Lambert, who spends his Saturdays on the race track and his weekdays soldiering at Hunter Liggett Reservation in Northern California, jumped aboard another souped-up speedster from the Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Shapiro Stable, Azure Te, at Hollywood Park and guided the bay son of Nashville to a two-length victory in the 14th running of the $28,500 Debonair Stakes in 1:09⅘.

Chiclero held on for a nose verdict over favored Nasharco in the battle for second, while slow-starting Ky. Front turned in an amazing performance to take fourth in the field of 10.

* * * *

BLASTING from the barrier like a shot, Azure Te had a two-length bulge on his rivals before the other riders had a chance to look for a position.

It was a three-horse race for the entire six furlongs, but the only battle was for the runner-up spot. Chiclero and Nasharco were head-and-head down the backstretch and into the far turn.

But when Ken Church, trapped down on the inside aboard the favorite, realized he needed clear running room, he took back off his tenacious rival and swung to the outside.

Alvaro Pineda did his best to cut away at Azure Te's margin with Chiclero but not only couldn't gain on the leader in the drive but he wilted badly in the final studies, and narrowly held on to the place prize. Nasharco closed strongly once in the clear and just missed the runner-up spot.

Azure Te, in winning his initial added money event, paid $19.40, $8 and $4.60 across the board. Chiclero returned $7.40 and $4.40 and Nasharco paid $3 to show.

Martindale, Devlin Move Ahead by 1

Nicklaus Takes 72, Slips to Fourth for Final Round

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Australian Bruce Devlin sank a 60-foot putt on the final hole for a 67 while Bill Martindale ran in three long snakers for a 68 Saturday to go ahead of Jack Nicklaus and take the lead in the $100,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Devlin and Martindale had 54-hole scores of 204, 12 under par for three trips around the 7,020-yard, par-72 Lakewood course. They had a one stroke margin over Dick Mayer, 1957 National Open champion, who came out of obscurity with a brilliant 66 for 205.

Nicklaus fell into a chipping and putting slump after two strong rounds and shot an even par 72, tieing at 206 with Phil Rodgers, a 68-shooter for the third round.

* * * *

BIG JACK went 45 holes before he finally had a bogey.

Arnold Palmer managed to scrape out a 70 for 213, leaving him well back going into Sunday's final round.

Another favorite, British Open champion Tony Lema, withdrew because of a bad back after playing nine holes.

Ram, Bruin Golfers Eye CIF Crown

By JOHN CASH

From what started in 1938 as a putting and driving contest, the CIF team golf championships has grown more rapidly than any other prep sport with respect to entries.

Millikan High plays host to the 1965 team championships Monday, May 24. This year's field is so large that coach Jim Haddy of Millikan, in charge of preparations, says he will have players tee off from both the first and tenth tees beginning at 8 a.m. at El Dorado Golf Club.

There are 41 leagues in the CIF Southern Section with 24 of them sending team representatives to the tourney.

SIX TEAMS appear to have an excellent chance of grabbing the top spot. Host Millikan and co-Moore League titlist Wilson rate evenly with defending champion San Marcos, Suburban League entrants La Serna and La Mirada and San Gabriel Valley League winner California.

The Rams have a dual match record of 12-2-1 compared to Wilson's 13-3.

CONTROVERSIAL CHARGE TO WIRE

Tom Rolfe (center) and Dapper Dan (right) wage head-and-head duel in Preakness as they approach finish line with Tom Rolfe, surviving claim of foul, the winner by a neck margin.

'ROLFE--

lengths ahead of him, Tom Rolfe started to fly. Coming into the stretch, Swift Ruler, second in the early stages, took the lead as Turcotte took Tom Rolfe to the outside to launch his successful drive through the stretch.

Halfway down the straightway, the Kentucky-bred colt had pulled clear but a big turn to had generated on the rail.

Saving ground by hugging the rail, Dapper Dan moved up from sixth place. As he charged along the rail, Tom Rolfe moved over.

It appeared at the outset that something might be wrong with Lucky Debonair who failed to run "no more than a quarter mile," said jockey Willie Shoemaker. The colt had a swollen ankle two days earlier but trainer Frank Catrone had pronounced him ready for the race after the swelling had subsided.

MEANT TO CLOSE OFF DAPPER DAN--JOCKEY

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ron Turcotte, jockey of Preakness winner Tom Rolfe, said he deliberately "closed the gate" on Dapper Dan as he drove down the Pimlico home stretch to score a neck victory in the $180,600 classic Saturday.

Ismael Valenzuela, on Dapper Dan, contended Tom Rolfe made his colt hesitate several strides near the sixteenth pole and lodged a foul claim, which was disallowed.

"I didn't think I fouled him," Turcotte said. "It is a natural thing to do when you get in front to get closer to the rail so the horse behind will have to go around. That's worth another length."

WHEN DAPPER DAN challenged along the inside, Turcotte moved his mount to the left, but provided enough room for Dapper Dan along the rail.

"When he came over, my horse kind of hesitated," Valenzuela said. "There was no contest, but I think I would have gotten him at the wire. My horse sort of checked himself, then came on again."

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Great Fishing in Northern Area

The outdoor writers who went to Redding and surrounding areas last weekend came back with some glowing tales of fishing in Copco Lake, the Klamath River, Shasta Lake, Dwinnell Reservoir (Crowley Lake of the north), Lewiston Lake and the McCloud River arm of Shasta Lake.

Because of a slight illness, I was one of those who stayed at home when the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland Association presented an award to the sportsman of the year. He was Robert Paul McKeehan, chosen by the outdoor writers because of his continuous contribution to the enhancement, preservation and conservation of California's fish and wildlife resources.

Bill Beebe, outdoor editor of the Santa Monica Outlook and sidekick of mine on numerous hunting and fishing trips, doubled for me on the Redding trip, and I am happy to say that he caught the largest fish in Copco Lake on Thursday and the largest trout in the Klamath River above Copco Lake on Friday.

The writers who fished the Klamath River above Copco had no trouble in getting limits of nice, native rainbows from 11 to 18 inches. Copco is privately owned. W. H. (Cliff) Clifford bought it, lock, stock and barrel, and is developing it into a major resort, with private homes, rental cottages, boats and motors.

THE WRITERS FLEW north in a Shell Oil Company plane, a De Haviland Dove, with Paul Jones as pilot and Richard Karshner as host. They landed at the Montague strip and were picked up by Clifford, whose resort is only 19 miles away.

The next day they flew to Redding and went to Kamloops, Inc., camp for a cookout. Jim Ruch, editor of Outdoor California, showed up everybody right at the camp by catching three bass that went about four pounds each. The honor of getting the largest trout went to John Gartner, editor of Western Outdoors, for a 3½-pound brown caught in Shasta Lake.

Right now the tree-lined Shasta at 1,100 feet is full and overflowing at the dam. It covers 29,500 surface acres, the largest body of fresh water in California. There are 24 government campgrounds, several private ones and 365 miles of shoreline.

Shasta has had its poor years in fishing, but this year it's one of the hottest spots in the state for bass, Kamloops trout, brown trout, crappie, bluegill and catfish. There is a good reason for the comeback at Shasta. The Department of Fish and Game planted 900 threadfin shad in the lake in 1961. They have multipled into the millions and it's the finest forage fish that can be introduced into any water.

OTHER ANGLERS TRIED Lewiston Lake, which is a comparatively small 610-acre body of water just below the big Trinity Lake. They had excellent fishing for rainbows, catching fish that weighed up to one and two pounds.

The Department of Fish and Game has been stocking Lewiston since 1963 and the fish grow rapidly. The water is cold, inasmuch as it is drawn off the bottom of Trinity, now called Clair Engle Lake. In all respect to the late Clair Engle, I still think that it should remain Trinity because its main tributary is the Trinity River. Writers found that lake extremely dirty from rapid runoff and few fish were caught.

Beebe said that there was more snow on Mt. Shasta than had been seen for several years, which means good skiing for the northerners, as well as a late runoff that will benefit Shasta when it starts to recede.

Beebe drew Guy Marschner as a guide. Marschner is well known to many Long Beach residents. Several years ago Guy had a pack-in service at Roads End on the Kern River. Guy now lives in Weed and offers guide service into the Marble Mountain Wilderness area.

Beebe says that the Marble Mountain Wilderness remains virtually untouched because there are so many good fishing streams and lakes at lower levels. The public takes the easy way out and the fish in the Marbles just keep growing.

THERE IS NOW AN official Long Beach Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America, a tremendous conservation organization, especially in the east and midwest. The Long Beach chapter is the first to be organized in California for 10 years.

The chapter was given its charter last night by the state convention of the IWLA in session Friday through today at the Lafayette Hotel. The Long Beach chapter officers are Hal Lowe, president; Ed Mueller, first vice president; Charles Woolverton, second vice president; Gene Gregson, secretary; Robert Briggs, treasurer, and the following directors: Charles McKim, Robert Joy, R. A. Lowe, Frank Black and Donnell Culpepper.

Other charter members are Richard Joy, Kenneth Enga, John Frank, Mel Masterson, Don Waggoner, Johnnie Miller, Dr. N. R. McCoy Sr., Lynn Harschbarger and Clay Hopper.

The officers chartered last night will be replaced in September because that is the month selected for election and installations. Those installed in September will serve for one year.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Analysts Happy at 'Spring Rally'

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market got off to a dull start last week but finished with a substantial gain in the averages and a fairly bullish list. Trading was fairly active.

Some easiness was noted in both Monday's and Tuesday's session but the list closed mixed on both days. A strong spurt pushed the Dow-Jones Industrial average up 3.25 Wednesday and a continuation of the upswing handed the indicator a 4.70 gain Thursday. Friday's session was dull but the average advanced 0.75.

So far the analysts are pleased with the markets progress during what many consider the "spring rally." The inflow of first quarter reports continued to provide sparkling highlights in the list and the economic statistics have lent support.

* * * *

WORRIES bout the future of the economy in the later part of 1965, which gave rise to considerable conjecture around January, seem to have been soothed by the latest statistics.

Last week, Dow Jones Industrials closed up 7.10 at a new peak of 939.62. However, rails skidded 3.89 to 209.50, their lowest level since March 5. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.25 at 90.10.

Trading totaled 29,386,059 shares compared with 29,562,190 shares a week before and 25,374,630 shares in the same week last year.

Gains outnumbered losses 708 to 648 as 1,533 issues crossed the tape. There were 259 new 1965 highs and 88 new lows.

* * * *

CHRYSLER took honors for activity. It advanced 1¾ to 54½ on 696,500 shares. Thursday, Chrysler reported its early May sales were 50% above the 1964 level.

Low priced Lehigh Valley Industries took second place in the active list with a gain of ⅜ at 4⅝ on 460,300 shares. RCA was in third spot with a loss of ⅝ at 36⅜ on 372,800 shares.

A block of 174,000 shares valued at $7.3 million, put Standard Oil of Indiana on the active list. It closed up ¼ at 42¾ on a total volume of 300,000 shares.

Other autos were generally lower. General Motors fell 1⅝ and Ford tumbled 3⅜. Steels were mostly lower. Lukens dropped 1¾, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem 1 each and Youngstown Sheet and Republic fractions.

DuPont was by far the week's biggest gainer. It soared 15½ points.

Eastman Kodak ran into selling pressure for the most part but managed to gain ¼. Union Carbide was also under pressure but advanced ¾.

INTEREST in electronics continued and a number of impressive gains were scored. Texas Instruments advanced 5¾, Admiral 4¼, Electronic Associates 4⅜, National Cash Register 3⅛, Control Data 2⅝, Litton 1½ and Honeywell 1⅜. IBM failed to join the upswing and lost 3½.

EXCELLENT PORTRAYAL

Magnolia Players in Dialect Drama

By RALPH HINMAN JR.

Eight rehearsals back, a handful of regulars at Magnolia Theater took on a chore that curdles the souls of many a Broadway crew.

Theirs was the job of bringing to believable life a dialect play, a French-Canadian "You Can't Take It With You" entitled "The Happy Time," by playwright Samuel Taylor.

A dialect play? "Sacred name of a blue pig!" as several actors would exclaim at appropriate moments.

This weekend they carried it off flawlessly, and more importantly, consistently, through three acts set in Ottawa during the early 1920s.

* * * *

MORE subtle, perhaps, was the perfectionism displayed in those peculiarly Gallic mannerisms which make a Frenchman stand out in a crowd of Anglo-Saxons. A twitch of the nose, a raised eyebrow, sweeping hands — these are the marks of the Gaul, and our cast did them to perfection.

Runaway star of the show was young Chris Kroesen, a Stanford Junior High School eighth grader, portraying a boy at the awkward age, seeking "to learn of truth and love." Without once boo-booing a line, the knickered Chris variously displayed the mawkish toughness, sentimentality and earth integrity of a boy growing up in "a home where there is much love."

This is the story of that home, and of the rollicking people who live there: Maman Susan and Papa Bonnard, the brothers Bonnard, Desmonde, who "chases girls all over Canada," and Louis, "who drinks wine from a water cooler."

* * * *

AND Grandpere Bonnard, a provincial Adolphe Menjou still pursuing "the widow," and of Mignonette, "an acrobat's assistant who really is a chanteuse."

This is their story, or series of anecdotes strung together with crackling, sharp moving dialectic dialog. There is no real plotline—but who needs it when the conversation is so good? The acting so fine?

"The Happy Time"—which is just that for the audience—will continue the next three weekends at the playhouse, 2400 Magnolia Ave.

SAUCY HIT AT OFF-BROADWAY

'Anything Goes' Scores

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

Paced by a rather funny fellow, Jerry Anderson (Moonface Martin), with the pint size and big brashness of a young Mickey Rooney, Off-Broadway's production of Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" went over the top as saucy, irreverent musical entertainment in its opening at 211 Lime Ave., Friday night.

And this in spite of an awkward bridging of scenes, abrupt-ending and punchless singing and dancing here and there, and the show's compact size imposed by its war-on-poverty budget.

The young blond Mr. Anderson, always fast with a quip, is such a delight that without anything approaching a singing voice, he was able to dramatize and clown his way through the notorious Australian Bush Song, "Be Like The Bluebird," so niftily that he nearly walked off with the night's singing honors. But it is as "Moonface, Public Enemy No. 13" eager to get his friends anything they want "wholesale" —with his handy menacing gun — that he made the 1928 (Spring) transatlantic crossing in the musical's routine plot gagworthy, if not seaworthy.

* * * *

IN A PERT, little sex-dish of a girl with a Calamity Jane voice and of brief, compelling attire, Eve Belyea (as Bonnie) Anderson had an able accomplice in crime and charm. Miss Belyea, helped by Anderson and Scot Hunter as Billy Crocker, put a tingling handclasp on the bouncy "Friendship" song.

After that the celebrity hunting transatlantic voyage on Ralph Hunt's sharp sets became quite interesting, thanks to Cole Porter's intricate melodies and accompaniments (which are still far ahead of their time) and thanks to Joan Ririe's remarkable choreography which really "jumped" with the "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" ensemble number. Somewhat listless before, those shapely dancing converts, Virtue (Dona Stovall), Purity (Betty Cooper), Chastity (Linda Terrell), Charity (Barbara Lyda) came alive in this number, well-lighted by Reg Bieberdorf and Phyllis Palmer, and were a lot of fun from then on.

* * * *

ONE OF THE best highlights of the evening was the playing and singing, particularly in that old torch, "I Get a Kick Out of You" by Ann Leverett. Hardly the slinky musical comedy chanteuse, the tall Miss Leverett, as the dulious reformer Reno, used her find dramatic instincts to good appealing effect. She and Anderson would make a nice "Stop the World . . ." team.

Two of the romantic triangular leads, a very beautiful blonde girl, Carolee Waring as Hope Harcourt and Hunter as Crocker, were almost fatally eclipsed by the demanding "Night and Day" number, but proved competent in the dramatic episodes.

* * * *

David Pease (Steward), Mike Katcher (Reporter), Mike Katcher (Purser), S. W. McElhone (Captain) and the Chinese "converts"—presumably from Moonface's "Indo China" and "Outdoor China" —David Pease (Ching) and Katcher (Ling) filled in the bit parts in a show which, despite its limitations, should be really swinging by now.

Clyde Edwards (pianist) and Koert Maher (drums) supply the background music.

USS PARSONS (ABOVE) IS DUE FOR CONVERSION INTO GUIDED MISSILE DESTROYER. SHADED PORTION OF MODEL (RIGHT) HOWS EXTERIOR CHANGES TO BE MADE.

LAKEWOOD SHOPPING CENTER GETTING THIS ADDITION

$500,000 Mall Addition Begun at Lakewood Shopping Center

Construction has started on a new $500,000 building on the Mall in Lakewood Shopping Center, according to Joseph K. Eichenbaum, president of J. K. Eichenbaum & Associates, developer and exclusive leasing agent.

Brand Jewelers, located on the north end of the building, will have show windows with decorative metal canopies, on the walkway between the building and Haggarty's.

Occupants of the units, in addition to Brand Jewelers will be Gene's Smart Shops, Fashion Fabrics, Gladys Fowler Dress Shop, Zale's Jewelry and Kinney's Family Shoes.

Ernest W. Hahn, Inc., is general contractor.

* * * *

DESIGNED by Burke, Kober & Nicolais, Los Angeles architectural and engineering firm, the 19,687 square feet, one-story structure will be located at 5003-5013 Hazelbrook Ave.

The building will have entrances from both the mall side of the shopping center and the Hazelbrook Avenue parking lot.

Constructed of concrete frame with masonry filler panels, the interior of the building will be finished in an off-white rough face brick.

Featured across both fronts will be precast concrete arched arcades which will extend 10 feet over the walkways.

* * * *

WHILE ALL six stores will have glass show windows, the individual decorative treatments will differ. Various materials, such as dark-toned granite, marble, terrazzo and marble rubble, will be used in the window bulkheads.

Entry floors will range from terrazzo and circular mosaic tile to black slate.

Textured plaster in an off-white will be used above the show windows on all of the units except Gene's Dress Shop. This store will feature a full height solid wood door and a decorative metal screen in front of the full height show windows.

RECORD CONVERSION FOR L.B. YARD

Destroyer to be Made Over into Missile Ship

By BUCK LANIER
Naval Affairs Reporter

Preliminary work got under way last week for the largest ship conversion job ever assigned the Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

The San Diego-based destroyer USS Parsons (DD-949) will be converted from a conventional destroyer to a guided missile destroyer (DDG).

Funds have been approved by the Bureau of Ships and the 18-month job will begin Dec. 30. It will take 120,000 production mandays.

* * * *

DDG CONVERSIONS have been allotted to Boston, Philadelphia and San Francisco Naval Shipyards, the Bureau of Ships will have a basis of comparison for future conversions after these jobs are completed.

Stability tests were run on Parsons Friday with engineers determining the location of the center of gravity vertically, longitudinally and transversely.

Primary conversion object is to replace conventional guns with anti-aircraft missile (TARTER) housing, to install anti-submarine rockets (ASROC) and to update her radar communication system.

This will require complete removal or stripping of about 95% of the deck houses, main deck and above. The tripod masts will be replaced with quadruped ones and a stack will be moved.

* * * *

COMPARTMENT changes and rearrangements below the main deck will be made to house new and modernized equipment. Four turbo generators will be taken out for uprating and a modernized fire control system installed. Crew quarters will be improved also.

The Parsons will be decommissioned at the beginning of the conversion and will be recommissioned the DDG-33 upon completion.

While conversion is in process the ship will also receive its complete three-year overhaul. Completion target date is June 30, 1967.

Douglas Experts Take 'Know-How' to Campus

Eight top Douglas Aircraft Group scientists, engineers and administrative executives returned to Long Beach today from Auburn, Ala., where they conducted classes most of last week for 750 students at Auburn University.

Purpose of the three-day seminar which concluded Thursday was to acquaint the faculty and students of the university with the practical application of their studies in industrial engineering and management techniques.

* * * *

BY TAKING their experience and know-how to the campus, the Douglas management task force reversed the conventional method of training students in industry through summer jobs. They also were able to benefit whole classes instead of a few individuals.

Subjects selected by the university staff for instruction include Operations Control, Employe Relations, Design Processes, Manufacturing Management, Reliability, Computer Applications and the industrial program evaluation technique known as PERT/Cost.

* * * *

THE DOUGLAS group was headed by W. E. Maschal, Aircraft Group director of management systems and administration, who coordinated the program with the university staff.

Also participating are Stanley Y. Curry, assistant director of management systems; W. E. Jenne, director of operations control; R. S. Steigerwalt, manager of employe relations at the Douglas facility in Torrance; J. M. DiVola, chief system engineer, C-5 Division; H. L. Mailander, supervisor, structural mechanics, DC-9 Project; D. L. Gilles, chief system engineer-Reliability; and J. L. Lundry, engineer/scientist specialist.

* * * *

THE EDUCATIONAL experiment, designed to aid both the university and the aerospace industry through strengthening of curricula in areas of mutual interest, will be offered to other universities at a later date.

The program is the result of discussions earlier this year between Auburn administrators and Jackson McGowen, Douglas Group Vice President, Aircraft.

Eye Revolving Building Plan for Apartments

Rotating high rise apartment structures, believed the first of the kind ever planned, are proposed by the Kelco-Huntley Corp. at La Jolla.

The entire buildings would revolve once every three hours so tenants would have changing views.

Plans call for nine revolving towers up to 24 stories high, plus a stationary building. The complex would be built on a 30-acre site on Mr. Soledad, near San Diego.

An architect said a 10 horsepower motor would suffice to turn each building.

New Port Council OKs Bylaws, Elects

The 14 directors of the Cargo Protection Council of Southern California recently approved bylaws and elected officers for the newly organized non-profit corporation during a meeting in the Board Room of the Administration Building, Port of Long Beach.

New officers are Admiral (ret.) Frank Higbee, president; Harry Reese of Ocean Terminals, vice president; J. D. Teague of States Steamship, secretary; and Guy Crum of Balfour, Guthrie, treasurer.

* * * *

TWO COMMITTEES organized during the meeting were Finance: Guy Crum, chairman; Robert Holbrook of Williams Dimond; S. T. Lashbrook of Overseas Shipping Co.; Willard Cartmel of Marine Terminals; and Jack Berry of Outer Harbor Dock & Wharf Co.

Operations Committee: Charles L. Tilley of Outer Harbor Dock & Wharf Co.; Capt. John Davis of Associated Banning; Capt. E. V. Richards of Furness, Withy Co.; Larry Dunn of Pacific Far East Line; and W. E. Morrow of Bayly, Martin & Fay, Inc.

Admiral Higbee said offices for CPCSC now are located at Berth 55, Port of Los Angeles.

Bolar Named to Board of Governors

BELLFLOWER — Lewis Dean Bolar, vice president-cashier of the new Bellflower National Bank, has been elected to the Board of Governors of the Harbor District Chapter, American Institute of Banking, according to Charles A. Victory, president of the local bank.

Tokyo Line Starts New Ship Service

Showa Line (Showa Shipping Co., Ltd., Tokyo) has inaugurated a new liner service which will employ vessels in a direct service from California ports to Japan and from Japan to California.

The first vessel in the new service is the MS "Shoyo Maru" which departed from Los Angeles Saturday, leaves San Diego Tuesday and San Francisco Thursday.

Destinations will be base ports in Japan including Yokohama, Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe. Subsequent sailings will be monthly from Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco on the 14th, 17th and 20th of each month, respectively.

MAY 23, DAY OF MUSIC—Entertainment will be provided by the Wilson High School orchestra and Stephens Junior High dance group, under direction of Fred Ohlendorf. Realtor James Farah is in charge of this event, to be held in Bixby Park from 2 to 4 p.m. and open to the public at no charge.

MAY 24—SENIOR CITIZENS DAY—Under the direction of Realtor Don Schwenn, a bus tour of the city for 510 senior citizens has been planned. Two hours of entertainment also is being presented for their pleasure at an evening meeting.

MAY 25—CITY EMPLOYE OF THE YEAR BREAKFAST—City officials will be honored and four city employes from Lakewood, Signal Hill, Seal Beach and Long Beach will be presented awards with Harry Kayajian, Realtor in charge of this event. Rowland Bach is guest speaker, and Harvey Waggoner of the Long Beach Civic Light Opera will present musical selections.

MAY 26—AIR INDUSTRIES LUNCHEON—This will be held at Rochelle's Restaurant honoring the air industries in the area, according to James Selover, Realtor and chairman of this event. Roy Anderson of Douglas Aircraft is scheduled as guest speaker.

MAY 27—CITIZENS OF TOMORROW and EDUCATION DAY—A luncheon will be held at the Elks Club and Weck Morgan of Economy Escrow Co. and Don Jones, Realtor, handling the event. The most outstanding boy and girl from each local high school will be honored, and certificates will be presented to graduates in real estate at City College.

MAY 28—PLANNING DEPARTMENT LUNCHEON—This will be held at the Elks Club, with L. C. Guthrie Jr., of Janss Construction Co., Santa Monica, as guest speaker and Daryl Nelson, Realtor, chairman of the day. Invited guests will include planning commissioners, city managers and architects; also Paul Neble, building designer, and M. B. Gentry, coordinator of technical education, City College. Entries in the home design contest will be judged and on display.

MAY 29—OPEN HOUSE—This event will be at the Board Office, 3747 Long Beach Blvd. Also on this date, the judging of the Poster Contest will take place with Lou Hockel, Mayflower Van & Storage, in charge. May 29 will be the date for the judging of the cooking contest which is being handled by the Realtor Wives Club—Mrs. Melvin Mould, president, and Winnie Cross in charge. The entries on the cooking contest will be on display at the Board Office and will be judged by leading home economists in the area.

Grocers to 'Educate' Public About Shopping Cart Losses

First step in a program to eliminate an annual loss of over 15 million dollars to the grocers of the nation through shopping cart losses has been initiated in Southern California.

Ted Woods, president of the Southern California Grocers Association, signed a contract with Weir Advertising, Los Angeles, which will initiate a program slated for newspaper, television, radio and other media, to bring the story of "cartnapping" and shopping cart losses to the public.

The average housewife who "borrows" a shopping cart to take her groceries home and then abandons it at the curb and the people who "take" the carts for use as laundry baskets, pet beds, garden carts, etc., don't realize that these carts cost the grocer from $30 to $35 each. Nor do they realize that in Southern California alone the loss each year is between $500,000 and $600,000.

"Food is a bargain," said William Tormey, executive vice president of the SCGA, "but in keeping food prices low, the local grocer has to take into consideration these tremendous losses from "cartnapping."

The program, to start in July, will feature a cartoon-type character to be known as "Cartwheel Charlie."

All member markets will feature in-store displays to tie in with the extensive general coverage; and market employes will urge all customers to "please leave the cart at the market!"

'CARTWHEEL CHARLIE'

Anniversary Finds Hodges in New L.B. Office Facilities

This week, Monday through Saturday, will be celebrated as birthday week by the Rex L. Hodges Realty Co., it has been announced by Robert C. Westmyer, president and owner of the firm.

A birthday cake signifying the 36th anniversary was shared by the entire staff and their spouses as more than 300 persons attend a kickoff celebration last week in the company's new general office building at 408 E. 1st St., Long Beach.

All 16 branch offices of the firm will participate in the week-long observance. The public has been invited to visit the nearest Hodges office and have a piece of birthday cakes to help commemorate the anniversary.

* * * *

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES are planned in the Belmont Shore office at 5318 East 2nd St., which was the site of the birth of the Rex L. Hodges Realty Co. in May of 1929.

Bess J. Hodges, wife of the late Rex L. Hodges, who founded the firm, joined in on the birthday celebration party at the central offices Thursday evening.

Mrs. Hodges stated: "We can all feel very proud today to witness a living example of how Mr. Hodges and Mr. Westmyer's 'Golden Rule Philosophy of Business Practice' has built one of the country's largest realty firms."

* * * *

THE CELEBRATION also was highlighted by presentation of a mink stole to Helen Harshaw in recognition of her 25 years of association with the firm as its corporate secretary.

Westmyer made the presentation, stating:

Accounting Conference Slated on L.B. Campus

DONALD BURNS CHARLES LEES EDWIN LAMB GEORGE OH

Accounting practitioners, students and educators will meet at the Sixth Annual Accounting Conference of the Long Beach-Orange County Chapter of the California Society of CPAs on Saturday at California State College, Long Beach.

This annual all-day conference is sponsored by the local CPA chapter for the purpose of affording accounting students and educators an opportunity to obtain a first hand acquaintance with practical accounting problems and developments.

The meetings will start at 9:30 a.m.

Subject matter to be covered includes a discussion of statistical sampling applications in audit work, practical management services assistance by accountants, an analysis of the new uniform commercial code, and a talk on the future of tax practice by CPAs.

* * * *

CONFERENCE speakers, all specialists, will include:

Donald T. Burns, CPA, partner in Arthur Young & Co., Los Angeles;

Charles R. Lees, partner in Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., Los Angeles;

Edwin M. Lamb, partner in Arthur Young & Co.;

George L. Oh, partner in Pritkin, Finkel & Co., Beverly Hills;

Kenneth J. Rhoads, attorney and professor of Business Law at California State.

UCB Gets Lending Unit

Frank L. King, chairman of the board of United California Bank, and John D. Engle, president of Insurance Funds Mortgage Co., in a joint statement last week announced the signing of agreements whereby Insurance Funds Mortgage Co. will be acquired by United California Bank.

Under terms of the acquisition, the company will operate as Insurance Funds Mortgage Division of United California Bank and will continue as in the past to represent eastern investors in all types of real estate lending in Southern California.

All officers and members of the staff will continue in their accustomed places and at their present location, 609 South Grand Ave., Los Angeles.

It is contemplated that final closing of the transaction will take place within the next 30 days.

36TH ANNIVERSARY

Hodges Realty Co. to Celebrate Week

"Helen, this is just a small expression of our deep repect and appreciation for a job very well done. Each of us are indebted to you for your long and continued loyalty to the Rex L. Hodges Co. and its many affiliated corporations. Helen, we all join in saluting you."

In recapping the growth and development of the company, Westmyer noted that Hodges built the first store building in Naples four years before he entered the realty business. It was the rapid growth in value of properties in the Belmont Shore and Naples areas that encouraged him to open a real estate office at Belmont Shore in 1929.

THE NEWSPAPERS at that time carried a story about Hodges which was entitled "Prosperity Promoters." The article further carried the closing "If you are suffering from any form of real estate depression, have a talk with some of the people in the Rex Hodges Co. and catch some of their optimistic enthusiasm."

In the same newspaper were ads for Naples lots for $750 and terms could be arranged.

The same lots today will bring from $20,000 to as high as $75,000. Yet only 35 years ago people found it very difficult to become enthusiastic about property that then appeared to be priced too high, Westmyer observed.

He further reminded the group that just last year he had received a very indignant phone call about some recommended property that was priced at $22,000 per acre. Again history continued to repeat itself, with a sold price of $31,000 just one year later.

* * * *

"TODAY, AS IN 1929, the real estate industry is on the move," Westmyer said. "Never has there been as many indications of a real boom in real estate activity in Long Beach than at the present moment. Yes, the man who might feel property poor today is probably on the verge of great wealth tomorrow."

To keep pace with the expanding activities of the Hodges Company, the firm has installed electronic equipment for faster and more accurate duplication and publication of the property listings and sales. Machine bookkeeping has replaced the hand posting of years back.

Data processing computer centers are now being considered for still faster, more up-to-date marketing information that will insure Hodges reputation of providing more efficiency and more services without added expense to the property owner, Westmyer said.

ONE OF THE DYNAMIC factors that has contributed to the firm's growth—which exceeded 35% in 1964 — is its system of neighborhood offices; each staffed with a branch sales manager who has earned a specialist's identity for the area which his office serves.

Supporting this management team is an executive staff holding degrees in law, marketing and business administration. Collectively they have in excess of 100 years of real estate know-how.

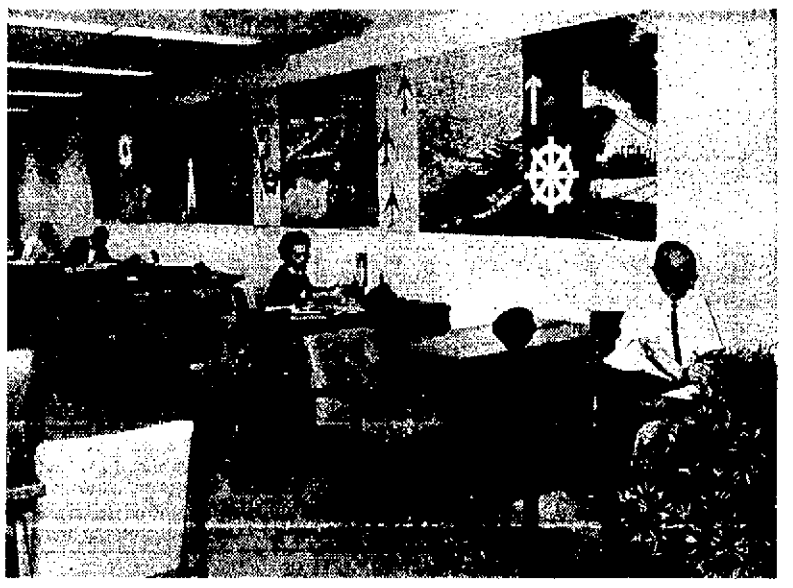

This reservoir of talent is partially responsible for 47% of the firm's business being conducted with previous satisfied customers, it was noted.

TODAY, a property listed with the Hodges Company may be exposed nationwide through many national referral services, advertised weekly to approximately one half million people, verbally described to hundreds of salespeople, released through numerous real estate multiple listing services, electronically printed and distributed to every sales associate through a network of major realty firms throughout the area at no additional cost to the owner.

"These extra services are just a few of the reasons why the Rex Hodges Realty Company heritage has earned for it the real estate industry leadership it now enjoys," said the president.

Ad Club Will Hear Ford Representative

Hal Bracken, of Yorba Linda, car merchandising manager for Ford's Los Angeles district, will speak at the Long Beach Advertising Club luncheon Thursday in the Panorama Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

His topic will be "We're Getting Younger All the Time," which deals with the growing youth market, the automotive business in general and Ford Motor Co's. operation in particular.

Bracken joined Ford in 1954 shortly after being discharged from the Air Force, where he held the rank of Captain.

Chairman of the day Thursday will be Gene Uht, paper consultant and public relations representative for No-land Paper Co. A cocktail social is scheduled for 11:30 with luncheon beginning at noon.

FRIEDBERG LEADS APRIL SALES

SPAROW REALTY HAS ANOTHER TOP MONTH

With Robert Friedberg leading in all categories of most listings sold, most sales and largest dollar earnings ,Sparow Realty sales units climbed to 63 sales and listings sold in the residential sales division for the first 4 months.

Robert "Bob" Friedberg resides at 4715 Arbor Road with his wife Kathy and their son and daughter. He is active in Lakewood civic and social circles. Friedberg received the coveted "Jaycee of the Year" award for 1964 and is currently Vice-President of the Lakewood Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Oliver Sperow, President of Sparow Realty also announced the company would occupy their new office at 5525 East Willow on May 15. It is now under construction. Sparow said "Although it is good business to have a nice office in a good location it is still secondary to the caliber of salesman who occupies it. It is the educated working salesman who makes things happen, not a static building."

Yoffie Named I, P-T Promotion Director

Norwin S. Yoffie has been named director of promotion of the Independent, Press-Telegram, Publisher Herman H. Ridder announced Saturday.

NORWIN YOFFIE

Yoffie has been research manager of the Ridder - owned Pasadena Independent and Star - News since 1957. Before joining the Pasadena newspapers he was director of promotion and research of Southwestern Publishing Company of Nevada and a promotion assistant at the Phoenix Republic and Gazette.

SALE
A.M. AT MOTEL LOBBY
TO BE HELD MAY 17th, 1965, 10:00 O'CLOCK

The Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach, as seller, invites offers for the purchase of the leasehold estates and improvements located thereon (consisting of a 106 unit motel structure, swimming pool and restaurant structure) located at 6285 E. Pacific Coast Highway, Long Beach, California.

Inspection of the property and of the terms, provisions and conditions of the leasehold estates and the leases, may be arranged by contacting Mr. James Preston, Assistant Vice-President of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach, 302 Pine Avenue, Long Beach, California, or by telephoning such bank officer at HEmlock 7-0011, Ext. 25. Inspections should be made prior to sale date.

Offers must be accompanied by a Money Order, Certified, Cashier's or other bank's check made payable to Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach for not less than 10% of the offer, to be applied on the purchase or returned if the offer is rejected.

The right is reserved to reject any and all offers and to waive any informality in any bid.

TERMS: All cash preferred; some terms may be available to qualified buyer.

Brokers' participation invited.

All persons desiring to make offers should preferably do so in writing prior to the date of sale specified above and be present at the time and place of sale on the date designated above.

CONGRATULATIONS AND LUCK

Party Held for Retired Bank Exec

WILMINGTON — Ben F. Blossom, who started in the banking business 38 years ago today, was honored recently on his retirement May 31 as assistant vice president-manager of the Bank of America's Wilmington branch.

The bank staff and other friends of Blossom feted him at a dinner and gave him a gift of luggage he will use on a trip to Europe this summer.

* * * *

GUESTS in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Blossom included:

Gus Tams, vice president, branch operations, Los Angeles headquarters; Frank Naughton and William Dye, area administration officers Long Beach; Claude May, retired manager of the Compton branch; Vincent Bauchiero, who has succeeded Blossom, and Mrs. Bauchiero.

Blossom began banking with the Marine Trust & Savings bank, which merged in 1929 with B of A. He has been with the Wilmington and Compton branches since 1935.

Strength Shown by Thriftimart

R. M. Laverty, Sr., president and chairman of the board, has announced that Thriftimart, Inc., had a consolidated net income of $3,082,071 for the fiscal year ended March 27, 1965.

This represents a 7.86% increase over the $2,857,424 earned during the preceding year.

Morrill Will Receive Realty Board Award

A merit award will be presented to Verne Morrill, prominent for years in local real estate circles, at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors, it has been disclosed by J. C. Hoffman, president. The board meets at the Crown cafeteria, at 7:15 a.m.

VERNE MORRILL

The board thus honors members selected for special recognition due to exceptional civic activities.

Morrill, a Realtor since 1933, was born in Wisconsin. He completed his education there and moved west in 1921. He was division manager of the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co. 12 years before entering the real estate business.

Morrill is an active member of the board and has served on many committees.

* * * *

HE IS PAST president of the United Church Brotherhood and past president of the Long Beach Civic League. He has herved as vice-chairman of the Armed Services YMCA Committee of Management for over 12 years. He is director of Goodwill Industries and on the Executive Committee.

Morrill is a member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Legislative Committee and helped start the Signal Hill Chamber of Commerce.

He is one of the founding directors of the International Conference of Christians and Jews and has acted as finance chairman. He has been very active in the Uptown Church of Christ, and has received awards from the Red Cross, the International Traders Club and Goodwill Industries. He has been vice-chairman for the Long Beach Community Chest drive.

Buying in Europe

N. W. Bubar, buyer for the Fine Jewelry Dept. of Walker's store, is on a 30-day buying trip in Europe. He planned to visit diamond centers in Antwerp and Amsterdam, attend the Swiss Industries Fair in Basle to see the watch exhibits and also visit the Omega factory in Bienne.

Before returning home he will inspect wares of the famous goldsmiths in Florence and Rome, Italy.

PORT OF L.A.

Record in Cargo Seen

General cargo tonnage volume for the Port of Los Angeles at the three-quarter mark of the current fiscal year may be headed for another record-breaking year, it was learned last week in statistics released by the Harbor Department.

For the period of July 1, 1964, through March 31 of this year, general cargo — defined as any cargo except lumber, petroleum and bulk commodities — was up 242,617 tons over last year's figure of 3,015,103 tons.

Fiscal 1964 turned out to be an all-time high general cargo year with 4,229,065 tons handled.

* * * *

LARGELY responsible for the upsurge in volume this year are the imports of steel commodities, notably pipe.

For the same nine-month period, bulk oil was up 449,112 tons compared to 1964, and shows signs of recouping the losses recurded last year.

Total tonnage in all cargo categories for the same time was 681,928 tons above last year, lending strong support to the expectation of the biggest year since 1962 which totaled 26,088,015 tons.

Housing Costs Rise

Median price for a new house in the United States last year was $20,600 up $1,900 over 1963, according to housing authorities. The increase, they note, reflects higher land and labor costs, as well as a growing interest on the part of home buyers in quality building materials.

PLAQUE FOR WINNER
Marilyn Buus of Richfield Oil Co. holds honorary plaque presented to her by Al Hopkins of Burry Biscuit Co. She's 1965 "Girl Friday" of Administrative Management Society chapter.

Richfield Oil Secretary Named as 'Girl Friday'

The 1965 "Girl Friday" Award made by the Administrative Management Society, Long Beach Chapter, has gone to Marilyn Buus of Richfield Oil Co.

Presenting the plaque and charm bracelet at a recent meeting was Al Hopkins, chapter president, of Burry Biscuit Co.

National headquarters of AMS long has realizrd need of recognition for an individual who performs duties for a local chapter which would be considered in excess of the normal job performance, Hopkins said.

Miss Buus, secretary to O. M. Brown of Richfield since 1953, has not only been a "Girl Friday" to Brown but to the local chapter of AMS, for in 1953 Brown became a member, and in 1959-60 was chapter president.

RICHARD NEVINS
Speaker Tuesday

Tax Authority to Address L.B. Realty Board

Richard Nevins of the California Board of Equalization will discuss "Tax Proposals on the Sacramento Scene" at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

Arnold B. Skaggs, local representative of the tax board, will be special guest, according to Edmund Shaheen, program chairman.

The breakfast is at 7:15 a.m. in the Crown cafeteria.

Woman Named DLBA Membership Chairman

Mrs. Dorothea Kelly, for the past two years field executive for the American Business Women's Association, has been named membership chairman of the Downtown Long Beach Associates, according to Vito Romans, executive director.

In her former job, she formed and installed three Long Beach chapters of the Business Women's Association.

During World War II she was employed by the U.S. government to teach military correspondence in the San Francisco Bay area.

Mrs. Kelly coordinated a radio program for Powers Mercantile in Lewistown, Mont., for two years. She also planned and organized fashion shows for charitable groups.

In Scottsdale, Ariz., Mrs. Kelly edited and sold an advertising column for the Scottsdale Progress in 1961 and 1962.

Up 58% in Six Years

Average price for an acre of land used for housing was $3,878 last year, report economists at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. This represented an increase of 58% in the last six years.

NEW REALTOR HOME
Construction Designer Emil Brakensiek of Bellflower depicts view of new $52,500 headquarters for Bellflower District Board of Realtors now under construction at 10140 Alondra Blvd., Bellflower. R. D. Boggs is the contractor. Bellflower District Board serves cities of Artesia, Bellflower, Dairy Valley, Paramount and Hawaiian Gardens.

Bellflower Area Realtors Building New Board Center

Ground was broken Wednesday and construction is now under way for the new 3,500-square-foot headquarters for the Bellflower District Board of Realtors, Ray Smith, president, announced.

R. D. Boggs, Bellflower Realtor and contractor, won the contract for the structure. It will be located on a 105 by 280 parcel of land at 10140 Alondra Blvd. Total authorized cost of the building is not to exceed $52,500. This amount will include all site improvements, carpeting and drapes for the building.

* * * *

THE NEW OFFICE and meeting complex will contain a reception room, board of directors room, two private offices, a print room, lounge for the members and staff and an auditorium that will seat approximately 200 persons.

Boggs, a Bellflower contractor for nearly 30 years, has 90 working days to complete the building. A parking lot in the rear of the property will provide spaces for 56 autos.

The Bellflower District Board of Realtors sold its present office building property to the city several months ago to permit the opening of a new north-south street between Flower and Belmont Streets in the civic center block east of Bellflower Blvd.

RCA Victor Shifts Execs

Organizational changes in the Instrument and Appliance divisions of the RCA Victor Distributing Corporation of Southern California have resulted in a series of executive promotions, according to Harris Newmark, vice president.

Newly-named Merchandising Appliances manager responsible for dealer and builder divisions is Russell P. Larsen who, for the past eight years, has served as RCA Whirlpool sales manager. Replacing Larsen in that post is Robert A. Finney, who moves up from RCA Whirlpool field sales manager.

Promoted to Merchandising Instruments manager is J. Norman (Cap) Smith, who moves up from sales manager.

Reporting to Smith will be Ernest Charney, Instrument Sales manager. Prior to April 1, Charney had been sales manager of the Radio-"Victrola" department.

J. T. (Tom) Baskerville, formerly RCA Victor "brown goods" Field Sales manager, is now television manager. Moving up from the TV Sales department is Charles D. Huey, who replaces Charney as Radio-"Victrola" manager.

Appraiser Group Installs President

Edward C. Parr, president of Huntington Mortgage Co., San Marino, was installed president of Los Angeles Chapter No. 1, Society of Real Estate Appraisers, at the group's last meeting.

He succeeds E. John Kozey, Pasko Loan Service, Downey. Serving with Parr will be vice president William W. Abelmann of Glendale and Richard B. Sullivan of Woodand Hills, secretary-treasurer.

Doss Jones to Have Own Realty Firm

Announcement was made last week that Doss Jones, executive in the realty firm of Ryerson, Hazlet & Jones, Inc., of Long Beach, has sold out his interest in the corporation.

DOSS JONES

The former vice president of the Long Beach firm has purchased the company's Los Alamitos office, located at 11174 Los Alamitos Blvd.

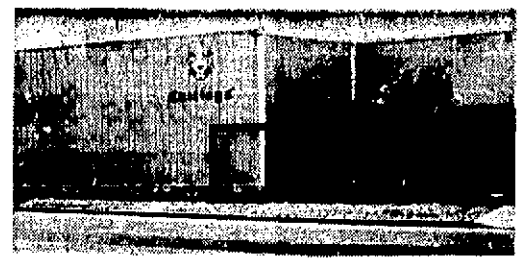

He has been active in the Los Alamitos area, having served two terms as president of the Los Alamitos-Rossmoor Chamber of Commerce in 1962 and 1963, is a charter member of the Los Alamitos-Rossmoor Optimist Club, a charter member of the Los Alamitos Masonic Lodge and a member of the Long Beach Power Squadron.

* * * *

JONES has been manager of the Los Alamitos office for six years, having been one of the first residents of Rossmoor. He lives there with his wife and 19-year-old daughter, Patty.

He went into the real estate field after retiring from the Navy after 23 years of service. A veteran of World War II, he served on both oceans during his career.

Jones has eight veteran salesmen working for him, who specialize in residences in Rossmoor, Los Alamitos, Lakewood and Los Altos.

CUTTINGS GROCERS IN NEW HEADQUARTERS

Apartment Owners Will Hear Panel

Arnold B. Berg, president of the Long Beach Apartment House Association, announced Saturday that the association's next meeting, to be held Thursday at the Woman's City Club 1309 E. 3rd St., would consist of a panel of experts.

Speakers will be:

Roy Heimberger, attorney and apartment house owner who will speak on Landlord-Tenant Relations.

William Nebergall, who is the auditor in charge of the Department of Employment Audit District Office which covers southern Los Angeles County. Nebergall will speak on the subject of the landlord's liability regarding state employment tax.

Al E. Myers, president of the insurance agency of Myers-Stevens Co., specialists in group insurance, will give a general talk regarding the association's group insurance.

There will be a question and answer period at the conclusion of the program.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., and the business meeting will start promptly at 7:30.

THERE'S NOTHING like a home you own! For outstanding home buys see today's Classified Section.

Hold Open House at New Cuttings Building

Formal opening is being held today for the new office and warehouse headquarters of Cuttings Institutional Grocers at 1350 E. Burnett St. in Long Beach.

EARL MILTON

Owner and operator is Earl B. Milton, born in Long Beach. His father in law, John A. Cutting, started the business in 1931 at 417 Olive Ave. In 1933, the firm moved to 500 Alamitos Ave., where it was located for 32 years before moving to the new quarters.

The Burnett facility provides 10,000 square feet of floor area, with emphasis on efficient handling of merchandise. The office is color-coordinated for pleasant working conditions and has air conditioning and intercoms.

Keldon & Associates, consulting industrial engineers, designed the facility. Contractor was Verne J. Tyerman & Associates. Landscape architest was John Harvey Pulham.

Hotel in San Diego

Wilbur Clark, formerly part owner of the Desert Inn Hotel-Casino at Las Vegas, and his partner, William B. Ward of La Jolla have announced plans for a 10-story, $8 million hotel in San Diego.

Clark said construction will begin late this month on waterfront land leased from the San Diego Unified Port District.

Appraisers Will Meet Wednesday

Charles E. McNabb, manager of loan marketing for First Charter Financial Corp., Beverly Hills, and vice president of American Savings & Loan Association, will address the Orange County Chapter 132 of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers Wednesday evening at the Revere House, Tustin.

His subject is, "Research and Development in the Appraisal Profession."

A social hour begins at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7.

Burleigh O. Bursham is program chairman and Joseph A. Mueller president of SREA No. 132.

Dr. E. H. Bernston is handling reservations.

Premier Homes Sales Set Record

Custom extras included in Premier Homes "4 Ways Better" formula have been influential in the continuing record sales pace at the Huntington Beach subdivision, according to Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks Inc., sales agents.

Premier Homes "extra extras" include the lavish use of ceramic tile in kitchen and baths, a complete landscaping and fencing package, and a "Premium fun area" convertible at owner's option to meet any individual family need. These items are all included in purchase prices, which range from $24,750.

McFarland said that each family has a highly individual set of needs, and that the Premium Fun Area allows the homebuyer some leeway in meeting those needs. Once a floor plan is divided up into pre-set packages of space, such as bedrooms, conversion to any other use becomes costly. "The Premium fun area on the other hand, can be used for extra bedrooms and bath, game room, hobby area or rumpus room—anything that suits the individual homeowner's needs" he said

Premier Homes offers three and four bedrooms, two bath homes in single and two story plans. A broad range of exterior stylings, from Polynesian to Contemporary, gives the Premier development a custom appearance.

Premier prices start at $24,750. Financing plans include VA no down, FHA minimum down, and Conventional Financing.

Visitors take Bolsa Chica Road south from San Diego Freeway to Warner Avenue, and turn left on Warner to Hiway 39. Turn left on 39 two blocks to Terry Street and the models. The model display includes a Russian house built from actual Soviet plans, with a Russian purchase price of $22,000 at the current rate of exchange.

SPACIOUS LIVING ROOMS

Premier Homes North and South in Huntington Beach emphasize spacious living room and stylish fireplaces in brick and stone. Three and four bedroom, two bath homes are priced from $24,750, with VA, FHA and conventional financing.

Swimsuit Fashion Show Is Sheduled for Stanton

SHOW SCENE

A swimsuit fashion show, featuring the 1965 line of De Weese Designs, will highlight open house activities today at Sunshine Village Homes-Stanton. The recreation scene pictured above will be the scene of the show, which begins at 2 p. m. The $5 million, 200-unit Orange County townhouse development will be open to the public throughout the day.

Open house activities, highlighted by a poolside swimsuit fashion show, will be held today at Sunshine Village Homes-Stanton, $5 million 200-unit Orange County townhouse community.

Narrating the 2 o'clock show will be Sally Donahue, fashion coordinator for De Weese Designs. Models include Libby Ebsen, daughter of TV star Buddy Ebsen, Cathy Steiner, Lee Muncie and Miss Stanton, Terry Rich.

Sandy Mullen, townhouse community manager for builder-developer S. V. Hunsaker & Sons Inc., said the project will be open to the public throughout the day.

Sunshine Village Homes-Stanton is one of three condominium communities recently opened by the Hunsaker firm. The others include an $11 million 585-unit project in Walnut, and a $5 million 224-unit near Ventura.

Prices range from $19,995 up. Total move-in costs begin at $595.

* * * *

THE ONE and two-story residences include two to four bedrooms and two baths, and are clustered in groups of four to seven around extensive recreational facilities—large clubhouses, heated swimming pools, putting greens, badminton and shuffleboard courts, horseshoe pits, children's play areas and barbecue pits.

The six floor plans have 17 different exterior designs, and each has a detached two-car garage and a separate storage building. Complete front yard landscaping, underground sprinkler system, rear yard fencing and free-form concrete patios with up to 1,200 square feet are also included in purchase price. A special plan provides for complete exterior maintenance plus landscaping service.

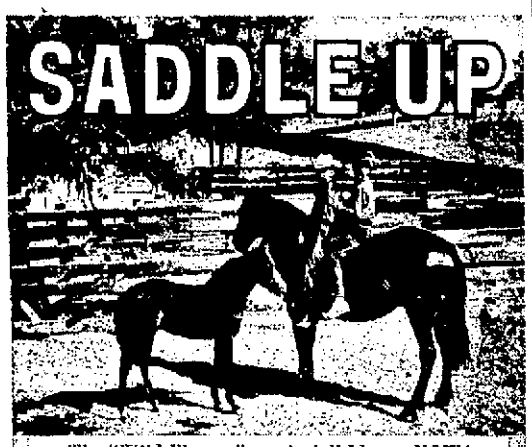

Each home carries a written one-year warranty on materials and workmanship, backed by the Hunsaker organization.

Six model homes are open daily, and may be reached by taking the Beach Boulevard (Highway 39) offramp from the Santa Ana Freeway south to Katella Avenue and west to Western Avenue.

Land Bought by Prestige

Doyle & Shields Development Co., Inc., builders of Prestige Homes, has recently purchased 40 acres at the southeast corner of Warner Avenue and Graham Street in the city of Huntington Beach from Mikawa Farms, Inc., and William Lyon.

According to a spokesman at the Anaheim headquartered building firm, 200 Prestige Home residences will be constructed on the property.

The "Wild Flowers" are in full bloom, NOW!

P.I.P.E. Plumbing Industry Progress & Education Fund — Plumbing · Heating · Piping — Blue Ribbon Home

This is the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Home Award.

It is awarded to home builders who build better homes according to the P.I.P.E. standard of plumbing, heating and piping quality.

It means when you buy a new home you should always look for the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Award. Not only will you appreciate the extra convenience and comfort...you'll also be protecting your investment by owning a home that has higher resale value.

Here's what you are assured of when you purchase a home that displays the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Home Award:

1. Adequate gas piping system including gas heating and, where fireplaces are provided, gas log lighter outlets. This gives you the savings of efficient, low-cost operation in home heating. Over a period of years this can add up to a sizeable amount.

2. A five-year unconditionally guaranteed gas water heater. Gas water heaters are less expensive to operate. With an unconditional guarantee you get full refund, not just a portion, should it need replacing within five years.

3. All valves and faucets must be high corrosion-resistant and have replaceable or renewable working parts. After years of constant use, the worn parts can be replaced without having to buy a new valve or faucet. It won't be necessary to tear the wall out or remove tile to repair valves behind the wall.

4. All plumbing fixtures must meet commercial standards of "A" grade. This means you're getting fixtures that will stand up to the wear and tear of constant use for years to come.

5. A minimum of two bathrooms, with one on every floor used for living accommodations. The convenience feature of more than one bath makes this a must for any quality home. One-bath homes are difficult to sell if you decide to move later.

6. A food waste disposer. Not only does this item contribute greatly to the convenience of the kitchen . . . it also keeps the kitchen free from odors and makes for sanitary conditions in and around the house.

7. One external hose outlet for every 75 feet of exterior wall. The practicality of this feature makes it well worthwhile. It means you needn't invest in 150 feet of garden hose and drag it around with you just to water the lawn.

8. A pressure regulator where the main water pressure exceeds 80 lbs. per square inch. This device will increase the longevity of your piping system because it guards against damage. It also tends to reduce the 'knocking' noises that often accompany overpressure in pipes.

9. Adequate water and drain facilities for automatic washer and gas outlet for dryer. The cost of installing these outlets when constructing a house amounts to just a portion of what it would cost to provide them later. Even if you won't use them now...you should look to the future when you probably will.

10. A main water shutoff valve for house and independent shutoffs for sinks, lavatories and water closets. Not only can you easily shut off all water, you can also shut off the supply at individual fixtures without affecting water in other parts of the house.

These ten quality plumbing, heating and piping features make a home a better buy. Be sure the home you buy has been awarded the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Home Award. You'll be a happier homeowner if you do.

For complete information regarding the advantages of owning a P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Award home and the location of new home developments displaying this sign of quality plumbing, heating and piping...call or write the P.I.P.E. office.

Meredith Acres Selling Second 150-Home Unit

VISITORS THRONG
Mother's Day at Meredith Acres in Orange, the 150 split-level two-story home development of Eddy Meredith, saw many visitors and home-buyers visiting the six furnished models on completely landscaped streets. The development, located at Taft and Santiago Boulevard in Orange County, has sold more than 75% of the $6,500,000 planned community.

Throngs of homebuyers turned out this past weekend to view the homes now selling in the second unit of Meredith Acres in Orange, according to builder Eddy Meredith.

The first unit is now sold out and the second well over the half way mark. The 150 split-level and two-story residences built for around $6,000,000 will be the second development finished by the Meredith Company in the last two years.

Meredith Acres is located at Taft and Santiago, near the Newport Freeway on the outskirts of Orange. Construction is now under way for another major Meredith development in the Huntington Beach area.

* * * *

MEREDITH ACRES homes are noted for their wide variety of exterior designs and areas up to 3,200 square feet. The many different models feature formal dining rooms plus informal dining areas in three-four and five-bedroom plans with three baths and two and three-car garages.

One of the models on display, the Ashland, features a sweeping 21-foot galleria overlooking a foyer and living room with a 10-foot-wide stairway.

Other models include the new Normandy model.

One entire cul de sac street is completely landscaped with all six furnished models set up.

Meredith Acres homes are priced from $36,500.

To reach Meredith Acres take the Santa Ana Freeway south, to the Riverside Freeway, then to the Newport Freeway and north to the Katella West off-ramp. Turn right on Katella to Tustin Avenue and then right on Taft to Santiago Blvd.

Open House Slated for Harbor Homes

"More than 200 civic and business leaders of the South Bay area will join a score of home building dignitaries Friday afternoon as guests of Ray Watt, developer of Palo del Amo Woods, in a preview of the distinctive new home community," announces Phil Walsh, vice president for sales.

The public is invited to the grand opening of the development of 900 homes May 22 and 23.

The seven model homes located on Sepulveda Boulevard one-half mile west of the Harbor Freeway, were open at 10 a.m. Saturday and daily thereafter.

Visitors to the 228-acre Palo del Amo Woods development will pass through an attractively landscaped entrance guarded by two dancing water fountains. Directly beyond is the unique "Flowerland of the Woods," a rolling green grass vista highlighted by many 30 foot high pine trees and 30 different varieties of flowers—all blooming!

When completed the encircled community, surrounded by a six foot high block wall will boast more than 4,000 trees planted by developer Watt. Three pine trees will be planted on each lot.

All models feature tri-level living and are individually styled in more than 40 widely-varying exteriors creating the custom home look within the community of fine homes.

They include a large rumpus room for informal entertaining, a separate family/dining room and are carpeted wall-to-wall.

Palo del Amo Woods homes start at $32,500 and may be purchased for as little as 10% down.

The main entrance to Palo del Amo Woods is on Sepulveda Boulevard between Vermont and Normandie Avenue, just one-half mile west of the Harbor Freeway.

FAMILY SIZE
Large enough for any size family is the spacious five-bedroom Sandhurst model home, above, one of nine distinctive models available in Palo del Amo Woods.

SPLIT LEVEL
Stunning split-level model at El Dorado Park Estates offers three bedrooms upstairs and a fourth that can be used as a den, or maid's room.

Parkside Features Offered

Parkside living is featured at El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach, according to a spokesman for S. & S. Construction Co., the builders.

El Dorado Park Estates is a walled-in community providing plenty of trees, flowers, plants and green lawns in an area where there are no utility poles to mar the beauty. All utilities are underground.

Three, four and five bedrooms are featured with family room and three and two baths, in eight floor plans with 34 exterior designs, built in two-story, tri-level and one-story models.

* * * *

MEDALLION KITCHENS have built-in range, double oven and dishwasher which are color-harmonized with the exhaust hood and fan. Tile work-tops and vinyl floors provide both decoration and utility.

Furnished models are laid out in one street. The homes are priced from $32,200 to $44,200 and conventional financing is available.

El Dorado Park features include: lath and plaster walls and ceilings, concrete driveways, walks and patios, genuine marble-topped pullman lavatories, and cast iron sinks and tubs.

The models are open daily on Spring Street and Los Alamitos in Long Beach.

Recreation Is Key to Bluffs Living

With the official opening this week-end of the $800,000 administration building and recreational center, "recreation" is the key word at the newest unit of George M. Holstein and Sons' Bluffs development in Newport Beach.

The recreation building site will be near the proposed community pool and tennis club and will lead to the homes thru a landscaped forty acre park.

The Bluff park, its pools, green areas, and playgrounds

PHYLLIS SAUNDERS
New Social Director

Join with the boating and swimming facilities of Newport Beach. The Bluff site is also near Irvine Coast Country Club, Rancho San Joaquin and the Santa Ana Country Club golf courses.

* * * *

PRICES START at $38,000 at the Bluffs with a wide selection of three and four bedroom, one story, split level and two story homes available. Complete resort hotel maintenance has also been a Bluff highlight.

Phyllis Saunders of Newport Beach has been named social director of the Bluffs.

OVERLOOKS BAY
Rustic beamed ceilings, Spanish-styled fireplaces and wide selection of three and four-bedroom tile roof homes are offered at the Bluffs' new units in Newport Beach with prices starting at $28,000. Site is just west of Jamboree Road overlooking Upper Newport Bay.

The appointment of Mrs. Saunders to head the activities at the community was part of a long range plan to make the Bluffs one of the most interesting in the nation, developers George M. Holstein and Sons' says.

Formerly with the Capistrano Saddle Club, Mrs. Saunders has lived in Newport for thirteen years and has been active in bridge circles as a teacher. She is also an expert tennis player and skier.

The new Bluffs social director has three children, Christine, 16, Richard 15, and Steve, nine. All attend local schools.

At Laguna Festival

The 12th annual Realtors Night at the Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters in Laguna Beach will be held this year on Friday, July 16, it has been announced.

Local Chapter Will Elect Wednesday

The Long Beach Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its regular monthly technical meeting and annual election of officers Wednesday at the Long Beach Elks Club.

Speaker will be Alan Stern, project manager, Computer Sciences Corp., El Segundo.

BUYERS FIND

Fernhill Offering Top Adult Living

Many buyers at all-adult Fernhill purchased homes at the Huntington Beach planned development because individual separate homes are available there, says sales agent Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks.

He emphasized that buyers have included several couples who had surveyed planned development homes from Ventura to San Diego. No exterior maintenance and luxurious facilities appealed to them, but they said they could not buy planned development homes with no common walls. "Fernhill offers in its Plan 2 a completely individual, separate home," McFarland said. Plan 2 offers a 3-bedroom, 2-bath home with 1,500 square feet of living area. Features include wall-to-wall nylon carpeting, Gold Medallion kitchen and ceramic tile in kitchens and baths.

* * * *

McFARLAND added, that Plan 1 homes have a common wall in the garage only. These are also individual homes, since they are built only in pairs.

Swimming pool, grounds, landscaping, home exteriors, putting greens, badminton, shuffleboard and tennis courts are all professionally maintained. There is a monthly fee for this service.

Fernhill prices range from $22,400 with 5% down, and 6¼% financing. Fernhill is for adults and families with children 15 or over.

Fernhill is located next to Meadowlark Golf and Country Club. Visitors may take Bolsa Chica Road south from San Diego Freeway to Warner and turn left to Fernhill.

FOR GROWNUPS
All-adult Fernhill in Huntington Beach includes a completely individual home in its planned development offering. A typical living room is shown here. Fernhill's Plan 2 has no common walls with any other residence, yet offers full "no maintenance" living format. Price range is from $22,400.

Trust Investing to Be Discussed

James M. Garrison, Bank of America vice president and head of trust investments for Southern California, will discuss "Modern Trust Investing" with members of the Long Beach Estate Planning Thursday noon at the Petroleum Club.

The program was arranged by Donald E. Smith, trust officer for Bank of America branches in the Long Beach area.

Members of the Trust Council include life underwriters, certified public accountants, trust officers and attorneys.

Investment Meeting Set

Numerous Long Beach area Realtors will attend the Fourth Annual California Real Estate Association Conference on Real Esate Investment at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, May 27-28.

William Walters Jr. of Los Angeles, conference chairman, said the program will include lecturers and workshop sessions on Urban Lot Development, Real Estate Syndication, Leasing, Opportunities in Older Properties and Community Development.

For Adults and Families with Children 15 or Over

Like the idea of planned development living, with no exterior maintenance,* fabulous recreational facilities and plenty of leisure to enjoy it all?

Disappointed to find planned developments where you are asked to live on top of the next family? Then Fernhill is the place for you.

Here you can enjoy an individual residence, completely detached from the others—spacious, luxurious and charming.

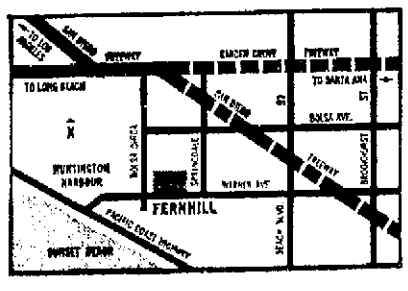

Ask to see Fernhill Plans 1 and 2—up to 1500 sq. ft. of individual home for you, in fast-growing, smog-free Huntington Beach.

sneak preview admiration-sheer admiration is what you'll feel as you see our painters putting the finishing touches on the model homes at Carriage Place. Sure he may get in your way a little bit as you get first peek at these 3, 4, and 5 bedroom, 1 and 2 story homes, but what's this small inconvenience compared to an opportunity to snatch up a real value before our Grand Opening, especially with a guaranteed trade-in on your old home. So maybe the luxury baths won't be completely finished or the shelves up in the walk-in closets. But you'll get a pretty good idea as you walk through 1200 to 1858 square feet of living space.

If you'd rather come with the crowd wait till our Grand Opening, but if you're the type that likes first "dibs" put on your old clothes and come to our Sneak Preview. And if you can use a color TV bring the coupon shown below with you. Who knows—you might win.

Rainbow Homes Offer Four Plans

NEW MODEL
One of many styles of homes offered at Rainbow Homes in West Anaheim show the attention to detail and convenience that the new development offers homebuyers. Many modern features are included in the purchase price of these Orange County homes.

Rainbow Homes in West Anaheim continue to record rapid sales. The one- and two-story homes have four different floor plans, each with a variety of exterior elevations. There are three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms and two and two and a half baths, with every plan.

Architectural styles are varied by the abundant use of brick and stone. There is wall-to-wall carpeting of 100% continuous filament nylon and redwood fencing enclosing rear and side yards.

Kitchens are all electric with built-in range, oven, dishwasher and ventilating hoods and fans.

* * * *

LIVING ROOMS are equipped with wood-burning fireplaces. Separate family rooms adjacent to the kitchens assure privacy and each floor plan includes separate service and utility rooms.

Baths have ceramic tiled showers. There are 40-gallon water heaters, 70,000 BTU forced air furnaces, weather-stripped doors, used brick planters, sliding glass doors, folding wardrobe doors, television outlets, street lights and utilities installed and paid for.

Located on Ball Road at Highway 39, Rainbow Homes are within short distances of both metropolitan and industrial areas of Orange and Los Angeles Counties as well as the vast recreational facilities of the area.

Open New Rancho Units

Rancho La Paz, new 36-unit, luxury garden-apartment complex at Cerritos and Knott Avenue in Anaheim, is holding its grand opening this week.

Built and developed by Larry McCombs and Harold Rosebrugh, the two and three bedroom studio and single level apartments are reflective of early California design with shake roofs, slump block fireplaces, stucco, board and batten siding and ornate wrought-iron styled fences and lanterns.

The central plaza has a children's play area and a recreation building.

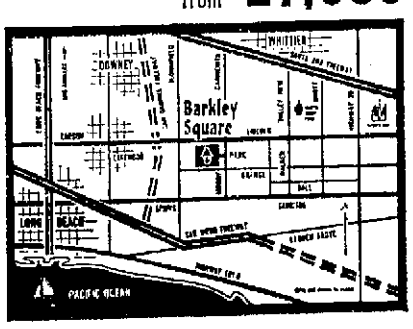

Located with quick access to the beach and metropolitan areas and four freeways, Rancho La Paz, at 1421 S. Knott, Anaheim, is just a block from school and shopping.

'Catnaper' Buys Home at Oceana

To any real estate salesman, the statement "I'll sleep on it" by a customer is in many instances a kiss of death. Such a situation developed at Oceana, an adult resort-retirement community in Oceanside, recently except with a slightly different twist.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey T. Colby of Whittier appeared to be quite interested in a good view location but made no indication to the salesman that they would purchase on their first visit.

Later in the sales office, the salesman was writing up another deal while Colby "catnapped" in the lobby. Ten minutes had elapsed when Colby sleepily walked into the salesman's office, yawned and stated, "I'll take it now that I've slept on it!"

Atrium Homes Are Big Feature at California Home Fair Tract

BEAM CEILING
Award-winning atrium home at California Home Fair features an outstanding floor plan. The living room is free from cross traffic, yet is open to the atrium.

The atrium model home designed by Robert L. Barnett, A.I.A. for California Home Fair in Huntington Beach is an outstanding example of modern home design for modern living.

The effective use of the open air is especially appropriate for Southern California climate. In the Bel-Air model, one of five design original model homes on display, a centrally located open-air atrium enhances the theme of indoor-outdoor living.

There are several advantages to this floor plan, according to Baxter Caterson, sales manager. "It allows families with young children a protected outdoor 'playpen' visible from almost every room. A central atrium can also be used for a variety of family activities and serve as an extra patio for large parties."

* * * *

PRICES range from $29,550 to $35,975 for three, four and five bedroom homes. Many exceptional features included are floor-to-ceiling fireplaces of Palos Verdes stone, Santa Maria stone, Norman brick, slump block stone, concrete block or brick. Cathedral beam ceilings are used extensively in the unusual living-dining and family rooms.

The sales pavilion, decorating studio and model home plaza of the California Home Fair can be reached via Beach Blvd., just four miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. in Huntington Beach.

New Apartment Group to Meet

BELLFLOWER—Next meeting of the recently organized Los Cerritos Valley Apartment Owners Association, Inc., will be at 7:30 p.m. May 18 in the office of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors, 9921 E. Flower.

Areas with members in the association include Downey, Paramount, Pico Rivera, Whittier, Santa Fe Springs, Norwalk, Artesia, Dairy Valley, Hawaiian Gardens, Lakewood and Bellflower.

Membership is now open, with $12 dues for the first year, according to R. D. Boggs, one of the organizers. Interested parties were asked to contact 17117 S. Clark Ave., Bellflower.

DOING IT YOURSELF can be expensive. Better let one of the reliable service firms you find in the Classified section do it. Turn back now.

Family Living in Cypress Units

CYPRESS, Calif.—"Today's homebuyer demands beauty and durability in his home. With this in mind, Barkley Square homes feature materials which invite family living," says Stanley W. Sampson, of Barkley Development Co.

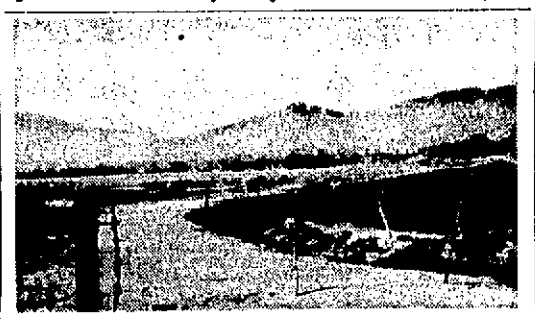

Tiled entry floors will retain their beauty through years of use. Beautifully finished wood, textured floors and easy-to-maintain counters, made coordinating the kitchens a pleasure.

The 50-home prestige community in Cypress, offers one and two story residences that utilize four floor plans and 11 exteriors.

Three to four bedroom homes have two to three baths, large family rooms, raised or sunken living rooms and walk-in wardrobe closets. The fourth bedroom may be used as a guest room, den, playroom or hobby room.

VA, FHA and conventional financing is available at Barkley Square on homes priced from $27,950.

Models may be reached by driving east on Carson (which becomes Lincoln) to Moody, then right to Barkley Square. Or east on Spring (which becomes Cerritos) to Moody, then left to model homes.

WIDE OPEN SPACES
W-Bar-B Ranch at Walker Basin in Kern County features two-acre sites in the level valley or mountains for "get-away-from-it-all" ranch life pleasures. Rolling hills and tall trees accentuate the wilderness look of the area.

Units Ready at Westmont

NEW KITCHENS
Brand new kitchens, a new model, and opening of Unit 22 are part of the activity today at George M. Holstein & Sons Westmont community in Fountain Valley. Site is just east of Highway 39 on Warner Avenue near schools, park and shops. Big Bonus Room is the Westmont feature.

A new model, new plans and a complete selection of exteriors will be part of the opening show at Westmont in Fountain Valley where the latest group of the big "Bonus Room" homes go on sale.

With prices starting at $24,500, the new unit will include front landscaping, sprinklers, block wall, and new kitchen appliances along with the popular, over-the-garage "Bonus Room."

The Bonus Room has proved popular with buyers who need extra space for bedrooms, play area, or giant rumpus room. The new plans call for the second story room in excess of 450 square feet.

* * * *

THE NEW Westmont unit offers buyers a wide range of terms. FHA and Veteran financing are available as are conventional terms that start as low as $595 down.

Shake roof, fireplace, paneling, and big family rooms are all features of Westmont. The site is near new schools and shopping areas.

Visitors take the Garden Grove Freeway to the Highway 39 turnoff, then right (South) on Highway 39 about three miles to Warner Ave., and left about one mile to the Westmont entry.

The Caribe Opened at Newport Beach

Now you can enjoy the atmosphere and beauty of visiting Cannes, Rio, Majorca, and other world-famous beach resorts, just by driving one hour to the new high-rise Caribe apartments, on the bay at Newport Beach.

Each of the 12 model apartments in the 49-unit building has been designed to capture the mood suggested by the title. Decorated by Barnett Bros., of Beverly Hills, the Caribe recently completed a two-week grand opening.

Private boat slips are offered at The Caribe, where two-bedroom and bachelor apartments are available in 12 different floor plans. All kitchens feature built-ins, including dishwasher, and each apartment has a private balcony overlooking the island community.

* * * *

THE CARIBE is owned and operated by Wilsen Construction and Development Corp., builders of more than 50 apartment buildings in Southern California.

Services offered at the Caribe include cleaning and laundry delivery, game room, roof-top sun deck, and swimming pool. Maximum security is assured with full-time doorman, subterranean garage service, and a special elevator that requires a key.

Apartments in this concrete structure are large with bachelors averaging 800 square feet, and two-bedroom accommodations approximately 1,500 square feet.

Furnished or unfurnished apartments are ready for occupancy on a lease basis. The Caribe is open daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Fernando and Bay Avenue on the Newport Beach peninsula.

Renamed to Committee

Nathan H. Benson of the Purdy Co., Long Beach, has been reappointed to the National Affairs Committee of the Institute of Scrap Iron & Steel, according to word from Institute offices at Washington, D. C.

Sneak Preview Set at Carriage Place

STEP AROUND THE WORKMAN
Visitors at sneak preview of Carriage Place, South Bay development, are advised to step around workmen but are welcome at unfinished homes this week.

Carriage Place, new residential development in the South Bay area, is holding a sneak preview this week at Figueroa and Sepulveda, just off the Harbor Freeway. The development will open formally in July.

In explaining the reason for the sneak preview, John Gause, spokesman for the developers, said, "Many people want to get in on the ground floor of a development, reserving the home of their choice before the general public gets involved. They have to step around a few workmen, but this is nothing to those who want to snatch up a value."

* * * *

GAUSE EXPLAINED that the site of Carriage Place, near the intersection of the Harbor and San Diego Freeways, was choosen because of its proximity to so many of Southern California's employment, educational and recreational facilities.

Carriage Place will offer one- and two-story homes with three, four, and five bedrooms and from 1,245 to 1,850 square feet of living space.

Features will include: owner's suites with private baths, walk-in closets; separate dining rooms; large living rooms, dens, family rooms; service rooms for sewing, laundry utilities; Balanced Power kitchen with built-in range, oven, dishwasher, and garbage disposer; two-car garages with workshop space.

* * * *

ALSO INCLUDED are, wall-to-wall nylon carpeting, woodburning fireplaces of brick or stone, sliding glass doors to patios, marble-ized pullman sinks and ceramic tile showers in glass enclosures in the baths.

Homes will be priced from $23,950 to $30,000 with 5% down payment and 30 years financing.

NLB Club Plans Forum Thursday

The open forum type of meeting will be featured at the Thursday breakfast session of the North Long Beach Real Estate Club, with the spotlight on real estate salesmen and how they can be better in their field.

Moderator will be Rhuna Emery, salesman with Jerry's Realty.

The place is the Crown Bowl, 1301 Artesia Blvd.; the time is 8 a.m.

George is a 20-year man with FORD dealers, the last 11 years being with MEL BURNS FORD. He is a L. B. Shriner, and a father of two boys. George says, "We are particularly proud of our A-1 Warranty . . . a 2-year written warranty . . . FORD Sponsored; on over 100 A-1 cars, '59 to '65 11-owners!. This means 'CHOICE SELECTION' only." MEL BURNS FORD, established in 1947, is now a 5-acre location in the heart of L. B. auto row, offering genuine FORD parts and service, NEW FORDS, used cars (late model T-BIRDS, 25 to choose from); an acre of trucks right on the corner; and a complete facility for CAR LEASING and CAR RENTAL by the day.

'Women don't know beans ...about buying'

Ralph Lisle . . . shops by rule.

Few women get the most out of their grocery dollar contends Ralph Lisle, who believes it takes astute figuring to keep up with today's shrewd merchandisers. Here he tells how he "minimizes his losses" at the market place—feeds a family of four on $15 a week.

By MARY NETH

When Ralph Lisle goes to market he goes prepared.

After a hearty Saturday breakfast (that's his first rule—never shop on an empty stomach), he gathers up his marketing musts: slide rule, pencil, dittoed shopping list; makes one last check of kitchen shelves with wife, Emmy, and sets out—alone.

"Women make the mistake of taking along the kids," he says. "They tend to rattle one—I leave Doug and Margie at home."

To Ralph, a scientific minded man, grocery shopping is not to be approached in slap dash fashion. He believes it's a serious business—and rightly so.

(Last year American families chomped through $56,200,000,000 worth of store bought foodstuffs. The grocery business is big business, indeed.)

AS HE WHEELS his cart down the supermarket aisles, where some 8,000 items are on display, Ralph Lisle is a study in concentration.

He pauses near a pyramid of canned goods to scribble down a price, he hesitates half an aisle down to eye fine print on a package, he stops before plunging into the produce department to scan signs—pick the best buys of the day.

With all this attention to detail, his shopping excursion (from time he enters door to moment he steps from checkout line) takes no longer than 30 minutes, the average time spent by the average American housewife.

But, the result of his foray into this traditionally feminine sphere is far from average.

The Nutrition Division, Los Angeles County Health Department, figures it takes $22.55 to adequately feed a family of four. That's its poverty family economy diet plan.

THE LISLES spend no more than $15 a week, and have, according to Ralph, "a much more than adequate weekly menu."

How is it done?

"I pay attention to what I'm doing," he says, "that's more than I can say of most women shoppers."

Unfortunately, national surveys seem to bear him out. The average little woman takes her dollars to market with little concept of how to save cents.

According to these interviews, she carries no shopping list, is a pushover for new items (foods or gadgets), only occasionally buys specials, is a poor mathematician, who falls for "two for" or "three for" items even when no saving is involved.

She also is an eye-level to waist-level shopper — rarely checks prices below or above—will pay more than 51.2% over regular prices for convenience foods; is a sucker for anything in cellophane.

One store manager went so far as to wrap his coconuts—sales spiraled.

"Absolutely, inexcusable shopping habits," says Ralph.

A school teacher, now pursuing a course in higher math at Long Beach State, he scorns such feminine frivolity.

"That's just asking to be taken," he says. "You have to know prices — you really can be clobbered by changes if you don't."

The Health Department advises the family on a limited budget to plan menus ahead, make a shopping list from them, then allow only a set amount a week for grocery buying.

Ralph eschews this all as impractical.

HE SHOPS by list, not menu, and doesn't limit the amount spent in a given week.

"Why tie yourself down — lose out on a real sale," he says. "I may spend only $5 one week — then see a bargain and shoot $25 the next week."

The Lisles' grocery buying hinges on a dittoed master shopping list worked out over a period of months.

"Sometimes I buy items that aren't included," says Ralph, "but, they must Emmy Lisle, with offspring, Margie and Doug, shows how shopping shouldn't be done. Kids in and on the cart add up to harassment—mom ends up breaking her budget.

Emmy's learned to weigh prices.

Fourteen ounces in a pack equal puzzle, not a pound

Few consumers, as yet, figure price discrepancies by slide rule as does Lisle, but many now carry pencil and paper.

No one can blame grocers and food merchants for wooing the housewife with the dedication of Don Juans. Everyone is aware she's loved for her money. Everyone knows the competition for her loyalty is keen; that the food business is a fiercely competitive business.

But, a growing number of people also are becoming aware that some of these marketplace Romeos are just plain deceitful. And they don't condone that.

PRE-PACKAGING practices are a prime example. It seems planned confusion aims at delusion here.

"The consumer DOES have a right to compare price before buying," pointed out Helen Nelson, consumer counsel to Governor Brown, during her recent appearance at the Consumer Money Saver Conference, Lafayette Hotel.

That it's not always a simple matter was pointed up in her report "Packages and Prices."

In a shopping test five housewives (all with college training) were asked to buy 14 items—choosing each on basis of largest quantity at least cost.

The result: With only one of the 14 products did all five shoppers succeed in identifying the lowest cost item.

WHY CAN'T prices be compared? "Because of the absurd sizes packages come in today," said Mrs. Nelson. For example: of the 14 choices of packaged rice available at the test supermarket, not one was a pound package.

Adding insult to pocketbook injury, the cost of the package is billed to the consumer. According to Mrs. Nelson the lowest estimate of this cost for an average family comes to about "$16 a month for containers—that can't be eaten, can't be drunk, can't be used for anything except to stuff the trash can."

What can the consumer do to avoid these packaging pitfalls? Be smart, join the sophisticated shoppers.

Buy for value, not premium offers, weigh convenience to cost, check weight and contents—even if it forces you into bifocals before your time.

And, exercise your American right to complain—write your legislator!

Attention's on VCC tourney ...at country club they think golf

As every golfer knows, concentration is the key to success, from tee to green, on any course. If games of women players at Virginia Country Club have been suffering, it is because they are too busy concentrating on another phase of golf—the inaugural of the Marge Ferrie Invitational Golf Tournament they will host at club Tuesday, May 25.

Virginia women golfers decided to dedicate this annual invitational to the memory of Marge Ferrie in recognition of her golfing achievements in representing VCC for more than two decades.

This year 128 members of Women of Southern California Golf Association will participate in the one day, 18-hole medal play event.

Three flights of outstanding contestants from various country clubs will include Mmes. Jack Holmes, San Gabriel; Jan Tarble, Bel Air; Dale Dynes, Mesa Verde; Allen Georgenson, Los Coyotes; and Ruth McCullough, Riviera.

Overall net winner will be presented with the Marge Ferrie Perpetual Trophy donated by James Ferrie. She also will receive a replica of the trophy to keep. Eighteen coveted prizes will be awarded to top winners of low net and low gross in each flight.

Mrs. J. W. Becker, chairman, and her committee have planned a full day of entertainment for tourney participants including cocktails, luncheon and a show, "Tin Pan Alley."

WILD WAVES SAY

Tour time, city-wide to world-wide

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Society Editor

WHAT WITH all the new subidivisions and their unfamiliar street names popping up around us, even old timers get an uncasy feeling that maybe the saying, "you can't get there from here," is true. However, Lakewood High Faculty Wives and their teacher spouses are going to prove you can (with the aid of maps) when they have progressive dinner party Saturday.

Wives and husbands, about 90 in all, will find their way to Billie and Hank Sparkman's, Pat and Hank Young's and Joanne and Wayne Metsker's. Pat is general chairman, thus her interest in getting gang to destination on time. Besides Joanne, her committee consists of Velma (Mrs. Charles) Toy, Belinda (Mrs. Tom) Collins and Phyllis (Mrs. Robert) Jurgensen, president of the wives club.

IT WAS a "triple threat" party when Ann Exley entertained at a cocktail buffet the other night. It was an hola! (welcome home) for her husband, Sid, who has been spending so much time in Oakland on business (now mostly completed); an adios farewell salute for Betty and Bix Bixby and Marge and Bud Young, who plan a summer trip to Europe; and a felicitations time for the Exley's daughter, Patti, and fiance, Norman Ahlquist.

MAYBE WITH the old proverb, "One picture is worth a thousand words," in mind, Jerry and Harry Graves airmaled a photo of themselves from Australia to prove to friends that, despite the rigors (all pleasurable) of a 42-day cruise to the South Seas, Down Under and back, they're managing to stay slim, trim. Picture was made between New Zealand and Sydney on night two celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

PROOF THEY'RE UP TO LIFE 'DOWN UNDER'
. . . Jerry and Harry Graves still all at sea

HERE WE sit, yawning over our Sunday morning cups of coffee, with maybe nothing more exciting to do than pour another cup. But not Marie and Al Durfee, Mary and Matt Simpson, the Al Shepherds and Virginia and Claude Ryerson. This very moment they could be night clubbing on Bond St. in London or seeing Piccadilly Square in the mists of the midnight hours. Probably, though, they're tucked in their beds, resting up for an exciting day tomorrow. All have just begun a five-week tour of Europe with London first stop.

THEY'RE PLOTTING A COURSE THROUGH DEEPEST, DENSEST NEW SUBDIVISIONS OF TOWN
. . . . Joanne (Mrs. Wayne) Metsker (l.), of Rossmoor, Pat (Mrs. Roy) Woolbright, El Dorado Park Estates, figure route for Lakewood High Faculty Wives progressive dinner

They'll "do" England, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France, flying home from Paris. The Durfees had a rendezvous Wednesday, night of arrival, with Olive and Hugh McDuffie who were en route from Spain to Holland.

OFF FOR the land of fiesta, siesta, ole—and fishing—are members of Southern California Tuna Club and guests for annual billfish tournament. All told, 54 are going (biggest crowd ever to make trek) and this year they will fish out of Cabo San Lucas resort at the very tip of Baja California.

Dr. Gordon Bateman (with Olive's help, rest assured!) is in charge. Dr. Julian Knutson, president of club, has had several handsome Mexican silver trophies made for the winners. Dr. Jack Dorsey is social chairman for jaunt (they don't fish ALL the time you know), Harrison Moore and Mel Masterson are in charge of arranging boats and bait (how well do you habla espanol, fellas?).

Jim Wood is rules chairman and Charles Swanson is to be records keeper while Lloyd Hunter has the distinct pleasure of being the ladies man of the junket — meaning he's in charge of the women's fishing tourney, a one day go get 'em from the briny event.

They've put Al Beach to work at something that comes naturally — he's travel and reservations chairman. Part of the group left Saturday — rest fly off Monday.

YOU MAY not realize it, but when you wheel by Betty Lou and Wes Rollo's home, 3947 Lemon Ave., you're at Trojansville-by-the-Sea. Daughter, Carol, has been elected student body vice president at USC. Her brother. Bob, currently Poly High student body president, will enter SC in the fall. What's more, Betty Lou and Wes are both USC alums. In fact, Betty Lou was Helen of troy homecoming queen in her day as a student.

Even more, more, Carol of Troy is a member of Mortar Board, Amazons, Spurs and Kappa Kappa Gamma. She was veep of the junior class up there and president of Troeds as a freshman. And what honors did Wes win on campus? Why, the greatest of all. He was smart enough to win the hand of B'Lou!

PREPARED for a suave, ladylike affair, members of Alamitos Bay Garden Club went to the annual spring luncheon at Pacific Coast Club. Harriet Wood provided a delightful (and dignified) musical program. Then sophistication blew out the windows as connivers in the crowd, to total surprise of all the rest, put on the zaniest fashion show of the year. Models Ruth Jensen, Margaret Chase, Mary Lyon, Ina Harris, Bobbie Poppler and Betty (Ingalls) Bragg showed the worst that could be worn from morning to night, from overdressed to underdressed, with Mary Truitt commentating.

Oh. About Betty Jean Ingalls and her new name. She and Foster Bragg were married in a quiet ceremony couple of weeks ago to friends' surprise and delight. They're living in Long Beach.

WHEN Irma and Bob Leebrick arrived in Riverside, Conn., just before Easter to visit daughter and son-in-law, Harriet and Jim Miller and the children, it was winter. Within one week the countryside had burst into spring with dogwood blooming where only bare branches had been, flowers popping up and hillsides turning green. Now that Irma and Bob are home, just flew back this week, she recalls that period as one of the most exciting of the trip.

Realtors' wives to fete Mrs. Hoffman at tea

May is traditional month for Realtors' Wives to have a membership tea in honor of the wife of the president of Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

Mrs. Clyde S. Brown, 25 Belmont Ave., will open her home for this year's tea Tuesday at 2 p.m. Honoree will be Mrs. James C. Hoffman. All wives of Long Beach Realtors are invited.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS CHAT OVER PLANS FOR AUXILIARY TEA

Auxiliary speaker is named

The Rev. Sylvester D. Ryan of St. Anthony's Catholic Church will be guest speaker at the annual invitational membership tea of Carmelite Nuns Auxiliary Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Petroleum Club.

New officers and board of the auxiliary will be presented and a musical program by the St. Anthony Boys High School Band is on the agendum.

Mrs. Robert Stickney is chairman of the tea assisted by Mrs. Harry C. Bosley and Mrs. Robert D. Nelson.

Carmelite Nuns Auxiliary, a lay organization with more than 2,000 women in the Southland as members, helps maintain the cloistered nuns at Carmel of St. Joseph Convent, 3361 E. Ocean Blvd., headed by the Prioress Rev. Mother Margaret Mary.

Mornings of bridge slated

Long Beach Recreation Department is sponsoring mornings of free bridge play. Program takes place Mondays from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Houghton Park, 6301 Myrtle Ave. Guests provide their own sandwiches. Coffee is furnished by the Recreation Department Bridge Club.

THIS WISE SHOPPER: Gets his money's worth!

fall into two categories—genuine bargains or things fully recognized as luxuries."

Ralph is a stickler for checking quantity. That's why he carries the slide rule—to quickly figure comparative value per ounce.

(For those less mathematically inclined, a price comparator can be purchased from Dial & Save, Inc., 8 West 40th St., New York 18, N.Y.)

"Modern packaging is very deceptive," he points out. Manufacturers and processors print net weight in small type hoping you won't look. They also make use of "off-standard weight, thinking (probably rightly so) that a shopper will think "half pound" when she reads "6 and ⅝ ounces.

"Larger packages are generally cheaper—but not always so. Occasionally the smaller bottle of a brand will sell for less—you HAVE to check price per ounce, you can't take anything for granted, you must stay on your toes."

When it comes to sales of off-brand merchandise, Ralph advises caution. "Buy a small quantity first—if you like it go back, sales usually last over a week."

The Lisles keep watch of seasonal price changes in produce—and depressed meat and poultry prices.

"I never pay more than 40 cents per pound for meat," says Ralph. "By using a pressure cooker we get by with cheaper cuts."

Other advice from this shopping expert: "don't buy things displayed by the cash register (except perhaps a TV guide), stoop to save pennies (often brands on bottom shelves cost less), buy by pound not portion and keep a close check on nutritive values."

For the latter, the Lisles swear by their "Lange Handbook of Chemistry." "It helps us keep tab on protein, fat, carbohydrate needs—amino acid balance. There's no use in cutting down on grocery spending and increasing doctor bills."

Without doubt Ralph is a sharp shopper, but you wonder, doesn't he ever cut loose and splurge on such a package of pre-cooked lobster tails or a bottle of chutney? Of course not, he saves his money for more important things.

Just last week he waved his hand at an auction and came home proud owner of a lung capacity measuring machine. "Just what I've always wanted," he says firmly.

And the week before that he plunked down $50 for a cute little Siamese cat. Before she strayed away she managed to rip up a portion of the sofa, fray the ends of the drapes—but she "really was a terrific bargain," says Ralph.

DESIGNER IS JUDGE

Concours d'Elegance to show Cord 8/10.

A new star will shine in the galaxy of luxury sports cars at the South Coast Concours d' Elegance, Newport Beach today.

Scaled down from one of the most famous automotive designs of the 20's and 30's, but retaining its lines, the new Cord 8/10 will make its West Coast debut.

The South Coast Concours will be held on the grounds of the Newporter Inn at Newport Beach, sponsored by the South Coast Child Guidance Clinic.

* * * *

DESIGNER of the original Cord, Gordon Beuhrig, will be at the event showing off his new car as well as acting as one of the judges.

A display of at least 15 Ferraris from the Ferrari Owners Club will also line up at the Concours, and one of the prototype Ford GT open roadsters will be shown.

A round trip for two to Paris will be the grand prize at the event. At least 60 entries are registered so far for the Concours. Competition will be for Class Trophies and Best of Show Honors.

Prominent L.B. residents mark 50th anniversary

Prominent Long Beach residents since 1922, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hall of 150 Roswell Ave., were honored at a dinner party Thursday feting their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event was given in Petroleum Club by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Clemo, daughter and son-in-law of the honorees.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall, both active in the business and civic life of Long Beach, were married in Hutchinson, Kan., May 12, 1915. Mr. Hall retired from the lumber business he owned about 10 years ago.

More than 70 of the couple's closest friends attended the dinner in addition to their six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Bid Soroptimists to Ports O' Call

August 21 is date chosen by Harbor District Soroptimist Club for annual "harbor day" when Soroptimists from many Southland communities will be guests. Festivities will begin at 10 a.m. with a boat tour departing from Ports o' Call restaurant, San Pedro, followed by a luncheon, fashion show, wig show and shopping in Ports o' Call Village, said general chairman Mrs. Corine Ely.

Election slated

"In and Outs" of Friday Morning Discussion Club will meet for semi-annual luncheon and election of officers at noon Friday in Scandia Inn, 5277 E. Second St. Mrs. Paul J. Findly will be initiated as a new member.

Capt. Paul S. Kerstien weds in Massachusetts

MRS. PAUL KERSTIEN

Capt. Paul S. Kerstien, USAF, of East Falmouth, Mass., and Kathleen E. McGuire of Boston were married Saturday morning in the Catholic Chapel at Otis AFB, Cape Cod, Mass. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Kerstien, of 2921 Caspian Ave.

The gown worn by the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. McGuire of Chicago, was styled of white silk crepe and reembroidered Guipure lace, brought from overseas by the groom. The bride designed and made the gown which featured a train and mantilla veil.

* * * *

ANN PETRIE was maid of honor with Elizabeth Allen, Jane Beam and Katherine Furniss as bridesmaids.

Capt. David Fortman, USAF, was best man and Capts. John Chard, Harold Merry and John Weigand, USAF, served as ushers.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the officers club following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Kerstien was graduated from Marygrove College in Detroit; her husband attended UCLA.

Following a honeymoon trip to New Hampshire and Montreal, the newlyweds will reside in Falmouth Heights, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Chapman

Open house Sunday honors 50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clare J. Chapman of 2274 Maine Ave., will be honored at an open house in their home today in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event will be hosted by their two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Chapman of Eugene, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Chapman of Los Alamitos; and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ruff of Santa Ana.

* * * *

THE HONOREES were married in 1915 in Leslie, Mich., where Mr. Chapman was associated with his uncle in the hardware business. In 1925, the couple moved to Los Angeles, where he worked with the May Co., and then the Ed James automobile agency. In 1942, the Chapmans moved to Long Beach, where he is still active with the Bob James automobile agency.

Mr. Chapman is affiliated with Downtown Kiwanis Club, Masonic Lodge 327 and Chamber of Commerce. Both are active in the Methodist Church. Mrs. Chapman is a member of the WSCS and PEO.

They have five grandchildren.

Annual meeting

Annual meeting of Nazareth Shrine 8 social club will take place at Machinists Hall Monday noon at which time a covered dish luncheon will be served.

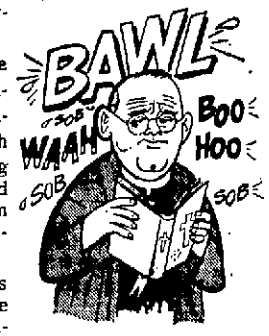

HOW TO GET MARRIED

Don't forget Pop--he pays!

By JUDY HAZLETT
I. P-T Staff Writer
(Seventh in a series)

Now that the big day is just around the corner, you, the bride, have been focus of attention since the wedding date was chosen.

However, you must remember that parents also are important to the ceremony so don't overlook them.

They have special obligations in conjunction with your wedding and you should consult them with every detail.

The bride's parents have more obligation with the ceremony than the groom's parents, at least from the monetary standpoints.

For instance, as head of the house your father pays for any church rental, for all decorations, bridesmaids, flowers, musicians, sexton's fee, the reception and your wedding attire.

(If the bride is fatherless, her family or guardians will pay for the wedding.)

THE MAIN DUTY of your mother, who is official hostess, is to help you carry out your wedding plans. She may contact the caterer for the reception, choose the photographer, see that there are enough cars to take the wedding party to the church, help with your trousseau, consult with the florist and help with the display of gifts.

Aside from the pull on the strings of his pocketbook, your father doesn't have as many pre-wedding responsibilities. It is tradition that he plan to drive with you to the church alone. During the ceremony, he will take part by giving you away.

At the reception, your father may or may not stand in the receiving line to greet the guests but he must remain to bid them goodbye. If there is a dinner or luncheon given for the wedding party before the ceremony, he usually acts as host.

The groom and his family, although there are not so many obligations with the ceremony itself, have several items to think about, too.

Engagement and wedding rings are paid for by the groom as is the marriage license, and the gift for his bride. He will also have gifts for the best man and ushers.

The minister's fee should be sealed in an envelope by the groom, which usually ranges from $10 up. This is given to the minister by the best man.

THE GROOM will also pay for the corsages for the mothers and the bride's bouquets. Boutonnieres for the men and the bride's going away corsage should also be ordered.

The honeymoon, which will be discussed in a later column, also will be paid for by the groom.

The groom's parents are actually honored guests at the wedding and reception with the father dressing just as his son. They will stand in the receiving line to meet all of the guests and usually present the bride with a special gift.

(Next: Choosing the flowers.)

IN QUESTION

DEAR MRS. HAZLETT:

If the bride prefers the flower girl to go in front of the maid of honor rather in front of the bride, is it considered poor taste.—C.G.

The bride was improper when she asked that the flower girl follow the maid of honor. The reason for the flower girl is to scatter the rose petals in the bride's pathway, not for the maid of honor.

If you have questions concerning wedding etiquette for bride, parent or guest, write to "How to Get Married," Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach. All questions will be answered by mail or in this column.

Emblem Club plans social

Long Beach Emblem Club will hold its monthly card social luncheon Thursday in the Veterans Park Clubhouse, 101 E. 28th St.

Mmes. Earl Doty, Edward Santagata, Harry Coots and William Ries are hostesses. Chairmen for the year are Lillian Quintal and Olga Wood.

A meeting will be held May 25, at 834 Freeman Ave. to discuss items to be sewn for the upcoming bazaar sponsored by the group.

List school menus

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of May 17-21:

Monday: Ham & noodle casserole, tossed green salad, fruit cup supreme, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

Tuesday: Oven fried chicken, mashed potatoes-gravy, sliced peaches, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

Wednesday: Italian spaghetti, buttered green beans, apple torte with whipped topping, hot buttered French bread and milk.

Thursday: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, Hawaiian coleslaw, cherry sauce with whipped topping, raised biscuit-butter and milk.

Friday: Baked fish, buttered spinach, quartered orange, oatmeal cookie, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30c. Soup and salad from the junior-senior high school a la carte menu are sold in the elementary schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

Monday: Neapolitan macaroni, buttered peas, fruit gelatine, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

Tuesday: Pizza, garden salad, peach-prune compote, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

Wednesday: Turkey in gravy on mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, spicy applesauce, raised biscuit-butter and milk.

Thursday: Italian spaghetti, buttered green beans, fruit cup supreme with strawberry garnish, hot buttered French bread and milk.

Friday: Tuna and noodle casserole or beef vegetable casserole, Hawaiian coleslaw, berry sauce with whipped topping, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

Summer Skin Care

It is easy to have a smooth lovely complexion, despite the skin-coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement to open and close without being clogged. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion from harsh sun rays and will give the skin a cool, milky bloom even on the hottest days. Your druggist can supply you with oil of Olay for your personal needs.

'Women don't know beans ...about buying'

Ralph Lisle . . . shops by rule.

Few women get the most out of their grocery dollar contends Ralph Lisle, who believes it takes astute figuring to keep up with today's shrewd merchandisers. Here he tells how he "minimizes his losses" at the market place—feeds a family of four on $15 a week.

By MARY NETH

When Ralph Lisle goes to market he goes prepared.

After a hearty Saturday breakfast (that's his first rule—never shop on an empty stomach), he gathers up his marketing musts: slide rule, pencil, dittoed shopping list; makes one last check of kitchen shelves with wife, Emmy, and sets out—alone.

"Women make the mistake of taking along the kids," he says. "They tend to rattle one—I leave Doug and Margie at home."

To Ralph, a scientific minded man, grocery shopping is not to be approached in slap dash fashion. He believes it's a serious business—and rightly so.

(Last year American families chomped through $56,200,000,000 worth of store bought foodstuffs. The grocery business is big business, indeed.)

AS HE WHEELS his cart down the supermarket aisles, where some 8,000 items are on display, Ralph Lisle is a study in concentration.

He pauses near a pyramid of canned goods to scribble down a price, he hesitates half an aisle down to eye fine print on a package, he stops before plunging into the produce department to scan signs—pick the best buys of the day.

With all this attention to detail, his shopping excursion (from time he enters door to moment he steps from checkout line) takes no longer than 30 minutes, the average time spent by the average American housewife.

But, the result of his foray into this traditionally feminine sphere is far from average.

The Nutrition Division, Los Angeles County Health Department, figures it takes $22.55 to adequately feed a family of four. That's its poverty family economy diet plan.

THE LISLES spend no more than $15 a week, and have, according to Ralph, "a much more than adequate weekly menu."

How is it done?

"I pay attention to what I'm doing," he says, "that's more than I can say of most women shoppers."

Unfortunately, national surveys seem to bear him out. The average little woman takes her dollars to market with little concept of how to save cents.

According to these interviews, she carries no shopping list, is a pushover for new items (foods or gadgets), only occasionally buys specials, is a poor mathematician, who falls for "two for" or "three for" items even when no saving is involved.

She also is an eye-level to waist-level shopper — rarely checks prices below or above—will pay more than 51.2% over regular prices for convenience foods; is a sucker for anything in cellophane.

One store manager went so far as to wrap his coconuts—sales spiraled.

"Absolutely, inexcusable shopping habits," says Ralph.

A school teacher, now pursuing a course in higher math at Long Beach State, he scorns such feminine frivolity.

"That's just asking to be taken," he says. "You have to know prices — you really can be clobbered by changes if you don't."

The Health Department advises the family on a limited budget to plan menus ahead, make a shopping list from them, then allow only a set amount a week for grocery buying.

Ralph eschews this all as impractical.

HE SHOPS by list, not menu, and doesn't limit the amount spent in a given week.

"Why tie yourself down — lose out on a real sale," he says. "I may spend only $5 one week — then see a bargain and shoot $25 the next week."

The Lisles' grocery buying hinges on a dittoed master shopping list worked out over a period of months.

"Sometimes I buy items that aren't included," says Ralph, "but, they must

Emmy's learned to weigh prices.

Few consumers, as yet, figure price discrepancies by slide rule as does Lisle, but many now carry pencil and paper.

No one can blame grocers and food merchants for wooing the housewife with the dedication of Don Juans. Everyone is aware she's loved for her money. Everyone knows the competition for her loyalty is keen; that the food business is a fiercely competitive business.

But, a growing number of people also are becoming aware that some of these marketplace Romeos are just plain deceitful. And they don't condone that.

PRE-PACKAGING practices are a prime example. It seems planned confusion aims at delusion here.

"The consumer DOES have a right to compare price before buying," pointed out Helen Nelson, consumer counsel to Governor Brown, during her recent appearance at the Consumer Money Saver Conference, Lafayette Hotel.

That it's not always a simple matter was pointed up in her report "Packages and Prices."

In a shopping test five housewives (all with college training) were asked to buy 14 items—choosing each on basis of largest quantity at least cost.

The result: With only one of the 14 products did all five shoppers succeed in identifying the lowest cost item.

WHY CAN'T prices be compared? "Because of the absurd sizes packages come in today," said Mrs. Nelson. For example: of the 14 choices of packaged rice available at the test supermarket, not one was a pound package.

Adding insult to pocketbook injury, the cost of the package is billed to the consumer. According to Mrs. Nelson the lowest estimate of this cost for an average family comes to about "$16 a month for containers—that cant' be eaten, can't be drunk, can't be used for anything except to stuff the trash can."

What can the consumer do to avoid these packaging pitfalls? Be smart, join the sophisticated shoppers.

Buy for value, not premium offers, weigh convenience to cost, check weight and contents—even if it forces you into bifocals before your time.

And, exercise your American right to complain—write your legislator!

Attention's on VCC tourney ...at country club they think golf

As every golfer knows, concentration is the key to success, from tee to green, on any course. If games of women players at Virginia Country Club have been suffering, it is because they are too busy concentrating on another phase of golf—the inaugural of the Marge Ferrie Invitational Golf Tournament they will host at club Tuesday, May 25.

Virginia women golfers decided to dedicate this annual invitational to the memory of Marge Ferrie in recognition of her golfing achievements in representing VCC for more than two decades.

This year 128 members of Women of Southern California Golf Association will participate in the one day, 18-hole medal play event.

Three flights of outstanding contestants from various country clubs will include Mmes. Jack Holmes, San Gabriel; Jan Tarble, Bel Air; Dale Dynes, Mesa Verde; Allen Georgenson, Los Coyotes; and Ruth McCullough, Riviera.

Overall net winner will be presented with the Marge Ferrie Perpetual Trophy donated by James Ferrie. She also will receive a replica of the trophy to keep. Eighteen coveted prizes will be awarded to top winners of low net and low gross in each flight.

Mrs. J. W. Becker, chairman, and her committee have planned a full day of entertainment for tourney participants including cocktails, luncheon and a show, "Tin Pan Alley."

Slam make defensive

Today's discussion will be mostly a monologue by Jacoby pere. Jim starts:

Jim: "What was your favorite hand of the Vanderbilt?"

Oswald: "It was one of those freak hands. I chose to overcall with three diamonds in order to crowd the bidding. My bid failed to shut East out and my partner was strong enough to show his spade suit in spite of his knowledge that my three diamond call promised nothing except a lot of diamonds."

Jim: "Naturally you raised spades."

Oswald: "Naturally. My double of six clubs requires comment. It was not a business double. Quite the contrary. We appeared to be on the defensive and my double was a convention informing Ira Rubin, my partner, that I did not have a defensive trick against our opponents' slam contract.

* * * *

"OF COURSE, our opponents were aware of this convention and understood what my double meant. Ira was not sure if he held two defensive tricks, one defensive trick, even no defensive trick, but he bid six spades anyway. He could not afford to risk letting his opponents make a slam.

Jim: "That was the case. Ira ruffed the second heart and ran off the rest of the tricks.

WILD WAVES SAY

Tour time, city-wide to world-wide

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Society Editor

WHAT WITH all the new subidivisions and their unfamiliar street names popping up around us, even old timers get an uneasy feeling that maybe the saying, "you can't get there from here," is true. However, Lakewood High Faculty Wives and their teacher spouses are going to prove you can (with the aid of maps) when they have progressive dinner party Saturday.

Wives and husbands, about 90 in all, will find their way to Billie and Hank Sparkman's, Pat and Hank Young's and Joanne and Wayne Metsker's. Pat is general chairman, thus her interest in getting gang to destination on time. Besides Joanne, her committee consists of Velma (Mrs. Charles) Toy, Belinda (Mrs. Tom) Collins and Phyllis (Mrs. Robert) Jurgensen, president of the wives club.

IT WAS a "triple threat" party when Ann Exley entertained at a cocktail buffet the other night. It was an hola! (welcome home) for her husband, Sid, who has been spending so much time in Oakland on business (now mostly completed); an adios farewell salute for Betty and Bix Bixby and Marge and Bud Young, who plan a summer trip to Europe; and a felicitations time for the Exley's daughter, Patti, and fiance, Norman Ahlquist.

MAYBE WITH the old proverb, "One picture is worth a thousand words," in mind, Jerry and Harry Graves airmaled a photo of themselves from Australia to prove to friends that, despite the rigors (all pleasurable) of a 42-day cruise to the South Seas, Down Under and back, they're managing to stay slim, trim. Picture was made between New Zealand and Sydney on night two celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

PROOF THEY'RE UP TO LIFE 'DOWN UNDER'
. . . Jerry and Harry Graves still all at sea

HERE WE sit, yawning over our Sunday morning cups of coffee, with maybe nothing more exciting to do than pour another cup. But not Marie and Al Durfee, Mary and Matt Simpson, the Al Shepherds and Virginia and Claude Ryerson. This very moment they could be night clubbing on Bond St. in London or seeing Piccadilly Square in the mists of the midnight hours. Probably, though, they're tucked in their beds, resting up for an exciting day tomorrow. All have just begun a five-week tour of Europe with London first stop.

THEY'RE PLOTTING A COURSE THROUGH DEEPEST, DENSEST NEW SUBDIVISIONS OF TOWN
. . . . Joanne (Mrs. Wayne) Metsker (l.), of Rossmoor, Pat (Mrs. Roy) Woolbright, El Dorado Park Estates, figure route for Lakewood High Faculty Wives progressive dinner

They'll "do" England, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France, flying home from Paris. The Durfees had a rendezvous Wednesday, night of arrival, with Olive and Hugh McDuffie who were en route from Spain to Holland.

OFF FOR the land of fiesta, siesta, ole—and fishing—are members of Southern California Tuna Club and guests for annual billfish tournament. All told, 54 are going (biggest crowd ever to make trek) and this year they will fish out of Cabo San Lucas resort at the very tip of Baja California.

Dr. Gordon Bateman (with Olive's help, rest assured!) is in charge. Dr. Julian Knutson, president of club, has had several handsome Mexican silver trophies made for the winners. Dr. Jack Dorsey is social chairman for jaunt (they don't fish ALL the time you know), Harrison Moore and Mel Masterson are in charge of arranging boats and bait (how well do you habla espanol, fellas?).

Jim Wood is rules chairman and Charles Swanson is to be records keeper while Lloyd Hunter has the distinct pleasure of being the ladies man of the junket — meaning he's in charge of the women's fishing tourney, a one day go get 'em from the briny event.

They've put Al Beach to work at something that comes naturally — he's travel and reservations chairman. Part of the group left Saturday — rest fly off Monday.

YOU MAY not realize it, but when you wheel by Betty Lou and Wes Rollo's home, 3947 Lemon Ave., you're at Trojansville-by-the-Sea. Daughter, Carol, has been elected student body vice president at USC. Her brother, Bob, currently Poly High student body president, will enter SC in the fall. What's more, Betty Lou and Wes are both USC alums. In fact, Betty Lou was Helen of troy homecoming queen in her day as a student.

Even more, more, Carol of Troy is a member of Mortar Board, Amazons, Spurs and Kappa Kappa Gamma. She was veep of the junior class up there and president of Troeds as a freshman. And what honors did Wes win on campus? Why, the greatest of all. He was smart enough to win the hand of B'Lou!

PREPARED for a suave, ladylike affair, members of Alamitos Bay Garden Club went to the annual spring luncheon at Pacific Coast Club. Harriet Wood provided a delightful (and dignified) musical program. Then sophistication blew out the windows as connivers in the crowd, to total surprise of all the rest, put on the zaniest fashion show of the year. Models Ruth Jensen, Margaret Chase, Mary Lyon, Ina Harris, Bobbie Poppler and Betty (Ingalls) Bragg showed the worst that could be worn from morning to night, from overdressed to underdressed, with Mary Truitt commentating.

Oh. About Betty Jean Ingalls and her new name. She and Foster Bragg were married in a quiet ceremony couple of weeks ago to friends' surprise and delight. They're living in Long Beach.

WHEN Irma and Bob Leebrick arrived in Riverside, Conn., just before Easter to visit daughter and son-in-law, Harriet and Jim Miller and the children, it was winter. Within one week the countryside had burst into spring with dogwood blooming where only bare branches had been, flowers popping up and hillsides turning green. Now that Irma and Bob are home, just flew back this week, she recalls that period as one of the most exciting of the trip.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS CHAT OVER PLANS FOR AUXILIARY TEA

Auxiliary speaker is named

The Rev. Sylvester D. Ryan of St. Anthony's Catholic Church will be guest speaker at the annual invitational membership tea of Carmelite Nuns Auxiliary Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Petroleum Club.

New officers and board of the auxiliary will be presented and a musical program by the St. Anthony Boys High School Band is on the agendum.

Mrs. Robert Stickney is chairman of the tea assisted by Mrs. Harry C. Bosley and Mrs. Robert D. Nelson.

Carmelite Nuns Auxiliary, a lay organization with more than 2,000 women in the Southland as members, helps maintain the cloistered nuns at Carmel of St. Joseph Convent, 3361 E. Ocean Blvd., headed by the Prioress Rev. Mother Margaret Mary.

Mornings of bridge slated

Long Beach Recreation Department is sponsoring mornings of free bridge play. Program takes place Mondays from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Houghton Park, 6301 Myrtle Ave. Guests provide their own sandwiches. Coffee is furnished by the Recreation Department Bridge Club.

Realtors' wives to fete Mrs. Hoffman at tea

May is traditional month for Realtors' Wives to have a membership tea in honor of the wife of the president of Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

Mrs. Clyde S. Brown, 25 Belmont Ave., will open her home for this year's tea Tuesday at 2 p.m. Honoree will be Mrs. James C. Hoffman. All wives of Long Beach Realtors are invited.

"PEARLS OF FANTASY" entry of Medical Auxiliary was done in garden-fresh green and white by Mrs. Russell Fisher; won nod of judges as most beautiful, functional.

Photos by Chuck Sundquist

By JOYCE KENT

Amateur judges parted company with the professionals in selecting their favorite at Alpha Phi Table Topics Tea at Petroleum Club—adding interest to a festive day.

Pros—Ruth Stafford, Pearl McGinnis and Russell McDonald — gave Silver Award (most beautiful) and Ivy Award (most functional) to District 3, Women's Auxiliary to County Medical Association's "Pearls of Fantasy" (now on display at Davis Furniture).

The 250 amateurs who came to sip tea and see, gave popular vote to ornate "My Fair Lady Wedding" done by Auxiliary to Southern California Symphony Association and Symphony Juniors.

Alpha Phi sponsors were happy with both decisions. Goal of the day, after all, was to enrich Cardiac Aid fund and housing fund for its Long Beach Panhellenic chapter.

Other Winning Ways

Representing Policewives Auxiliary, Mrs. Gene Fawson (above) admitted to spending 75 cents on materials for hobo-themed table. Guests also got a "boot" out of Sandlark's delightful Christmas fantasy while pink sweetheart roses in centerpiece and nosegays proved popular in Optometric Auxiliary entry.

fall into two categories—genuine bargains or things fully recognized as luxuries."

Ralph is a stickler for checking quantity. That's why he carries the slide rule—to quickly figure comparative value per ounce.

(For those less mathematically inclined, a price comparator can be purchased from Dial & Save, Inc., 8 West 40th St., New York 18, N.Y.)

"Modern packaging is very deceptive," he points out. Manufacturers and processors print net weight in small type hoping you won't look. They also make use of "off-standard weight, thinking (probably rightly so) that a shopper will think "half pound" when she reads "6 and ⅝ ounces.

"Larger packages are generally cheaper—but not always so. Occasionally the smaller bottle of a brand will sell for less—you HAVE to check price per ounce, you can't take anything for granted, you must stay on your toes."

When it comes to sales of off-brand merchandise, Ralph advises caution. "Buy a small quantity first—if you like it go back, sales usually last over a week."

The Lisles keep watch of seasonal price changes in produce—and depressed meat and poultry prices.

"I never pay more than 40 cents per pound for meat," says Ralph. "By using a pressure cooker we get by with cheaper cuts."

Other advice from this shopping expert: "don't buy things displayed by the cash register (except perhaps a TV guide), stoop to save pennies (often brands on bottom shelves cost less), buy by pound not portion and keep a close check on nutritive values."

For the latter, the Lisles swear by their "Lange Handbook of Chemistry." "It helps us keep tab on protein, fat, carbohydrate needs—amino acid balance. There's no use in cutting down on grocery spending and increasing doctor bills."

Without doubt Ralph is a sharp shopper, but you wonder, doesn't he ever cut loose and splurge on such a package of pre-cooked lobster tails or a bottle of chutney? Of course not, he saves his money for more important things.

Just last week he waved his hand at an auction and came home proud owner of a lung capacity measuring machine. "Just what I've always wanted," he says firmly.

And the week before that he plunked down $50 for a cute little Siamese cat. Before she strayed away she managed to rip up a portion of the sofa, fray the ends of the drapes—but she "really was a terrific bargain," says Ralph.

DESIGNER IS JUDGE

Concours d'Elegance to show Cord 8/10

A new star will shine in the galaxy of luxury sports cars at the South Coast Concours d' Elegance, Newport Beach today.

Scaled down from one of the most famous automotive designs of the 20's and 30's, but retaining its lines, the new Cord 8/10 will make its West Coast debut.

The South Coast Concours will be held on the grounds of the Newporter Inn at Newport Beach, sponsored by the South Coast Child Guidance Clinic.

* * * *

DESIGNER of the original Cord, Gordon Beuhrig, will be at the event showing off his new car as well as acting as one of the judges.

A display of at least 15 Ferraris from the Ferrari Owners Club will also line up at the Concours, and one of the prototype Ford GT open roadsters will be shown.

A round trip for two to Paris will be the grand prize at the event. At least 60 entries are registered so far for the Concours. Competition will be for Class Trophies and Best of Show Honors.

Bottom of sea top concern

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L. P-T Food Editor

His prime concern professionally is with off-shore drilling. Non-professionally, it goes deeper . . . straight for the albacore. Today's Chef of the Week, Leonard W. Brock, is administrator of petroleum properties, City of Long Beach. With him at the helm, the word "subsidence" can be entirely deleted from Webster's dictionary. That's the general idea, anyway.

A Yankee from way-back (Conway, N.H.), as are his parents and grandparents, his family moved to Portland, Maine, when he was nine. Following his graduation from high school there, Brock came straight to Long Beach, enrolling in City College.

WITH no anticipation on his part, the Navy "financed" him to a three year stay in the Caribbean; but after being discharged in Norfolk, Va., he again returned to City College for the finishing touches. Brock earned his degree in Petroleum Engineering at USC.

With these credentials he served with the LBOD (Long Beach Oil Development Co.) for three years before being sent to Colombia, South America, with the International Petroleum Co.

Returning to Long Beach in 1953, a year later, he joined the staff of the Harbor Department, City of Long Beach. Psychic or not, Brock had the feeling that off-shore drilling was in the offing.

He was right, and it was three years ago that he joined the staff of City Manager John Mansell. Last November an oil department was voted into being, effective Feb. 1. Brock became its manager. Today, that department boasts a staff of 59 people.

BROCK and his wife, Marilyn, have two sons and a daughter. Michael, 16, is a sophomore at Wilson High, Steven, 10, and Luanne, 11, both are at Lowell Elementary.

A member of the American Petroleum Institute and the Society of Engineers, AIME, Brock pledged Sigma Chi Fraternity.

A biographical summary of our "Chef" might include the fact that he's a great "homebody", but he likes things handy around the house, i.e., it's easier to find them where you left them, rather than where they belong; he's a died-in-the-wool meat-and-potato Yankee; his day hasn't really begun until he's made a barefoot stroll thru the garden, surveying all his handiwork.

LEONARD W. BROCK
. . . gets a boot out of fishing

To get back to that albacore, here's his recipe:

BARBECUED ALBACORE

5 albacore fillets
3½ tblsp. cooking oil
1 small onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 tblsp. brown sugar
2 tblsp. sauterne wine
3 tblsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
½ tsp. thyme
½ tsp. salt
4 tblsp. catsup
5 drops Tabasco

Saute all the ingredients starting with the onion in the 3½ tablespoons of oil, for about 5 minutes. Place fish in double aluminum foil. Spoon above mixture over and under the albacore. Barbecue 7 minutes, each side over fairly hot fire. Remove and open one end of foil and drain off excess juice. Open up foil and sprinkle 2 tablespoons brown butter over the albacore and garnish with paprika and parsley.

Students to receive Adrian scholarships

Adrian Department of Ebell will present its annual scholarship awards Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in the Ebell clubhouse, Third Street and Cerritos Avenue.

Scholarship winners from Long Beach State College are Daniel Williams, Mary Girard, Larry MacDonald, Ralph Knight, John Klimp and Richard Cantrall.

Winners from Long Beach City College, Liberal Arts Campus, are Nancy Elliott, Dixie Albright, Thomas Mullen and Judge and Richard Schonfeld.

* * * *

FROM Long Beach City College, Business and Technology Campus, are Roosevelt Stevenson and Hans Kaiser.

Robert Hailey and Gregory Lockett, Wilson High School seniors, will be recipients of a $100 scholarship which they will share.

Following the ceremony, a brief business meeting and installation of new Adrian officers will be held.

New officers are Mmes. Eugene McCluer, chairman; Theodore Webb, vice chairman; Donald Grey, recording secretary; Carl Wulfsberg, treasurer; Norbert Dean, door hostess. Mrs. Harry Fulton, retiring chairman, will preside at the ceremony.

Why share bed and board

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My husband and I have been married for 18 years. Sixteen of these were quite happy ones. And then something happened. I don't know whether it was "another woman" or not. All I know is his affections just cooled right down to the freezing point.

When he is at home he is so irritable I can hardly live with him. He adores our only daughter (now 16) and in front of her puts on a sort of act as though he still cares for me. But when we are alone, it's quite a different story.

While we still share bed and board he has hardly so much as given me a peck on the cheek for two years.

Come to think of it, he hasn't spoken to me unless someone else was around for the past ten days now.

However, some friends of mine have invited us to go to Las Vegas with them. I would like to go, but what fun would it be with him when all he'd do is put on an act in front of them.

Should I tell him of the invitation and let him decide or should I just tell them on my own that we simply can't go.—CAN'T DECIDE

DEAR CAN'T DECIDE:

I'll be darned if I'd go on a trip with a man who treated me like a wooden Indian. If you could go alone with your friends, fine and dandy, but why go on something that is supposed to be a pleasure trip when you'd be subjected to humiliation all the time?

You might tell your husband about the invitation—and tell him also why you don't care to go. Tell him you don't care to go on sharing bed and board with anyone who acts as he does, and suggest that he move out. And if he won't, then it's about time you did, and got yourself a good attorney for good measure.—M.M.

Capt. Paul S. Kerstien weds in Massachusetts

MRS. PAUL KERSTIEN

Capt. Paul S. Kerstien, USAF, of East Falmouth, Mass., and Kathleen E. McGuire of Boston were married Saturday morning in the Catholic Chapel at Otis AFB, Cape Cod, Mass. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Kerstien, of 2921 Caspian Ave.

The gown worn by the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. McGuire of Chicago, was styled of white silk crepe and reembroidered Guipure lace, brought from overseas by the groom. The bride designed and made the gown which featured a train and mantilla veil.

* * * *

ANN PETRIE was maid of honor with Elizabeth Allen, Jane Beam and Katherine Furniss as bridesmaids.

Capt. David Fortman, USAF, was best man and Capts. John Chard, Harold Merry and John Weigand, USAF, served as ushers.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the officers club following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Kerstien was graduated from Marygrove College in Detroit; her husband attended UCLA.

Following a honeymoon trip to New Hampshire and Montreal, the newlyweds will reside in Falmouth Heights, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Chapman

Open house Sunday honors 50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clare J. Chapman of 2274 Maine Ave., will be honored at an open house in their home today in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event will be hosted by their two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Chapman of Eugene, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Chapman of Los Alamitos; and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ruff of Santa Ana.

* * * *

THE HONOREES were married in 1915 in Leslie, Mich., where Mr. Chapman was associated with his uncle in the hardware business. In 1925, the couple moved to Los Angeles, where he worked with the May Co., and then the Ed James automobile agency. In 1942, the Chapmans moved to Long Beach, where he is still active with the Bob James automobile agency.

Mr. Chapman is affiliated with Downtown Kiwanis Club, Masonic Lodge 327 and Chamber of Commerce. Both are active in the Methodist Church. Mrs. Chapman is a member of the WSCS and PEO.

They have five grandchildren.

HOW TO GET MARRIED

Don't forget Pop--he pays!

By JUDY HAZLETT
I. P-T Staff Writer
(Seventh in a series)

Now that the big day is just around the corner, you, the bride, have been focus of attention since the wedding date was chosen.

However, you must remember that parents also are important to the ceremony so don't overlook them.

They have special obligations in conjunction with your wedding and you should consult them with every detail.

The bride's parents have more obligation with the ceremony than the groom's parents, at least from the monetary standpoints.

For instance, as head of the house your father pays for any church rental, for all decorations, bridesmaids, flowers, musicians, sexton's fee, the reception and your wedding attire.

(If the bride is fatherless, her family or guardians will pay for the wedding.)

THE MAIN DUTY of your mother, who is official hostess, is to help you carry out your wedding plans. She may contact the caterer for the reception, choose the photographer, see that there are enough cars to take the wedding party to the church, help with your trousseau, consult with the florist and help with the display of gifts.

Aside from the pull on the strings of his pocketbook, your father doesn't have as many pre-wedding responsibilities. It is tradition that he plan to drive with you to the church alone. During the ceremony, he will take part by giving you away.

At the reception, your father may or may not stand in the receiving line to greet the guests but he must remain to bid them goodbye. If there is a dinner or luncheon given for the wedding party before the ceremony, he usually acts as host.

The groom and his family, although there are not so many obligations with the ceremony itself, have several items to think about, too.

Engagement and wedding rings are paid for by the groom as is the marriage license, and the gift for his bride. He will also have gifts for the best man and ushers.

The minister's fee should be sealed in an envelope by the groom, which usually ranges from $10 up. This is given to the minister by the best man.

THE GROOM will also pay for the corsages for the mothers and the bride's bouquets. Boutonnieres for the men and the bride's going away corsage should also be ordered.

The honeymoon, which will be discussed in a later column, also will be paid for by the groom.

The groom's parents are actually honored guests at the wedding and reception with the father dressing just as his son. They will stand in the receiving line to meet all of the guests and usually present the bride with a special gift.

(Next: Choosing the flowers.)

IN QUESTION

DEAR MRS. HAZLETT:

If the bride prefers the flower girl to go in front of the maid of honor rather in front of the bride, is it considered poor taste.—C.G.

The bride was improper when she asked that the flower girl follow the maid of honor. The reason for the flower girl is to scatter the rose petals in the bride's pathway, not for the maid of honor.

If you have questions concerning wedding etiquette for bride, parent or guest, write to "How to Get Married," Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach. All questions will be answered by mail or in this column.

Roy E. Deebles announce daughter's engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Deeble of Fullerton, formerly of Long Beach, announce engagement of their daughter Susan Jane, to Randolph R. Siefkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Siefkin of Glendale.

The bride, a native of Long Beach, is now attending UC at Santa Barbara. She attended the University of Bordeaux, France, during her junior year under the UC Education Abroad Program. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Roy E. Deeble of Long Beach and the late Mr. Deeble.

* * * *

HER FIANCE, who was graduated from UC at Santa Barbara, is now doing his graduate work there. He will attend Eagleton Institute of Practical Politics, Rutgers University, this fall. He is past state president of the California College Republicans.

An Aug. 21 wedding is planned.

Emblem Club plans social

Long Beach Emblem Club will hold its monthly card social luncheon Thursday in the Veterans Park Clubhouse, 101 E. 28th St.

Mmes. Earl Doty, Edward Santagata, Harry Coots and William Ries are hostesses. Chairmen for the year are Lillian Quintal and Olga Wood.

A meeting will be held May 25, at 834 Freeman Ave. to discuss items to be sewn for the upcoming bazaar sponsored by the group.

Summer Skin Care

It is easy to have a smooth lovely complexion, despite the skin-coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement to open and close without being clogged. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion from harsh sun rays and will give the skin a cool, milky bloom even on the hottest days. Your druggist can supply you with oil of Olay for your personal needs.

CHRISTINA CARROLL

GARY MURPHY

Lyric Opera Co. in concert May 23

Southern California Lyric Opera Association will present its second "Evening of Grand Opera" next Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Concert Hall of Municipal Auditorium.

The program will be completely different from the one given in February.

Christina Carroll, Gary Murphy and Thomas Anderson will sing selections from "La Traviata," "Ernani" La Forza del Destino" "La Boheme" and other operas.

Miss Carroll is former soprano with the Metropolitan Opera Company and has sung in leading opera houses in Europe and the United States.

* * * *

MURPHY, baritone, recently received excellent reviews for his role as the vengeful Don Carlo di Vargas in a Long Beach performance.

Anderson, tenor, was a recent winner in the Metropolitan Opera auditions and has sung many operatic roles in Southern California.

Tickets are $2, $3 and $4. Checks should be made payable to Lyric Opera, Long Beach Auxiliary, 1342 Roycroft Ave., Long Beach 90804.

Festival of arts outlined

Los Altos United Church, 5550 Atherton St., will combine visual and performing arts in a daylong festival Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. and closing at dusk.

Performing arts events, starting at 11 a.m. and changing each hour, are: Long Beach State College modern dance workshop, YWCA Hawaiian dancers, Long Beach City College Madrigal Singers, Los Altos Men's Quartet, cellist Barbara Jane Hunter and pianist Jackie Marquart, and a jazz group.

* * * *

VISUAL ARTS displays will include hanging glass lamps, Herb Goldberg; stained glass windows, Vern Holander; sculpture and paintings by Ralph Tarzian, Ken Glenn, Connie Gonzales, Gary Rothman, Lucien A. M. den Arend, Larry Shep, Marc Villagran, Geneva Heron and Gene Wiley.

There also will be exhibits from the B & Q Art Gallery, Long Beach Art Association and local artists. A special section will be set aside for children's art.

* * * *

DEMONSTRATIONS will be given on looms and potters' wheels.

Baby sitting will be available for 10 cents an hour; Disney films will entertain the youngsters.

Coffee and cupcakes will be served and hamburgers and soft drinks will be for sale all day.

There is no admission charge for the festival.

'Friends' bid public to art auction

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Gates of Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., will swing open at 10 a.m. next Sunday for the fifth annual Art Auction sponsored by Friends of the Museum of Art.

During the preview and silent bidding time from 10 o'clock to 12:30 p.m., work may be purchased at its pre-auction price. Oral bidding will begin at 1 p.m. and will continue until 4 p.m.

To keep the quality of work high, only award-winning artists who have won recognition in juried exhibits have been invited to participate. They include L. Ward Youri, Ralph Tarzian, Larry Shep, Roland Shutt, Evelyn Carpenter, George Schoonover, Robert Adams, Tom Ferreira and Jari Havlena.

Prints, ceramics, sculpture and mobiles will be for sale, but only paintings will be auctioned.

* * * *

MUSEUM DIRECTOR Frederick Black will auction the first painting. Thereafter, auctioneer Rudy McClary will be assisted by three members of Long Beach State College art faculty, Kenneth Glenn, Bob Click and Alvin Pine.

For the convenience of those who wish to spend the day at the auction, food will be sold on the grounds.

Mrs. Samuel Pilchman, president of the Friends, has appointed Mrs. Ed Callahan and Mrs. Carl Goldman chairmen for the event. There will be no admission fee.

A LARGE, comprehensive collection of art objects from ancient Greece and Rome and their Mediterranean colonies, is on display at May Company's Wilshire store, Wilshire at Fairfax, Los Angeles.

TERRA COTTA BUST OF YOUNG GIRL
From the Nemi Region, this work is dated 1-2 Century B.C. and is priced at $600

The more than 1,200 pieces in the exhibit date from 2,000 B.C. to the 8th century A.D. They range from museum quality items priced as high as $6,000 to those priced as low as $5.

All have been authenticated by Dr. George Mylonas, professor of archaeology at Washington University and director of excavations at Eleusis and Mycene.

* * * *

INCLUDED in the exhibit are fine terra cotta figures, pottery, vases, lamps, perfume bottles, gold jewelry, clay beads, vases, bowls, capitals, stone doors, weapons, bronze figures, oil and wine vessels, marble busts and reliefs and other unique, exciting objects.

Among materials are marble, limestone, alabaster, gold, silver, bronze, iron, ivory, bone and terra cotta.

Under guidance of Morton D. May, noted art collector of St. Louis, the company sent Julius Carlebach, owner of the Carlebach Gallery of Primitive Art in New York, on a three month's search abroad in the summer of 1964. It is his perception and experience that account for the comprehensive range of this exhibit. It will remain on display through June 5.

MR. AND MRS. Harry L. Rubin have opened a new art gallery, Cha-Chez, at 1710 E. Pacific Coast Highway. They describe the gallery as one "featuring an interesting selection of original oil paintings imported from Europe, all handsomely framed to properly blend with the subject matter, which is extensive and varied."

Mrs. Charlotte Armstrong is manager. Hours are Mondays through Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

* * * *

FINE ARTS Patrons of Newport Harbor will stage their second Benefit Art Cruise Thursday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Paintings, prints and sculpture from collections in the area will be shown in three homes and aboard a yacht; transportation by boat between Pavilion Gallery and the homes will be available.

Homes which will provide a background for the art, all in Balboa, are those of Mr. and Mrs. Randall F. Geddes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Cotton and Mr. and Mrs. Byron H. Farwell.

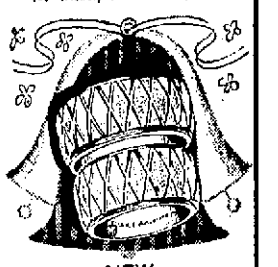

The Collectors' Show at the gallery, 400 Main St., Balboa, will open the same day and may be seen from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

A donation of $5 includes admission to the yacht, the homes and the gallery where refreshments will be served.

Variety of media in LBCC student show

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Among the annual pleasures which are bonus to reviewing the local art scene are the spring shows of student work at Long Beach City and State Colleges. This is especially true with the former because the students are less sophisticated, the classroom assignments are more closely disciplined, thus the individual's own response to the problem is more easily perceived.

The Student Show will be on exhibit at the LBCC Gallery, 4901 E. Carson St., through June 4 and covers a wide variety of media. There are several interesting charcoal figure studies, intriguing problems in design and color (two-dimensional and three-dimensional), water colors, oils, some excellent ceramics and sculpture studies in wire. Richard Keyes of the faculty is responsible for the assembling and display.

* * * *

ONE OUTSTANDING grouping is made up of wood plank which has been cut with shop tools and assembled in ingenious ways. Close by are colored paper designs in three dimensions which hang next to their own plot plans.

Among the paintings are several of a mother and child. R. Wilson has done a large one on upsom board which soaks up the paint and gives a nice luminous quality to the work. An excellent study in water color is G. Drouillard's thin wash with an endless line of little human figures disappearing on the horizon.

* * * *

AN ADULT student, C. M. Lauridsen, has done a wonderfully sensitive rendering in monochrumatic poster paint of marsh reeds screening a mysterious landscape.

Two still life drawings have particular merit, Dan Barker's ragged banana leaves, and T. Barbar's nest of weeds with three immaculate eggs therein. The same can be said for Harrigan's pen drawing of the brutal butchery of battle.

Viewing hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 8 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and on Fridays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

'Mozart' is first on new series

"European Music in 20th Century Retrospect," a new series of lectures and demonstration performances sponsored by Long Beach City College, will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday in Studio C of the college music building, Clark Avenue and Harvey Way. Admission is free.

First topic will be "Mozart, the Universal Genius." Lecturer is Rudolph Schindler, M.D., who is also a musician and a student of the life and works of Mozart. Performers will be Jean Kuhns, pianist, and Henny Warner, soprano.

* * * *

MISS KUHNS, former City College piano instructor, has appeared in concerts throughout Southern California. Miss Warner was a concert singer in Europe before coming to the U.S. in 1947 to continue her career.

Arena, Huffine head cast of O'Casey's 'Paycock'

"Juno and the Paycock" will be presented by the Long Beach City College Theater Arts department at 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday in the LBCC auditorium, Harvey Way near Clark Avenue. Tickets will be available nightly at the box office.

Playing the title roles in Sean O'Casey's powerful tragicomedy are Steve Arena as Jack Boyle, the strutting "paycock," and Sheryl Huffine as his long-suffering wife, David M. Emmes directs the production and J. L. White is the set designer.

* * * *

AGAINST the background of the Irish revolution, "Juno and the Paycock" deals with an impoverished family of Dublin tenement - dwellers and the irresponsible head of the household. Following news of an unexpected inheritance, the family enjoys a comically lavish change in circumstances—and a shattering letdown.

Appearing as neighbors in the tenement are Ron Boussom, Carroll Weekely, Randolph Sellers and Barbara Ritman. Members of the supporting cast include Mike Laibson, Jill Swigart, Jim McKie, Richard Hall, Jerome Rupple, Jon Rueck, Bill Hennigh, Stanley Fried, David Sweet and Nedra Sluyter.

Family concert

Martha Schlamme, who sings in 12 languages, will be featured in a family concert next Sunday at 2 p.m. in Jewish Community Center, 2601 Grand Ave.

Since she appeared at the center in 1960, Miss Schlamme has performed on the Community Concert circuit and has been featured on major television shows. Her records range from folk songs of many lands to interpretations of Kurt Weill's music. Tickets are on sale at the center or may be reserved by phone.

Race course to be site for concert

Los Alamitos Race Course will serve as the auditorium for a Pilot Concert next Sunday at 7 p.m. when Los Alamitos Symphony Orchestra plays under direction of Mme. Frieda Belinfante.

More than 6,000 theater-type seats overlook the landscaped grounds, there is ample free parking space and a test has proved that acoustics are excellent, concert spokesmen say.

The program will include numbers by 500 vocalists, members of choirs of Orange County schools directed by Tom Newman of Villa Park High School, Orange.

Tick Tockers, junior and senior high school girls of National Charity League, will usher.

Brides-to-be! Important that you read this

Attention, brides-to-be! If you plan to submit a story of your wedding to the Independent, Press-Telegram, here are the rules that govern the use of such material.

ALL information concerning the wedding and a picture, if a picture is to be submitted, must be recived in the women's section of the I, P-T one week or more in advance of the wedding date.

There is a wedding information form to be filled out. This will be sent to you on request or may be picked up at the I, P-T, Sixth Street and Pine Avenue, or from any of the paper's branch offices.

There is no charge for the printing of a wedding story and picture. We do not guarantee that all wedding stories submitted will be used, however. We will print as many as space permits as an editorial courtesy to our subscribers.

Oswald Jacoby

Slam make defensive

Today's discussion will be mostly a monologue by Jacoby pere. Jim starts:

Jim: "What was your favorite hand of the Vanderbilt?"

Oswald: "It was one of those freak hands. I chose to overcall with three diamonds in order to crowd the bidding. My bid failed to shut East out and my partner was strong enough to show his spade suit in spite of his knowledge that my three diamond call promised nothing except a lot of diamonds."

Jim: "Naturally you raised spades."

Oswald: "Naturally. My double of six clubs requires comment. It was not a business double. Quite the contrary. We appeared to be on the defensive and my double was a convention informing Ira Rubin, my partner, that I did not have a defensive trick against our opponents' slam contract.

* * * *

"OF COURSE, our opponents were aware of this convention and understood what my double meant. Ira was not sure if he held two defensive tricks, one defensive trick, even no defensive trick, but he bid six spades anyway. He could not afford to risk letting his opponents make a slam.

Jim: "That was the case. Ira ruffed the second heart and ran off the rest of the tricks.

Bloc named for symposium

Andre Bloc, noted French sculptor and creator of the "habitable," is the second artist named to participate in the eight-week International Sculpture Symposium on the campus of Long Beach State College June 21 to Aug. 14.

The choice of Kosso Eloul of Israeli was announced Thursday by Kenneth Glenn, LBSC professor of art and director of the symposium.

Bloc will visit Long Beach Wednesday to confer with symposium officials and will bring with him designs for monumental sculptures, one of which will be chosen for his contribution to the summer event.

A habitable is a combination of sculpture and architecture. It has an interior and exterior and can be used as a building.

* * * *

BLOC IS one of more than 50 world-famous sculptors nominated by a blue-ribbon committee of international art critics and museum directors. From this group, 14 will be selected to work in a special area of the college campus, open to public view. The sculptors will have the status of artists-in-residence and will work with student artists enrolled in the summer session.

* * * *

IN ADDITION to his habitables, Bloc has done more conventional sculpture, is represented in major galleries and was commissioned to do the monumental "Brasilia" for the new capital of Brazil.

Bloc is now in San Francisco to judge a design competition for new Civic Center Plaza sculptures. From Long Beach he will fly to Montreal to deliver a lecture to the International Architects Congress.

* * * *

EIGHTEEN sculpture symposia—permitting artists to produce masterworks larger than those that can be housed by any existing museum — have been held abroad since 1959, but this is the first one in the United States.

Kosso Eloul, who works under the name of Kosso, is one of the rising figures in modern sculpture, has taken part in six symposia, organized one in Israel and is acting as consultant in launching this first one in this country.

Names of other participating sculptors will be announced within a few days, Glenn said.

Mrs. Storrs to judge auditions

Gladys Kelso Storrs, pianist-teacher of Alamogordo, N.M., will judge candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians beginning Monday and continuing through June 5.

The annual auditions, to be held daily in St. Luke's Educational Center, Seventh Street and Linden Avenue, are sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. The non-competitive auditions, ranging from early elementary grades through collegiate level, will have 300 enrollees in Long Beach.

Rilla McReynolds Branyon is local chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Schumacher will serve as monitor.

'Silent World'

"The Silent World," a Cannes Film Festival award winner produced by Yves Cousteau, will be shown Thursday at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., at 3 and 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Doors will open at 7:30 p.m. for the evening performance.

AGO celebrating national date today

The Long Beach Chapter will join with 17,000 members in 300 chapters of the American Guild of Organists in celebrating National AGO Sunday today.

Some 75 members of youth choirs in Westminster Presbyterian and First Congregational churches in Long Beach and two Wilmington churches will present a Junior Choir Festival at First Congregational, Third Street and Cedar Avenue, at 5 p.m.

James Weeks, minister of music at the host church, is dean of the local chapter which received its charter from the National AGO April 27, 1947. Fourteen of the 43 charter members are still active and the organization now has more than 100 members, most of them playing in churches.

* * * *

PURPOSE of the guild is to musically enrich the cultural and religious life of this area. Therefore, the chapter annually presents noted artists in programs of vocal, sacred, secular and instrumental music.

The chapter also has placed the complete Gesellschaft edition of Johann Sebastian Bach's work in the Main Library.

To sing 'Elijah'

The beautiful, but rarely heard oratorio, "Elijah" by Mendelssohn, will be presented next Sunday at 4 p.m. by the 70-voice Chancel Choir of Atlantic Avenue Methodist Church, 15th Street and Atlantic Avenue. Dr. Lawrence L. Peterson, chairman of the fine arts division at Long Beach State College, will direct, assisted by Lorraine Whitney Lee, organist.

Soloists are Robert Guyette, baritone; Betty Olsson, soprano; Ruthanne Lorenzen, contralto; and Robert James, tenor. The public is invited.

L.B. Symphony concert tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the Concert Hall of Municipal Auditorium, Lauris Jones will conduct the Long Beach Symphony in the final concert of the orchestra's 30th anniversary series. The box office will open at 7 p.m.

Earlier this week in Lafayette Hotel, Dr. Milton Stearns, associate professor of music at California State College, Los Angeles, previewed the concert program for members of the Symphony Guild and guests.

* * * *

OF "CRYSTAL LAKE," composed by Elinor Remick Warren, he said "This work had its premiere performance in Los Angeles under Wallenstein's direction. Although it was inspired by an actual lake in the High Sierra, it is not just descriptive. It reflects the peaceful, quiet, serene emotions evoked by the lake. Mrs. Warren loves writing for the orchestra because she can make full use of the color of winds, strings, brass and percussion to create a texture of sound."

* * * *

OTHER WORKS on the program will be "English Country Dances" by Malcolm Arnold, "Billy the Kid Suite" by Aaron Copland and "Symphony No. 9" by Schubert.

"All of these composers are involved with melody and song," said Stearns, who is himself a concert pianist and conducts a television series on channel four each Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

"Copland's genius is in orchestration suffused in folk song music. In this suite he uses old songs such as 'The Old Chisholm Trail' and 'Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie' to give the color and flavor of the Old West.

* * * *

"ALTHOUGH Arnold's dances sound as though they were based on folk tunes, the composer wrote the themes himself and so can be more flexible in his orchestration. His work is unusual, also, because it is written in modes which give a whole new flavor to the sound. He uses instrumentation and shifts of key to achieve his effects."

All of the program numbers are short with the exception of the Schubert symphony, Stearns said.

* * * *

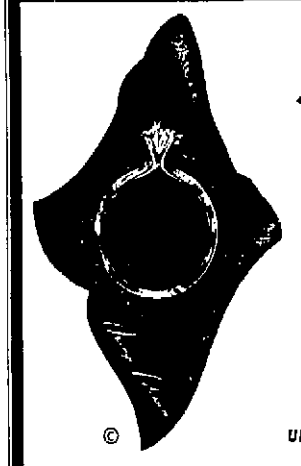

"SCHUBERT was a block buster in music—the greatest melodies the world has ever known with the exception of Mozart. This symphony is lyric and happy. The key to enjoying it is to just sit back and let it happen.

"The most important thing about listening to music is to react first emotionally before you analyze it intellectually.

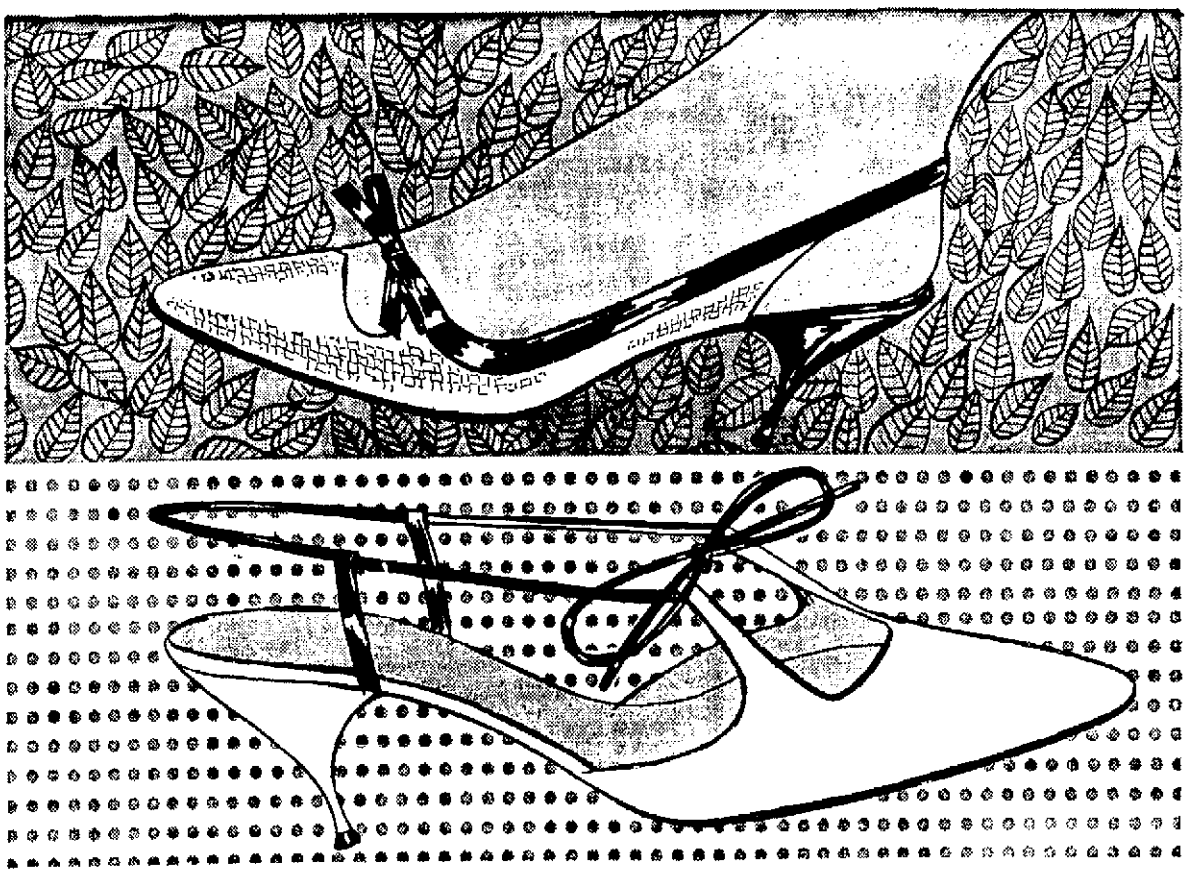

"We communicate so much of our lives on the 'How nice!' or 'How wonderful!' level that it is important to be able to communicate on an emotional level with music." — ELISE EMERY

Amateur judges parted company with the professionals in selecting their favorite at Alpha Phi Table Topics Tea at Petroleum Club—adding interest to a festive day.

Pros—Ruth Stafford, Pearl McGinnis and Russell McDonald — gave Silver Award (most beautiful) and Ivy Award (most functional) to District 3, Women's Auxiliary to County Medical Association's "Pearls of Fantasy" (now on display at Davis Furniture).

The 250 amateurs who came to sip tea and see, gave popular vote to ornate "My Fair Lady Wedding" done by Auxiliary to Southern California Symphony Association and Symphony Juniors.

Alpha Phi sponsors were happy with both decisions. Goal of the day, after all, was to enrich Cardiac Aid fund and housing fund for its Long Beach Panhellenic chapter.

Bottom of sea top concern

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

His prime concern professionally is with off-shore drilling. Non-professionally, it goes deeper . . . straight for the albacore. Today's Chef of the Week, Leonard W. Brock, is administrator of petroleum properties, City of Long Beach. With him at the helm, the word "subsidence" can be entirely deleted from Webster's dictionary. That's the general idea, anyway.

A Yankee from way-back (Conway, N.H.), as are his parents and grandparents, his family moved to Portland, Maine, when he was nine. Following his graduation from high school there, Brock came straight to Long Beach, enrolling in City College.

WITH no anticipation on his part, the Navy "financed" him to a three year stay in the Caribbean; but after being discharged in Norfolk, Va., he again returned to City College for the finishing touches. Brock earned his degree in Petroleum Engineering at USC.

With these credentials he served with the LBOD (Long Beach Oil Development Co.) for three years before being sent to Colombia, South America, with the international Petroleum Co.

Returning to Long Beach in 1953, a year later, he joined the staff of the Harbor Department, City of Long Beach. Psychic or not, Brock had the feeling that off-shore drilling was in the offing.

He was right, and it was three years ago that he joined the staff of City Manager John Mansell. Last November an oil department was voted into being, effective Feb. 1. Brock became its manager. Today, that department boasts a staff of 59 people.

BROCK and his wife, Marilyn, have two sons and a daughter. Michael, 16, is a sophomore at Wilson High, Steven, 10, and Luanne, 11, both are at Lowell Elementary.

A member of the American Petroleum Institute and the Society of Engineers, AIME, Brock pledged Sigma Chi Fraternity.

A biographical summary of our "Chef" might include the fact that he's a great "homebody", but he likes things handy around the house, i.e., it's easier to find them where you left them, rather than where they belong; he's a died-in-the-wool meat-and-potato Yankee; his day hasn't really begun until he's made a barefoot stroll thru the garden, surveying all his handiwork.

LEONARD W. BROCK
. . . gets a boot out of fishing

To get back to that albacore, here's his recipe:

BARBECUED ALBACORE

5 albacore fillets
3½ tblsp. cooking oil
1 small onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 tblsp. brown sugar
2 tblsp. sauterne wine
3 tblsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
½ tsp. thyme
½ tsp. salt
4 tblsp. catsup
5 drops Tabasco

Saute all the ingredients starting with the onion in the 3½ tablespoons of oil, for about 5 minutes. Place fish in double aluminum foil. Spoon above mixture over and under the albacore. Barbecue 7 minutes, each side over fairly hot fire. Remove and open one end of foil and drain off excess juice. Open up foil and sprinkle 2 tablespoons brown butter over the albacore and garnish with paprika and parsley.

Students to receive Adrian scholarships

Adrian Department of Ebell will present its annual scholarship awards Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in the Ebell clubhouse, Third Street and Cerritos Avenue.

Scholarship winners from Long Beach State College are Daniel Williams, Mary Girard, Larry MacDonald, Ralph Knight, John Klimp and Richard Cantrall.

Winners from Long Beach City College, Liberal Arts Campus, are Nancy Elliott, Dixie Albright, Thomas Mullen and Judge and Richard Schonfeld.

* * * *

FROM Long Beach City College, Business and Technology Campus, are Roosevelt Stevenson and Hans Kaiser.

Robert Hailey and Gregory Lockett, Wilson High School seniors, will be recipients of a $100 scholarship which they will share.

Following the ceremony, a brief business meeting and installation of new Adrian officers will be held.

New officers are Mmes. Eugene McCluer, chairman; Theodore Webb, vice chairman; Donald Grey, recording secretary; Carl Wulfsberg, treasurer; Norbert Dean, door hostess. Mrs. Harry Fulton, retiring chairman, will preside at the ceremony.

Why share bed and board

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My husband and I have been married for 18 years. Sixteen of these were quite happy ones. And then something happened. I don't know whether it was "another woman" or not. All I know is his affections just cooled right down to the freezing point.

When he is at home he is so irritable I can hardly live with him. He adores our only daughter (now 16) and in front of her puts on a sort of act as though he still cares for me. But when we are alone, it's quite a different story.

While we still share bed and board he has hardly so much as given me a peck on the cheek for two years.

Come to think of it, he hasn't spoken to me unless someone else was around for the past ten days now.

However, some friends of mine have invited us to go to Las Vegas with them. I would like to go, but what fun would it be with him when all he'd do is put on an act in front of them.

Should I tell him of the invitation and let him decide or should I just tell them on my own that we simply can't go.—CAN'T DECIDE

DEAR CAN'T DECIDE:

I'll be darned if I'd go on a trip with a man who treated me like a wooden Indian. If you could go alone with your friends, fine and dandy, but why go on something that is supposed to be a pleasure trip when you'd be subjected to humiliation all the time?

You might tell your husband about the invitation—and tell him also why you don't care to go. Tell him you don't care to go on sharing bed and board with anyone who acts as he does, and suggest that he move out. And if he won't, then it's about time you did, and got yourself a good attorney for good measure.—M.M.

NAIROBI, GATEWAY TO AFRICAN SAFARIS

'Within a lion's roar' of the mightiest of zoos

(Alitalia Airlines flies a smooth kite into a dozen African cities from its home base, Rome. Travel editor Kraft was aboard when it inaugurated service recently to Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, and then back to Nairobi, Kenya, headquarters for East African safaris.)

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

NAIROBI, KENYA—This is the jumping-off place for safaris into the world's mightiest zoo, the vast wild animal kingdom of Africa.

But you don't have to go on safari to see your first animals. Not at Nairobi.

Three wildebeests flashed through the beams of our zebra-colored Volks station wagon headlights as we drove in from the airport.

When we arrived at our quarters in this glistening new metropolis of 250,000, there was assurance of plenty more to come. The sign read: "New Stanley Hotel, Within a Lion's Roar."

* * * *

FOUR MILES from the New Stanley, at the city's edge, is Nairobi Royal National Park where game animals, large and small, live much as they have always lived — unprotected from each other.

'WITHIN A LION'S ROAR' of East Africa's big game domain, Nairobi women perform their daily chores as they have for centuries.—(Photo by Fred Kraft.)

Though the beasts are protected from human slaughter, they are not fed by park people. It is not uncommon to see a lion, the chief attraction, feasting on a buck in full view of visitors. And to see a stately giraffe nibbling thorny shoots from the top of a tall acacia is old stuff.

Many of these animals choose to roam outside the park's shelter. Airport officials declare they often see a rhino grazing nearby. And a raid by hyenas on neighboring poultry yards is routine.

Sixty-five years ago the land on which Nairobi now stands was teeming with wild game. Despite the coming of the Uganda Railroad in 1901, bringing human life to this once uninhabited area, the animals chose not to leave.

* * * *

LOCATED on the very edge of the greatest zoo of all, Nairobi is a natural as headquarters for safari outfitters, professional hunters and guides. It is from here that scores of hunting parties, and groups on sightseeing and photo safaris, take off for the bush each month.

(Tourism to Kenya rose 7% in 1964, according to Tom Mboya, minister for economic planning and development. The reason, of course, is to see wild game in its native haunts.)

But Nairobi is more, much more, than all this. It is the largest city between Cairo and Johannesburg. Glistening, modern buildings appear almost every month to alter its imposing skyline. And it is the hub of air traffic in East Africa.

* * * *

BECAUSE the city is located on a plateau at 5,000-feet-plus altitude, heat is, ordinarily, no problem. But a good place to relax and view the passing parade is "The Thorn Tree," a sidewalk cafe with gay awnings, directly in front of the New Stanley. Besides, it brought back fond memories of such spots in Rome and Paris.

Here we saw occasional ochre-smeared Masai warriors — they seem to travel in pairs—hearing their steel-shafted spears. More common were sari-clad Indian women and tall, bearded Arabs, their turbans glistening. The British are still here, too, but their businesses and agricultural pursuits are gradually being taken over by native Africans.

* * * *

IT'S NOT an expensive show. A glass of fresh orange juice costs two sterling (an African shilling is worth 14 cents, American); a Danish open sandwich, three sterling; or coffee, a popular drink, one sterling.

In the New Stanley, where my single room cost $11, a haircut and shampoo costs only six shillings but American-made filter cigarets sell for four shillings and two cents (58 cents).

The room possessed every comfort of home and we all slept soundly. We needed the rest. The next morning we were to leave on a six-day wild animal photo safari that would take us to the foot of Mt. Kilimanjaro, into the vast Ngorongoro Crater, and a half-dozen game preserves in between. We'll tell you about that safari next week.

Highways restored

Highways Director Charles G. Prahl announces that all state highways in Washington are in excellent condition for the coming vacation season.

Prahl made the announcement following numerous queries from California motoring organizations who feared that Washington had suffered serious damage by recent floods.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

ONE TICKET TO TRAVEL IN EUROPE

Railroad travel in 13 Western European countries has been further simplified with the introduction recently of Eurailtariff. It makes it possible for one ticket to be used between destinations instead of several. A traveler can get the price of any trip in minutes from a travel agent.

Eurailtariff covers all Trans Europ Expresses and crack trains. Sleeping accommodations and reservations are also included in the new service. Participating countries are the same which sponsor Eurailpass and Eurailgroup: Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

High speed trains roll in Germany

The German Federal Railroad will inaugurate its first schedule of high speed trains which travel 125 miles per hour, on June 25, the day the International Exhibition of Transport opens in Munich. The trains will link Augsburg with the fair grounds in Munich, only a 20-minute trip.

A full scale program to convert long distance express trains into high speed carriers will begin in 1966.

In addition to technical advancements, the German Federal Railroad considers Eurailpass an important element in making travel on Western European railroads increasingly popular with visitors from North and South America. This flexible ticket permits unlimited first class rail travel in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland for one, two or three consecutive months.

Inn Open May 27

The swank new 200-room $4 million Canyon Cub Inn in Palm Springs will open its doors to the public on Thursday, May 27.

Reservations are now being accepted in preparation for the Memorial Day weekend.

The Canyon Club Inn is the only hotel in Palm Springs with its own private 18-hole championship golf course.

TAHITIAN DANCERS at the Kaanapali Hotel on the island of Maui, Hawaii, entertain visitors with nightly shows that feature authentic South Seas artistry. Maui, 35 minutes by air from Honolulu, has become one of the most popular Hawaii resort complexes.

Air boats skim gorge in Japan

For a thrilling new view of Japan's most spectacular river gorge, ride one of the speedy, flat-bottomed "air boats" along the upper reaches of the Kitayama River, counsels the Japan National Tourist Organization.

The shallow-draft craft, driven by airplane propellers, leave the town of Shingu on the Kii Peninsula, and take about three hours to reach Toro-hatcho, the innermost section of the gorge. This breathtaking spot is best visited in June when the azaleas and rhododendrons blooming in the crannies of the rocky cliffs are reflected in the tranquil waters below.

A Japanese inn, beautifully situated on the left bank of the gorge in Nara Prefecture, offers delightful overnight accommodations. Shingu, the starting point of the air-boat excursions, may be reached by train from Nagoya in approximately four hours or from Osaka in just under five hours.

CHRISTINA CARROLL

GARY MURPHY

Lyric Opera Co. in concert May 23

Southern California Lyric Opera Association will present its second "Evening of Grand Opera" next Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Concert Hall of Municipal Auditorium.

The program will be completely different from the one given in February.

Christina Carroll, Gary Murphy and Thomas Anderson will sing selections from "La Traviata," "Ernani" La Forza del Destino" "La Boheme" and other operas.

Miss Carroll is former soprano with the Metropolitan Opera Company and has sung in leading opera houses in Europe and the United States.

* * * *

MURPHY, baritone, recently received excellent reviews for his role as the vengeful Don Carlo di Vargas in a Long Beach performance.

Anderson, tenor, was a recent winner in the Metropolitan Opera auditions and has sung many operatic roles in Southern California.

Tickets are $2, $3 and $4. Checks should be made payable to Lyric Opera, Long Beach Auxiliary, 1342 Roycroft Ave., Long Beach 90804.

Variety of media in LBCC student show

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Among the annual pleasures which are bonus to reviewing the local art scene are the spring shows of student work at Long Beach City and State Colleges. This is especially true with the former because the students are less sophisticated, the classroom assignments are more closely disciplined, thus the individual's own response to the problem is more easily perceived.

The Student Show will be on exhibit at the LBCC Gallery, 4901 E. Carson St., through June 4 and covers a wide variety of media. There are several interesting charcoal figure studies, intriguing problems in design and color (two-dimensional and three-dimensional), water colors, oils, some excellent ceramics and sculpture studies in wire. Richard Keyes of the faculty is responsible for the assembling and display.

* * * *

ONE OUTSTANDING grouping is made up of wood plank which has been cut with shop tools and assembled in ingenious ways. Close by are colored paper designs in three dimensions which hang next to their own plot plans.

Among the paintings are several of a mother and child. R. Wilson has done a large one on upsom board which soaks up the paint and gives a nice luminous quality to the work. An excellent study in water color is G. Drouillard's thin wash with an endless line of little human figures disappearing on the horizon.

* * * *

AN ADULT student, C. M. Lauridsen, has done a wonderfully sensitive rendering in monochromatic poster paint of marsh reeds screening a mysterious landscape.

Two still life drawings have particular merit, Dan Barker's ragged banana leaves, and T. Barbar's nest of weeds with three immaculate eggs therein. The same can be said for Harrigan's pen drawing of the brutal butchery of battle.

Viewing hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 8 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and on Fridays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Race course to be site for concert

Los Alamitos Race Course will serve as the auditorium for a Pilot Concert next Sunday at 7 p.m. when Los Alamitos Symphony Orchestra plays under direction of Mme. Frieda Belinfante.

More than 6,000 theater-type seats overlook the landscaped grounds, there is ample free parking space and a test has proved that acoustics are excellent, concert spokesmen say.

The program will include numbers by 500 vocalists, members of choirs of Orange County schools directed by Tom Newman of Villa Park High School, Orange.

Tick Tockers, junior and senior high school girls of National Charity League, will usher.

Festival of arts outlined

Los Altos United Church, 5550 Atherton St., will combine visual and performing arts in a daylong festival Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. and closing at dusk.

Performing arts events, starting at 11 a.m. and changing each hour, are: Long Beach State College modern dance workshop, YWCA Hawaiian dancers, Long Beach City College Madrigal Singers, Los Altos Men's Quartet, cellist Barbara Jane Hunter and pianist Jackie Marquart, and a jazz group.

* * * *

VISUAL ARTS displays will include hanging glass lamps, Herb Goldberg; stained glass windows, Vern Holander; sculpture and paintings by Ralph Tarzian, Ken Glenn, Connie Gonzales, Gary Rothman, Lucien A. M. den Arend, Larry Shep, Marc Villagran, Geneva Heron and Gene Wiley.

There also will be exhibits from the B & Q Art Gallery, Long Beach Art Association and local artists. A special section will be set aside for children's art.

* * * *

DEMONSTRATIONS will be given on looms and potters' wheels.

Baby sitting will be available for 10 cents an hour; Disney films will entertain the youngsters.

Coffee and cupcakes will be served and hamburgers and soft drinks will be for sale all day.

There is no admission charge for the festival.

'Mozart' is first on new series

"European Music in 20th Century Retrospect," a new series of lectures and demonstration performances sponsored by Long Beach City College, will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday in Studio C of the college music building, Clark Avenue and Harvey Way. Admission is free.

First topic will be "Mozart, the Universal Genius." Lecturer is Rudolph Schindler, M.D., who is also a musician and a student of the life and works of Mozart. Performers will be Jean Kuhns, pianist, and Henny Warner, soprano.

* * * *

MISS KUHNS, former City College piano instructor, has appeared in concerts throughout Southern California. Miss Warner was a concert singer in Europe before coming to the U.S. in 1947 to continue her career.

'Friends' bid public to art auction

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Gates of Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., will swing open at 10 a.m. next Sunday for the fifth annual Art Auction sponsored by Friends of the Museum of Art.

During the preview and silent bidding time from 10 o'clock to 12:30 p.m., work may be purchased at its pre-auction price. Oral bidding will begin at 1 p.m. and will continue until 4 p.m.

To keep the quality of work high, only award-winning artists who have won recognition in juried exhibits have been invited to participate. They include L. Ward Youri, Ralph Tarzian, Larry Shep, Roland Shutt, Evelyn Carpenter, George Schoonover, Robert Adams, Tom Ferreira and Jari Havlena.

Prints, ceramics, sculpture and mobiles will be for sale, but only paintings will be auctioned.

MUSEUM DIRECTOR Frederick Black will auction the first painting. Thereafter, auctioneer Rudy McClary will be assisted by three members of Long Beach State College art faculty, Kenneth Glenn, Bob Click and Alvin Pine.

For the convenience of those who wish to spend the day at the auction, food will be sold on the grounds.

Mrs. Samuel Pilchman, president of the Friends, has appointed Mrs. Ed Callahan and Mrs. Carl Goldman chairmen for the event. There will be no admission fee.

TERRA COTTA BUST OF YOUNG GIRL
From the Nemi Region, this work is dated 1-2 Century B.C. and is priced at $600

A LARGE, comprehensive collection of art objects from ancient Greece and Rome and their Mediterranean colonies, is on display at May Company's Wilshire store, Wilshire at Fairfax, Los Angeles.

The more than 1,200 pieces in the exhibit date from 2,000 B.C. to the 8th century A.D. They range from museum quality items priced as high as $6,000 to those priced as low as $5.

All have been authenticated by Dr. George Mylonas, professor of archaeology at Washington University and director of excavations at Eleusis and Mycene.

* * * *

INCLUDED in the exhibit are fine terra cotta figures, pottery, vases, lamps, perfume bottles, gold jewelry, clay beads, vases, bowls, capitals, stone doors, weapons, bronze figures, oil and wine vessels, marble busts and reliefs and other unique, exciting objects.

Among materials are marble, limestone, alabaster, gold, silver, bronze, iron, ivory, bone and terra cotta.

Under guidance of Morton D. May, noted art collector of St. Louis, the company sent Julius Carlebach, owner of the Carlebach Gallery of Primitive Art in New York, on a three month's search abroad in the summer of 1964. It is his perception and experience that account for the comprehensive range of this exhibit. It will remain on display through June 5.

MR. AND MRS. Harry L. Rubin have opened a new art gallery, Cha-Chez, at 1710 E. Pacific Coast Highway. They describe the gallery as one "featuring an interesting selection of original oil paintings imported from Europe, all handsomely framed to properly blend with the subject matter, which is extensive and varied."

Mrs. Charlotte Armstrong is manager. Hours are Mondays through Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

FINE ARTS Patrons of Newport Harbor will stage their second Benefit Art Cruise Thursday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Paintings, prints and sculpture from collections in the area will be shown in three homes and aboard a yacht; transportation by boat between Pavilion Gallery and the homes will be available.

Homes which will provide a background for the art, all in Balboa, are those of Mr. and Mrs. Randall F. Geddes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Cotton and Mr. and Mrs. Byron H. Farwell.

The Collectors' Show at the gallery, 400 Main St., Balboa, will open the same day and may be seen from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

A donation of $5 includes admission to the yacht, the homes and the gallery where refreshments will be served.

Arena, Huffine head cast of O'Casey's 'Paycock'

"Juno and the Paycock" will be presented by the Long Beach City College Theater Arts department at 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday in the LBCC auditorium, Harvey Way near Clark Avenue. Tickets will be available nightly at the box office.

Playing the title roles in Sean O'Casey's powerful tragicomedy are Steve Arena as Jack Boyle, the strutting "paycock," and Sheryl Huffine as his long-suffering wife. David M. Emmes directs the production and J. L. White is the set designer.

* * * *

AGAINST the background of the Irish revolution, "Juno and the Paycock" deals with an impoverished family of Dublin tenement - dwellers and the irresponsible head of the household. Following news of an unexpected inheritance, the family enjoys a comically lavish change in circumstances—and a shattering letdown.

Appearing as neighbors in the tenement are Ron Boussom, Carroll Weekely, Randolph Sellers and Barbara Ritman. Members of the supporting cast include Mike Laibson, Jill Swigart, Jim McKie, Richard Hall, Jerome Rupple, Jon Rueck, Bill Hennigh, Stanley Fried, David Sweet and Nedra Sluyter.

On stage—

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Around the World With Delaplane

"Would you comment on the itinerary I have enclosed?" (Europe tour.)

ALL GOOD except I'd change that night flight New York-London to one of the day flights leaving New York at 10 in the morning. The five-hour time change is rough on the system—you land in London at 9:30 p.m. London time. But 4:30 in the afternoon your stomach and sleep time.

Figure a full day to adjust for every three hours of time change. If you fly night, you land in daylight sleepy. And it will take much longer to get in tune. Somehow landing at night, you DO get to sleep.

I eat lightly for a couple of days, too. And cut back the drinking. You do both on local time. And it's a real jolt to your inside time.

* * * *

"We would like to go to Paris by boat and train but have heard the English Channel is very rough."

I'VE DONE THIS a number of times on the excellent Golden Arrow train and never run into a rough crossing. If you look at the weather box on Page One of the New York Herald Tribune Paris edition, you'll find Channel conditions listed.

* * * *

"Appreciate how to tip in England. . . ."

ENGLAND does not add a service charge—as the rest of Europe does. Londoners seem to tip 10% or 12% on restaurant checks. Not like our usual 15%. The two-shilling piece (28 cents U. S.) is the bellboy tip in the elegant hotels. A shilling in the country and modcrate places.

Leave the maid a shilling a day. The hall porter—uniformed man who gives you your keys and mail—gets two shillings a day per couple when you leave. A shilling for the doorman when he calls a cab. But half of that—a sixpence—in more moderate places.

Head waiters aren't tipped unless they make some special dish at your table. And then modestly, three or four shillings. An odd tip goes to the carver of a roast if he is a special man who rolls the cart to your table. As at Simpson's-in-the-Strand. Give him one shilling.

Taxi drivers get 10%. But you'll have a terrible time getting percentages on English money. A shilling does it on the average ride. For quick conversion on restaurant checks, round it off into pounds and tip two shillings (10%) on each pound. If your bill is three pounds, eight shillings and four pence, just call it four pounds. Tip: eight shillings.

Six pence for hat check girls, etc. No tips for theater ushers—except when they bring tea to your seat between acts. Then it's sixpence or a shilling. And a tip for you: London theaters all have bars for between-the-act nips.

Lunch in London restaurants is apt to be a many course affair. Most pubs serve sandwiches or small lunches and are very cozy places. Beer's the drink. And for our kind, ask for cold lager. You could try British bitter—ask for half a pint—drawn from the pump. But you have to get used to it. Usually no tip for the bar man.

There are two sizes nf drinks in England. "Small" is a little less than our ounce measure. "Large" is not quite our double.

* * * *

"Any particularly good buys that you can suggest?"

NOT MUCH. England and America are about equal on prices for comparable quality. In clothing I don't see that you get much here except the snob value of the London label.

If you ARE shopping, keep in mind that Britain shuts down Saturday and Sunday. That means department stores, hairdressers—everything but the pubs. So get in a pub and get loaded. (The smart Piccadilly and Regent street shops do stay open Saturday morning.)

And don't be absent-minded crossing streets. Traffic goes on the left in right-hand drive cars. Your American tendency to look left at crossings is all wrong. And taxi—signal for them no matter which way they're going. The London cab can turn on a sixpence. And does. Right in the middle of the street and the middle of traffic.

Yellowstone opens gates for season

Wraps of another winter in the high country of Yellowstone National Park have been removed from inns and lodges as the nation's first and still largest national park is opened for a new season.

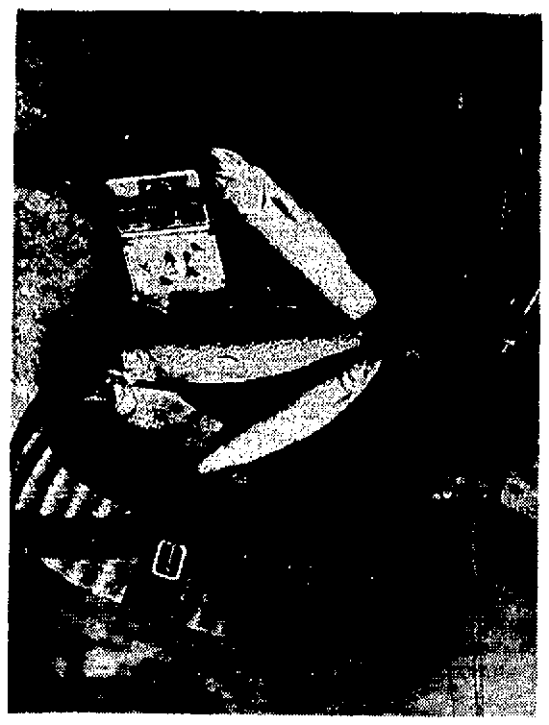

Park gates opened officially May 1 and the first facility to open for overnight visitors was Old Faithful Motor Hotel last Sunday.

Today, historic Old Faithful Inn will greet the first of about 50,000 guests expected during the 1965 season.

Lake Lodge Cabins and Old Faithful Campers Cabins opened Saturday. Other opening dates: May 26, Mammoth Motor Inn; May 29, Canyon Village and Fishing Bridge Cabins.

June 5, Lake Hotel; June 11, Mammoth Cabins, Old Faithful Lodge and West Thumb Cabins; June 14, Lake Hotel Cottages and Roosevelt Lodge and stagecoach rides.

Bus service begins in the park May 26 at west, south and north gateways. Boats are available after June 11. Saddle horses are available starting June 7 at Mammoth, Canyon Village and Old Faithful and June 14 at Roosevelt Lodge. Mt. Washburn trips start July 2.

Festivals, music events on Southland calendar

Weekend gadders will find a wide range of attractions in the Southland during the next two weeks.

Paramount holds its fourth annual Festival Days Wednesday through next Sunday with a fireworks display Thursday, and bicycle races, horse show and junior farm in the city park on Sunday. A Miss Paramount will be chosen in a beauty contest.

Barbershop quartets gather Friday night in Swing Auditorium, San Bernardino, for a big harmony swing. Groups will include the Osmond Brothers from the Andy Williams TV show, the international champion "Sidewinders," the international champion "Citrus Belters" of 65 voices, and the "Sweet Adelines" of two counties.

Ojai holds its 19th Festivals Friday through Sunday. Three of the six concerts will be presented in Ojai Festival Bowl.

* * * *

AIR RACES held last year at Reno will come off May 28-30 at Lancaster with skydiving contests and displays of lunar landing vehicles and space mechanics, all at Fox Airport.

Oxnard christens its new yacht marina during the Channel Islands Harbor opening celebration May 29-31 with boat rides, water skiing, surfing, boat exhibitions and a helicopter rescue show.

The Kern River Valley Roundup May 30 will be different from most rodeos in that many of the contestants, such as ace roper Dick Pascoe and his father, Cecil, are working cowboys in this high cattle country.

Bloc named for symposium

Andre Bloc, noted French sculptor and creator of the "habitable," is the second artist named to participate in the eight-week International Sculpture Symposium on the campus of Long Beach State College June 21 to Aug. 14.

The choice of Kosso Eloul of Israeli was announced Thursday by Kenneth Glenn, LBSC professor of art and director of the symposium.

Bloc will visit Long Beach Wednesday to confer with symposium officials and will bring with him designs for monumental sculptures, one of which will be chosen for his contribution to the summer event.

A habitable is a combination of sculpture and architecture. It has an interior and exterior and can be used as a building.

* * * *

BLOC IS one of more than 50 world-famous sculptors nominated by a blue-ribbon committee of international art critics and museum directors. From this group, 14 will be selected to work in a special area of the college campus, open to public view. The sculptors will have the status of artists-in-residence and will work with student artists enrolled in the summer session.

* * * *

IN ADDITION to his habitables, Bloc has done more conventional sculpture, is represented in major galleries and was commissioned to do the monumental "Brasilia" for the new capital of Brazil.

Bloc is now in San Francisco to judge a design competition for new Civic Center Plaza sculptures. From Long Beach he will fly to Montreal to deliver a lecture to the International Architects Congress.

* * * *

EIGHTEEN sculpture symposia—permitting artists to produce masterworks larger than those that can be housed by any existing museum — have been held abroad since 1959, but this is the first one in the United States.

Kosso Eloul, who works under the name of Kosso, is one of the rising figures in modern sculpture, has taken part in six symposia, organized one in Israel and is acting as consultant in launching this first one in this country.

Names of other participating sculptors will be announced within a few days, Glenn said.

Mrs. Storrs to judge auditions

Gladys Kelso Storrs, pianist-teacher of Alamogordo, N.M., will judge candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians beginning Monday and continuing through June 5.

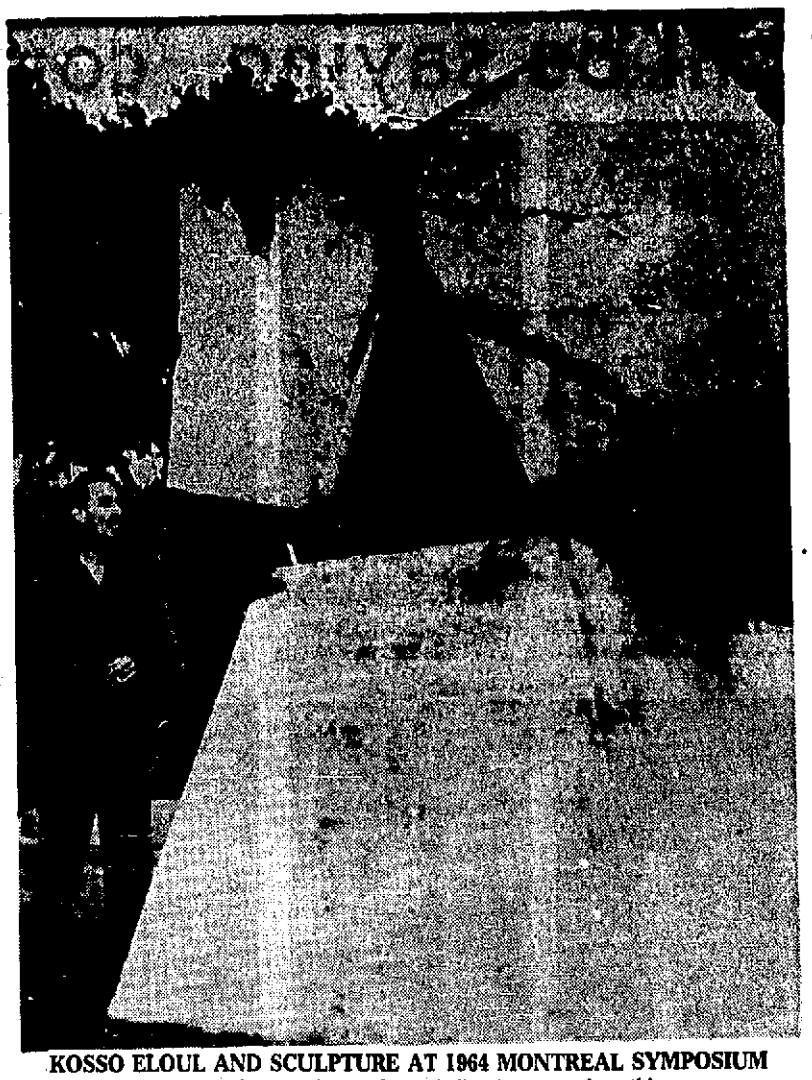

The annual auditions, to be held daily in St. Luke's Educational Center, Seventh Street and Linden Avenue, are sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. The non-competitive auditions, ranging from early elementary grades through collegiate level, will have 300 enrollees in Long Beach.

Rilla McReynolds Branyon is local chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Schumacher will serve as monitor.

'Silent World'

"The Silent World," a Cannes Film Festival award winner produced by Yves Cousteau, will be shown Thursday at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., at 3 and 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Doors will open at 7:30 p.m. for the evening performance.

AGO celebrating national date today

The Long Beach Chapter will join with 17,000 members in 300 chapters of the American Guild of Organists in celebrating National AGO Sunday today.

Some 75 members of youth choirs in Westminster Presbyterian and First Congregational churches in Long Beach and two Wilmington churches will present a Junior Choir Festival at First Congregational, Third Street and Cedar Avenue, at 5 p.m.

James Weeks, minister of music at the host church, is dean of the local chapter which received its charter from the National AGO April 27, 1947. Fourteen of the 43 charter members are still active and the organization now has more than 100 members, most of them playing in churches.

* * * *

PURPOSE of the guild is to musically enrich the cultural and religious life of this area. Therefore, the chapter annually presents noted artists in programs of vocal, sacred, secular and instrumental music.

The chapter also has placed the complete Gesellschaft edition of Johann Sebastian Bach's work in the Main Library.

To sing 'Elijah'

The beautiful, but rarely heard oratorio, "Elijah" by Mendelssohn, will be presented next Sunday at 4 p.m. by the 70-voice Chancel Choir of Atlantic Avenue Methodist Church, 15th Street and Atlantic Avenue. Dr. Lawrence L. Peterson, chairman of the fine arts division at Long Beach State College, will direct, assisted by Lorraine Whitney Lee, organist.

Soloists are Robert Guyette, baritone; Betty Olsson, soprano; Ruthanne Lorenzen, contralto; and Robert James, tenor. The public is invited.

L.B. Symphony concert tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the Concert Hall of Municipal Auditorium, Lauris Jones will conduct the Long Beach Symphony in the final concert of the orchestra's 30th anniversary series. The box office will open at 7 p.m.

Earlier this week in Lafayette Hotel, Dr. Milton Stearns, associate professor of music at California State College, Los Angeles, previewed the concert program for members of the Symphony Guild and guests.

* * * *

OF "CRYSTAL LAKE," composed by Elinor Remick Warren, he said "This work had its premiere performance in Los Angeles under Wallenstein's direction. Although it was inspired by an actual lake in the High Sierra, it is not just descriptive. It reflects the peaceful, quiet, serene emotions evoked by the lake. Mrs. Warren loves writing for the orchestra because she can make full use of the color of winds, strings, brass and percussion to create a texture of sound."

* * * *

OTHER WORKS on the program will be "English Country Dances" by Malcolm Arnold, "Billy the Kid Suite" by Aaron Copland and "Symphony No. 9" by Schubert.

"All of these composers are involved with melody and song," said Stearns, who is himself a concert pianist and conducts a television series on channel four each Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

"Copland's genius is in orchestration suffused in folk song music. In this suite he uses old songs such as 'The Old Chisholm Trail' and 'Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie' to give the color and flavor of the Old West.

* * * *

"ALTHOUGH Arnold's dances sound as though they were based on folk tunes, the composer wrote the themes himself and so can be more flexible in his orchestration. His work is unusual, also, because it is written in modes which give a whole new flavor to the sound. He uses instrumentation and shifts of key to achieve his effects."

All of the program numbers are short with the exception of the Schubert symphony, Stearns said.

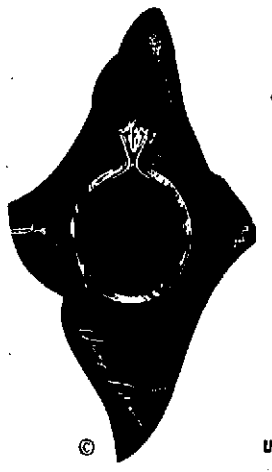

* * * *

"SCHUBERT was a block buster in music—the greatest melodies the world has ever known with the exception of Mozart. This symphony is lyric and happy. The key to enjoying it is to just sit back and let it happen.

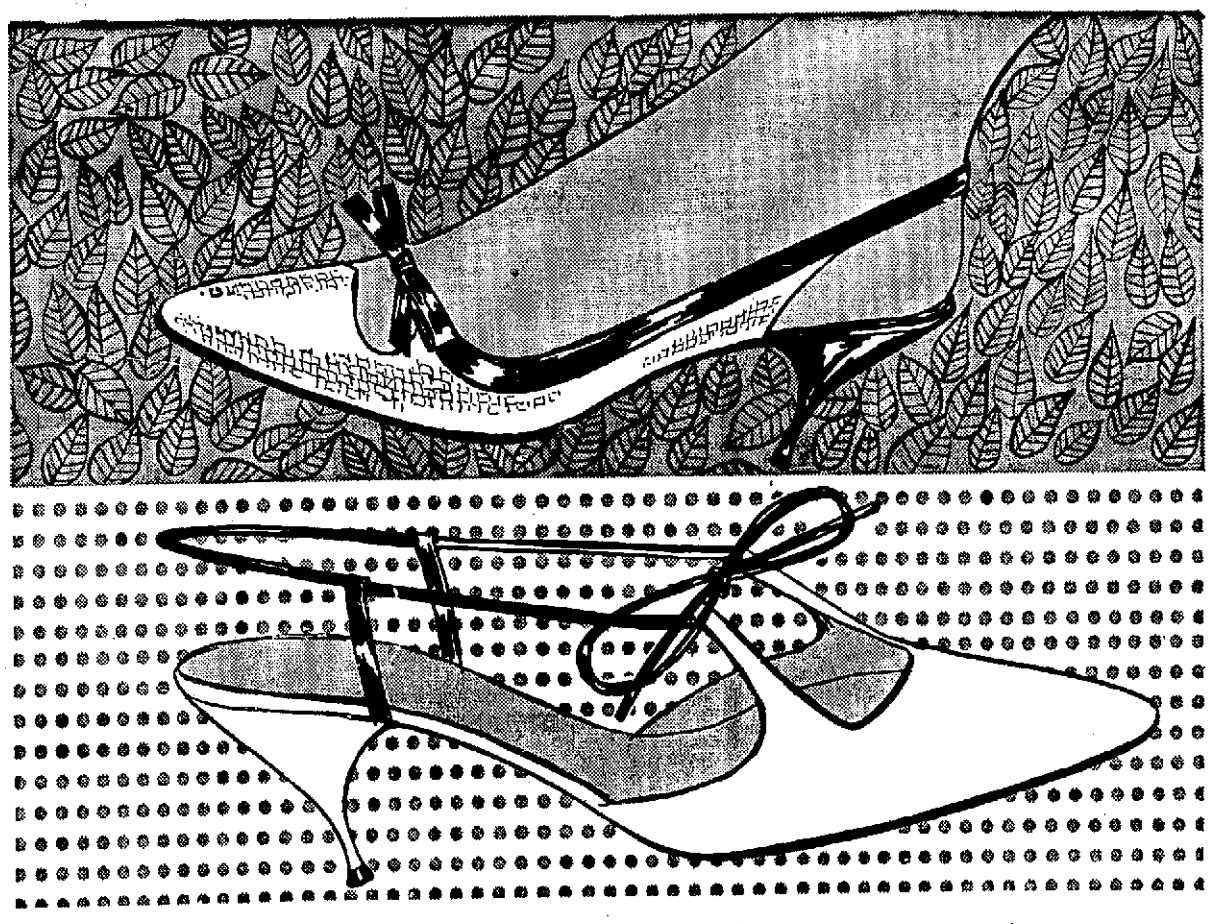

"The most important thing about listening to music is to react first emotionally before you analyze it intellectually.

"We communicate so much of our lives on the 'How nice!' or 'How wonderful!' level that it is important to be able to communicate on an emotional level with music." — ELISE EMERY

New voices will be saying, 'come to order'

By JOYCE KENT
I.-P-T Club Editor

Gavels by the gross are changing hands this month as clubdom gears for a promising year of philanthropy and service in 1965-66. Joining the ranks of newly installed presidents are:

Medical Auxiliary

Mrs. Arthur S. Evelev assumed her post as president of Long Beach District Three, Woman's Auxiliary to Los Angeles County Medical Association at a luncheon meeting Friday at Pacific Coast Club. Retiring president is Mrs. Edward H. Platz.

The new president, a graduate nurse, also is a member of Symphony Juniors, California League of Nursing and is assistant chief of the Civil Defense Hospital at Long Beach State College. Her board includes Mmes. Paul W. Smith, president-elect; Gilbert G. Lapid and Wayne P. Hanson, vice presidents; Lynn T. Levy and Kenneth M. Brown, secretaries; Oscar W. Shadle, treasurer.

A string trio from Hill Junior High School entertained and special guests were Para-medical scholarship winners, Patricia Bowler, Avonda Roysden and Kristine Moangan, St. Anthony's; Nadine Knutson, senior student at Queen of Angels; Glenda Zuiderzeld, Valley Christian High; Stephanie Tyo, Mayfair High and Nellie Rigonan, Lakewood High.

Lawyers' Wives

Mrs. Richard McWilliams takes the helm of Long Beach Lawyers' Wives Tuesday during an 11:30 a.m. meeting and luncheon at Assistance League House.

A native of Indiana, she also is active in First Lutheran Church work, Petroleum Wives, Exceptional Children's Foundation and Community Chest. Her board includes Mmes. Michael Cullen, Jack Stanley, Robert Kirkpatrick and Leo Friedman, vice presidents; Mason T. Kight Jr. and John E. Carroll, secretaries; Sterling Clayton, treasurer; Stephen A. Pace, historian; Reed Williams, parliamentarian; John C. Spence, auditor.

The program will feature a chalk talk on "How the hair styles of today can be adapted to you individually" by hair stylist, Rafael.

Dental Auxiliary

Mrs. Leland F. Perry will take office as president of Woman's Auxiliary to Harbor Dental Society at an installation luncheon Wednesday in Ports O' Call, San Pedro, succeeding Mrs. John W. Faris Jr.

The new leader has been active in the auxiliary since 1943. Her other presidencies have included Naples PTA, Delta Gamma Mothers Club and Chi Omega Alumnae. Mrs. Don H. Murphy, past president, also will install Mmes. Julius Coronado, president-elect; William Ridgeway, vice president; Herbert Benn and Weldon Cronkite, secretaries; Melvin Rowan, treasurer.

Pilot Club

Attorney Hope I. Case will be installed as president of Pilot Club of Long Beach following 7:15 p.m. dinner Wednesday at Lafayette Hotel with Ruth Cunningham, past international president, as installing officer.

Miss Case, a graduate of Polytechnic High School, took pre-legal training at USC and was graduated from Southwestern University. Named to serve with her are Connie Rose and Amelia Fesler, vice presidents; Maxine Haun and Anna Louise Gruber, secretaries; Myrna Russell, Eva Miner and Mary Ann Fraser, directors.

Students from Call's Fine Arts Center will present dances typical of the countries visited by Miss Case during world travels. Special guests will be Judges Joseph Raycraft and Martin DeVries.

Kappa Delta Alumnae

Long Beach Kappa Delta Alumnae Association will seat Mrs. Merrill E. Wright as president at a Monday evening banquet at Hoefly's in Belmont Shore.

The former Jonine Booth, the new president is a native of Long Beach and both a second generation KD at USC and second generation president of Long Beach alumnae. Her husband is Long Beach City Geologist. Joining her on the executive board will be Mmes. E. John Hunt, vice president; David Hobock, secretary; Hugh Osmera, treasurer; E. Martin Doyle, editor.

NAIROBI, GATEWAY TO AFRICAN SAFARIS

'Within a lion's roar' of the mightiest of zoos

(Alitalia Airlines flies a smooth kite into a dozen African cities from its home base, Rome. Travel editor Kraft was aboard when it inaugurated service recently to Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, and then back to Nairobi, Kenya, headquarters for East African safaris.)

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

NAIROBI, KENYA — This is the jumping-off place for safaris into the world's mightiest zoo, the vast wild animal kingdom of Africa.

But you don't have to go on safari to see your first animals. Not at Nairobi.

Three wildebeests flashed through the beams of our zebra-colored Volks station wagon headlights as we drove in from the airport.

When we arrived at our quarters in this glistening new metropolis of 250,000, there was assurance of plenty more to come. The sign read: "New Stanley Hotel, Within a Lion's Roar."

* * * *

FOUR MILES from the New Stanley, at the city's edge, is Nairobi Royal National Park where game animals, large and small, live much as they have always lived — unprotected from each other.

'WITHIN A LION'S ROAR' of East Africa's big game domain, Nairobi women perform their daily chores as they have for centuries.—(Photo by Fred Kraft.)

Though the beasts are protected from human slaughter, they are not fed by park people. It is not uncommon to see a lion, the chief attraction, feasting on a buck in full view of visitors. And to see a stately giraffe nibbling thorny shoots from the top of a tall acacia is old stuff.

Many of these animals choose to roam outside the park's shelter. Airport officials declare they often see a rhino grazing nearby. And a raid by hyenas on neighboring poultry yards is routine.

Sixty-five years ago the land on which Nairobi now stands was teeming with wild game. Despite the coming of the Uganda Railroad in 1901, bringing human life to this once uninhabited area, the animals chose not to leave.

* * * *

LOCATED on the very edge of the greatest zoo of all, Nairobi is a natural as headquarters for safari outfitters, professional hunters and guides. It is from here that scores of hunting parties, and groups on sightseeing and photo safaris, take off for the bush each month.

(Tourism to Kenya rose 7% in 1964, according to Tom Mboya, minister for economic planning and development. The reason, of course, is to see wild game in its native haunts.)

But Nairobi is more, much more, than all this. It is the largest city between Cairo and Johannesburg. Glistening, modern buildings appear almost every month to alter its imposing skyline. And it is the hub of air traffic in East Africa.

* * * *

BECAUSE the city is located on a plateau at 5,000-feet-plus altitude, heat is, ordinarily, no problem. But a good place to relax and view the passing parade is "The Thorn Tree," a sidewalk cafe with gay awnings, directly in front of the New Stanley. Besides, it brought back fond memories of such spots in Rome and Paris.

Here we saw occasional ochre-smeared Masai warriors — they seem to travel in pairs—bearing their steel-shafted spears. More common were sari-clad Indian women and tall, bearded Arabs, their turbans glistening. The British are still here, too, but their businesses and agricultural pursuits are gradually being taken over by native Africans.

* * * *

IT'S NOT an expensive show. A glass of fresh orange juice costs two sterling (an African shilling is worth 14 cents, American); a Danish open sandwich, three sterling; or coffee, a popular drink, one sterling.

In the New Stanley, where my single room cost $11, a haircut and shampoo costs only six shillings but American-made filter cigarets sell for four shillings and two cents (58 cents).

The room possessed every comfort of home and we all slept soundly. We needed the rest. The next morning we were to leave on a six-day wild animal photo safari that would take us to the foot of Mt. Kilimanjaro, into the vast Ngorongoro Crater, and a half-dozen game preserves in between. We'll tell you about that safari next week.

Highways restored

Highways Director Charles G. Prahl announces that all state highways in Washington are in excellent condition for the coming vacation season.

Prahl made the announcement following numerous queries from California motoring organizations who feared that Washington had suffered serious damage by recent floods.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

ONE TICKET TO TRAVEL IN EUROPE

Railroad travel in 13 Western European countries has been further simplified with the introduction recently of Eurailtariff. It makes it possible for one ticket to be used between destinations instead of several. A traveler can get the price of any trip in minutes from a travel agent.

Eurailtariff covers all Trans Europ Expresses and crack trains. Sleeping accommodations and reservations are also included in the new service. Participating countries are the same which sponsor Eurailpass and Eurailgroup: Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

High speed trains roll in Germany

The German Federal Railroad will inaugurate its first schedule of high speed trains which travel 125 miles per hour, on June 25, the day the International Exhibition of Transport opens in Munich. The trains will link Augsburg with the fair grounds in Munich, only a 20-minute trip.

A full scale program to convert long distance express trains into high speed carriers will begin in 1966.

In addition to technical advancements, the German Federal Railroad considers Eurailpass an important element in making travel on Western European railroads increasingly popular with visitors from North and South America. This flexible ticket permits unlimited first class rail travel in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland for one, two or three consecutive months.

Inn Open May 27

The swank new 200-room $4 million Canyon Cub Inn in Palm Springs will open its doors to the public on Thursday, May 27.

Reservations are now being accepted in preparation for the Memorial Day weekend.

The Canyon Club Inn is the only hotel in Palm Springs with its own private 18-hole championship golf course.

TAHITIAN DANCERS at the Kaanapali Hotel on the island of Maui, Hawaii, entertain visitors with nightly shows that feature authentic South Seas artistry. Maui, 35 minutes by air from Honolulu, has become one of the most popular Hawaii resort complexes.

Air boats skim gorge in Japan

For a thrilling new view of Japan's most spectacular river gorge, ride one of the speedy, flat-bottomed "air boats" along the upper reaches of the Kitayama River, counsels the Japan National Tourist Organization.

The shallow-draft craft, driven by airplane propellers, leave the town of Shingu on the Kii Peninsula, and take about three hours to reach Toro-hatcho, the innermost section of the gorge. This breathtaking spot is best visited in June when the azaleas and rhododendrons blooming in the crannies of the rocky cliffs are reflected in the tranquil waters below.

A Japanese inn, beautifully situated on the left bank of the gorge in Nara Prefecture, offers delightful overnight accommodations. Shingu, the starting point of the air-boat excursions, may be reached by train from Nagoya in approximately four hours or from Osaka in just under five hours.

QUALITY CONTROL CLERK—This is one of the more interesting and busy jobs at Mattel. You'll plot results of tests and graphs and calculate and prepare summaries—transmitting and receiving this information among several departments.

CREDIT—This clerical position is to assist our credit men by getting background information, doing paper work and similar activities with our many customers. There's no direct customer contact involved, but it's an exciting job and requires experience in Accounts Receivable and/or Wholesale Credit Collections.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Around the World With Delaplane

"Would you comment on the itinerary I have enclosed?" (Europe tour.)

ALL GOOD except I'd change that night flight New York-London to one of the day flights leaving New York at 10 in the morning. The five-hour time change is rough on the system—you land in London at 9:30 p.m. London time. But 4:30 in the afternoon your stomach and sleep time.

Figure a full day to adjust for every three hours of time change. If you fly night, you land in daylight sleepy. And it will take much longer to get in tune. Somehow landing at night, you DO get to sleep.

I eat lightly for a couple of days, too. And cut back the drinking. You do both on local time. And it's a real jolt to your inside time.

* * * *

"We would like to go to Paris by boat and train but have heard the English Channel is very rough."

I'VE DONE THIS a number of times on the excellent Golden Arrow train and never run into a rough crossing. If you look at the weather box on Page One of the New York Herald Tribune Paris edition, you'll find Channel conditions listed.

* * * *

"Appreciate how to tip in England. . . ."

ENGLAND does not add a service charge—as the rest of Europe does. Londoners seem to tip 10% or 12% on restaurant checks. Not like our usual 15%. The two-shilling piece (28 cents U. S.) is the bellboy tip in the elegant hotels. A shilling in the country and moderate places.

Leave the maid a shilling a day. The hall porter—uniformed man who gives you your keys and mail—gets two shillings a day per couple when you leave. A shilling for the doorman when he calls a cab. But half of that—a sixpence—in more moderate places.

Head waiters aren't tipped unless they make some special dish at your table. And then modestly, three or four shillings. An odd tip goes to the carver of a roast if he is a special man who rolls the cart to your table. As at Simpson's-in-the-Strand. Give him one shilling.

Taxi drivers get 10%. But you'll have a terrible time getting percentages on English money. A shilling does it on the average ride. For quick conversion on restaurant checks, round it off into pounds and tip two shillings (10%) on each pound. If your bill is three pounds, eight shillings and four pence, just call it four pounds. Tip: eight shillings.

Six pence for hat check girls, etc. No tips for theater ushers—except when they bring tea to your seat between acts. Then it's sixpence or a shilling. And a tip for you: London theaters all have bars for between-the-act nips.

Lunch in London restaurants is apt to be a many course affair. Most pubs serve sandwiches or small lunches and are very cozy places. Beer's the drink. And for our kind, ask for cold lager. You could try British bitter—ask for half a pint—drawn from the pump. But you have to get used to it. Usually no tip for the bar man.

There are two sizes of drinks in England. "Small" is a little less than our ounce measure. "Large" is not quite our double.

* * * *

"Any particularly good buys that you can suggest?"

NOT MUCH. England and America are about equal on prices for comparable quality. In clothing I don't see that you get much here except the snob value of the London label.

If you ARE shopping, keep in mind that Britain shuts down Saturday and Sunday. That means department stores, hairdressers—everything but the pubs. So get in a pub and get loaded. (The smart Piccadilly and Regent street shops do stay open Saturday morning.)

And don't be absent-minded crossing streets. Traffic goes on the left in right-hand drive cars. Your American tendency to look left at crossings is all wrong. And taxi—signal for them no matter which way they're going. The London cab can turn on a sixpence. And does. Right in the middle of the street and the middle of traffic.

Yellowstone opens gates for season

Wraps of another winter in the high country of Yellowstone National Park have been removed from inns and lodges as the nation's first and still largest national park is opened for a new season.

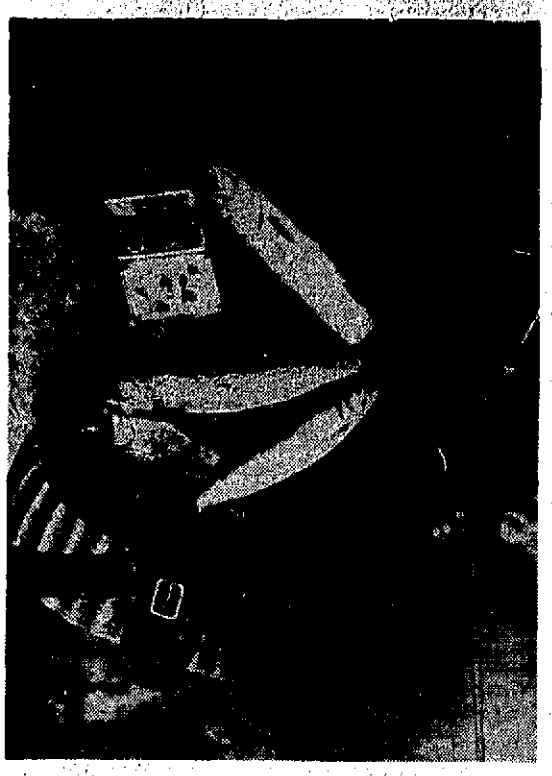

Park gates opened officially May 1 and the first facility to open for overnight visitors was Old Faithful Motor Hotel last Sunday.

Today, historic Old Faithful Inn will greet the first of about 50,000 guests expected during the 1965 season.

Lake Lodge Cabins and Old Faithful Campers Cabins opened Saturday. Other opening dates: May 26, Mammoth Motor Inn; May 29, Canyon Village and Fishing Bridge Cabins.

June 5, Lake Hotel; June 11, Mammoth Cabins, Old Faithful Lodge and West Thumb Cabins; June 14, Lake Hotel Cottages and Roosevelt Lodge and stagecoach rides.

Bus service begins in the park May 26 at west, south and north gateways. Boats are available after June 11. Saddle horses are available starting June 7 at Mammoth, Canyon Village and Old Faithful and June 14 at Roosevelt Lodge. Mt. Washburn trips start July 2.

CUTTHROAT TROUT LIKE THESE are caught in the Chetco River in Curry County along the southern Oregon coast near Brookings. (Oregon State Highway Commission photo.)

Festivals, music events on Southland calendar

Weekend gadders will find a wide range of attractions in the Southland during the next two weeks.

Paramount holds its fourth annual Festival Days Wednesday through next Sunday with a fireworks display Thursday, and bicycle races, horse show and junior farm in the city park on Sunday. A Miss Paramount will be chosen in a beauty contest.

Barbershop quartets gather Friday night in Swing Auditorium, San Bernardino, for a big harmony swing. Groups will include the Osmond Brothers from the Andy Williams TV show, the international champion "Sidewinders," the international champion "Citrus Belters" of 65 voices, and the "Sweet Adelines" of two counties.

Ojai holds its 19th Festivals Friday through Sunday. Three of the six concerts will be presented in Ojai Festival Bowl.

* * * *

AIR RACES held last year at Reno will come off May 28-30 at Lancaster with skydiving contests and displays of lunar landing vehicles and space mechanics, all at Fox Airport.

Oxnard christens its new yacht marina during the Channel Islands Harbor opening celebration May 29-31 with boat rides, water skiing, surfing, boat exhibitions and a helicopter rescue show.

The Kern River Valley Roundup May 30 will be different from most rodeos in that many of the contestants, such as ace roper Dick Pascoe and his father, Cecil, are working cowboys in this high cattle country.

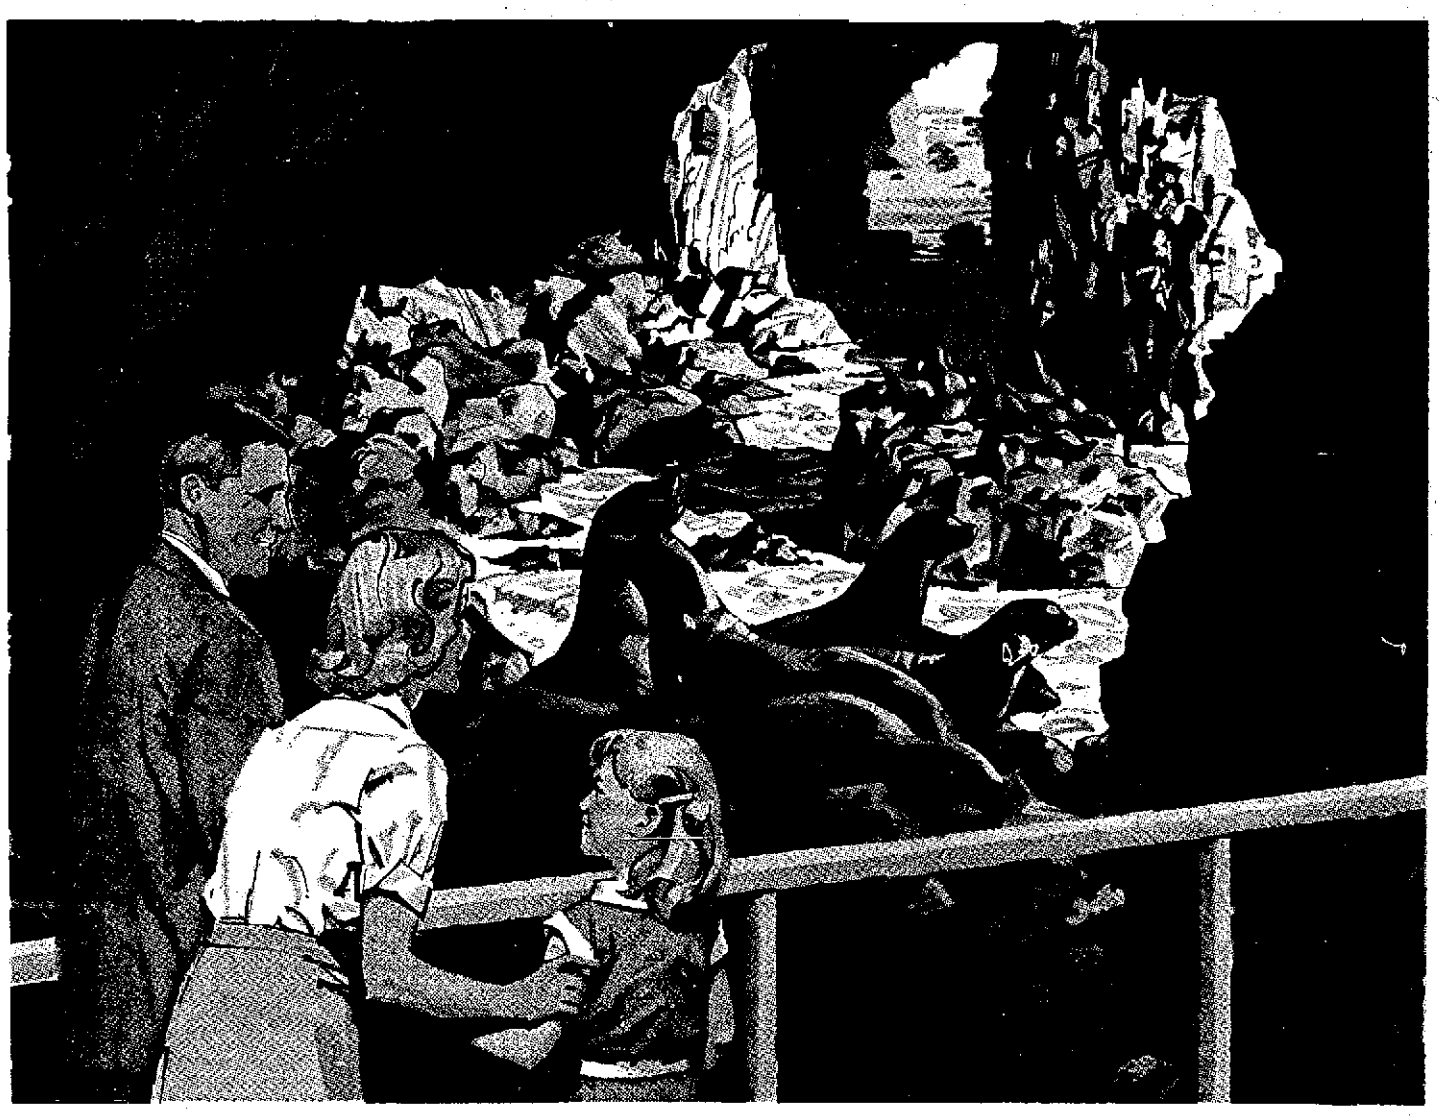

Reichstag Building

The Reichstag, Germany's parliament building, is nearing completion in Berlin. Reconstruction of the arson-destroyed building is expected to cost $25 million by the time the project is completed this year.

Relax in a State of Excitement...
OREGON

WORLD'S LARGEST SEA CAVE, only mainland rookery of the giant Steller sea lion, is at midpoint on the 400-mile Oregon shore. You and your family may observe these fascinating sea creatures from a choice vantage point within the huge, colorful grotto on the Pacific coast.

INDIAN TRIBES of the Warm Springs Reservation own and operate Kah-Nee-Ta Vacation Resort. Plan to enjoy swimming pools with naturally warmed water, modern cottages, genuine Indian teepees and glimpses of Indian culture.

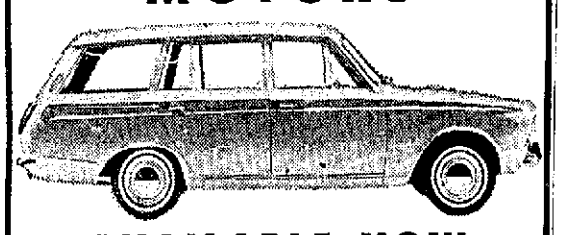

Oregon is noted for its wide selection of Pacific Northwest scenic attractions—never-to-be-forgotten settings for every vacation activity. A superb network of modern highways takes you everywhere in Oregon, thus adding to your time to "see and do" our state. Each turn of the road brings new playland grandeur, new adventures in holiday enjoyment. Oregon's forests, alone—the largest stand of timber in the nation—offer an infinite variety of rushing rivers, shaded campsites, flower-starred meadows, cool clear lakes and teeming wildlife. Make your plans now for happy vacation days in cool, green Oregon.

For helpful information about Oregon, when you arrive call at the nearest Chamber of Commerce certified Visitors Information Center.

We're Searching the South Bay Area for a Man

Frankly, it may take months to find him. But, we're willing to wait . . . the opportunity is that important.

Here's a quick "profile" of the person we're looking for. Chances he's between 24 and 42. Education ..... college or equivalent. In all likelihood, he's now in a junior executive position, but, feels stalled, making good progress. But he has a problem. He knows he's capable of doing better ..... feels "harassed" by a salary structure which is good, but not good enough.

If you fit this general description, we'd be happy to talk to you about this salaried opening in our organization. It may require extensive travel. But should you turn out to be the man we are looking for . . . we can promise it will be well worth your time and trouble.

To pursue the matter further, write us a letter outlining your business experience, age, marital status. If you prefer

LAKEWOOD SHOPPING CENTER GETTING THIS ADDITION

$500,000 Mall Addition Begun at Lakewood Shopping Center

Construction has started on a new $500,000 building on the Mall in Lakewood Shopping Center, according to Joseph K. Eichenbaum, president of J. K. Eichenbaum & Associates, developer and exclusive leasing agent.

Brand Jewelers, located on the north end of the building, will have show windows with decorative metal canopies, on the walkway between the building and Haggarty's.

Occupants of the units, in addition to Brand Jewelers will be Gene's Smart Shops, Fashion Fabrics, Gladys Fowler Dress Shop, Zale's Jewelry and Kinney's Family Shoes.

Ernest W. Hahn, Inc., is general contractor.

* * * *

DESIGNED by Burke, Kober & Nicolais, Los Angeles architectural and engineering firm, the 19,687 square feet, one-story structure will be located at 5003-5013 Hazelbrook Ave.

The building will have entrances from both the mall side of the shopping center and the Hazelbrook Avenue parking lot.

Constructed of concrete frame with masonry filler panels, the interior of the building will be finished in an off-white rough face brick.

Featured across both fronts will be precast concrete arched arcades which will extend 10 feet over the walkways.

* * * *

WHILE ALL six stores will have glass show windows, the individual decorative treatments will differ. Various materials, such as dark-toned granite, marble, terrazzo and marble rubble, will be used in the window bulkheads.

Entry floors will range from terrazzo and circular mosaic tile to black slate.

Textured plaster in an off-white will be used above the show windows on all of the units except Gene's Dress Shop. This store will feature a full height solid wood door and a decorative metal screen in front of the full height show windows.

Douglas Experts Take 'Know-How' to Campus

Eight top Douglas Aircraft Group scientists, engineers and administrative executives returned to Long Beach today from Auburn, Ala., where they conducted classes most of last week for 750 students at Auburn University.

Purpose of the three-day seminar which concluded Thursday was to acquaint the faculty and students of the university with the practical application of their studies in industrial engineering and management techniques.

* * * *

BY TAKING their experience and know-how to the campus, the Douglas management task force reversed the conventional method of training students in industry through summer jobs. They also were able to benefit whole classes instead of a few individuals.

Subjects selected by the university staff for instruction include Operations Control, Employe Relations, Design Processes, Manufacturing Management, Reliability, Computer Applications and the industrial program evaluation technique known as PERT/Cost.

* * * *

THE DOUGLAS group was headed by W. E. Maschal, Aircraft Group director of management systems and administration, who coordinated the program with the university staff.

Also participating are Stanley Y. Curry, assistant director of management systems; W. E. Jenne, director of operations control; R. S. Steigerwalt, manager of employe relations at the Douglas facility in Torrance; J. M. DiVola, chief system engineer, C-5 Division; H. L. Mailander, supervisor, structural mechanics, DC-9 Project; D. L. Gilles, chief system engineer-Reliability; and J. L. Lundry, engineer/scientist specialist.

* * * *

THE EDUCATIONAL experiment, designed to aid both the university and the aerospace industry through strengthening of curricula in areas of mutual interest, will be offered to other universities at a later date.

The program is the result of discussions earlier this year between Auburn administrators and Jackson McGowen, Douglas Group Vice President, Aircraft.

Eye Revolving Building Plan for Apartments

Rotating high rise apartment structures, believed the first of the kind ever planned, are proposed by the Kelce-Huntley Corp. at La Jolla.

The entire buildings would revolve once every three hours so tenants would have changing views.

Plans call for nine revolving towers up to 24 stories high, plus a stationary building. The complex would be built on a 30-acre site on Mr. Soledad, near San Diego.

An architect said a 10 horsepower motor would suffice to turn each building.

New Port Council OKs Bylaws, Elects

The 14 directors of the Cargo Protection Council of Southern California recently approved bylaws and elected officers for the newly organized non-profit corporation during a meeting in the Board Room of the Administration Building, Port of Long Beach.

New officers are Admiral (ret.) Frank Higbee, president; Harry Reese of Ocean Terminals, vice president; J. D. Teague of States Steamship, secretary; and Guy Crum of Balfour, Guthrie, treasurer.

* * * *

TWO COMMITTEES organized during the meeting were Finance: Guy Crum, chairman; Robert Holbrook of Williams Dimond; S. T. Lashbrook of Overseas Shipping Co.; Willard Cartmel of Marine Terminals; and Jack Berry of Outer Harbor Dock & Wharf Co.

Operations Committee: Charles L. Tilley of Outer Harbor Dock & Wharf Co.; Capt. John Davis of Associated Banning; Capt. E. V. Richards of Furness, Withy Co.; Larry Dunn of Pacific Far East Line; and W. E. Morrow of Bayly, Martin & Fay, Inc.

Admiral Higbee said offices for CPCSC now are located at Berth 55, Port of Los Angeles.

Bolar Named to Board of Governors

BELLFLOWER — Lewis Dean Bolar, vice president-cashier of the new Bellflower National Bank, has been elected to the Board of Governors of the Harbor District Chapter, American Institute of Banking, according to Charles A. Victory, president of the local bank.

RECORD CONVERSION FOR L.B. YARD

Destroyer to be Made Over into Missile Ship

By BUCK LANIER
Naval Affairs Reporter

Preliminary work got under way last week for the largest ship conversion job ever assigned the Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

The San Diego-based destroyer USS Parsons (DD-949) will be converted from a conventional destroyer to a guided missile destroyer (DDG).

Funds have been approved by the Bureau of Ships and the 18-month job will begin Dec. 30. It will take 120,000 production mandays.

* * * *

DDG CONVERSIONS have been allotted to Boston, Philadelphia and San Francisco Naval Shipyards, the Bureau of Ships will have a basis of comparison for future conversions after these jobs are completed.

Stability tests were run on Parsons Friday with engineers determining the location of the center of gravity vertically, longitudinally and transversely.

Primary conversion object is to replace conventional guns with anti-aircraft missile (TARTER) housing, to install anti-submarine rockets (ASROC) and to update her radar communication system.

This will require complete removal or stripping of about 95% of the deck houses, main deck and above. The tripod masts will be replaced with quadruped ones and a stack will be moved.

* * * *

COMPARTMENT changes and rearrangements below the main deck will be made to house new and modernized equipment. Four turbo generators will be taken out for uprating and a modernized fire control system installed. Crew quarters will be improved also.

The Parsons will be decommissioned at the beginning of the conversion and will be recommissioned the DDG-33 upon completion.

While conversion is in process the ship will also receive its complete three-year overhaul. Completion target date is June 30, 1967.

Entries in the home design contest will be judged and on display.

MAY 29—OPEN HOUSE—This event will be at the Board Office, 3747 Long Beach Blvd. Also on this date, the judging of the Poster Contest will take place with Lou Hockel, Mayflower Van & Storage, in charge. May 29 will be the date for the judging of the cooking contest which is being handled by the Realtor Wives Club—Mrs. Melvin Mould, president, and Winnie Cross in charge. The entries on the cooking contest will be on display at the Board Office and will be judged by leading home economists in the area.

Grocers to 'Educate' Public About Shopping Cart Losses

First step in a program to eliminate an annual loss of over 15 million dollars to the grocers of the nation through shopping cart losses has been initiated in Southern California.

Ted Woods, president of the Southern California Grocers Association, signed a contract with Weir Advertising, Los Angeles, which will initiate a program slated for newspaper, television, radio and other media, to bring the story of "cartnapping" and shopping cart losses to the public.

The average housewife who "borrows" a shopping cart to take her groceries home and then abandons it at the curb and the people who "take" the carts for use as laundry baskets, pet beds, garden carts, etc., don't realize that these carts cost the grocer from $30 to $35 each. Nor do they realize that in Southern California alone the loss each year is between $500,000 and $600,000.

"Food is a bargain," said William Tormey, executive vice president of the SCGA, "but in keeping food prices low, the local grocer has to take into consideration these tremendous losses from "cartnapping."

The program, to start in July, will feature a cartoon-type character to be known as "Cartwheel Charlie."

All member markets will feature in-store displays to tie in with the extensive general coverage; and market employes will urge all customers to "please leave the cart at the market!"

Anniversary Finds Hodges in New L.B. Office Facilities

This week, Monday through Saturday, will be celebrated as birthday week by the Rex L. Hodges Realty Co., it has been announced by Robert C. Westmyer, president and owner of the firm.

A birthday cake signifying the 36th anniversary was shared by the entire staff and their spouses as more than 300 persons attend a kickoff celebration last week in the company's new general office building at 408 E. 1st St., Long Beach.

All 16 branch offices of the firm will participate in the week-long observance. The public has been invited to visit the nearest Hodges office and have a piece of other birthday cakes to help commemorate the anniversary.

* * * *

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES are planned in the Belmont Shore office at 5318 East 2nd St., which was the site of the birth of the Rex L. Hodges Realty Co. in May of 1929.

Bess J. Hodges, wife of the late Rex L. Hodges, who founded the firm, joined in on the birthday celebration party at the central offices Thursday evening.

Mrs. Hodges stated: "We can all feel very proud today to witness a living example of how Mr. Hodges and Mr. Westmyer's 'Golden Rule Philosophy of Business Practice' has built one of the country's largest realty firms."

* * * *

THE CELEBRATION also was highlighted by presentation of a mink stole to Helen Harshaw in recognition of her 25 years of association with the firm as its corporate secretary.

Westmyer made the presentation, stating:

Accounting Conference Slated on L.B. Campus

DONALD BURNS CHARLES LEES EDWIN LAMB GEORGE OH

Accounting practitioners, students and educators will meet at the Sixth Annual Accounting Conference of the Long Beach-Orange County Chapter of the California Society of CPAs on Saturday at California State College, Long Beach.

This annual all-day conference is sponsored by the local CPA chapter for the purpose of affording accounting students and educators an opportunity to obtain a first hand acquaintance with practical accounting problems and developments.

The meetings will start at 9:30 a.m.

Subject matter to be covered includes a discussion of statistical sampling applications in audit work, practical management services assistance by accountants, an analysis of the new uniform commercial code, and a talk on the future of tax practice by CPAs.

* * * *

CONFERENCE speakers, all specialists, will include:

Donald T. Burns, CPA, partner in Arthur Young & Co., Los Angeles;

Charles R. Lees, partner in Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., Los Angeles;

Edwin M. Lamb, partner in Arthur Young & Co.;

George L. Oh, partner in Pritkin, Finkel & Co., Beverly Hills;

Kenneth J. Rhoads, attorney and professor of Business Law at California State.

UCB Gets Lending Unit

Frank L. King, chairman of the board of United California Bank, and John D. Engle, president of Insurance Funds Mortgage Co., in a joint statement last week announced the signing of agreements whereby Insurance Funds Mortgage Co. will be acquired by United California Bank.

Under terms of the acquisition, the company will operate as Insurance Funds Mortgage Division of United California Bank and will continue as in the past to represent eastern investors in all types of real estate lending in Southern California.

All officers and members of the staff will continue in their accustomed places and at their present location, 609 South Grand Ave., Los Angeles.

It is contemplated that final closing of the transaction will take place within the next 30 days.

36TH ANNIVERSARY

Hodges Realty Co. to Celebrate Week

"Helen, this is just a small expression of our deep repect and appreciation for a job very well done. Each of us are indebted to you for your long and continued loyalty to the Rex L. Hodges Co. and its many affiliated corporations. Helen, we all join in saluting you."

In recapping the growth and development of the company, Westmyer noted that Hodges built the first store building in Naples four years before he entered the realty business. It was the rapid growth in value of properties in the Belmont Shore and Naples areas that encouraged him to open a real estate office at Belmont Shore in 1929.

* * * *

THE NEWSPAPERS at that time carried a story about Hodges which was entitled "Prosperity Promoters." The article further carried the closing "If you are suffering from any form of real estate depression, have a talk with some of the people in the Rex Hodges Co. and catch some of their optimistic enthusiasm."

In the same newspaper were ads for Naples lots for $750 and terms could be arranged.

The same lots today will bring from $20,000 to as high as $75,000. Yet only 35 years ago people found it very difficult to become enthusiastic about property that then appeared to be priced too high, Westmyer observed.

He further reminded the group that just last year he had received a very indignant phone call about some recommended property that was priced at $22,000 per acre. Again history continued to repeat itself, with a sold price of $31,000 just one year later.

* * * *

"TODAY, AS IN 1929, the real estate industry is on the move," Westmyer said. "Never has there been as many indications of a real boom in real estate activity in Long Beach than at the present moment. Yes, the man who might feel property poor today is probably on the verge of great wealth tomorrow."

To keep pace with the expanding activities of the Hodges Company, the firm has installed electronic equipment for faster and more accurate duplication and publication of the property listings and sales.

Machine bookkeeping has replaced the hand posting of years back.

Data processing computer centers are now being considered for still faster, more up-to-date marketing information that will insure Hodges reputation of providing more efficiency and more services without added expense to the property owner, Westmyer said.

* * * *

ONE OF THE DYNAMIC factors that has contributed to the firm's growth—which exceeded 35% in 1964 — is its system of neighborhood offices; each staffed with a branch sales manager who has earned a specialist's identity for the area which his office serves.

Supporting this management team is an executive staff holding degrees in law, marketing and business administration. Collectively they have in excess of 100 years of real estate know-how.

This reservoir of talent is partially responsible for 47% of the firm's business being conducted with previous satisfied customers, it was noted.

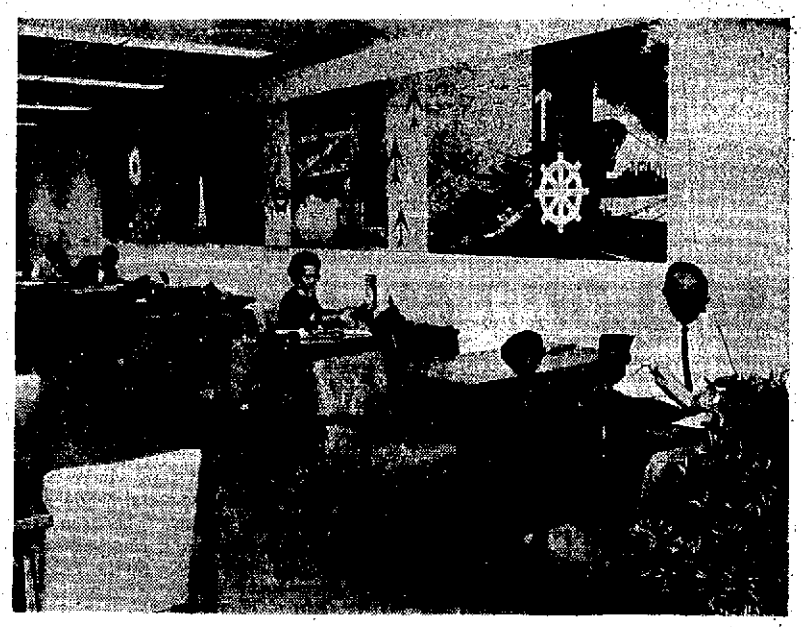

* * * *

TODAY, a property listed with the Hodges Company may be exposed nationwide through many national referral services, advertised weekly to approximately one half million people, verbally described to hundreds of salespeople, released through numerous real estate multiple listing services, electronically printed and distributed to every sales associate through a network of major realty firms throughout the area at no additional cost to the owner.

"These extra services are just a few of the reasons why the Rex Hodges Realty Company heritage has earned for it the real estate industry leadership it now enjoys," said the president.

Ad Club Will Hear Ford Representative

Hal Bracken, of Yorba Linda, car merchandising manager for Ford's Los Angeles district, will speak at the Long Beach Advertising Club luncheon Thursday in the Panorama Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

His topic will be "We're Getting Younger All the Time," which deals with the growing youth market, the automotive business in general and Ford Motor Co's. operation in particular.

Bracken joined Ford in 1954 shortly after being discharged from the Air Force, where he held the rank of Captain.

Chairman of the day Thursday will be Gene Uht, paper consultant and public relations representative for Noland Paper Co. A cocktail social is scheduled for 11:30 with luncheon beginning at noon.

FRIEDBERG LEADS APRIL SALES

SPAROW REALTY HAS ANOTHER TOP MONTH

With Robert Friedberg leading in all categories of most listings sold, most sales and largest dollar earnings Sparow Realty sales units climbed to 63 sales and listings sold in the residential sales division for the first 4 months.

Robert "Bob" Friedberg resides at 4715 Arbor Road with his wife Kathy and their son and daughter. He is active in Lakewood civic and social circles. Friedberg received the coveted "Jaycee of the Year" award for 1964 and is currently Vice-President of the Lakewood Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Oliver Sperow, President of Sparow Realty also announced the company would occupy their new office at 5625 East Willow on May 15. It is now under construction. Sperow said "Although it is good business to have a nice office in a good location it is still secondary to the caliber of salesman who occupies it. It is the educated working salesman who makes things happen, not a static building."

Yoffie Named I, P-T Promotion Director

Norwin S. Yoffie has been named director of promotion of the Independent, Press-Telegram, Publisher Herman H. Ridder announced Saturday.

NORWIN YOFFIE

Yoffie has been research manager of the Ridder - owned Pasadena Independent and Star - News since 1957. Before joining the Pasadena newspapers he was director of promotion and research of Southwestern Publishing Company of Nevada and a promotion assistant at the Phoenix Republic and Gazette.

In his newly created position he will have general responsibility for promotion, research and public relations activities. Ralph Taylor continues in his position of promotion and research manager.

Yoffie is a director of the National Newspaper Promotion Association and past president of the NNPA western region; he is a member of Sigma Delta Chi national journalism society, Kappa Tau Alpha honorary journalism fraternity, Sales Promotion Executives Association, and the Elks.

He is a native of Missouri, a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, a veteran of World War II and a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves. He is married and has three children.

He will move to the Independent, Press-Telegram on May 24.

Author to Speak

How to use real estate trade-in programs to increase sales will be described by Dave Stone, author of two books on the subject, at the monthly dinner meeting of the Young Home Builders Council Monday, 7 p.m., at Rodger Young Auditorium, Los Angeles.

CONGRATULATIONS AND LUCK

Party Held for Retired Bank Exec

WILMINGTON — Ben F. Blossom, who started in the banking business 38 years ago today, was honored recently on his retirement May 31 as assistant vice president-manager of the Bank of America's Wilmington branch.

The bank staff and other friends of Blossom feted him at a dinner and gave him a gift of luggage he will use on a trip to Europe this summer.

* * * *

GUESTS in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Blossom included:

Gus Tams, vice president, branch operations, Los Angeles headquarters; Frank Naughton and William Dye, area administration officers Long Beach; Claude May, retired manager of the Compton branch; Vincent Bauchiero, who has succeeded Blossom, and Mrs. Bauchiero.

Blossom began banking with the Marine Trust & Savings bank, which merged in 1929 with B of A. He has been with the Wilmington and Compton branches since 1935.

Strength Shown by Thriftimart

R. M. Laverty, Sr., president and chairman of the board, has announced that Thriftimart, Inc., had a consolidated net income of $3,082,071 for the fiscal year ended March 27, 1965.

This represents a 7.86% increase over the $2,857,424 earned during the preceding year.

Morrill Will Receive Realty Board Award

A merit award will be presented to Verne Morrill, prominent for years in local real estate circles, at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors, it has been disclosed by J. C. Hoffman, president. The board meets at the Crown cafeteria, at 7:15 a.m.

VERNE MORRILL

The board thus honors members selected for special recognition due to exceptional civic activities.

Morrill, a Realtor since 1933, was born in Wisconsin. He completed his education there and moved west in 1921. He was division manager of the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co. 12 years before entering the real estate business.

Morrill is an active member of the board and has served on many committees.

* * * *

HE IS PAST president of the United Church Brotherhood and past president of the Long Beach Civic League. He has herved as vice-chairman of the Armed Services YMCA Committee of Management for over 12 years. He is director of Goodwill Industries and on the Executive Committee.

Morrill is a member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Legislative Committee and helped start the Signal Hill Chamber of Commerce.

He is one of the founding directors of the International Conference of Christians and Jews and has acted as finance chairman. He has been very active in the Uptown Church of Christ, and has received awards from the Red Cross, the International Traders Club and Goodwill Industries. He has been vice-chairman for the Long Beach Community Chest drive.

Buying in Europe

N. W. Bubar, buyer for the Fine Jewelry Dept. of Walker's store, is on a 30-day buying trip in Europe. He planned to visit diamond centers in Antwerp and Amsterdam, attend the Swiss Industries Fair in Basle to see the watch exhibits and also visit the Omega factory in Bienne.

Before returning home he will inspect wares of the famous goldsmiths in Florence and Rome, Italy.

PORT OF L.A.

Record in Cargo Seen

General cargo tonnage volume for the Port of Los Angeles at the three-quarter mark of the current fiscal year may be headed for another record-breaking year, it was learned last week in statistics released by the Harbor Department.

For the period of July 1, 1964, through March 31 of this year, general cargo — defined as any cargo except lumber, petroleum and bulk commodities — was up 242,617 tons over last year's figure of 3,015,103 tons.

Fiscal 1964 turned out to be an all-time high general cargo year with 4,229,065 tons handled.

* * * *

LARGELY responsible for the upsurge in volume this year are the imports of steel commodities, notably pipe.

For the same nine-month period, bulk oil was up 449,112 tons compared to 1964, and shows signs of recouping the losses recorded last year.

Total tonnage in all cargo categories for the same time was 681,928 tons above last year, lending strong support to the expectation of the biggest year since 1962 which totaled 26,088,015 tons.

Housing Costs Rise

Median price for a new house in the United States last year was $20,600 up $1,900 over 1963, according to housing authorities. The increase, they note, reflects higher land and labor costs, as well as a growing interest on the part of home buyers in quality building materials.

PLAQUE FOR WINNER
Marilyn Buus of Richfield Oil Co. holds honorary plaque presented to her by Al Hopkins of Burry Biscuit Co. She's 1965 "Girl Friday" of Administrative Management Society chapter.

Richfield Oil Secretary Named as 'Girl Friday'

The 1965 "Girl Friday" Award made by the Administrative Management Society, Long Beach Chapter, has gone to Marilyn Buus of Richfield Oil Co.

Presenting the plaque and charm bracelet at a recent meeting was Al Hopkins, chapter president, of Burry Biscuit Co.

National headquarters of AMS long has realized need of recognition for an individual who performs duties for a local chapter which would be considered in excess of the normal job performance, Hopkins said.

Miss Buus, secretary to O. M. Brown of Richfield since 1953, has not only been a "Girl Friday" to Brown but to the local chapter of AMS, for in 1953 Brown became a member, and in 1959-60 was chapter president.

RICHARD NEVINS
Speaker Tuesday

Tax Authority to Address L.B. Realty Board

Richard Nevins of the California Board of Equalization will discuss "Tax Proposals on the Sacramento Scene" at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors.

Arnold B. Skaggs, local representative of the tax board, will be special guest, according to Edmund Shaheen, program chairman.

The breakfast is at 7:15 a.m. in the Crown cafeteria.

Woman Named DLBA Membership Chairman

Mrs. Dorothea Kelly, for the past two years field executive for the American Business Women's Association, has been named membership chairman of the Downtown Long Beach Associates, according to Vito Romans, executive director.

In her former job, she formed and installed three Long Beach chapters of the Business Women's Association.

During World War II she was employed by the U.S. government to teach military correspondence in the San Francisco Bay area.

Mrs. Kelly coordinated a radio program for Powers Mercantile in Lewistown, Mont., for two years. She also planned and organized fashion shows for charitable groups.

In Scottsdale, Ariz., Mrs. Kelly edited and sold art advertising column for the Scottsdale Progress in 1961 and 1962.

Up 58% in Six Years

Average price for an acre of land used for housing was $3,878 last year, report economists at Allied Chemical's Barrrett Division. This represented an increase of 58% in the last six years.

NEW REALTOR HOME
Construction Designer Emil Brakensiek of Bellflower depicts view of new $52,500 headquarters for Bellflower District Board of Realtors now under construction at 10140 Alondra Blvd., Bellflower. R. D. Boggs is the contractor. Bellflower District Board serves cities of Artesia, Bellflower, Dairy Valley, Paramount and Hawaiian Gardens.

Bellflower Area Realtors Building New Board Center

Ground was broken Wednesday and construction is now under way for the new 3,500-square-foot headquarters for the Bellflower District Board of Realtors, Ray Smith, president, announced.

R. D. Boggs, Bellflower Realtor and contractor, won the contract for the structure. It will be located on a 105 by 280 parcel of land at 10140 Alondra Blvd. Total authorized cost of the building is not to exceed $52,500. This amount will include all site improvements, carpeting and drapes for the building.

* * * *

THE NEW OFFICE and meeting complex will contain a reception room, board of directors room, two private offices, a print room, lounge for the members and staff and an auditorium that will seat approximately 200 persons.

Boggs, a Bellflower contractor for nearly 30 years, has 90 working days to complete the building. A parking lot in the rear of the property will provide spaces for 56 autos.

The Bellflower District Board of Realtors sold its present office building property to the city several months ago to permit the opening of a new north-south street between Flower and Belmont Streets in the civic center block east of Bellflower Blvd.

RCA Victor Shifts Execs

Organizational changes in the Instrument and Appliance divisions of the RCA Victor Distributing Corporation of Southern California have resulted in a series of executive promotions, according to Harris Newmark, vice president.

Newly-named Merchandising Appliances manager responsible for dealer and builder divisions is Russell P. Larsen who, for the past eight years, has served as RCA Whirlpool sales manager. Replacing Larsen in that post is Robert A. Finney, who moves up from RCA Whirlpool field sales manager.

Promoted to Merchandising Instruments manager is J. Norman (Cap) Smith, who moves up from sales manager.

Reporting to Smith will be Ernest Charney, Instrument Sales manager. Prior to April 1, Charney had been sales manager of the Radio-"Victrola" department.

J. T. (Tom) Baskerville, formerly RCA Victor "brown goods" Field Sales manager, is now television manager. Moving up from the TV Sales department is Charles D. Huey, who replaces Charney as Radio-"Victrola" manager.

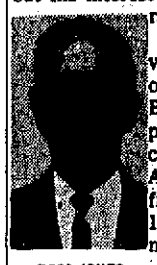

Appraiser Group Installs President

Edward C. Parr, president of Huntington Mortgage Co., San Marino, was installed president of Los Angeles Chapter No. 1, Society of Real Estate Appraisers, at the group's last meeting.

He succeeds E. John Kozey, Pasko Loan Service, Downey. Serving with Parr will be vice president William W. Abelmann of Glendale and Richard B. Sullivan of Woodand Hills, secretary-treasurer.

Doss Jones to Have Own Realty Firm

Announcement was made last week that Doss Jones, executive in the realty firm of Ryerson, Hazlet & Jones, Inc., of Long Beach, has sold out his interest in the corporation.

DOSS JONES

The former vice president of the Long Beach firm has purchased the company's Los Alamitos office, located at 11174 Los Alamitos Blvd.

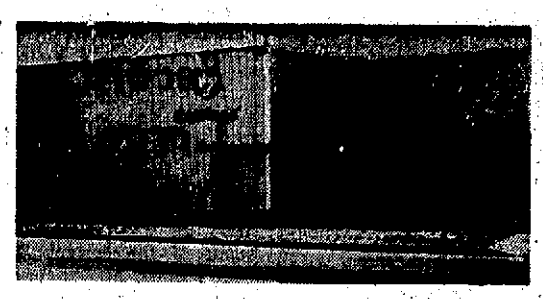

He has been active in the Los Alamitos area, having served two terms as president of the Los Alamitos-Rossmoor Chamber of Commerce in 1962 and 1963, is a charter member of the Los Alamitos-Rossmoor Optimist Club, a charter member of the Los Alamitos Masonic Lodge and a member of the Long Beach Power Squadron.

* * * *

JONES has been manager of the Los Alamitos office for six years, having been one of the first residents of Rossmoor. He lives there with his wife and 19-year-old daughter, Patty.

He went into the real estate field after retiring from the Navy after 23 years of service. A veteran of World War II, he served on both oceans during his career.

Jones has eight veteran salesmen working for him, who specialize in residences in Rossmoor, Los Alamitos, Lakewood and Los Altos.

CUTTINGS GROCERS IN NEW HEADQUARTERS

Apartment Owners Will Hear Panel

Arnold B. Berg, president of the Long Beach Apartment House Association, announced Saturday that the association's next meeting, to be held Thursday at the Woman's City Club 1309 E. 3rd St., would consist of a panel of experts.

Speakers will be:

Roy Heimberger, attorney and apartment house owner who will speak on Landlord-Tenant Relations.

William Nebergall, who is the auditor in charge of the Department of Employment Audit District Office which covers southern Los Angeles County. Nebergall will speak on the subject of the landlord's liability regarding state employment tax.

Al E. Myers, president of the insurance agency of Myers-Stevens Co., specialists in group insurance, will give a general talk regarding the association's group insurance.

There will be a question and answer period at the conclusion of the program.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., and the business meeting will start promptly at 7:30.

Hold Open House at New Cuttings Building

Formal opening is being held today for the new office and warehouse headquarters of Cuttings Institutional Grocers at 1350 E. Burnett St. in Long Beach.

EARL MILTON

Owner and operator is Earl B. Milton, born in Long Beach. His father in law, John A. Cutting, started the business in 1931 at 417 Olive Ave. In 1933, the firm moved to 500 Alamitos Ave., where it was located for 32 years before moving to the new quarters.

The Burnett facility provides 10,000 square feet of floor area, with emphasis on efficient handling of merchandise. The office is color-coordinated for pleasant working conditions and has air conditioning and intercoms.

Keldon & Associates, consulting industrial engineers, designed the facility. Contractor was Verne J. Tyerman & Associates. Landscape architect was John Harvey Pulham.

Hotel in San Diego

Wilbur Clark, formerly part owner of the Desert Inn Hotel-Casino at Las Vegas, and his partner, William B. Ward of La Jolla have announced plans for a 10-story, $8 million hotel in San Diego.

Clark said construction will begin late this month on waterfront land leased from the San Diego Unified Port District.

Appraisers Will Meet Wednesday

Charles E. McNabb, manager of loan marketing for First Charter Financial Corp., Beverly Hills, and vice president of American Savings & Loan Association, will address the Orange County Chapter 132 of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers Wednesday evening at the Revere House, Tustin.

His subject is, "Research and Development in the Appraisal Profession."

A social hour begins at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7.

Burleigh O. Bursham is program chairman and Joseph A. Mueller president of SREA No. 132.

Dr. E. H. Bernston is handling reservations.

Premier Homes Sales Set Record

Custom extras included in Premier Homes "4 Ways Better" formula have been influential in the continuing record sales pace at the Huntington Beach subdivision, according to Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks Inc., sales agents.

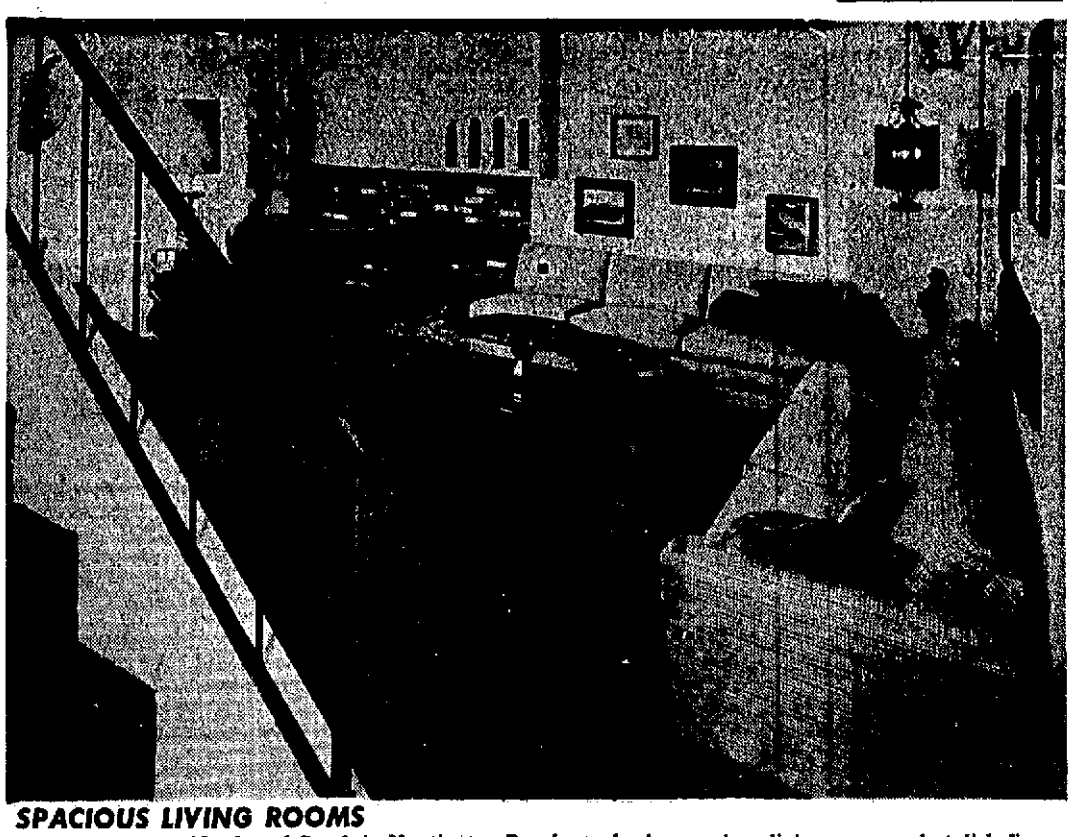

Premier Homes "extra extras" include the lavish use of ceramic tile in kitchen and baths, a complete landscaping and fencing package, and a "Premium fun area" convertible at owner's option to meet any individual family need. These items are all included in purchase prices, which range from $24,750.

McFarland said that each family has a highly individual set of needs, and that the Premium Fun Area allows the homebuyer some leeway in meeting those needs. Once a floor plan is divided up into pre-set packages of space, such as bedrooms, conversion to any other use becomes costly. "The Premium fun area on the other hand, can be used for extra bedrooms and bath, game room, hobby area or rumpus room—anything that suits the individual homeowner's needs" he said

Premier Homes offers three and four bedrooms, two bath homes in single and two story plans. A broad range of exterior stylings, from Polynesian to Contemporary, gives the Premier development a custom appearance.

Premier prices start at $24,750. Financing plans include VA no down, FHA minimum down, and Conventional Financing.

Visitors take Bolsa Chica Road south from San Diego Freeway to Warner Avenue, and turn left on Warner to Hiway 39. Turn left on 39 two blocks to Terry Street and the models. The model display includes a Russian house built from actual Soviet plans, with a Russian purchase price of $22,000 at the current rate of exchange.

SPACIOUS LIVING ROOMS

Premier Homes North and South in Huntington Beach emphasize spacious living room and stylish fireplaces in brick and stone. Three and four bedroom, two bath homes are priced from $24,750, with VA, FHA and conventional financing.

Swimsuit Fashion Show Is Sheduled for Stanton

SHOW SCENE
A swimsuit fashion show, featuring the 1965 line of De Weese Designs, will highlight open house activities today at Sunshine Village Homes-Stanton. The recreation scene pictured above will be the scene of the show, which begins at 2 p. m. The $5 million, 200-unit Orange County townhouse development will be open to the public throughout the day.

Open house activities, highlighted by a poolside swimsuit fashion show, will be held today at Sunshine Village Homes-Stanton, $5 million 200-unit Orange County townhouse community.

Narrating the 2 o'clock show will be Sally Donahue, fashion coordinator for De Weese Designs. Models include Libby Ebsen, daughter of TV star Buddy Ebsen, Cathy Steiner, Lee Muncie and Miss Stanton, Terry Rich.

Sandy Mullen, townhouse community manager for builder-developer S. V. Hunsaker & Sons Inc., said the project will be open to the public throughout the day.

Sunshine Village Homes-Stanton is one of three condominium communities recently opened by the Hunsaker firm. The others include an $11 million 585-unit project in Walnut, and a $5 million 224-unit near Ventura.

Prices range from $19,995 up. Total move-in costs begin at $595.

* * * *

THE ONE and two-story residences include two to four bedrooms and two baths, and are clustered in groups of four to seven around extensive recreational facilities—large clubhouses, heated swimming pools, putting greens, badminton and shuffleboard courts, horseshoe pits, children's play areas and barbecue pits.

The six floor plans have 17 different exterior designs, and each has a detached two-car garage and a separate storage building. Complete front yard landscaping, underground sprinkler system, rear yard fencing and free-form concrete patios with up to 1,200 square feet are also included in purchase price. A special plan provides for complete exterior maintenance plus landscaping service.

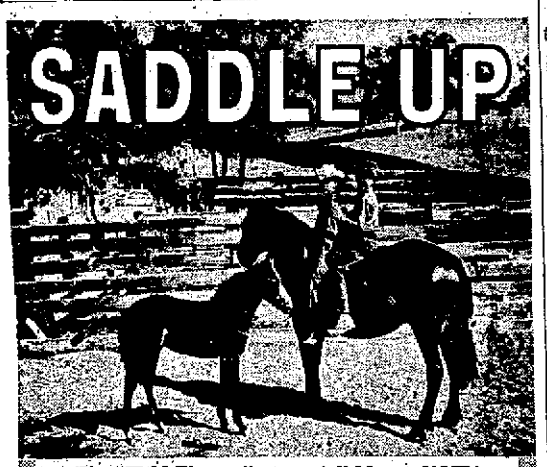

Each home carries a written one-year warranty on materials and workmanship, backed by the Hunsaker organization.

Six model homes are open daily, and may be reached by taking the Beach Boulevard (Highway 39) offramp from the Santa Ana Freeway south to Katella Avenue and west to Western Avenue.

Land Bought by Prestige

Doyle & Shields Development Co., Inc., builders of Prestige Homes, has recently purchased 40 acres at the southeast corner of Warner Avenue and Graham Street in the city of Huntington Beach from Mikawa Farms, Inc., and William Lyon.

According to a spokesman at the Anaheim headquartered building firm, 200 Prestige Home residences will be constructed on the property.

The "Wild Flowers" are in full bloom, NOW!

P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Home

This is the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Home Award.

It is awarded to home builders who build better homes according to the P.I.P.E. standard of plumbing, heating and piping quality.

It means when you buy a new home you should always look for the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Award. Not only will you appreciate the extra convenience and comfort...you'll also be protecting your investment by owning a home that has higher resale value.

Here's what you are assured of when you purchase a home that displays the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Home Award:

1. Adequate gas piping system including gas heating and, where fireplaces are provided, gas log lighter outlets. This gives you the savings of efficient, low-cost operation in home heating. Over a period of years this can add up to a sizeable amount.

2. A five-year unconditionally guaranteed gas water heater. Gas water heaters are less expensive to operate. With an unconditional guarantee you get full refund, not just a portion, should it need replacing within five years.

3. All valves and faucets must be high corrosion-resistant and have replaceable or renewable working parts. After years of constant use, the worn parts can be replaced without having to buy a new valve or faucet. It won't be necessary to tear the wall out or remove tile to repair valves behind the wall.

4. All plumbing fixtures must meet commercial standards of "A" grade. This means you're getting fixtures that will stand up to the wear and tear of constant use for years to come.

5. A minimum of two bathrooms, with one on every floor used for living accommodations. The convenience feature of more than one bath makes this a must for any quality home. One-bath homes are difficult to sell if you decide to move later.

6. A food waste disposer. Not only does this item contribute greatly to the convenience of the kitchen . . . it also keeps the kitchen free from odors and makes for sanitary conditions in and around the house.

7. One external hose outlet for every 75 feet of exterior wall. The practicality of this feature makes it well worthwhile. It means you needn't invest in 150 feet of garden hose and drag it around with you just to water the lawn.

8. A pressure regulator where the main water pressure exceeds 80 lbs. per square inch. This device will increase the longevity of your piping system because it guards against damage. It also tends to reduce the 'knocking' noises that often accompany overpressure in pipes.

9. Adequate water and drain facilities for automatic washer and gas outlet for dryer. The cost of installing these outlets when constructing a house amounts to just a portion of what it would cost to provide them later. Even if you won't use them now...you should look to the future when you probably will.

10. A main water shutoff valve for house and independent shutoffs for sinks, lavatories and water closets. Not only can you easily shut off all water, you can also shut off the supply at individual fixtures without affecting water in other parts of the house.

These ten quality plumbing, heating and piping features make a home a better buy. Be sure the home you buy has been awarded the P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Home Award. You'll be a happier homeowner if you do.

For complete information regarding the advantages of owning a P.I.P.E. Blue Ribbon Award home and the location of new home developments displaying this sign of quality plumbing, heating and piping...call or write the P.I.P.E. office.

Meredith Acres Selling Second 150-Home Unit

VISITORS THRONG
Mother's Day at Meredith Acres in Orange, the 150 split-level two-story home development of Eddy Meredith, saw many visitors and home-buyers visiting the six furnished models on completely landscaped streets. The development, located at Taft and Santiago Boulevard in Orange County, has sold more than 75% of the $6,500,000 planned community.

Throngs of homebuyers turned out this past weekend to view the homes now selling in the second unit of Meredith Acres in Orange, according to builder Eddy Meredith.

The first unit is now sold out and the second well over the half way mark. The 150 split-level and two-story residences built for around $6,000,000 will be the second development finished by the Meredith Company in the last two years.

Meredith Acres is located at Taft and Santiago, near the Newport Freeway on the outskirts of Orange. Construction is now under way for another major Meredith development in the Huntington Beach area.

* * * *

MEREDITH ACRES homes are noted for their wide variety of exterior designs and areas up to 3,200 square feet. The many different models feature formal dining rooms plus informal dining areas in three-four and five-bedroom plans with three baths and two and three-car garages.

One of the models on display, the Ashland, features a sweeping 21-foot galleria overlooking a foyer and living room with a 10-foot-wide stairway.

Other models include the new Normandy model.

One entire cul de sac street is completely landscaped with all six furnished models set up.

Meredith Acres homes are priced from $36,500.

To reach Meredith Acres take the Santa Ana Freeway south, to the Riverside Freeway, then to the Newport Freeway and north to the Katella West off-ramp. Turn right on Katella to Tustin Avenue and then right on Taft to Santiago Blvd.

Open House Slated for Harbor Homes

"More than 200 civic and business leaders of the South Bay area will join a score of home building dignitaries Friday afternoon as guests of Ray Watt, developer of Palo del Amo Woods, in a preview of the distinctive new home community," announces Phil Walsh, vice president for sales.

The public is invited to the grand opening of the development of 900 homes May 22 and 23.

The seven model homes located on Sepulveda Boulevard one-half mile west of the Harbor Freeway, were open at 10 a.m. Saturday and daily thereafter.

Visitors to the 228-acre Palo del Amo Woods development will pass through an attractively landscaped entrance guarded by two dancing water fountains. Directly beyond is the unique "Flowerland of the Woods," a rolling green grass vista highlighted by many 30 foot high pine trees and 30 different varieties of flowers—all blooming!

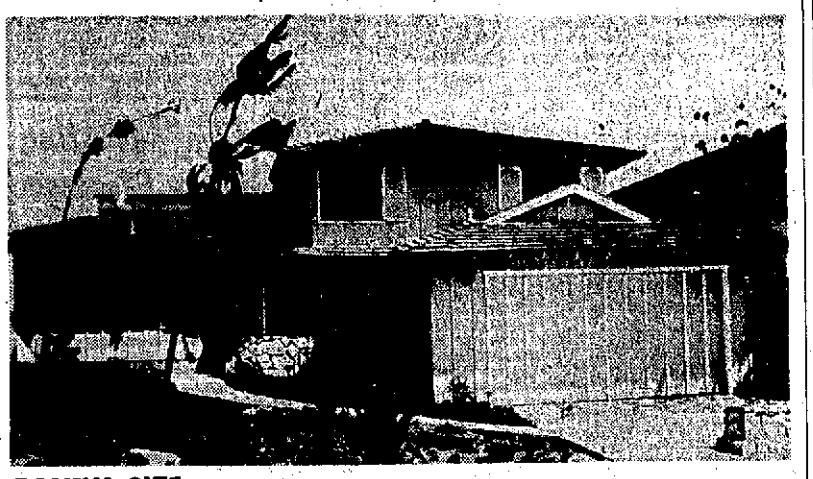

When completed the encircled community, surrounded by a six foot high block wall will boast more than 4,000 trees planted by developer Watt. Three pine trees will be planted on each lot.

All models feature tri-level living and are individually styled in more than 40 widely-varying exteriors creating the custom home look within the community of fine homes.

They include a large rumpus room for informal entertaining, a separate family/dining room and are carpeted wall-to-wall.

Palo del Amo Woods homes start at $32,500 and may be purchased for as little as 10% down.

The main entrance to Palo del Amo Woods is on Sepulveda Boulevard between Vermont and Normandie Avenue, just one-half mile west of the Harbor Freeway.

FAMILY SIZE
Large enough for any size family is the spacious five-bedroom Sandhurst model home, above, one of nine distinctive models available in Palo del Amo Woods.

SPLIT LEVEL
Stunning split-level model at El Dorado Park Estates offers three bedrooms upstairs and a fourth that can be used as a den, or maid's room.

Parkside Features Offered

Parkside living is featured at El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach, according to a spokesman for S. & S. Construction Co., the builders.

El Dorado Park Estates is a walled-in community providing plenty of trees, flowers, plants and green lawns in an area where there are no utility poles to mar the beauty. All utilities are underground.

Three, four and five bedrooms are featured with family room and three and two baths, in eight floor plans with 34 exterior designs, built in two-story, tri-level and one-story models.

* * * *

MEDALLION KITCHENS have built-in range, double oven and dishwasher which are color-harmonized with the exhaust hood and fan. Tile work-tops and vinyl floors provide both decoration and utility.

Furnished models are laid out in one street. The homes are priced from $32,200 to $44,200 and conventional financing is available.

El Dorado Park features include: lath and plaster walls and ceilings, concrete driveways, walks and patios, genuine marble-topped pullman lavatories, and cast iron sinks and tubs.

The models are open daily on Spring Street and Los Alamitos in Long Beach.

Recreation Is Key to Bluffs Living

With the official opening this week-end of the $800,000 administration building and recreational center, "recreation" is the key word at the newest unit of George M. Holstein and Sons' Bluffs development in Newport Beach.

The recreation building site will be near the proposed community pool and tennis club and will lead to the homes thru a landscaped forty acre park.

The Bluff park, its pools, green areas, and playgrounds join with the boating and swimming facilities of Newport Beach. The Bluff site is also near Irvine Coast Country Club, Rancho San Joaquin and the Santa Ana Country Club golf courses.

* * * *

PRICES START at $38,000 at the Bluffs with a wide selection of three and four bedroom, one story, split level and two story homes available. Complete resort hotel maintenance has also been a Bluff highlight.

Phyllis Saunders of Newport Beach has been named social director of the Bluffs.

PHYLLIS SAUNDERS
New Social Director

OVERLOOKS BAY
Rustic beamed ceilings, Spanish-styled fireplaces and wide selection of three and four-bedroom tile roof homes are offered at the Bluffs' new units in Newport Beach with prices starting at $28,000. Site is just west of Jamboree Road overlooking Upper Newport Bay.

The appointment of Mrs. Saunders to head the activities at the community was part of a long range plan to make the Bluffs one of the most interesting in the nation, developers George M. Holstein and Sons' says.

Formerly with the Capistrano Saddle Club, Mrs. Saunders has lived in Newport for thirteen years and has been active in bridge circles as a teacher. She is also an expert tennis player and skier.

The new Bluffs social director has three children, Christine, 16, Richard 15, and Steve, nine. All attend local schools.

At Laguna Festival

The 12th annual Realtors Night at the Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters in Laguna Beach will be held this year on Friday, July 16, it has been announced.

Local Chapter Will Elect Wednesday

The Long Beach Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its regular monthly technical meeting and annual election of officers Wednesday at the Long Beach Elks Club.

Speaker will be Alan Stern, project manager, Computer Sciences Corp., El Segundo.

BUYERS FIND

Fernhill Offering Top Adult Living

Many buyers at all-adult Fernhill purchased homes at the Huntington Beach planned development because individual separate homes are available there, says sales agent Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks.

He emphasized that buyers have included several couples who had surveyed planned development homes from Ventura to San Diego. No exterior maintenance and luxurious facilities appealed to them, but they said they could not buy planned development homes with no common walls. "Fernhill offers in its Plan 2 a completely individual, separate home," McFarland said. Plan 2 offers a 3-bedroom, 2-bath home with 1,500 square feet of living area. Features include wall-to-wall nylon carpeting, Gold Medallion kitchen and ceramic tile in kitchens and baths.

* * * *

McFARLAND added, that Plan 1 homes have a common wall in the garage only. These are also individual homes, since they are built only in pairs.

Swimming pool, grounds, landscaping, home exteriors, putting greens, badminton, shuffleboard and tennis courts are all professionally maintained. There is a monthly fee for this service.

Fernhill prices range from $22,400 with 5% down, and 6¼% financing. Fernhill is for adults and families with children 15 or over.

Fernhill is located next to Meadowlark Golf and Country Club. Visitors may take Bolsa Chica Road south from San Diego Freeway to Warner and turn left to Fernhill.

FOR GROWNUPS
All-adult Fernhill in Huntington Beach includes a completely individual home in its planned development offering. A typical living room is shown here. Fernhill's Plan 2 has no common walls with any other residence, yet offers full "no maintenance" living format. Price range is from $22,400.

Trust Investing to Be Discussed

James M. Garrison, Bank of America vice president and head of trust investments for Southern California, will discuss "Modern Trust Investing" with members of the Long Beach Estate Planning Thursday noon at the Petroleum Club.

The program was arranged by Donald E. Smith, trust officer for Bank of America branches in the Long Beach area.

Members of the Trust Council include life underwriters, certified public accountants, trust officers and attorneys.

Investment Meeting Set

Numerous Long Beach area Realtors will attend the Fourth Annual California Real Estate Association Conference on Real Esate Investment at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, May 27-28.

William Walters Jr. of Los Angeles, conference chairman, said the program will include lecturers and workshop sessions on Urban Lot Development, Real Estate Syndication, Leasing, Opportunities in Older Properties and Community Development.

sneak preview admiration-sheer admiration is what you'll feel as you see our painters putting the finishing touches on the model homes at Carriage Place. Sure he may get in your way a little bit as you get first peek at these 3, 4, and 5 bedroom, 1 and 2 story homes, but what's this small inconvenience compared to an opportunity to snatch up a real value before our Grand Opening, especially with a guaranteed trade-in on your old home. So maybe the luxury baths won't be completely finished or the shelves up in the walk-in closets. But you'll get a pretty good idea as you walk through 1200 to 1858 square feet of living space.

If you'd rather come with the crowd wait till our Grand Opening, but if you're the type that likes first "dibs" put on your old clothes and come to our Sneak Preview. And if you can use a color TV bring the coupon shown below with you. Who knows—you might win.

Rainbow Homes Offer Four Plans

NEW MODEL

One of many styles of homes offered at Rainbow Homes in West Anaheim show the attention to detail and convenience that the new development offers homebuyers. Many modern features are included in the purchase price of these Orange County homes.

Rainbow Homes in West Anaheim continue to record rapid sales. The one- and two-story homes have four different floor plans, each with a variety of exterior elevations. There are three, four and five bedrooms, family rooms and two and two and a half baths, with every plan.

Architectural styles are varied by the abundant use of brick and stone. There is wall-to-wall carpeting of 100% continuous filament nylon and redwood fencing enclosing rear and side yards.

Kitchens are all electric with built-in range, oven, dishwasher and ventilating hoods and fans.

* * * *

LIVING ROOMS are equipped with wood-burning fireplaces. Separate family rooms adjacent to the kitchens assure privacy and each floor plan includes separate service and utility rooms.

Baths have ceramic tiled showers. There are 40-gallon water heaters, 70,000 BTU forced air furnaces, weather-stripped doors, used brick planters, sliding glass doors, folding wardrobe doors, television outlets, street lights and utilities installed and paid for.

Located on Ball Road at Highway 39, Rainbow Homes are within short distances of both metropolitan and industrial areas of Orange and Los Angeles Counties as well as the vast recreational facilities of the area.

Open New Rancho Units

Rancho La Paz, new 36-unit, luxury garden-apartment complex at Cerritos and Knott Avenue in Anaheim, is holding its grand opening this week.

Built and developed by Larry McCombs and Harold Rosebrugh, the two and three bedroom studio and single level apartments are reflective of early California design with shake roofs, slump block fireplaces, stucco, board and batten siding and ornate wrought-iron styled fences and lanterns.

The central plaza has a children's play area and a recreation building.

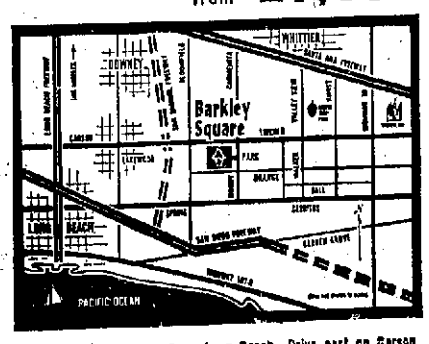

Located with quick access to the beach and metropolitan areas and four freeways, Rancho La Paz, at 1421 S. Knott, Anaheim, is just a block from school and shopping.

'Catnaper' Buys Home at Oceana

To any real estate salesman, the statement "I'll sleep on it" by a customer is in many instances a kiss of death. Such a situation developed at Oceana, an adult resort-retirement community in Oceanside, recently except with a slightly different twist.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey T. Colby of Whittier appeared to be quite interested in a good view location but made no indication to the salesman that they would purchase on their first visit.

Later in the sales office, the salesman was writing up another deal while Colby "catnapped" in the lobby. Ten minutes had elapsed when Colby sleepily walked into the salesman's office, yawned and stated, "I'll take it now that I've slept on it!"

Atrium Homes Are Big Feature at California Home Fair Tract

BEAM CEILING

Award-winning atrium home at California Home Fair features an outstanding floor plan. The living room is free from cross traffic, yet is open to the atrium.

The atrium model home designed by Robert L. Barnett, A.I.A. for California Home Fair in Huntington Beach is an outstanding example of modern home design for modern living.

The effective use of the open air is especially appropriate for Southern California climate. In the Bel-Air model, one of five design original model homes on display, a centrally located open-air atrium enhances the theme of indoor-outdoor living.

There are several advantages to this floor plan, according to Baxter Caterson, sales manager. "It allows families with young children a protected outdoor 'playpen' visible from almost every room. A central atrium can also be used for a variety of family activities and serve as an extra patio for large parties."

* * * *

PRICES range from $29,550 to $35,975 for three, four and five bedroom homes. Many exceptional features included are floor-to-ceiling fireplaces of Palos Verdes stone. Santa Maria stone, Norman brick, slump block stone, concrete block or brick. Cathedral beam ceilings are used extensively in the unusual living-dining and family rooms.

The sales pavilion, decorating studio and model home plaza of the California Home Fair can be reached via Beach Blvd., just four miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. in Huntington Beach.

New Apartment Group to Meet

BELLFLOWER—Next meeting of the recently organized Los Cerritos Valley Apartment Owners Association, Inc., will be at 7:30 p.m. May 18 in the office of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors, 9921 E. Flower.

Areas with members in the association include Downey, Paramount, Pico Rivera, Whittier, Santa Fe Springs, Norwalk, Artesia, Dairy Valley, Hawaiian Gardens, Lakewood and Bellflower.

Membership is now open, with $12 dues for the first year, according to R. D. Boggs, one of the organizers. Interested parties were asked to contact 17117 S. Clark Ave., Bellflower.

DOING IT YOURSELF can be expensive. Better let one of the reliable service firms you find in the Classified section do it. Turn back now.

Family Living in Cypress Units

CYPRESS, Calif.—"Today's homebuyer demands beauty and durability in his home. With this in mind, Barkley Square homes feature materials which invite family living," says Stanley W. Sampson, of Barkley Development Co.

Tiled entry floors will retain their beauty through years of use. Beautifully finished wood, textured floors and easy-to-maintain counters, made coordinating the kitchens a pleasure.

WIDE OPEN SPACES

W-Bar-B Ranch at Walker Basin in Kern County features two-acre sites in the level valley or mountains for "get-away-from-it-all" ranch life pleasures. Rolling hills and tall trees accentuate the wilderness look of the area.

The 50-home prestige community in Cypress, offers one and two story residences that utilize four floor plans and 11 exteriors.

Three to four bedroom homes have two to three baths, large family rooms, raised or sunken living rooms and walk-in wardrobe closets. The fourth bedroom may be used as a guest room, den, playroom or hobby room.

VA, FHA and conventional financing is available at Barkley Square on homes priced from $27,950.

Models may be reached by driving east on Carson (which becomes Lincoln) to Moody, then right to Barkley Square. Or east on Spring (which becomes Cerritos) to Moody, then left to model homes.

Units Ready at Westmont

NEW KITCHENS
Brand new kitchens, a new model, and opening of Unit 22 are part of the activity today at George M. Holstein & Sons Westmont community in Fountain Valley. Site is just east of Highway 39 on Warner Avenue near schools, park and shops. Big Bonus Room is the Westmont feature.

A new model, new plans and a complete selection of exteriors will be part of the opening show at Westmont in Fountain Valley where the latest group of the big "Bonus Room" homes go on sale.

With prices starting at $24,500, the new unit will include front landscaping, sprinklers, block wall, and new kitchen appliances along with the popular, over-the-garage "Bonus Room."

The Bonus Room has proved popular with buyers who need extra space for bedrooms, play area, or giant rumpus room. The new plans call for the second story room in excess of 450 square feet.

* * * *

THE NEW Westmont unit offers buyers a wide range of terms. FHA and Veteran financing are available as are conventional terms that start as low as $595 down.

Shake roof, fireplace, panneling, and big family rooms are all features of Westmont. The site is near new schools and shopping areas.

Visitors take the Garden Grove Freeway to the Highway 39 turnoff, then right (South) on Highway 39 about three miles to Warner Ave., and left about one mile to the Westmont entry.

The Caribe Opened at Newport Beach

Now you can enjoy the atmosphere and beauty of visiting Cannes, Rio, Majorca, and other world-famous beach resorts, just by driving one hour to the new high-rise Caribe apartments, on the bay at Newport Beach.

Each of the 12 model apartments in the 49-unit building has been designed to capture the mood suggested by the title. Decorated by Barnett Bros., of Beverly Hills, the Caribe recently completed a two-week grand opening.

Private boat slips are offered at The Caribe, where two-bedroom and bachelor apartments are available in 12 different floor plans. All kitchens feature built-ins, including dishwasher, and each apartment has a private balcony overlooking the island community.

* * * *

THE CARIBE is owned and operated by Wilsen Construction and Development Corp., builders of more than 50 apartment buildings in Southern California.

Services offered at the Caribe include cleaning and laundry delivery, game room, roof-top sun deck, and swimming pool. Maximum security is assured with full-time doorman, subterranean garage service, and a special elevator that requires a key.

Apartments in this concrete structure are large with bachelors averaging 800 square feet, and two-bedroom accommodations approximately 1,500 square feet.

Furnished or unfurnished apartments are ready for occupancy on a lease basis. The Caribe is open daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Fernando and Bay Avenue on the Newport Beach peninsula.

Renamed to Committee

Nathan H. Benson of the Purdy Co., Long Beach, has been reappointed to the National Affairs Committee of the Institute of Scrap Iron & Steel, according to word from Institute offices at Washington, D. C.

Sneak Preview Set at Carriage Place

STEP AROUND THE WORKMAN
Visitors at sneak preview of Carriage Place, South Bay development, are advised to step around workmen but are welcome at unfinished homes this week.

Carriage Place, new residential development in the South Bay area, is holding a sneak preview this week at Figueroa and Sepulveda, just off the Harbor Freeway. The development will open formally in July.

In explaining the reason for the sneak preview, John Gause, spokesman for the developers, said, "Many people want to get in on the ground floor of a development, reserving the home of their choice before the general public gets involved. They have to step around a few workmen, but this is nothing to those who want to snatch up a value."

* * * *

GAUSE EXPLAINED that the site of Carriage Place, near the intersection of the Harbor and San Diego Freeways, was choosen because of its proximity to so many of Southern California's employment, educational and recreational facilities.

Carriage Place will offer one- and two-story homes with three, four, and five bedrooms and from 1,245 to 1,850 square feet of living space.

Featuies will include: owner's suites with private baths, walk-in closets; separate dining rooms; large living rooms, dens, family rooms; service rooms for sewing, laundry utilities; Balanced Power kitchen with built-in range, oven, dishwasher, and garbage disposer; two-car garages with workshop space.

* * * *

ALSO INCLUDED are, wall-to-wall nylon carpeting, woodburning fireplaces of brick or stone, sliding glass doors to patios, marble-ized pullman sinks and ceramic tile showers in glass enclosures in the baths.

Homes will be priced from $23,950 to $30,000 with 5% down payment and 30 years financing.

NLB Club Plans Forum Thursday

The open forum type of meeting will be featured at the Thursday breakfast session of the North Long Beach Real Estate Club, with the spotlight on real estate salesmen and how they can be better in their field.

Moderator will be Rhuna Emery, salesman with Jerry's Realty.

The place is the Crown Bowl, 1301 Artesia Blvd.; the time is 8 a.m.

Time for ALBUM

How to have a perfect wedding? Take one happy couple with a wedding date in the near future . . . let them browse and shop through the stores in the Long Beach area. With the cooperation of Long Beach area business firms and our bridal couple represented by Nancy Neighbors and Dick Cadieu we have created a picture story of this exciting, unforgettable time

From Buffums' . . . a hint of the romantic Renaissance . . . a gently fitted Empire gown of ivory linen, embellished with rich, deftly cut Venise lace . . . accenting her tiny waist . . . at edge of the elbow length sleeve and finishing off the graceful flow of the floor-length, detachable sweep train. Veil of silk illusion tulle . . . crowned with matching headpiece of linen and Venise lace.

GARDEN PARK—#7B
4-BR., cul de sac, carpets, drapes. Prof

Dick and Nancy are helped in their selection of a diamond engagement ring with matching wedding ring and a groom's ring by Hal J. Lewis, third generation of the Lewis jewelry family. They wisely chose C. C. Lewis, "Long Beach's Oldest Jewelers," for this most important purchase of their lives. This complete jewelry store offers a large selection of diamonds in all of the distinctive modern shapes in a complete range of prices. Budget terms are available, tailored to individual needs. Owned and operated by the same family since 1889, the C. C. Lewis Jewelry Company is located downtown at 333 Pine Avenue with plenty of free parking within one-half block. Phone HE 5-6335.

Marriages may well be "made in heaven" but Nancy and Dick know it takes a lot of down-to-earth planning to arrange a heavenly wedding. One of the most important details is floral decor. That's why they are seeking the advice of Vickie and Ron Hughes, noted florists and bridal consultants. Vickie and Ron know how to achieve the most imaginative, romantic and personal floral effect with the least trouble for the busy bride. Nancy and Dick learned Flowers by Vickie also has facilities to furnish complete floral decor for, not only receptions and weddings, but parties and luaus. Flowers by Vickie is located at 442 East First Street. Estimates are offered without charge by phoning HE 7-7961, or HE 6-0026.

Our lovely bride-to-be consults with Pam Peters of La Feme Hair Stylists, 5325 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. (in the Outrigger Inn), about a becoming hair style to suit her wedding veil and gown. Adding to the highly skilled staff of stylists at La Feme are two expert manicurists. An air of luxury and serenity prevails. There's a continual backdrop of soft music and the furnishings, including antique gold mirrors, are in French decor. Beautiful brides of today or yesteryear are invited to make an appointment—Telephone: 433-4919.

All the beauty and meaning they've dreamed of for the wedding seems wrapped up in this lovely setting. Nancy and Dick envision their exchange of vows as they make arrangements for their marriage ceremony at the enchanting Chimes Chapel. They are fascinated with the old world charm of the chapel, and their minds are at ease knowing that its competent staff, supervised by Wilma Hastings, will efficiently take care of all details. The non-denominational Wilma Hastings Chimes Chapel is located at 430 E. Ocean Blvd., HE 2-4511 or HE 7-4441.

An Accutron "515" by Bolovia is so precise that we guarantee daily accuracy within 2 seconds, . . . crafted in florentine engraved case of 14K white gold. An ideal gift to get the groom "to the church on time". For the bride, Bulova's Candlelight "D" is a sparkling 7-diamond, 23 jewel creation in 14K gold case. A gift that marks the memorable hours of a perfect marriage. Bulova diamond watches from 65.00—Accutrons from 125.00. Just arrived—Ladies' Accutrons. Calif. Time Service—2194 Lakewood Blvd. 438-9951, 1423 N. Main, Santa Ana, 547-0618.

After seeing the Curl Ray Color Portrait of Nancy in her wedding gown showing all her radiant loveliness, Nancy and Dick agreed to have Curl Ray Color Candids tell the story of their wedding in an appropriate informal way as no other medium can. After the wedding and in the years to come, they can re-live every exciting moment of this important day . . . all the sweetness and fleeting sadness, the laughter and tears, the glances and smiles that mean so much . . . as captured in color by Curl Ray. This thrilling record of precious memories will be shared and treasured always. The Curl Ray Studio specializes in Wedding Photography and is located at 622 East 7th Street, Long Beach. Phone HEmlock 7-4009 for appointment.

Genial host, Irving Solomon, of world famous Hoefly's Restaurant, 4911 East Second Street in Belmont Shore, shows Nancy and Dick the outstanding entrees available for their planned reception, as well-known waiter, Roy Ghere, prepares to serve a vintage wine to the happy couple. The father of the bride selected Hoefly's "Waterfall Room" for the reception . . . remembering his own wedding reception at Hoefly's, some thirty years ago. Wedding receptions, banquets and fine dining have been the stock and trade of Hoefly's for over thirty-six years. For your reservation, call GE 8-4965.

Registering her gift preferences with Buffums' Bridal Gift Registry was a wonderful convenience for Nancy, her family and her friends. Her china, silver and crystal patterns, small appliances, housewares and even the linens and bedding she prefers remain on file in Buffums' Bridal Gift Registry as a guide in selecting gifts and as a tasteful way to avoid duplications or unsuitable gifts.

1964 V.W. MICROBUS. New

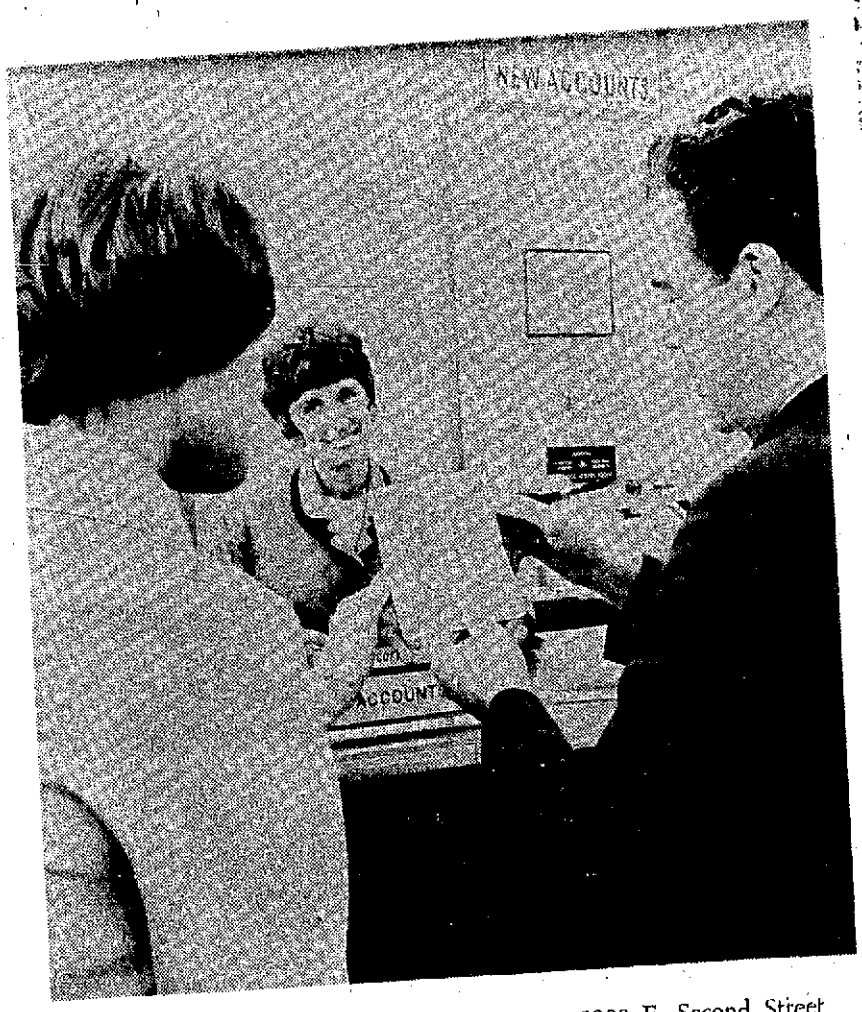

Choosing from an "Acre of Furniture" is fun, especially when guidance is offered by experienced and courteous personnel trained in colors and style combinations—whether it be French or Italian Provincial, traditional or contemporary. Leo Shultz Furniture Co., 700 Long Beach Blvd., has a tremendous selection of popular priced merchandise by America's largest and finest furniture manufacturers. Young couples like Nancy and Dick can buy at Leo Shultz on easy credit terms with up to three years to pay; just as their parents and grandparents have done since 1918. Here, with the advice of Leo Shultz, they are selecting their living room set from an exciting collection that displays the inherent characteristics of today's style minded buyers. Their choice, from the Downtown Leo Shultz Furniture Co., is this French Provincial deep tufted grouping in a vast array of exquisite fabrics . . . such as; blocked linen prints, matelasses, cut pile jacquard velvets and brocatelles.

Dick wants an exclusive Desmond's Townway®-tailored Tropeze® suit. It's his favorite tropical . . . and Southern California's standard of fashion and value. He likes the lighterweight modern fiber blends . . . their cool comfort, amazing wrinkle resistance, lasting freshness and good looks. Dick is wearing a smart Natural Shoulder Tropeze® Sunaire® suit at 57.50. He's already bought a 2-button Tropeze® tailored with the new baby notch lapel at 67.50, and is considering an Imperial Tropeze® in a luxury blend of Dacron Polyester and Wool Mohair at 72.95. Next stop for Dick is Desmond's Woman's Shop, where Nancy is trousseau shopping. All fashions available at Desmond's-Long Beach, Broadway at Locust, and Desmond's-Lakewood, 4821 Del Amo Boulevard.

At Dick Browning Oldsmobile, 1227 Long Beach Blvd., Jimmy Thompson delivers Dick and Nancy a sparkling new Olds Cutlass 442 convertible from the Oldsmobile family of fine automobiles. They will pamper their newlywed's budget with the long look of luxury, and the economy and prestige of Oldsmobile. Dick and Nancy selected the F-85 convertible from one of 37 different body styles and models as low as $2283 (plus tax and license). Dick Browning Oldsmobile also offers an attractive leasing plan as well as a new car rental plan for honeymooning and other special occasions.

Nancy and Dick visited Belmont Savings at 5200 E. Second Street where Joyce Coffee helped them open a joint savings account. Being a very wise young couple, Dick and Nancy realize if they are to attain their savings goals, they must save first and spend what is left rather than save what is left after spending. They learned that Belmont pays interest at the highest prevailing rate compounded daily. Wherever they live in the Long Beach-Los Angeles area, there will be an office of Belmont Savings and Loan Association convenient to them.

'63 CHEV. Impala Super Sport, V-8, radio, heater, automatic trans., power steering & brakes, w-s-w. Beautiful light grey finish with matching original blue interior. This car

Which one—or both? Now, for the first time you may enjoy matching cabinets for organs and pianos by Hammond. Bob (Mr. Piano) Pierce, explains to Nancy and Dick that Hammond Organs are the only organs in the world that never need tuning. The tremendous versatility, well known in churches and entertainment centers is just as apparent in a home, too. Marriage and music go together at Hammond Organ Studio and Mr. Piano Salon, 2188 Lakewood Blvd. GE 9-0918.

What bride wouldn't love to have Repertoire by Drexel transform her dining room into a decorating triumph. Nancy and Dick are both impressed with the artistry and craftsmanship of this exciting new collection at Davis Furniture, 1975 Long Beach Blvd., 591-1347. Hilmer Johnson, Davis manager, tells the young couple how a special finish was developed for Repertoire, a finish that's light and luxurious with woods that are cherry veneers, solid mahogany and Carpathian elm burl. Accents of cane and decorative Neostone tops that are impervious to stains are but a few of the collection's features. Repertoire by Drexel is elegant and Davis has it.

Nancy and Dick take time out to relax while Dick McCarty, their customer-service man at Acme Mattress, tells them about the points of quality to look for in a sleeping ensemble. Mr. McCarty stressed the custom features (tailored to personal preference) that could be "built-in" at nominal cost for the young couple because they are dealing on location at the factory. They were delighted with the tremendous versatility of Acme luxury and impressed even more with the fabulous selection, from budget priced to the industries finest. All told, Nancy and Dick had fun "sleep shopping" and left with the knowledge that every Acme "sleep set" is custom-manufactured right on the premises at 3425 E. Anaheim St. in Long Beach. Phone 438-9451. They also have showrooms at 411 W. 5th Street in Santa Ana. KI 3-6716 and at 17412 Bellflower Blvd. in Bellflower, Phone 925-5955.

Joe Kenny of Lakewood Home Appliances tells Dick that the new 40-inch Custom Imperial FLAIR electric Range by Frigidaire will allow him to have more time with his bride. "She won't be a slave to the clock. Put the food in the oven and leave it. The NEW single-set Meal Minder automatic oven control turns on and off — and cooks her meals to perfection." Nancy is obviously thrilled with the dramatic built-in beauty of the Flair, which doesn't require the muss and fuss of tearing out a wall. The Flair's new, exclusive Tender-matic roasting tenderizes your roast regardless of the price you paid for it. The economy-minded newlyweds can have chuck roast that will carve like the tenderest, expensive roast beef. "Kenny", whose policy of lowest prices and guaranteed satisfaction, has been located for over 15 years at 17127 Lakewood Blvd., Bellflower, TO 6-3766 or ME 3-6967.

MEET GEORGE JAMES
Used Car Manager
Mel Burns, Ford
2055 Long Beach Blvd., L.B.
Dial 591-3315
Open 9 to 9 Daily; Sun. 9 to 6

George is a 20-year man with FORD dealers, the last 11 years being with MEL BURNS FORD. He is a L. B. Shriner, and a father of two boys. George says, "We are particularly proud of our A-1 Warranty . . . a 2-year written warranty . . . FORD Sponsored; on over 100 A-1 cars, '59 to '65 11-owners!). This means 'CHOICE SELECTION' only." MEL BURNS FORD, established in 1947, is now a 5-acre location in the heart of L. B. auto row, offering genuine FORD parts and service, NEW FORDS, used cars (late model T-BIRDS, 25 to choose from!); an acre of trucks right on the corner; and a complete facility for CAR LEASING and CAR RENTAL by the day.

Assisting in planning perfect wedding receptions since 1934 is Myrtle Seiler of the Wine Mess. The young couple can depend on advice concerning etiquette, serving and vintages. The father of the bride will appreciate having the choice from the finest champagnes in the world, domestic or imported. They also discovered some of the most unusual party delicacies and supplies, a Wine Mess specialty. The problem of finding a punch bowl and stemware is easily solved since these are available at the Wine Mess, HEmlock 6-8901, 1770 East Broadway.

Thomasville's nationally advertised "Country Classic" has caught the fancy of Nancy and Dick as they select their bedroom furniture at Aaron Schultz Furniture, 4321 Atlantic Avenue, GA 7-5431. Byron Loveall, decorator-consultant, explains to the young couple that the pieces they are admiring are only a few of the 120 open stock pieces in the collection. Country Classic includes living room, dining room, and occasional pieces as well as bedroom. The collection has been designed with our changing world in mind, they can switch rooms, even homes, and always look right. Made from warm native woods . . . pecan solids with veneers in a cherry-butternut-pine combination with a winey Antique Spice finish, Country Classic has that relaxed manor-house look of beauty.

Dick and Nancy are getting the latest information on Singer products and services at the Singer Sewing Center. The center's tremendous selection of fine fabrics and complete line of notions make sewing one's wardrobe a simple matter. The young couple are being shown the wonderful features of the new Touch and Sew, brilliant zig-zag sewing machine by Singer. Payments are only $2.90 per week following a small down payment. Nancy will never know how creative she can be until she has a chance to sew on the new Touch and Sew, the sewing machine that makes sewing a breeze. It's beautifully simple for a beginner to operate and a joy for the expert to use. At Singer Sewing Centers, 640 Pine Ave., downtown. 4488 Atlantic Ave., Bixby Knolls. 5531 Stearns., Los Altos; 17424 Bellflower Blvd., Bellflower; 268 E. Compton; and 719 Pacific Ave., San Pedro.

For the modern bride there's no such thing as wash-day blues. Here, Wade Brown, manager of Butler's Appliance Dept., 5252 Lakewood Blvd., Lakewood Center shows Nancy and Dick Maytag's Custom De-Luxe all-fabric Washer & Dryer. (This is a completely programmed laundry pair . . . push the fabric selection button and all cycles are programmed automatically.) During Butler's Maytag Week, all Maytag Washers and Dryers will be offered to all Spring Brides at special low prices plus additional savings via valuable S&H Green Stamps. Maytag Washers start as low as 218.50, model #A103. Maytag Dryer prices start start as low as $158.50, model #DE102. All fine Maytag products can be purchased with no down payment and convenient credit terms tailored to individual needs. Come in or call Butler's for your best Maytag 5252 Lakewood Blvd. ME 3-8107. BERT'S EYE VIEW

Don Grady Knew 'Something Missing' in His Life

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

THERE WAS SOMETHING missing in the life of Don Grady.

It seemed like a full life.

At 20, Don was a five-season regular member, "Robbie," of ABC-TV's "My Three Sons."

He had written several scripts for the series, in addition to acting in it.

He had composed music for the series.

Don and a partner, Gary Abrams, a lyricist, owned a musical publishing house.

Don also had a singing contract with Capitol Records.

And it wasn't just a life of business.

He had 12 trophies for go-cart racing. He had soloed in a plane and made a cross-country flight.

He loved motorcycle riding.

HE HAD A FINE family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Grady, and two lovely sisters, Marilou, 16, and Lani, 10.

He had a steady girlfriend, although there were no marriage plans in the immediate future.

Academically, he had been on the honor role and still attended Los Angeles City College at night, majoring in world religions.

It was the study of world religions that found for Don the "something" he was missing in his life.

"I'm finding a faith that, to me, ascends the limitations of doctrine and dogma," he said.

"I believe that's what Jesus' basic message was."

It was not his first intense religious experience.

For about two years, between the time he was 15 and 17 years old, Don was an active participant with a non-denominational group called "Young Life."

It is a group that "teaches the word of Christ."

WHILE ACTIVE in it, Don felt a closeness, and a comradeship that he had never felt before.

"When I was in 'Young Life,' I was intensely aware of the Christian world," he said.

"When I entered college, I became aware there were other religious groups just as intense."

It was an awareness that was fascinating for him. It was an awareness that made him feel almost compelled to learn the facts of all religions that are preached.

It was an awareness that brought him his personal interpretation of Jesus' basic message.

"I BELIEVE," said Don, "that in this whole sphere, there is a faith that pulls us all together—the God head."

It is a belief that, for Don, right now is the biggest thing that has happened to him.

"When you find a faith in yourself," he said, "that's a pretty big thing.

"But when you find a faith and belief in something greater than you, then you have a purpose in life."

It is a purpose that gives everything meaning, why you love others, why you want to be a musician.

"Before, all was 'written' to me. Now, it actually means something.

"I have another step to go. I must incorporate it in myself."

Sound vague?

"Let me explain," said Don.

"In Europe, there was a time when many marriages were arranged on paper. Not all of these paper-arranged marriages were happy.

"But there were many that were. The husband and wife learned to love each other.

"You see, what was on paper was incorporated."

What is in Don Grady's heart is more than anything on paper.

Faith pulls us all together.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Don Grady Knew 'Something Missing' in His Life

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

THERE WAS SOMETHING missing in the life of Don Grady.

It seemed like a full life.

At 20, Don was a five-season regular member, "Robbie," of ABC-TV's "My Three Sons."

He had written several scripts for the series, in addition to acting in it.

He had composed music for the series.

Don and a partner, Gary Abrams, a lyricist, owned a musical publishing house.

Don also had a singing contract with Capitol Records.

And it wasn't just a life of business.

He had 12 trophies for go-cart racing. He had soloed in a plane and made a cross-country flight.

He loved motorcycle riding.

HE HAD A FINE family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Grady, and two lovely sisters, Marilou, 16, and Lani, 10.

He had a steady girlfriend, although there were no marriage plans in the immediate future.

Academically, he had been on the honor role and still attended Los Angeles City College at night, majoring in world religions.

It was the study of world religions that found for Don the "something" he was missing in his life.

"I'm finding a faith that, to me, ascends the limitations of doctrine and dogma," he said.

"I believe that's what Jesus' basic message was."

It was not his first intense religious experience.

For about two years, between the time he was 15 and 17 years old, Don was an active participant with a non-denominational group called "Young Life."

It is a group that "teaches the word of Christ."

WHILE ACTIVE in it, Don felt a closeness, and a comradeship that he had never felt before.

"When I was in 'Young Life,' I was intensely aware of the Christian world," he said.

"When I entered college, I became aware there were other religious groups just as intense."

It was an awareness that was fascinating for him. It was an awareness that made him feel almost compelled to learn the facts of all religions that are preached.

It was an awareness that brought him his personal interpretation of Jesus' basic message.

"I BELIEVE," said Don, "that in this whole sphere, there is a faith that pulls us all together—the God head."

It is a belief that, for Don, right now is the biggest thing that has happened to him.

"When you find a faith in yourself," he said, "that's a pretty big thing.

"But when you find a faith and belief in something greater than you, then you have a purpose in life."

It is a purpose that gives everything meaning, why you love others, why you want to be a musician.

"Before, all was 'written' to me. Now, it actually means something.

"I have another step to go. I must incorporate it in myself."

Sound vague?

"Let me explain," said Don.

"In Europe, there was a time when many marriages were arranged on paper. Not all of these paper-arranged marriages were happy.

"But there were many that were. The husband and wife learned to love each other.

"You see, what was on paper was incorporated."

What is in Don Grady's heart is more than anything on paper.

Faith pulls us all together.

DON GRADY, 'ROBBIE' OF 'MY THREE SONS'

'My Mother, the Car?'— Yes, It's—Beep—True

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Perhaps you have heard, one way or another, that NBC-TV is currently planning to present next season a weekly half-hour comedy series entitled "My Mother, the Car." Well, first of all, what you have heard is true.

Perhaps, also, pondering on your information, you have suddenly jumped up in the middle of the night and wondered, in a cold sweat, "Pray tell, what could such a title refer to? —what does it all mean?" Well, I am here today to tell you that the series concerns a young man whose deceased mother suddenly returns to him in the form of a voice that emanates from the radio of a 1928 car that he buys.

JERRY VAN DYKE

Jerry Van Dyke is the son and Ann Sothern the voice, but since our purpose here is not to give them publicity but to explore their vehicle, let us consider a fact that such a series makes supremely clear:

The gentler comedy programs of earlier television years are vanishing quickly, and those that remain might well have been rejected if they were trying to make their debuts in today's market, which is characterized by hit-'em-on—the-head, way-out, witless, joyless, gimmicky shows.

"Father Knows Best" probably would have died trying to break into today's market, and I have strong doubts that even such talents as Danny Thomas and Dick Van Dyke would have survived if, by chance, they had brought their series to the networks as brand new entries this season. One gentleman associated with "Bachelor Father" even went so far as to admit his series probably wouldn't make it nowadays.

THE CREATOR of "My Mother, the Car" is a gentleman named Rod Amateau, and one is tempted to imagine how the series was discussed and decided on favorably after he sold the idea to someone at NBC-TV. Let us suppose, therefore, that we are in an upper echelon office at the network, where three executives are thrashing out the matter:

First Executive: Fellas, we need a comedy hit desperately, and I spoke to a guy who's got the goods. First of all, what do Americans love most?

ANN SOTHERN . . . Voice of a Car

Second Executive: Their mothers.

First Executive: Right. And what do they love almost as much?

Third Executive: Their cars.

First Executive. Right. Now, what is the most ridiculous idea that you can think of combining these elements?

Second Executive: Obviously—a mother who is a car.

Third Executive: I'm worried. There's a cultural renaissance.

First Executive: That's what you said a few years ago when CBS came up with "The Bevelry Hillbillies." I remembers your exact words: "So a few hillbillies find oil in the back yard. So what!"

Third Executive: Yeah—and that's what you said when ABC came up with "Bewitched" this season. You said: "So a housewife is a witch. It'll never sell. We're in a cultural renaissance."

First Executive: Well, gentlemen, I guess we're all sold, then, on "My Mother, the Car." I have to leave now. I have tickets to see our new neighborhood repertory theatre tonight."

Franciscus Guests

James Franciscus, title star of the "Mr. Novak" series, has been signed for a dramatic appearance on "The Bob Hope Theater" next fall.

Franciscus, whose series role was that of a teacher, will play a convict who serves as an underground agent for the U.S. during World War II.

"Mr. Novak" has not been renewed for the fall season.

FORMER LONG BEACH resident Bob Denver and his wife, Maggie, appear on "I'll Bet" starting Tuesday at 11:30 a. m. in COLOR on channel 4. Bob stars in the "Gilligan's Island" series on Saturday nights.

'UNCLE FESTER' REPLACES 'THE KID'

JACKIE COOGAN, a child movie star 35 years ago, now has the role of Uncle Fester in ABC-TV's "The Addams Family."

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In the cab of the ungainly pickup truck a paunchy, bald actor tapped the dashboard where a metal disc was fashioned near the speedometer.

About the size of a silver dollar, the emblem read: "Jackie Coogan Special." In its center was an enameled picture of Coogan as "The Kid."

The fat guy at the wheel of the truck sighed: "Those emblems used to be on millions of little red wagons. They were a rage 35, 40 years ago. I guess the one on the truck here is the last of them all. When I sell this truck, I'll keep the emblem—for old time's sake."

You guessed it, of course. The pot-bellied driver was indeed Jackie Coogan, who made millions as a child star and saw it all slip through his fingers.

But as he says: "I have no regrets. I manage to live the way I want to, and I've never had to worry about finding jobs."

IN THE BACK of the truck a motorcycle was tied. Cycling is Coogan's hobby, and in some respects a menace to California freeways.

When he wants a few laughs, Coogan leaves General Service Studios in the wardrobe and makeup of Uncle Fester, the weirdie he plays in the way-out "Addams Family" television series.

Motorists all but climb the fences of the freeways when Uncle Fester zips by, his bald noggin reflecting the sun.

To the country's eldest generation, Coogan's name bestirs memories of "The Kid." But the youngsters adore him as Uncle Fester, a kook to end all kooks.

"Fester has a lot going for him," Coogan said, "He's 120 volt AC and DC, and he's great with dynamite. His only trouble is that he's one of the great losers of our time. He would make a great spy, but he kinda stands out in a crowd."

THE ERSTWHILE KID has all but been forgotten in the craze for Fester, which suits Coogan.

"Fester appeals to youngsters because he thinks like they do," he explained. "Every time he suggests 'Let's shoot 'em in the back,' the kids share his straightforward approach to the situation.

"Fester never talked in the Addams Family cartoons. So I raised my voice an octave and I gave him a beetling look. He's my kind of people.

"He's an irascible old goat, and I can't honestly say why everyone loves him."

Coogan turned the pickup truck into a restaurant lot where the parking boys eyed both vehicle and its driver suspiciously. The rotund actor grinned: "Imagine, all these years and all the big money I made, and here I am driving around in a truck."

Coogan will capitalize on his new-found popularity this summer by touring rodeos, fairs and amusement parks in a comedy act with the lumbering giant who plays Lurch on the ABC-TV show, Ted Cassidy.

"There's a lot of money to be made on a tour like that," said Coogan. "It enables me to work profitably on the show."

Televise Pro Tennis Today

A two-hour telecast featuring top professional tennis players participating in a benefit match will be telecast by channel 11 at 8 p.m. today (Sunday).

Sponsored by the Spastic Children's League, the doubles and singles matches will be conducted at Jack Kramer's new club in Rolling Hills Estates. One of the beneficiaries will be the United Cerebral Palsy Pre-School Nursery in Long Beach.

The participants, all members of the International Professional Tennis Players Assn., will include Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver, Earl Buchholz, Alex Olmedo, Pancho Segura, Malcolm Anderson, Andres Gimeno, Luis Ayala and Mike Davis.

Only Fire-Lock Offers 30-Day Money Back Test on Smoke-Detector Alarm!

Start a Smoke Detection Alarm System in your home for as little as $72.00

Experts Like Smoke Detectors

The greatest endorsement for Smoke Detection systems come from the experts . . . fire detection engineers and testing laboratories, fire marshals and fire department chiefs. They know from experience that the early warning features of smoke detectors provide the precious extra minutes that can save lives and prevent serious or total property loss.

Quick Alarm-Loud Alarm

The Fire-Lock Smoke Detector does not wait for fire to give the alarm . . . smoke will cause it to set off its self-contained alarm horn. It requires no special wiring, no installation cost. It is portable, can be moved from room to room, from home to home. Can be carried with you when you travel to a vacation home.

A Fire-Lock Smoke Detector System for your home can be started for as little as $72.00. You can expand with extra units whenever you choose, and as you can afford to add them. Never an extra installation charge.

30 Day Money Back Trial Offer

This is a bonafide trial offer, with no strings attached. You can make daily tests for the 30 day period. If you are not satisfied that you have bought a dependable smoke-detecting device your money will be refunded without question.

Fire-Lock is the only company in the country that makes this remarkable test offer. Why? Because it has given this smoke-detector exhausting tests . . . it stands up as a fine product should and must.

Fire Alarm Specialists

Fire-Lock is a long established, reputable, responsible Long Beach Company. It specializes in designing and installing fire alarm systems. Among its customers are: Disneyland, Tower Bldg., Long Beach, U.S. Government, Municipalities, Hospitals, Churches and Schools.

Ask Your Local Fire Department

. . . or check your local Better Business Bureau about Fire-Lock. Then call or send the coupon to arrange for a demonstration of the Fire-Lock Smoke Detector in your home. There is no obligation on your part. There is no high pressure selling or fancy-worded contracts. Our sales engineer will survey your home fire-warning needs, make an honest recommendation, sell only what you are prepared to handle, help you finance if desired.

Sports Today

NEW ORLEANS Open Golf Tournament, 1:30 p.m., ch. 9, has the final round of the $100,000 tourney from Lakewood Country Club in the Louisiana City, Mason Rudolph defending champion.

PRO TENNIS Championships, 8 p.m., ch. 11, has Bill Welsh with tapes of this afternoon's doubles and singles matches at Jack Kramer's new club in Rolling Hills. Taking part are Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver, Earl Buchholz, Alex Olmeda, Pancho Segura, Malcolm Anderson, Andres Gimeno, Luis Ayala and Mike Davis, with proceeds benefiting the Spastic Children's League, which supports the United Cerebral Palsy pre-school nursery in Long Beach.

SPECIAL

TORRANCE PARADE—Tapes of Saturday's Armed Forces Day parade at Torrance will be narrated by Bill Welsh during the hour at 8 a.m., ch. 11. Highlight is the famed U.S. Army Fife & Drum Corp, dressed in costumes of 1776, joining 84 other military units in 6th annual parade.

LA MIRADA PARADE—Jack Smith and Al Busch describe the parade marking the city's fifth anniversary, at 10 a.m., ch. 5. Wendell Corey is grand marshal, with Debbie Watson the official hostess as 14 floats join the bands, marching units and decorated cars.

NBC NEWS SPECIAL—A study of the personalities and political attitudes of the two new USSR leaders, the extroverted Leonid I. Brezhnev and the more taciturn Aleksey N. Kosygin, is anchored by Moscow correspondent and Frank Bourgholtzer at 5 p.m., ch. 4. Elie Abel from Washington, describes U.S. governmental views of the pair, and films examine their background and records.

NBC CHILDREN'S THEATRE—Ed Begley is narrator for the season's fourth and final color hour, at 6:30 p.m., ch. 4, as residents of four hamlets in New York's rural Taconic Valley, and an equally non-professional 18-year-old chestnut riding horse, turn into actors for a story based on Emma Brock's "Here Comes Kristie," dealing with two children who save to buy a horse of their own, and learn about patience in caring for the stubborn annimal.

CRISIS AT CAL—The reasons behind the Free Speech Movement at Berkeley are probed in a study of the riots, sit-ins and filthy speech demonstrations to be seen at 8 p.m., ch. 5. Taking part are Justin Roberts, editor of "The Daily Californian," FSM leaders Warren Coats and Morris Hurley, who withdrew from the movement when off-campus groups moved in, plus student Mark Van Loucks, Dr. Max Rafferty, Assemblyman Don Mulford and State Sen. Jack Schrade.

TWILIGHT ZONE—Repeat premiere. James Whitmore, James Broderick and Tim O'Connor star in a tale of space travelers from earth, trapped for half a century in a lost colony on an arid planet, who face a major crisis when a rescue ship arrives to take them home. Host Rod Serling wrote and produced the drama, first of the hour-long rebroadcasts to fill in for the defunct "For the People" until the fall debut of "Perry Mason" in the 9 p.m., ch. 2 slot.

'UNCLE FESTER' REPLACES 'THE KID'

JACKIE COOGAN, a child movie star 35 years ago, now has the role of Uncle Fester in ABC-TV's "The Addams Family."

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In the cab of the ungainly pickup truck a paunchy, bald actor tapped the dashboard where a metal disc was fashioned near the speedometer.

About the size of a silver dollar, the emblem read: "Jackie Coogan Special." In its center was an enameled picture of Coogan as "The Kid."

The fat guy at the wheel of the truck sighed: "Those emblems used to be on millions of little red wagons. They were a rage 35, 40 years ago. I guess the one on the truck here is the last of them all. When I sell this truck, I'll keep the emblem—for old time's sake."

You guessed it, of course. The pot-bellied driver was indeed Jackie Coogan, who made millions as a child star and saw it all slip through his fingers.

But as he says: "I have no regrets. I manage to live the way I want to, and I've never had to worry about finding jobs."

IN THE BACK of the truck a motorcycle was tied. Cycling is Coogan's hobby, and in some respects a menace to California freeways.

When he wants a few laughs, Coogan leaves General Service Studios in the wardrobe and makeup of Uncle Fester, the weirdie he plays in the way-out "Addams Family" television series.

Motorists all but climb the fences of the freeways when Uncle Fester zips by, his bald noggin reflecting the sun.

To the country's eldest generation, Coogan's name bestirs memories of "The Kid." But the youngsters adore him as Uncle Fester, a kook to end all kooks.

"Fester has a lot going for him," Coogan said, "He's 120 volt AC and DC, and he's great with dynamite. His only trouble is that he's one of the great losers of our time. He would make a great spy, but he kinda stands out in a crowd."

THE ERSTWHILE KID has all but been forgotten in the craze for Fester, which suits Coogan.

"Fester appeals to youngsters because he thinks like they do," he explained. "Every time he suggests 'Let's shoot 'em in the back,' the kids share his straightforward approach to the situation.

"Fester never talked in the Addams Family cartoons. So I raised my voice an octave and I gave him a beetling look. He's my kind of people.

"He's an irascible old goat, and I can't honestly say why everyone loves him."

Coogan turned the pickup truck into a restaurant lot where the parking boys eyed both vehicle and its driver suspiciously. The rotund actor grinned: "Imagine, all these years and all the big money I made, and here I am driving around in a truck."

Coogan will capitalize on his new-found popularity this summer by touring rodeos, fairs and amusement parks in a comedy act with the lumbering giant who plays Lurch on the ABC-TV show, Ted Cassidy.

"There's a lot of money to be made on a tour like that," said Coogan. "It enables me to work profitably on the show."

Televise Pro Tennis Today

A two-hour telecast featuring top professional tennis players participating in a benefit match will be telecast by channel 11 at 8 p.m. today (Sunday).

Sponsored by the Spastic Children's League, the doubles and singles matches will be conducted at Jack Kramer's new club in Rolling Hills Estates. One of the beneficiaries will be the United Cerebral Palsy Pre-School Nursery in Long Beach.

The participants, all members of the International Professional Tennis Players Assn., will include Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver, Earl Buchholz, Alex Olmedo, Pancho Segura, Malcolm Anderson, Andres Gimeno, Luis Ayala and Mike Davis.

Only Fire-Lock Offers 30-Day Money Back Test on Smoke-Detector Alarm!

Start a Smoke Detection Alarm System in your home for as little as $72.00

Experts Like Smoke Detectors

The greatest endorsement for Smoke Detection systems come from the experts . . . fire detection engineers and testing laboratories, fire marshals and fire department chiefs. They know from experience that the early warning features of smoke detectors provide the precious extra minutes that can save lives and prevent serious or total property loss.

Quick Alarm-Loud Alarm

The Fire-Lock Smoke Detector does not wait for fire to give the alarm . . . smoke will cause it to set off its self-contained alarm horn. It requires no special wiring, no installation cost. It is portable, can be moved from room to room, from home to home. Can be carried with you when you travel to a vacation home.

A Fire-Lock Smoke Detector System for your home can be started for as little as $72.00. You can expand with extra units whenever you choose, and as you can afford to add them. Never an extra installation charge.

30 Day Money Back Trial Offer

This is a bonafide trial offer, with no strings attached. You can make daily tests for the 30 day period. If you are not satisfied that you have bought a dependable smoke-detecting device your money will be refunded without question.

Fire-Lock is the only company in the country that makes this remarkable test offer. Why? Because it has given this smoke-detector exhausting tests . . . it stands up as a fine product should and must.

Fire Alarm Specialists

Fire-Lock is a long established, reputable, responsible Long Beach Company. It specializes in designing and installing fire alarm systems. Among its customers are Disneyland, Tower Bldg., Long Beach, U.S. Government, Municipalities, Hospitals, Churches and Schools.

Ask Your Local Fire Department

. . . or check your local Better Business Bureau about Fire-Lock. Then call or send the coupon to arrange for a demonstration of the Fire-Lock Smoke Detector in your home. There is no obligation on your part. There is no high pressure selling or fancy-worded contracts. Our sales engineer will survey your home fire-warning needs, make an honest recommendation, sell only what you are prepared to handle, help you finance if desired.

SPECIAL

NEW LOOK at Olde England—Early Bird carries its first transatlantic colorcast at 7:30 p.m., ch. 4, as Sander Vanocur, in London, looks at the changing scene in terms of architecture, fashions, drama and social life. Londoners representing the new and pre-war city are interviewed from Shepherd's Market, one of London's oldest and most colorful streets. Buckingham Palace gates were opened to let the RCA color mobile unit tape the palace grounds and changing of the guard.

A FAMILY Builds a Mountain — A tour through the Calico Mountain Mine at the famed Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town is repeated at 7:30 p.m., ch. 11, as mining techniques of the early west are re-created.

JAM SESSION—Bill Dana, dropped by NBC and recently signed to develop new comedy program formats for CBS, hosts an hour-long musical special at 8 p.m., ch. 13. Taking part are Terry Gibbs, the Paris Sisters, The Youngfolk, Emmaline Henry, David Allen and the Tommy Gumina Quartet with Victor Feldman.

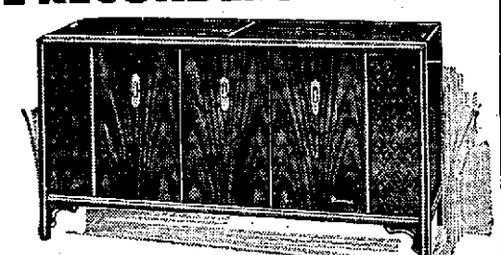

CRISIS IN THE FIELDS—Paul Udell takes an hour-long look at California's multi-billion dollar agricultural industry, and the impact of the lack of braceros, in a 10 p.m., ch. 2 special preempting the network's repeat CBS Report of "Abortion and the Law." Visiting domestic farm labor camps and ranches in the state's middle valleys, he interviews hired and rejected workers, Stockton and Salinas farmers, groups of ministers working in the farms and a group of workers who quit their jobs because of alleged intolerable camp conditions. Sec. of Labor Willard Wirtz and Gov. Edmund G. Brown offer their opposing views on the need for braceros. (A "national drivers' test" in this hour next week permits home viewers to check their own driving ability.)

SPECIAL

TORRANCE PARADE—Tapes of Saturday's Armed Forces Day parade at Torrance will be narrated by Bill Welsh during the hour at 8 a.m., ch. 11. Highlight is the famed U.S. Army Fife & Drum Corp, dressed in costumes of 1776, joining 84 other military units in 6th annual parade.

LA MIRADA PARADE—Jack Smith and Al Busch describe the parade marking the city's fifth anniversary, at 10 a.m., ch. 5. Wendell Corey is grand marshal, with Debbie Watson the official hostess as 14 floats join the bands, marching units and decorated cars.

NBC NEWS SPECIAL—A study of the personalities and political attitudes of the two new USSR leaders, the extroverted Leonid I. Brezhnev and the more taciturn Aleksey N. Kosygin, is anchored by Moscow correspondent and Frank Bourgholtzer at 5 p.m., ch. 4. Elie Abel, from Washington, describes U.S. governmental views of the pair, and films examine their background and records.

NBC CHILDREN'S THEATRE—Ed Begley is narrator for the season's fourth and final color hour, at 6:30 p.m., ch. 4, as residents of four hamlets in New York's rural Taconic Valley, and an equally non-professional 18-year-old chestnut riding horse, turn into actors for a story based on Emma Brock's "Here Comes Kristie," dealing with two children who save to buy a horse of their own, and learn about patience in caring for the stubborn animal.

CRISIS AT CAL—The reasons behind the Free Speech Movement at Berkeley are probed in a study of the riots, sit-ins and filthy speech demonstrations to be seen at 8 p.m., ch. 5. Taking part are Justin Roberts, editor of "The Daily Californian," FSM leaders Warren Coats and Morris Hurley, who withdrew from the movement when off-campus groups moved in, plus student Mark Van Loucks, Dr. Max Rafferty, Assemblyman Don Mulford and State Sen. Jack Schrade.

TWILIGHT ZONE—Repeat premiere. James Whitmore, James Broderick and Tim O'Connor star in a tale of space travelers from earth, trapped for half a century in a lost colony on an arid planet, who face a major crisis when a rescue ship arrives to take them home. Host Rod Serling wrote and produced the drama, first of the hour-long rebroadcasts to fill in for the defunct "For the People" until the fall debut of "Perry Mason" in the 9 p.m., ch. 2 slot.

WEEK'S TOP SHOWS

Sunday—"NBC Children's Theater" at 6:30 p.m. in COLOR on channel 4 presents actor Ed Begley narrating the story of "Kristie." It's about two children who plan to earn money to buy a horse.

* * * *

Monday—"Crisis in the Fields" at 10 p.m. on channel 2 is an hour program examining California's agricultural industry. Paul Udell talks to growers and farm workers about the bracero problem and the harvesting of the crops.

* * * *

Tuesday—"Best on Record" at 8:30 p.m. on channel 4 is the recording industry's 1964 Grammy Awards. Participants include Sammy Davis Jr., Frank Sinatra, Louis Armstrong, Petula Clark, Louis Armstrong, Bill Cosby, Henry Mancini, Peter Sellers and the Beatles.

* * * *

SPECIAL

RED SKELTON—The classic "concert in pantomime" with Skelton and the great French mime Marcel Marceau, hosted by Maurice Chevalier, is repeated at 8:30 p.m., ch. 2. The two artists each perform four of their own classics, then join for a wordless interpretation of "Pinocchio," with Marceau in the title role and Red as the old carpenter Geppetto. (That old warhorse, "Hollywood Talent Scouts," this time with Art Linkletter as host, takes over for Skelton for 12 weeks in June.)

BEST ON RECORD—Some of this year's winners of the recording industry's "Grammy" awards perform the tunes for which they were cited during an hour at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4. Sammy Davis Jr. pays special tribute to the late Nat 'King' Cole with a medley of his hits, with Grammy winners including Louis Armstrong (Hello, Dolly!), Petula Clark (Downtown), Roger Miller (Dang Me), Henry Mancini (Pink Panther theme), Gale Garnett (We'll Sing in the Sunshine), Swingle Singers (Going Baroque), Bill Cosby (I Started Out as a Child), Stan Getz and Astrud Gilberto (Girl from Ipanema) and the Beatles, taped in London (A Hard Day's Night). Carol Channing, Robert Goulet and Bill Dana will be among the introducers with Steve Allen hosting the show.

THE MIDDLE AGES — George Vicas' news special, second program in NBC's "Of Men and Freedom" series, looks at the 1000 years between the fall of the Roman Empire and Columbus' discovery of America, concentrating on those features which most directly concern and interest men of the 20th Century. The 10 p.m., ch. 4 color hour studies the feudal system, growth of cities, the Crusades, the great plagues and the rise of courtly manners. SPECIAL

NEW LOOK at Olde England—Early Bird carries its first transatlantic colorcast at 7:30 p.m., ch. 4, as Sander Vanocur, in London, looks at the changing scene in terms of architecture, fashions, drama and social life. Londoners representing the new and pre-war city are interviewed from Shepherd's Market, one of London's oldest and most colorful streets. Buckingham Palace gates were opened to let the RCA color mobile unit tape the palace grounds and changing of the guard.

A FAMILY Builds a Mountain — A tour through the Calico Mountain Mine at the famed Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town is repeated at 7:30 p.m., ch. 11, as mining techniques of the early west are re-created.

JAM SESSION—Bill Dana, dropped by NBC and recently signed to develop new comedy program formats for CBS, hosts an hour-long musical special at 8 p.m., ch. 13. Taking part are Terry Gibbs, the Paris Sisters, The Youngfolk, Emmaline Henry, David Allen and the Tommy Gumina Quartet with Victor Feldman.

CRISIS IN THE FIELDS—Paul Udell takes an hour-long look at California's multi-billion dollar agricultural industry, and the impact of the lack of braceros, in a 10 p.m., ch. 2 special preempting the network's repeat CBS Report of "Abortion and the Law." Visiting domestic farm labor camps and ranches in the state's middle valleys, he interviews hired and rejected workers, Stockton and Salinas farmers, groups of ministers working in the farms and a group of workers who quit their jobs because of alleged intolerable camp conditions. Sec. of Labor Willard Wirtz and Gov. Edmund G. Brown offer their opposing views on the need for braceros. (A "national drivers' test" in this hour next week permits home viewers to check their own driving ability.)

Excerpted Reviews on Recent TV Shows

Program: "Merv Griffin Show," premiered last Monday on channel 11.

A show-stopper on Broadway, a show-saver on tv. Merv Griffin can thank heaven for big girls like Carol Channing. Without her it would have beeen a rough take-off for the Westinghouse midnight ride on KTTV. Griffin was so overshadowed by "Dolly" that his personality must wait another night to come through. How well he makes out against the competition of Johnny Carson and "Night Life" will depend on the stature of his guest stars. After this outing Miss Channing is past-ready for her own tv special. What a delight!

From the theatre close by, where she's starring in "Hello Dolly," the hottest ticket in N.Y. town, she skated in on rollers and took over from there for a half-hour. Her modesty and charm must've infected the home watchers as it did the theatre audience.

—Critic Helm of "Variety"

NBC's "Tonight Show" with Johnny Carson now has competition which might give the established late-evening program some trouble. It is the new "Merv Griffin Show," launched Monday night on a number of stations around the country on a syndicated basis. In almost every detail it is similar to Griffin's daytime variety hour on NBC which was a very fine program indeed.

—Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Having missed the opener, I watched the second night and found the program as interesting as its guests—who weren't too.

It was nice to hear that George Maharis, formerly of "Route 66," has a pleasant singing voice.

It was pleasing to see that Merv Griffin was a relaxed host.

Generally speaking, however, there was too much talk and too long a meeting of the mutual admiration society.

—Critic Bert Resnik of "TeleVues"

Program: "The Pilgrim Adventure," aired last Monday on channel 7.

A two-season television experiment in history-telling on a popular level came to a successful conclusion last night with ABC-TV's one-hour "re-created" documentary, "The Pilgrim Adventure."

The broadcast, which told of the seeking of religious freedom that led the pilgrims from England to Holland and finally to the new world on the Mayflower, was the seventh of the "Saga of Western Man" specials of husband-and-wife team John Secondari and Helen Jean Rogers.

Last season the specials took the titles of key years in western history—"1492," "1776," "1898" and "1964." This season the programs have been "I, Leonardo da Vinci," "Custer to the Little Big Horn," and now "The Pilgrim Adventure."

The programs, as a unit, have been refreshingly unpretentious in their aim for popular consumption. They have made no claims to satisfying the graduate school league of expert historians or the brilliantly informed, though they may well have done so at times simply because of their presentation. At the same time, they have been excellent examples of how to nurture interest in history among youngsters and adults with still a few things to learn and appreciate.

—Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Again utilizing technique of telling their story with the camera focusing on historic sites where it all happened, clever use of symbolic objects and silhouetted figures, producers Helen Jean Rogers and John H. Secondari have come up with an absorbing account of the Pilgrim and their eventual discovery of a haven in America. Colorcast was realistic and vivid, so much so it made the viewer feel he was almost witnessing those historic events of 1620.

—Critic Daku of "Variety"

Program: "Jonathan Winters Special," aired last Monday on channel 4.

Jonathan Winters' final comedy special of the season on NBC was a gay, breezy hour with the star at top form.

Winters opened the show with a very funny bit about two wise large-mouthed bass having some fun with eager fishermen. Then, improvising with an empty wallet as a prop, Winters turned the wallet into a walkie-talkie radio, a prayer book, a stale sandwich, a revolver, an asbestos glove, a puppet and finally, a camera.

—Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Sixth and final colorcast of this season starring Jonathan Winters ended on a boring level. While much was made of the fact this entire hour was to be ad-lib with off-the-cuff sketches, there were few clever routines to enliven the program. Just why so much virtue was attached to the term "ad lib" is difficult to comprehend, particularly in view of the results. Incidentally, while all this emphasis was given the "ad lib" peg of the show, the credits have Pat McCormick as a writer, with Arthur Ross as writer of the narration. Ad-who?

Good sketches consisted of one with Winters on a plane, making a nuisance of himself to fellow passengers. Material was brisk and clever, and it was the highlight of a generally low-level show. Another good skit featured guestars. Jerry Stiller and Ann Meara contributing a piece about a guy calling a wrong number. It was in the Nichols & May genre, which is another way of saying it was very funny.

Rest of the hour wasn't much. Skit with Steve Allen quizzing Winters as first, a lovelorn columnist, then a sky diver, then the world's saddest man, was just so-so, ditto a bit featuring Leo Durocher and Winters. The Durocher-Winters baseball routine got too silly to be humorous.

—Critic Daku of "Variety"

Friday—"Best of the Play of the Week" at 8 p.m. on channel 9 offers a two-hour presentation of "The World of Sholom Aleichem." It includes several stories combining the comic and poignant in Jewish life. Featured personalities: Zero Mostel, Gertrude Berg and Sam Levene.

* * * *

Saturday — A 19-hour Cerebral Telethon starts at 11 p.m. on channel 9. Dennis James will serve as master-of-ceremonies. Guests will include Bob Hope, Pat Boone, Dick Chamberlain, Debbie Reynolds, Gisele MacKenzie, Bettye Ackerman and Sam Jaffee.

Steve Sings

Singer Steve Lawrence gets his own weekly variety hour on the CBS network in the fall. The show will originate in New York, and CBS has it penciled in for 10 to 11 Monday nights.

Merman in Drama

Ethel Merman will play an ex-movie actress who runs a rooming house during a fall presentation of NBC-TV's "Suspense Theater." She'll become involved with a group of amateurs planning to rob an art gallery.

SPECIAL

VD: EPIDEMIC! — The world's most "democratic" disease, discriminating neither among age, educational, ethnic or economic groups, has reached epidemic proportions in the U.S., and "ABC Scope" with Howard K. Smith probes the reasons for its increase and the action necessary to bring it under control at 10:30 p.m., ch. 7. U.S. Public Health Service officials and private doctors are interviewed, as well as four out-patients, three men and a woman, who anonymously (faces not identifiable) discuss the emotional effects of their disease on their own lives and those related to them. A fast cure, penicillin, has only contributed to VD's spread by making it harder to follow up the chain of contact.

Sports Today

WRESTLING, 3 p.m., ch. 5, has Dick Lane with the action at the Olympic.

SPECIAL

RED SKELTON—The classic "concert in pantomime" with Skelton and the great French mime Marcel Marceau, hosted by Maurice Chevalier, is repeated at 8:30 p.m., ch. 2. The two artists each perform four of their own classics, then join for a wordless interpretation of "Pinocchio," with Marceau in the title role and Red as the old carpenter Geppetto. (That old warhorse, "Hollywood Talent Scouts," this time with Art Linkletter as host, takes over for Skelton for 12 weeks in June.)

BEST ON RECORD—Some of this year's winners of the recording industry's "Grammy" awards perform the tunes for which they were cited during an hour at 8:30 p.m., ch. 4. Sammy Davis Jr. pays special tribute to the late Nat 'King' Cole with a medley of his hits, with Grammy winners including Louis Armstrong (Hello, Dolly!), Petula Clark (Downtown), Roger Miller (Dang Me), Henry Mancini (Pink Panther theme), Gale Garnett (We'll Sing in the Sunshine), Swingle Singers (Going Baroque), Bill Cosby (I Started Out as a Child), Stan Getz and Astrud Gilberto (Girl from Ipanema) and the Beatles, taped in London (A Hard Day's Night). Carol Channing, Robert Goulet and Bill Dana will be among the introducers with Steve Allen hosting the show.

THE MIDDLE AGES — George Vicas' news special, second program in NBC's "Of Men and Freedom" series, looks at the 1000 years between the fall of the Roman Empire and Columbus' discovery of America, concentrating on those features which most directly concern and interest men of the 20th Century. The 10 p.m., ch. 4 color hour studies the feudal system, growth of cities, the Crusades, the great plagues and the rise of courtly manners. (Scheduled for next season are "The Spanish Armada" and "Reformation.")

CRITIC'S CORNER

Excerpted Reviews on Recent TV Shows

Program: "Merv Griffin Show," premiered last Monday on channel 11.

A show-stopper on Broadway, a show-saver on tv. Merv Griffin can thank heaven for big girls like Carol Channing. Without her it would have been a rough take-off for the Westinghouse midnight ride on KTTV. Griffin was so overshadowed by "Dolly" that his personality must wait another night to come through. How well he makes out against the competition of Johnny Carson and "Night Life" will depend on the stature of his guest stars. After this outing Miss Channing is past-ready for her own tv special. What a delight!

From the theatre close by, where she's starring in "Hello Dolly," the hottest ticket in N.Y. town, she skated in on rollers and took over from there for a half-hour. Her modesty and charm must've infected the home watchers as it did the theatre audience.

—Critic Helm of "Variety"

NBC's "Tonight Show" with Johnny Carson now has competition which might give the established late-evening program some trouble. It is the new "Merv Griffin Show," launched Monday night on a number of stations around the country on a syndicated basis. In almost every detail it is similar to Griffin's daytime variety hour on NBC which was a very fine program indeed.

—Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Having missed the opener, I watched the second night and found the program as interesting as its guests—who weren't too.

It was nice to hear that George Maharis, formerly of "Route 66," has a pleasant singing voice.

It was pleasing to see that Merv Griffin was a relaxed host.

Generally speaking, however, there was too much talk and too long a meeting of the mutual admiration society.

—Critic Bert Resnik of "TeleVues"

Program: "The Pilgrim Adventure," aired last Monday on channel 7.

A two-season television experiment in history-telling on a popular level came to a successful conclusion last night with ABC-TV's one-hour "re-created" documentary, "The Pilgrim Adventure."

The broadcast, which told of the seeking of religious freedom that led the pilgrims from England to Holland and finally to the new world on the Mayflower, was the seventh of the "Saga of Western Man" specials of husband-and-wife team John Secondari and Helen Jean Rogers.

Last season the specials took the titles of key years in western history—"1492," "1776," "1898" and "1964." This season the programs have been "I, Leonardo da Vinci," "Custer to the Little Big Horn," and now "The Pilgrim Adventure."

The programs, as a unit, have been refreshingly unpretentious in their aim for popular consumption. They have made no claims to satisfying the graduate school league of expert historians or the brilliantly informed, though they may well have done so at times simply because of their presentation. At the same time, they have been excellent examples of how to nurture interest in history among youngsters and adults with still a few things to learn and appreciate.

—Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Again utilizing technique of telling their story with the camera focusing on historic sites where it all happened, clever use of symbolic objects and silhouetted figures, producers Helen Jean Rogers and John H. Secondari have come up with an absorbing account of the Pilgrim and their eventual discovery of a haven in America. Colorcast was realistic and vivid, so much so it made the viewer feel he was almost witnessing those historic events of 1620.

Program: "Jonathan Winters Special," aired last Monday on channel 4.

Jonathan Winters' final comedy special of the season on NBC was a gay, breezy hour with the star at top form.

Winters opened the show with a very funny bit about two wise large-mouthed bass having some fun with eager fishermen. Then, improvising with an empty wallet as a prop, Winters turned the wallet into a walkie-talkie radio, a prayer book, a stale sandwich, a revolver, an asbestos glove, a puppet and finally, a camera.

—Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Sixth and final colorcast of this season starring Jonathan Winters ended on a boring level. While much was made of the fact this entire hour was to be ad-lib with off-the-cuff sketches, there were few clever routines to enliven the program. Just why so much virtue was attached to the term "ad lib" is difficult to comprehend, particularly in view of the results. Incidentally, while all this emphasis was given the "ad lib" peg of the show, the credits have Pat McCormick as a writer, with Arthur Ross as writer of the narration. Ad-who?

Good sketches consisted of one with Winters on a plane, making a nuisance of himself to fellow passengers. Material was brisk and clever, and it was the highlight of a generally low-level show. Another good skit featured guestars. Jerry Stiller and Ann Meara contributing a piece about a guy calling a wrong number. It was in the Nichols & May genre, which is another way of saying it was very funny.

Rest of the hour wasn't much. Skit with Steve Allen quizzing Winters as first, a lovelorn columnist, then a sky diver, then the world's saddest man, was just so-so, ditto a bit featuring Len Durocher and Winters. The Durocher-Winters baseball routine got too silly to be humorous.

SPECIAL

VD: EPIDEMIC! — The world's most "democratic" disease, discriminating neither among age, educational, ethnic or economic groups, has reached epidemic proportions in the U.S., and "ABC Scope" with Howard K. Smith probes the reasons for its increase and the action necessary to bring it under control at 10:30 p.m., ch. 7. U.S. Public Health Service officials and private doctors are interviewed, as well as four out-patients, three men and a woman, who anonymously (faces not identifiable) discuss the emotional effects of their disease on their own lives and those related to them. A fast cure, penicillin, has only contributed to VD's spread by making it harder to follow up the chain of contact.

Sports Today

WRESTLING, 8 p.m., ch. 5, has Dick Lane with the action at the Olympic.

Pan and Fan Mail

I read in the "TeleVues" that there will be nine Dodger games shown on TV.

Do you know if the fabulous Sandy Koufax will be pitching during one of them?

He may not be a long-haired English singer, but he sure is a doll.

Joan McCluskey, Long Beach

Sandy has already pitched in a televised match with the Giants. Odds are he'll be back and next time he'll win—that doll.

* * * *

I read in your column that some girl thought Freddie and the Dreamers were tough.

I just wanted to say the girl has obviously never seen Herman's Hermits because I know she would like them much better than that crazy, wild Freddie.

Herman is the one and only greatest and I love him with all my heart.

Cynthia Jagger, Lakewood

Can he pitch?

* * * *

Signed by 14 Long Beach residents, the following letter was sent to NBC and a copy was forwarded to "Pan and Fan":

We just wanted to make our wee voices heard over the clackle, clammer and Hullahalloo to castigate your abominable squelching of the only original satire show in all TeeVee Hee-Hee Land.

You gave birth to it. You gave it an unmerciful time slot. And no promotion.

From where we sit, TW3's (That Was the Week That Was) demise smacks of infanticide.

A pox on your peacock for slamming the window on the only fresh-air vent in the Tuesday 9:30 p.m. line-up.

As for us, we'll play rumble-dee-peg, read the Budapest society news, pitch pennies in hats or color-code dental floss before we'll watch your 9:30 replacement or any other channel 4 triviality henceforth.

This was the audience that was,

Chuck Davis et al

And lots of gloss to your color-code floss, et al.

* * * *

I think that Lloyd Thaxton is sensational.

He seems to have a talent in so many things, pantomime, impersonations and many others, including a great personality.

Are there any possibilities for him in the kind of shows or movies that Jerry Lewis and Bill Dana do?

Lorill Brown, Long Beach

Lloyd made a movie with Jerry Lewis that was released last year. It was called "The Patsy." Currently, he's considering making his own movies but hasn't yet made a definite decision. He's been on television — currently channel 13—for six years.

* * * *

Would it be possible to tell me the name of the musical arrangement of music on Bonanza when they show the Chevrolet on the beach with the tide washing over it?

Mrs. Mary Kirstein, Buena Park

It's an original score done specifically for the commercial and it doesn't have a title. It's not available commercially — the song, not the Chevrolet.

* * * *

I really enjoyed the special "Lorne Greene's American West."

Could you please tell me where Mr. Green got the verse that he reads in the church scene? I thought it was quite lovely.

Jackie Selden, Cypress

Lou Solomon, who scripted the special, also penned the poetry.

* * * *

Had big plans for watching the program "American West." In our estimation, it was a total flop.

Greene does such a fabulous job of acting in Bonanza that we were positive this would be exceptional.

It was a disgrace to his ability and we are sure he is not proud of it.

The Gray's, Lakewood

Well, he reads a mean poem.

SPECIAL

WORLD OF SHOLOM ALEICHEM—A folk tale, a fantasy and a moving drama—all rich in old-world wisdom and wit—make up "The Play of the Week" at 8 p.m., ch. 9. Zero Mostel, Gertrude Berg, Sam Levene, Nancy Walker, Morris Carnovsky, Lee Grant and Charlotte Rae star in the short stories and sketches about Russian Jews, written originally in Yiddish. "A Tale of Chelm" is a country anecdote about a goat; "Bontche Schweig" tells of a man so poor he embarrasses even the angels in heaven; "The High School" deals with persistent parents who try to get their son admitted to a non-religious school.

ZERO Mostel stars in "The World of Sholem Aleichem," a two-hour presentation of "Best of the Play of the Week" at 8 p.m. Friday, channel 9.

GOLDEN COMEDY AGE ON WANE

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

TV Comedian Plays 'Less Difficult' Dramatic Roles

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The fortunes and tides of comedy ebb and change through the years, beaching many a comedian and throwing up scores of new ones.

But television's golden age of comedy is on the wane.

Only Red Skelton and Jackie Gleason remain on the air with regular weekly shows.

A decade ago the air was filled with the likes of Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Jack Benny, Danny Thomas, Jimmy Durante, Martha Raye, Martin and Lewis, Eddie Cantor, Ed Wynn, Red Buttons and others. It amounted to a reprise of vaudeville — stand-up comics, sketches, burlesque, song-and-dance and the old bag of tricks.

One survivor is Red Buttons; survivor because he was almost lost in the backwash.

When his show went off the air, the animated little redhead went begging for jobs. Survival meant leaving comedy for drama.

* * * *

TODAY, Buttons is a distinguished dramatic actor. He won the Oscar for best supporting performance in "Sayonara" (1957). Now he's co-starring in "Harlow" without a single laugh in his dialogue.

Between scenes of the Joe Levine picture, Red reviewed his turbulent past, satisfied that he's found his niche.

"The things I was trained to do in Minsky's burlesque I've never had opportunity to do in pictures," he said. "I've played human roles, sentimental ones, but not comedy.

"So that's fine. Most comedians find it less difficult to play a dramatic role than to try for laughs."

His point was well taken. Wynn, Berle, Caesar and others have won critical praise in dramatic guest shots in television, too.

* * * *

"EXCEPT for Skelton and Gleason, the variety-show comedian has had it. Bob Hope does specials once in a while," he said, "but the situation comedy has taken over. Sometimes I wonder if it is comedy at all. It's a different kind of entertainment altogether."

Red's change in career has worked subtle alterations in the man himself. The ebullient bounce has subsided, but the twinkle remains in his eye; the laugh lines unerased.

He recently completed "Up from the Beach," a sequel to "The Longest Day" in which he gave a moving performance. And when "Harlow" is completed he goes right into the re-make of "Stagecoach."

"I'm happy with my new career," he said. "In 'Harlow' I play Arthur Landau, Harlow's agent. I'm tickled to death with this role. It's a plum."

Has Red forsaken comedy?

"No chance," he answered. "I still do a club date every once in a while just to keep my hand in. And during the 1963-64 season, I appeared in guest spots on 'The Hollywood Palace' and 'The Jimmy Dean Show.'

"You don't lose your love of comedy. Thank the Lord it stays with you."

'Stop-Baldness-Week' Starts Monday

1. FREE EXAMINATION by Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRO THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research. Results are FAST.

3. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas laboratory produced. Another step on the road to a strong healthy hairline.

4. PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE. A skilled and trained assistant rejuvenates, tones and loosens scalp so hair can grow.

CALIFORNIA'S LEADING SCALP SPECIALISTS WARNS—"12,000,000 BALD AMERICANS NOW INCREASING RAPIDLY"

In a recent interview, S. I. Turoff, nationally known authority on baldness, and director of the Turoff Scalp Clinic, said: "Most people don't stop to realize that in 95% of the cases where a person is on the road to baldness, common sense on his or her part might prevent this tragedy." People simply do not get around to doing something about their balding condition until in many cases it is too late. Yet, in the years that they have the danger signals of approaching baldness, such as excessive hair fall, dandruff, itchiness, dry scalp, thinning or bald spots — in those years they probably spend substantial sums on their teeth and general body health. Yes, it is peculiar, but because oncoming baldness doesn't hurt like most parts of the body that are wasting away, many people simply let it go too long.

NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro-therapy. Turoff Clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results, we have given over one million successful treatments. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

AN UNMATCHED RECORD! OVER ONE MILLION TREATMENTS TO CALIFORNIANS: THE TREATMENT OTHERS TRY TO DUPLICATE.

PROVEN RESULTS

Thousands of enthusiastic comments and testimonials are received yearly. Why don't you start these treatments today and see what an improvement they make in your hair and how much more invigorating your hair and scalp feel. Don't put off giving your hair the care it needs . . . the penalty of delay may be baldness.

WHAT TO EXPECT

"If you are accepted for Turoff treatment, the cause of your unhealthy scalp will be removed, we will save and thicken your hair. The free examination will reveal just how much thicker you can expect it to be. Your hair will improve wonderfully and you will see it do so quickly. Furthermore, we will teach you to maintain a head of hair permanently! The cost for treatment is very reasonable. Remember, we cater to working people—Mr. and Mrs. Average Person."

Pan and Fan Mail

I read in the "TeleVues" that there will be nine Dodger games shown on TV.

Do you know if the fabulous Sandy Koufax will be pitching during one of them?

He may not be a long-haired English singer, but he sure is a doll.

Joan McCluskey, Long Beach

Sandy has already pitched in a televised match with the Giants. Odds are he'll be back and next time he'll win—that doll.

* * * *

I read in your column that some girl thought Freddie and the Dreamers were tough.

I just wanted to say the girl has obviously never seen Herman's Hermits because I know she would like them much better than that crazy, wild Freddie.

Herman is the one and only greatest and I love him with all my heart.

Cynthia Jagger, Lakewood

Can he pitch?

* * * *

Signed by 14 Long Beach residents, the following letter was sent to NBC and a copy was forwarded to "Pan and Fan":

We just wanted to make our wee voices heard over the clackle, clammer and Hullaballoo to castigate your abominable squelching of the only original satire show in all TeeVee Hee-Hee Land.

You gave birth to it. You gave it an unmerciful time slot. And no promotion.

From where we sit, TW3's (That Was the Week That Was) demise smacks of infanticide.

A pox on your peacock for slamming the window on the only fresh-air vent in the Tuesday 9:30 p.m. line-up.

As for us, we'll play mumble-dee-peg, read the Budapest society news, pitch pennies in hats or color-code dental floss before we'll watch your 9:30 replacement or any other channel 4 triviality henceforth.

This was the audience that was,

Chuck Davis et al

And lots of gloss to your color-code floss, et al.

* * * *

I think that Lloyd Thaxton is sensational.

He seems to have a talent in so many things, pantomime, impersonations and many others, including a great personality.

Are there any possibilities for him in the kind of shows or movies that Jerry Lewis and Bill Dana do?

Lorill Brown, Long Beach

Lloyd made a movie with Jerry Lewis that was released last year. It was called "The Patsy." Currently, he's considering making his own movies but hasn't yet made a definite decision. He's been on television — currently channel 13—for six years.

* * * *

Would it be possible to tell me the name of the musical arrangement of music on Bonanza when they show the Chevrolet on the beach with the tide washing over it?

Mrs. Mary Kirstein, Buena Park

It's an original score done specifically for the commercial and it doesn't have a title. It's not available commercially — the song, not the Chevrolet.

* * * *

I really enjoyed the special "Lorne Greene's American West."

Could you please tell me where Mr. Green got the verse that he reads in the church scene? I thought it was quite lovely.

Jackie Selden, Cypress

Lou Solomon, who scripted the special, also penned the poetry.

* * * *

Had big plans for watching the program "American West." In our estimation, it was a total flop.

Greene does such a fabulous job of acting in Bonanza that we were positive this would be exceptional.

It was a disgrace to his ability and we are sure he is not proud of it.

The Gray's, Lakewood

Well, he reads a mean poem.

SPECIAL

MARINELAND—Bill Burrud, Bob Adkins and Chuck Jones co-host a 90-minute tour of the aquatic exhibits at Marineland of the Pacific, with Burrud joining the diver in feeding the fish in the 500,000-gallon tank. The complete whale and sea lion shows are highlights of the repeat special at 6:30 p.m., channel 13.

FRANCE: Conquest & Liberation—Richard Basehart is narrator for a David L. Wolper hour's look back to 1940, at 9 p.m., ch. 11. The fighting Frenchmen, following the Nazi conquest, went underground to join Charles De Gaulle's Free French forces and fight for their country's liberation. (Show will be repeated next Saturday at 8 p.m.)

TELETHON — Dennis James is emcee for a 19-hour entertainment show for the benefit of the United Cerebral Palsy Fund, to begin at 11 p.m., ch. 9, continuing until 6 p.m. on Sunday. Frank DeVol, whose health recently forced him to bow out of NBC's new "Camp Runamuck" comedy series, is musical director. Joining in on the stage of ABC's Hollywood Palace on Vine Street are Bob Hope, Pat Boone, Richard Chamberlain, Debbie Reynolds, Gisele Mackenzie and scores of other stars and athletes. (James incidentally, has signed to host a new NBC game show, "P.D.Q.")

EDIE ADAMS and Ernie Ford sing together during "The Hollywood Palace" at 9:30 p. m. Saturday, channel 7.

Sports Today

BASEBALL, 11 a.m., ch. 8 (San Diego), has the New York Yankees hosting the Washington Senators. Dizzy Dean and PeeWee Reese are mikeside.

BASEBALL, 11 a.m.,ch. 7, has Merle Harmon and Jackie Robinson with the Giants-Astros game from Houston's new stadium.

HOLLYPARK Feature Race, 5 p.m., ch. 2, is the 7-furlong $50,000-added Los Angeles Handicap, Harry Henson and Gil Stratton calling the action and color.

WIDE WORLD of Sports, 5 p.m., ch. 7, has Bill Fleming with tapes of the 180-mile Miami to Nassau power boat race, first open-ocean event to be covered on television, while Jim McKay describes the Rebel "300" stock car championship at Darlington, S.C., and Howard Cossell visits the training camps of Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston.

'The FBI'

Efrem Zimbalist Jr., who starred in ABC-TV's "77 Sunset Strip," will be back next fall in the network's "The FBI," an hour-long action series.

ZERO Mostel stars in "The World of Sholem Aleichem," a two-hour presentation of "Best of the Play of the Week" at 8 p.m. Friday, channel 9.

SPECIAL

WORLD OF SHOLOM ALEICHEM—A folk tale, a fantasy and a moving drama—all rich in old-world wisdom and wit—make up "The Play of the Week" at 8 p.m., ch. 9. Zero Mostel, Gertrude Berg, Sam Levene, Nancy Walker, Morris Carnovsky, Lee Grant and Charlotte Rae star in the short stories and sketches about Russian Jews, written originally in Yiddish. "A Tale of Chelm" is a country anecdote about a goat; "Bontche Schweig" tells of a man so poor he embarrasses even the angels in heaven; "The High School" deals with persistent parents who try to get their son admitted to a non-religious school.

Sports Today

HOLLYPARK PREVIEW, 8 p.m., ch. 5, has Gil Stratton at the Inglewood turf to talk with persons involved in the L.A. Handicap.

WOMEN OFTEN HAVE BLADDER IRRITATION

After 21, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backaches and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Feel better fast.

TV Comedian Plays 'Less Difficult' Dramatic Roles

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The fortunes and tides of comedy ebb and change through the years, beaching many a comedian and throwing up scores of new ones.

But television's golden age of comedy is on the wane.

Only Red Skelton and Jackie Gleason remain on the air with regular weekly shows.

A decade ago the air was filled with the likes of Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Jack Benny, Danny Thomas, Jimmy Durante, Martha Raye, Martin and Lewis, Eddie Cantor, Ed Wynn, Red Buttons and others. It amounted to a reprise of vaudeville — stand-up comics, sketches, burlesque, song-and-dance and the old bag of tricks.

One survivor is Red Buttons; survivor because he was almost lost in the backwash.

When his show went off the air, the animated little redhead went begging for jobs. Survival meant leaving comedy for drama.

* * * *

TODAY, Buttons is a distinguished dramatic actor. He won the Oscar for best supporting performance in "Sayonara" (1957). Now he's co-starring in "Harlow" without a single laugh in his dialogue.

Between scenes of the Joe Levine picture, Red reviewed his turbulent past, satisfied that he's found his niche.

"The things I was trained to do in Minsky's burlesque I've never had opportunity to do in pictures," he said. "I've played human roles, sentimental ones, but not comedy.

"So that's fine. Most comedians find it less difficult to play a dramatic role than to try for laughs."

His point was well taken. Wynn, Berle, Caesar and others have won critical praise in dramatic guest shots in television, too.

* * * *

"EXCEPT for Skelton and Gleason, the variety-show comedian has had it. Bob Hope does specials once in a while," he said, "but the situation comedy has taken over. Sometimes I wonder if it is comedy at all. It's a different kind of entertainment altogether."

Red's change in career has worked subtle alterations in the man himself. The ebullient bounce has subsided, but the twinkle remains in his eye; the laugh lines unerased.

He recently completed "Up from the Beach," a sequel to "The Longest Day" in which he gave a moving performance. And when "Harlow" is completed he goes right into the re-make of "Stagecoach."

"I'm happy with my new career," he said. "In 'Harlow' I play Arthur Landau, Harlow's agent. I'm tickled to death with this role. It's a plum."

Has Red forsaken comedy?

"No chance," he answered. "I still do a club date every once in a while just to keep my hand in. And during the 1963-64 season, I appeared in guest spots on 'The Hollywood Palace' and 'The Jimmy Dean Show.'

"You don't lose your love of comedy. Thank the Lord it stays with you."

'Stop-Baldness-Week' Starts Monday

1. FREE EXAMINATION by Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRO THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research. Results are FAST.

3. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas laboratory produced. Another step on the road to a strong healthy hairline.

4. PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE. A skilled and trained assistant rejuvenates, tones and loosens scalp so hair can grow.

CALIFORNIA'S LEADING SCALP SPECIALISTS WARNS—"12,000,000 BALD AMERICANS NOW INCREASING RAPIDLY"

In a recent interview, S. I. Turoff, nationally known authority on baldness, and director of the Turoff Scalp Clinic, said: "Most people don't stop to realize that in 95% of the cases where a person is on the road to baldness, common sense on his or her part might prevent this tragedy." People simply do not get around to doing something about their balding condition until in many cases it is too late. Yet, in the years that they have the danger signals of approaching baldness, such as excessive hair fall, dandruff, itchiness, dry scalp, thinning or bald spots — in those years they probably spend substantial sums on their teeth and general body health. Yes, it is peculiar, but because oncoming baldness doesn't hurt like most parts of the body that are wasting away, many people simply let it go too long.

NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro-therapy. Turoff Clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results, we have given over one million successful treatments. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

AN UNMATCHED RECORD! OVER ONE MILLION TREATMENTS TO CALIFORNIANS: THE TREATMENT OTHERS TRY TO DUPLICATE.

PROVEN RESULTS

Thousands of enthusiastic comments and testimonials are received yearly. Why don't you start these treatments today and see what an improvement they make in your hair and how much more invigorating your hair and scalp feel. Don't put off giving your hair the care it needs . . . the penalty of delay may be baldness.

WHAT TO EXPECT

"If you are accepted for Turoff treatment, the cause of your unhealthy scalp will be removed, we will save and thicken your hair. The free examination will reveal just how much thicker you can expect it to be. Your hair will improve wonderfully and you will see it do so quickly. Furthermore, we will teach you to maintain a head of hair permanently! The cost for treatment is very reasonable. Remember, we cater to working people—Mr. and Mrs. Average Person."

SPECIAL

MARINELAND—Bill Burrud, Bob Adkins and Chuck Jones co-host a 90-minute tour of the aquatic exhibits at Marineland of the Pacific, with Burrud joining the diver in feeding the fish in the 500,000-gallon tank. The complete whale and sea lion shows are highlights of the repeat special at 6:30 p.m., channel 13.

FRANCE: Conquest & Liberation—Richard Basehart is narrator for a David L. Wolper hour's look back to 1940, at 9 p.m., ch. 11. The fighting Frenchmen, following the Nazi conquest, went underground to join Charles De Gaulle's Free French forces and fight for their country's liberation. (Show will be repeated next Saturday at 8 p.m.)

TELETHON — Dennis James is emcee for a 19-hour entertainment show for the benefit of the United Cerebral Palsy Fund, to begin at 11 p.m., ch. 9, continuing until 6 p.m. on Sunday. Frank DeVol, whose health recently forced him to bow out of NBC's new "Camp Runamuck" comedy series, is musical director. Joining in on the stage of ABC's Hollywood Palace on Vine Street are Bob Hope, Pat Boone, Richard Chamberlain, Debbie Reynolds, Gisele Mackenzie and scores of other stars and athletes. (James incidentally, has signed to host a new NBC game show, "P.D.Q.")

EDIE ADAMS and Ernie Ford sing together during "The Hollywood Palace" at 9:30 p. m. Saturday, channel 7.

Sports Today

BASEBALL, 11 a.m., ch. 8 (San Diego), has the New York Yankees hosting the Washington Senators. Dizzy Dean and PeeWee Reese are mikeside.

BASEBALL, 11 a.m.,ch. 7, has Merle Harmon and Jackie Robinson with the Giants-Astros game from Houston's new stadium.

HOLLYPARK Feature Race, 5 p.m., ch. 2, is the 7-furlong $50,000-added Los Angeles Handicap, Harry Henson and Gil Stratton calling the action and color.

WIDE WORLD of Sports, 5 p.m., ch. 7, has Bill Flemming with tapes of the 180-mile Miami to Nassau power boat race, first open-ocean event to be covered on television, while Jim McKay describes the Rebel "300" stock car championship at Darlington, S.C., and Howard Cossell visits the training camps of Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston.

'The FBI'

Efrem Zimbalist Jr., who starred in ABC-TV's "77 Sunset Strip," will be back next fall in the network's "The FBI," an hour-long action series.

Mountaineering, with all the comforts of home—and more. That's the resort known as Lake Arrowhead—known far and wide for its beauty at every season of the year. This mile-high gem in the forested mountains has something to offer every mood—water sports, golf, hiking, riding, fine accommodations. The charm of the region has long been known to a wide circle, many of whom have gone there to establish year-around residence. Homes are numerous along the roads, but hardly in evidence because the forest atmosphere has been carefully preserved. There's still the sense of the primeval, a touch that is being preserved in a new development of the area under careful management. For more about Lake Arrowhead turn to Page 7.

NEXT WEEK

If you've ever wondered why Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown never gives any fireside chats, there's a good reason. The California Governor's Mansion has six Italian marble fireplaces downstairs but they've been boarded up for 30 years. Next week, Southland gives you an intimate look at the 88-year-old mansion in a story called "Gingerbread Firetrap."

Hobby That Shrank as It Grew

"Made in Long Beach" describes doll duds headed to Venezuela.

By ANNA LEMLEY

A LITTLE girl in San Tome, Venezuela, and her playmates have the best-dressed dolls in their city—and all because Deon Weide's grandmother, Ruby Mayes of 250 E. 5th St., Seal Beach, likes to knit.

When Deon's mother, Shirley, was a child Mrs. Mayes' hobby was knitting sweaters for her. Later both her enjoyment and the size of the things she made increased. Shirley's campus attire at UCLA included many beautiful hand-knit cardigans with matching sox and several knit suits. Interest in her favorite pastime is as great as ever, but the things Mrs. Mayes' busy fingers and creative imagination now produce are miniature in size — outfits for her granddaughter's dolls!

Many letters of consultation are exchanged between Deon and Mrs. Mayes. The nine-year-old girl is the fashion adviser.

ALL THROUGH the fall and winter a box of wee garments and many brightly colored balls of yarn are on the table by Ruby Mayes' favorite chair. The knitting needles flash during moments of relaxation. When Mr. and Mrs. Weide, Deon, Mark and Craig (all three children natives of Long Beach) arrive for their yearly visit the Venezuela-bound high fashions for the doll set are ready.

The clothing includes outfits for both boy and girl dolls. There are gay shifts, two-piece suits, sweaters, dresses, sport costumes and tiny hats and bags in many colors. They are made for the popular 8-inch size doll.

The Flame Burned Green

By Dorothy W. Dial

AARON Winters was a prospector who had traveled over mining country throughout half of the United States. He was a natural born wanderer with an innate love for the great open spaces and detest for the thought of being fenced in.

When Winters and Rosie, his frail, Spanish-American wife ventured into ghostly Death Valley in the late Seventies they found the going rough beyond the endurance of most people. A dugout in a hillside near a small spring was the place they called home. They eked out a meager living somehow in the unyielding wasteland. Often, their fare consisted of the primitive food of the Indians: mesquite beans and chuckwalla meat.

Rosie, like most of the "fair sex" longed for more conveniences and a less rugged life. She yearned to leave the desert and return to the more civilized world but Aaron, stubborn by nature, remained firm. Being the outdoor type, he could not bear the thought of settling down in the city and was determined to continue prospecting. He felt that somewhere in this barren land untold riches were waiting.

ONE EVENING in 1880, a lone wayfarer wandered upon the Winters' Ash Meadows abode. He was welcomed and invited to share the evening meal as is the custom of the desert. After dinner the visitor told Aaron and Rosie about the borax discoveries near Columbus, farther north in the old Columbia Marsh area. Columbus provided salt and water for the mills of the silver mines, but it gained most of its interest from the Chinese laborers who were brought in to work the borax. The wanderer told how the wagons went up the steep grade into Candelaria and returned to Columbus by an even rougher and steeper short cut. There were no brakes on the primitive wagons and they bounced all the way down the grade. The teams, crowded by the wagons, would bolt and the Chinese drivers would panic. They would enter town at great speed, hanging on for dear life and shouting and screaming loudly in Chinese. They always entered Columbus in this fashion and were a daily feature. Winters listened attentively. He was intensely interested and asked many questions, including how the tests were made that would prove the presence of borax deposits. The visitor enumerated the various ingredients which, when mixed with borax and fired with alcohol would produce a green flame.

WINTERS determined to look for borax. Soon after his guest left, he took off on the long trip to San Bernardino to obtain the chemicals that were needed to make the borax tests. When he returned, he and Rosie traveled on foot over the Funeral Range and made the long, rough journey farther into Death Valley. Here, Aaron was certain of the existence of borax. They arrived at Furnace Creek late in the evening and made camp. They were anxious to mix the chemicals to make the test so they scooped out a borax sample as soon as they could after their arrival.

There, in the stillness of the desert darkness with only the light of a pale moon Winters fired the sample. They waited anxiously trembling with anticipation and excitement. Then like eerie magic a green flame burst forth, casting its weird light upon the scene. Winters shouted "The flame burns green, Rosie, the flame burns green."

Winters' test proved that he had found Borax. A short time later, his discovery was sold to William T. Coleman for the sum of $20,000. Coleman started the Harmony Borax Works on the floor of Death Valley and later sold out to Borax Smith of Twenty Mule Team fame who continued working the borax through the '70s.

Such is the story of Aaron Winters' Green Flame.

(This is a re-write, however, some of the information for the article was obtained from Pioneer Nevada, copyright by Harold's Club, Reno, Nev., 1951.)

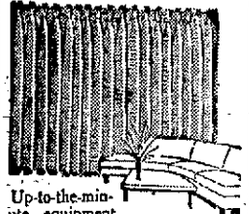

Because a desert prospector's test flame turned green, twenty-mule teams like this made history in borax deposits of famed area of Death Valley.

To Keep Cuttings

Small cuttings may be kept and transported safely in sandwich-size plastic bags. Place cuttings in bag, spray with water or insert a piece of moist cotton. Fold-lock the top to hold the moisture in. Take cuttings along the next time you go for a visit and give them to your hostess for her garden.

Just be sure to kill any bugs before wrapping, says the "Glad" home service bureau.

OUR COVER

Mountaineering, with all the comforts of home—and more. That's the resort known as Lake Arrowhead—known far and wide for its beauty at every season of the year. This mile-high gem in the forested mountains has something to offer every mood—water sports, golf, hiking, riding, fine accommodations. The charm of the region has long been known to a wide circle, many of whom have gone there to establish year-around residence. Homes are numerous along the roads, but hardly in evidence because the forest atmosphere has been carefully preserved. There's still the sense of the primeval, a touch that is being preserved in a new development of the area under careful management. For more about Lake Arrowhead turn to Page 7.

NEXT WEEK

If you've ever wondered why Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown never gives any fireside chats, there's a good reason. The California Governor's Mansion has six Italian marble fireplaces downstairs but they've been boarded up for 30 years. Next week, Southland gives you an intimate look at the 88-year-old mansion in a story called "Gingerbread Firetrap."

What Your Name Means

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812, for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Our family is always debating on the origin of BLANKENSHIP. — C. B., Long Beach.

C. B.: BLANKENSHIP is one of many unusual variations of the English town-name Blenkinsop, located in Northumberland. This locality was listed as "Blenkens-hop" in A. D. 1240, a phrase deciphered as "the shining one's valley." "Shining one" referred to the glittering armor of a knight who owned the valley. The noble ancestor of this lineage was Sir Thomas Blenkinsopp, a high sheriff in 1139. His descendants armorial shield is red, emblazoned with a gold stripe between three gold wheat sheaves.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain COZAD. — H. L., M.L., Long Beach.

H. L., M. L.: COZAD, also spelled Cozat, is a central European surname. One origin, the Wendish-German "Kosa" indicated "user of a sickle," referring to a farming forefather. Another background, the Czech term "Koz," denoted "clever and sly one." A third source the Slavic word "Koz" defined as "blackbird," was taken from an ancestral shop-sign trademark. No shield is recorded for this family.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give data on GERDES, GERDS.—H. G., Long Beach; M. G., Paramount.

H. G. M. G.: GERDES and the short form GERDS began in old Germany as a nickname from Ger-Hard, a warrior title for "strong with a spear." No shield is allocated to these families.

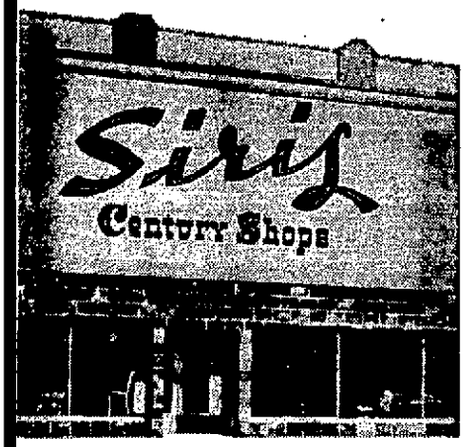

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze SVISLOVSKY, SVESLOSKY. — P.S., B.N., Lakewood.

P.S., B.N.: SVISLOVSKY and the shorter spelling SVESLOSKY are Polish surnames. The ancient Slavic-Polish source phrase was "Svet - Slav - Sky" indicating "son of the vigorous, glorious one."

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have genealogy on JOACHIM, JOACHIMS. — L.J., Fullerton; C.J., Long Beach.

L.J., C.J.: JOACHIM and JOACHIMS, German in origin, refer to an ancestor baptized Joachim in honor of the famous Biblical king by that name. Joachim, orig-

Hobby That Shrank as It Grew

"Made in Long Beach" describes doll duds headed to Venezuela.

By ANNA LEMLEY

A LITTLE girl in San Tome, Venezuela, and her playmates have the best-dressed dolls in their city—and all because Deon Welde's grandmother, Ruby Mayes of 250 E. 5th St., Seal Beach, likes to knit.

When Deon's mother, Shirley, was a child Mrs. Mayes' hobby was knitting sweaters for her. Later both her enjoyment and the size of the things she made increased. Shirley's campus attire at UCLA included many beautiful hand-knit cardigans with matching sox and several knit suits. Interest in her favorite pastime is as great as ever, but the things Mrs. Mayes' busy fingers and creative imagination now produce are miniature in size — outfits for her granddaughter's dolls!

Many letters of consultation are exchanged between Deon and Mrs. Mayes. The nine-year-old girl is the fashion adviser.

ALL THROUGH the fall and winter a box of wee garments and many brightly colored balls of yarn are on the table by Ruby Mayes' favorite chair. The knitting needles flash during moments of relaxation. When Mr. and Mrs. Weide, Deon, Mark and Craig (all three children natives of Long Beach) arrive for their yearly visit the Venezuela-bound high fashions for the doll set are ready.

The clothing includes outfits for both boy and girl dolls. There are gay shifts, two-piece suits, sweaters, dresses, sport costumes and tiny hats and bags in many colors. They are made for the popular 8-inch size doll.

LAKE ARROWHEAD

In the Moods of All Seasons

Lake Arrowhead's sparkling beauty offers a mood to suit every visitor to this mountain retreat. Development in modern style but keyed to nature is under way. Cliff Helms of developing firm looks out on lake (top).

By LARRY MANZO

LAKE ARROWHEAD, mile-high resort in the San Bernardino Mountains, is a place of many moods.

It's relaxation in rustic surroundings. It's basking on a sunny beach. It's swimming in a clear blue mountain lake.

It's a leisurely stroll or a rugged hike through virgin stands of cedar, pine and oak.

It's golf on a new 18-hole championship course.

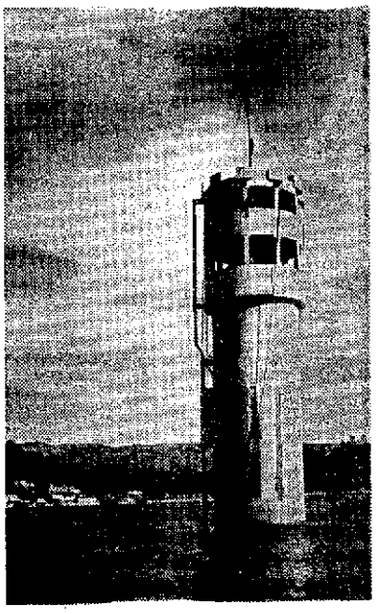

It's boating, water skiing, horseback riding and nighttime fun.

It's Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter—and all the moods the four seasons create. People flock to it to sample each mood.

Nature provided the setting for Lake Arrowhead: majestic mountains with sylvan stands of blue-green trees and a giant outcropping of rock in the shape of an Indian arrowhead.

Man added to it by building a dam in 1907 at the north end of a grassy meadow.

Lake's 185-foot tower is a landmark, and covers a 5-foot pipe to carry runoff in case of a flood.

With impounded watershed runoff, the meadow became Lake Arrowhead, a clear blue mountain lake rated as the greatest single attraction for water buffs in this area outside the Pacific Ocean itself.

Lake Arrowhead village on the south shore, a pioneer Alpine community enhanced by Old World Normandy architecture, is picturesquely settled among tall stands of trees, its shops, hotels, stores and restaurants blending with the surroundings. There's a new post office and all the facilities one needs to "rough it" modern style.

In the recently refurbished Lake Arrowhead Lodge, movie stars, socialites, residents, tourists and just plain folks visit, play cards, compare golf scores and fishing catches.

Lake Arrowhead Yacht Club, whose members include many who also are members of exclusive country clubs, is the social center of Lake Arrowhead in the summertime, with a full program of races, dances and competitions.

FOR THE GOLFER, the Lake Arrowhead Country Club, opened last summer, boasts an 18-hole championship course blended into the pine trees and an $850,000 clubhouse of dramatic double-A frame design.

The $1 million course covers 137 acres including a 40-acre lake which provides natural water hazards for three holes in addition to sailboating and swimming.

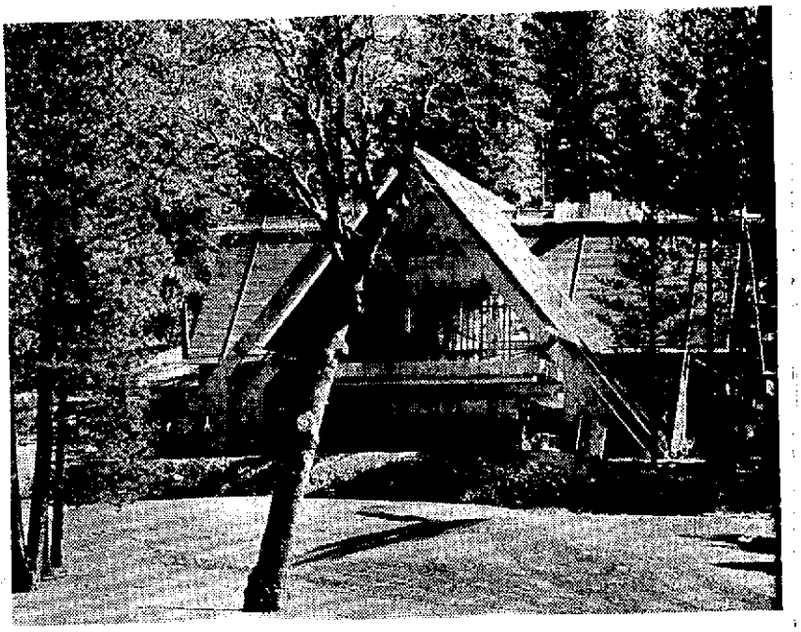

The clubhouse has a pro shop, cocktail lounges, gourmet dining room, coffee shop, men's and women's locker rooms with sauna baths, tennis courts and swimming pool.

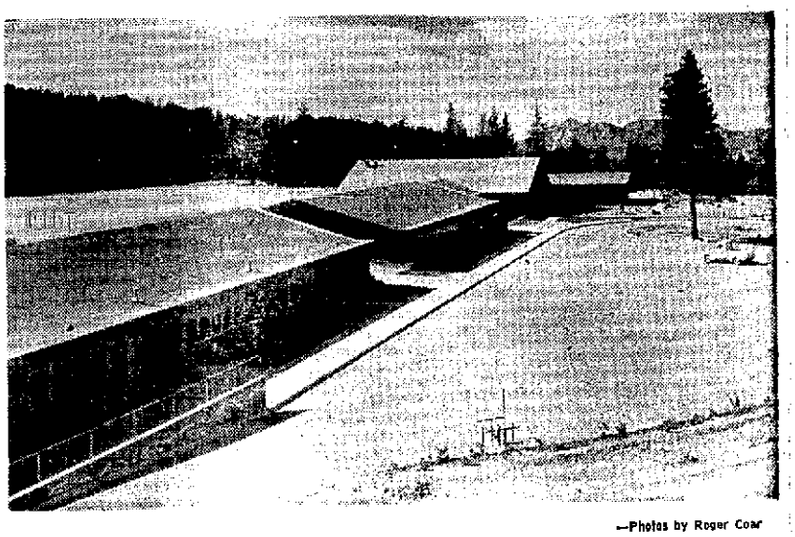

Persons who have trekked to Lake Arrowhead and decided to buy or build homes there, either for weekend or year-around living, rejoice that the Lake Arrowhead Development Co. fosters the area's heritage.

They find out two things: the area is virtually surrounded by natural forest which means that it will remain in its natural state, and the firm provides safeguards to keep the area a prestige locality.

THE LAKE is expected always to have a bountiful supply of water for all sports, in addition to a plentiful supply of rainbow trout and kokanee salmon. The lake is

The Flame Burned Green

By Dorothy W. Dial

AARON Winters was a prospector who had traveled over mining country throughout half of the United States. He was a natural born wanderer with an innate love for the great open spaces and detest for the thought of being fenced in.

When Winters and Rosie, his frail, Spanish-American wife ventured into ghostly Death Valley in the late Seventies they found the going rough beyond the endurance of most people. A dugout in a hillside near a small spring was the place they called home. They eked out a meager living somehow in the unyielding wasteland. Often, their fare consisted of the primitive food of the Indians: mesquite beans and chuckwalla meat.

Rosie, like most of the "fair sex" longed for more conveniences and a less rugged life. She yearned to leave the desert and return to the more civilized world but Aaron, stubborn by nature, remained firm. Being the outdoor type, he could not bear the thought of settling down in the city and was determined to continue prospecting. He felt that somewhere in this barren land untold riches were waiting.

ONE EVENING in 1880, a lone wayfarer wandered upon the Winters' Ash Meadows abode. He was welcomed and invited to share the evening meal as is the custom of the desert. After dinner the visitor told Aaron and Rosie about the borax discoveries near Columbus, farther north in the old Columbia Marsh area. Columbus provided salt and water for the mills of the silver mines, but it gained most of its interest from the Chinese laborers who were brought in to work the borax. The wanderer told how the wagons went up the steep grade into Candelaria and returned to Columbus by an even rougher and steeper short cut. There were no brakes on the primitive wagons and they bounced all the way down the grade. The teams, crowded by the wagons, would bolt and the Chinese drivers would panic. They would enter town at great speed, hanging on for dear life and shouting and screaming loudly in Chinese. They always entered Columbus in this fashion and were a daily feature. Winters listened attentively. He was intensely interested and asked many questions, including how the tests were made that would prove the presence of borax deposits. The visitor enumerated the various ingredients which, when mixed with borax and fired with alcohol would produce a green flame.

WINTERS determined to look for borax, Soon after his guest left, he took off on the long trip to San Bernardino to obtain the chemicals that were needed to make the borax tests. When he returned, he and Rosie traveled on foot over the Funeral Range and made the long, rough journey farther into Death Valley. Here, Aaron was certain of the existence of borax. They arrived at Furnace Creek late in the evening and made camp. They were anxious to mix the chemicals to make the test so they scooped out a borax sample as soon as they could after their arrival.

There, in the stillness of the desert darkness with only the light of a pale moon Winters fired the sample. They waited anxiously trembling with anticipation and excitement. Then like eerie magic a green flame burst forth, casting its weird light upon the scene. Winters shouted "The flame burns green, Rosie, the flame burns green."

Winters' test proved that he had found Borax. A short time later, his discovery was sold to William T. Coleman for the sum of $20,000. Coleman started the Harmony Borax Works on the floor of Death Valley and later sold out to Borax Smith of Twenty Mule Team fame who continued working the borax through the '70s.

Such is the story of Aaron Winters' Green Flame.

(This is a re-write, however, some of the information for the article was obtained from Pioneer Nevada, copyright by Harold's Club, Reno, Nev., 1951.)

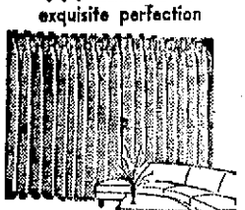

Because a desert prospector's test flame turned green, twenty-mule teams like this made history in borax deposits of famed area of Death Valley.

To Keep Cuttings

Small cuttings may be kept and transported safely in sandwich-size plastic bags. Place cuttings in bag, spray with water or insert a piece of moist cotton. Fold-lock the top to hold the moisture in. Take cuttings along the next time you go for a visit and give them to your hostess for her garden.

Just be sure to kill any bugs before wrapping, says the "Glad" home service bureau.

Map shows San Andreas Fault and smaller faults in the state.

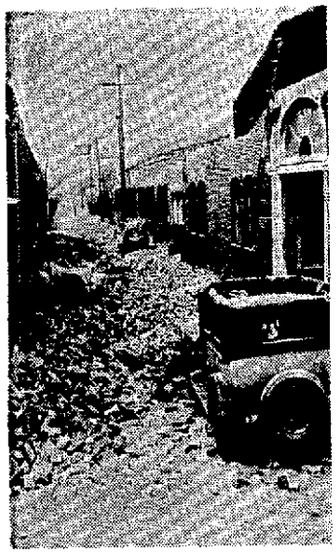

For 65 million years tremors have moved California slowly, but irrevocably, northward. When will this trend be stopped?

Will Science Learn to Foretell Quakes?

Tehachapi quake violence shook stylus off seismograph (above).

By LOU JOBST

Smashed cars in a Long Beach alley after 1933 earthquake.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA has moved more than 300 miles in an awesome, terrifying and unbelievably violent stagger toward the north.

This incredible northbound movement started during the Cretaceous Period about 65 million years ago and continues today.

It has made this otherwise pleasant and quiescent place an apprehensive land where the earth trembles and people quake nearly every day.

The best estimates are that Southern California has about 200 earthquakes each year and that 95% of the 5,000 or so temblors recorded in the U. S. annually occur in the Golden State or adjoining Nevada.

MOST OF THIS stomach-turning instability centers around the San Andreas Fault, an unhealed gash in the earth surface that is 50 miles deep in places and more than 650 miles long.

The longest, continuous subsurface rent in the world, the San Andreas Fault emerges from under the Pacific Ocean at Pt. Arenas north of San Francisco and runs the length of the state, disappearing again under the Mexican waters of the Gulf of California.

While the average movement along the fault line is a plodding, barely discernable two inches a year, there have been some stupendous movements.

These have included, in recent times, a 15-foot movement in the Imperial Valley in 1940, the 20-foot lateral slip at San Francisco in 1906, in which 700 persons died, the $60 million Tehachapi quake of 1952 and the relatively punchless, but tragic temblor at Long Beach in 1933.

THE 19TH CENTURY produced some memorable California shakes, including the granddady of them all in 1857, a quake estimated as Intensity 11 (Long Beach was 6.3 on the Richter scale) that ripped the earth open from San Luis Obispo to San Bernardino.

So violent was the earthquake that contemporaries reported that water was thrown out of the bed of the Los Angeles River and grape bunches and vines were seen to swing up and strike the tops of arbors.

Other accounts tell of a great quake that wrecked or destroyed five missions and produced a 50-foot tidal wave at Gaviota in 1812.

Even bigger tremors probably occurred before the arrival of the white man and geologists recently have uncovered evidence of cumulative prehistoric slips that produced more than 14 miles of movement in the past one million years alone.

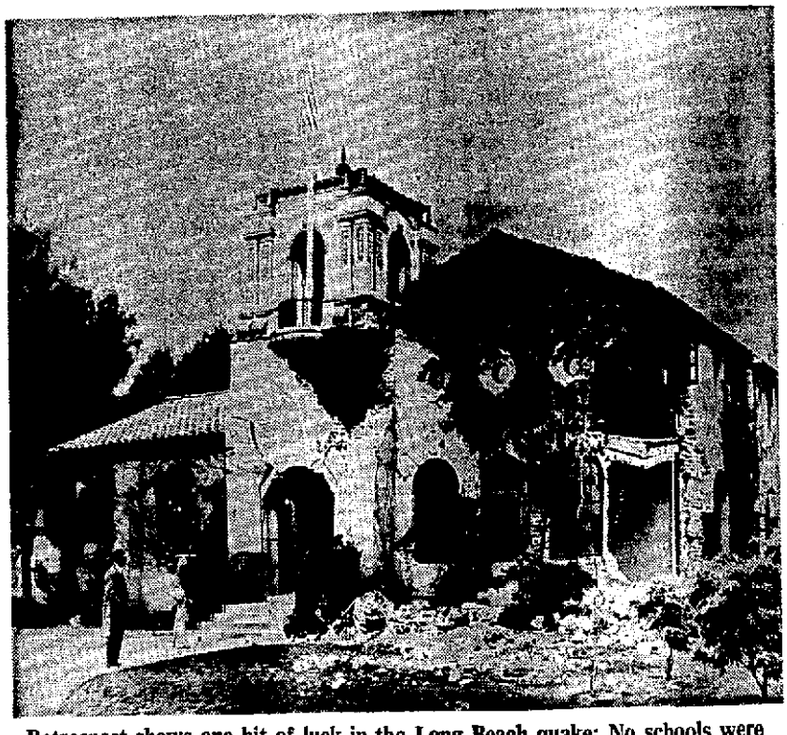

MOST EXPERTS agree the region is ripe for a "really big" quake, but no one is able or willing to predict when.

The U. S. Geological Survey this year reported that a temblor as big as the one that leveled San Francisco could be triggered "at any time."

Famed Caltech seismologist Dr. Charles F. Richter also believes a big earthquake is overdue and has even noted the areas in the state he considers the safest and most dangerous places.

Highest risk locations are the valleys and sandy areas near the coasts, including lowland parts of the Los Angeles Basin, San Francisco Bay Area and the Imperial Valley.

Safest spots are in the mountains, Richter asserted.

Retrospect shows one bit of luck in the Long Beach quake: No schools were in session and children escaped. This shows one badly damaged school house.

THE DANGERS to human life have been greatly diminished by the advent of tougher controls on building and the use of earthquake-resistant construction materials and methods.

The Long Beach quake, which leveled several schools, was greatly responsible for bringing about these reforms in building codes and techniques.

Efforts are being made to find a way to predict earthquakes.

Dr. Frank D. Stacey of Cambridge, England, who is studying the possibility that quakes give an advance warning through detectable changes in magnetization of masses of rock along faults, believes man will be able to forecast earthquakes "reliably" within 10 years.

AN AMERICAN, Dr. Sheldon Breiner of Palo Alto, is also pursuing this line of research and reported recently he measured changes in rock magnetism just before a minor earthquake.

California Institute of Technology in Pasadena is undertaking a major two-year study aimed at finding a way to predict earth seismic actions. The plan is to install dozens of instruments along the San Andreas Fault and measure precisely its movement to determine if small, undetected quakes are occurring regularly and relieving the tension and strain.

The researchers plan to drill 1,500-foot-deep holes to record heat and changes in rock elasticity which could give important clues to strain loads which are believed to trigger a quake.

What Your Name Means

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812, for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Our family is always debating on the origin of BLANKENSHIP. — C. B., Long Beach.

C. B.: BLANKENSHIP is one of many unusual variations of the English town-name Blenkinsop, located in Northumberland. This locality was listed as "Blenkens-hop" in A. D. 1240, a phrase deciphered as "the shining one's valley." "Shining one" referred to the glittering armor of a knight who owned the valley. The noble ancestor of this lineage was Sir Thomas Blenkinsopp, a high sheriff in 1139. His descendants armorial shield is red, emblazoned with a gold stripe between three gold wheat sheaves.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain COZAD. — H. L., M.L., Long Beach.

H. L., M. L.: COZAD, also spelled Cozat, is a central European surname. One origin, the Wendish-German "Kosa" indicated "user of a sickle," referring to a farming forefather. Another background, the Czech term "Kuz," denoted "clever and sly one." A third source the Slavic word "Koz" defined as "blackbird," was taken from an ancestral shop-sign trademark. No shield is recorded for this family.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give data on GERDES, GERDS.—H. G., Long Beach; M. G., Paramount.

H. G. M. G.: GERDES and the short form GERDS began in old Germany as a nickname from Ger-Hard, a warrior title for "strong with a spear." No shield is allocated to these families.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze SVISLOVSKY, SVESLOSKY. — P.S., B.N., Lakewood.

P.S., B.N.: SVISLOVSKY and the shorter spelling SVESLOSKY are Polish surnames. The ancient Slavic-Polish source phrase was "Svet - Slav - Sky" indicating "son of the vigorous, glorious one."

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have genealogy on JOACHIM, JOACHIMS. — L.J., Fullerton; C.J., Long Beach.

L.J., C.J.: JOACHIM and JOACHIMS, German in origin, refer to an ancestor baptized Joachim in honor of the famous Biblical king by that name. Joachim, orig-

Burgeoning sport of sidewalk surfing leads to Anaheim

Those Kids on Rollers Go Big Time

By BOB HAZELLEAF

WHEN A LAD tries to tap his un-hep father for the price of a skateboard, there's bound to be a conflict in semantics. Pop is thinking of half a roller skate near each end of a length of 2x4, and who needs money for that?

But the son has different ideas. He knows that sidewalk surfing is the "in" sport, and he may be aiming to join one of the thriving groups devoted to it. He may, in fact, be aiming toward La Palma Stadium in Anaheim next Saturday and Sunday where there'll be a national skateboard championship meet.

Granted, the primitive skateboard was invented generations ago when some youth found himself with only one roller skate. Using a board, hammer and nails, he soon fashioned a scooter-like vehicle, adding a new sound to neighborhood sidewalks.

TODAY'S MODEL is highly refined. American manufacturers have taken over the burgeoning sport and are expanding their facilities. Edward Morgan, sales director for Vita-Pakt Citrus Products Co., of Covina, expects nationwide sales to exceed $100 million in 1965. Though the connection between citrus and skateboards may seem nebulous, Morgan says new factories will open in Baltimore and Chicago for a healthy share of that $100 million.

A 10-year-old can mow a couple of lawns to collect the $1.99 he'll need for a simple board with inexpensive steel wheels. When he yearns for something better, prices will start near $7 for a 25-incher with fiber wheels. From then on, he can name his price up to $29.95 for a transparent plastic board with a luminous stripe down the center for night riding. The ultimate would have to be an engine-powered model like that produced by Tiger Industries of Laguna Beach. The .85-horsepower, fluid-drive board sells for $49.95.

Southern California surfers get much of the credit for bringing skateboarding to international prominence.

Don Thomas, on the staff of The Skateboard Quarterly, Dana Point, says, "The co-ordination and technique needed for surfing or skiing come into play on a skateboard, too. When weather and ocean aren't right, surfers and skiers take to wheels.

Thomas says, "We had plans for a one-day event on May 22, but we've had so many entries we'll have to take two days."

THE LA PALMA STADIUM affair will break down into classes for both age and ability, but divisions and judging aren't as difficult to manage as they might seem. In slalom competition, pylons are placed strategically in a figure-eight, down-hill or random pattern. If a contestant touches a pylon, two seconds will be added to his time. Two mishaps will disqualify him. A second will be added for each time a foot touches the ground for a power stroke.

The idea, then, is to keep elapsed time low, using a minimum of push-offs to do the job quickly.

Fourteen-year-old JoJo Perrin, of Malibu, is a champion surfer and skateboarder with enough experience to add weight to his words. He is sure California is the capital of skateboarding, but that the sport will grow rapidly in the Midwest. "They don't have waves," he says, "and will probably spend more time skateboarding."

WHILE THE MIDWEST takes on the sport, wheeled boards have been seen on the concrete of Place du Trocadero in the shadow of Paris's Eiffel Tower, on the quays of the Riviera, even on the streets of London.

There is little, if any, skateboard manufacture in foreign lands, but American producers are happily working to supply the lack.

Older youths and adults adopting the sport have led to decks made of laminated hardwood or fiberglass, with a controlled flexibility for maneuverability.

Wheels, too, came in for some engineering. The better boards use rink-type roller skate wheels, rubber mounted with steel hangers, and adjustable to the surfer's needs.

Chicago Skate Co., long-time producer of rink and street skates, counts on supplying 92 skateboard manufacturers with rolling stock during the year.

While most Long Beach-Orange County residents have become inured to the sound of skate wheels on sidewalks, there is much more to the sport than straight-line progress.

AN ADEPT RIDER can weave from side to side, do kick-turns, go from standing to a supine position while in motion, even leap from his board, clear a hurdle and remount on the fly.

The tricks have provided impetus for organizing clubs into competing groups. In Santa Monica recently, a monthly meet was started, calling for downhill and level slalom events, along with trick riding.

Thanks to alert manufacturers, publications and fans, the Anaheim event will become the first national competition attempted in the United States, perhaps the world.

Most American cities seem tolerant toward sidewalk surfers, but sprawling Los Angeles has been the target of newspaper articles decrying an archaic attitude. The city's ordinances allow no skateboarding on a sidewalk, period. Adding to the skateboarder's ire, no plans seem to be forthcoming from either city or county recreation departments regarding supervised facilities.

Long Beach is more progressive. So long as the hobbyist confines his activities to hours between 6 a. m. and 10 p. m. and exercises proper consideration toward other sidewalk users, he'll have no problem with the law.

THE SKATEBOARD Quarterly editorializes on another element of the sport. Too often, a youngster develops an appetite for speed before he learns control. The result may well be a fast downhill trip with bruises at the end. While skilled teen-agers and adults negotiate some of the steeper runs with grace, it's no sport for those lacking coordination and practice.

The American Medical Association adds its voice in a word of caution, pointing out that skateboarding tumbles can cause fractures and severe head injuries.

The difficulty, according to those who know, is in underestimating speed. Veterans simply jump off before trouble starts. Those of lesser ability find themselves hoping to stay with their boards as speed builds then getting thrown by a stray pebble or bump.

On a happier theme, a dream run exists for Southern California skateboarders; a dream akin to the five-mile slope for the skier, the long-faced wave for the surfer. It's an 11-story auto park in the San Diego area, built with spiral ramps of smooth concrete. An elevator takes the rider back up when he finishes his run. As one fan put it, ". . . They really shouldn't let cars in there—it's too good for them. The should keep that place only for skateboarding."

Chances are, they won't.

LAKE ARROWHEAD

In the Moods of All Seasons

Lake Arrowhead's sparkling beauty offers a mood to suit every visitor to this mountain retreat. Development in modern style but keyed to nature is under way. Cliff Helms of developing firm looks out on lake (top).

By LARRY MANZO

LAKE ARROWHEAD, mile-high resort in the San Bernardino Mountains, is a place of many moods.

It's relaxation in rustic surroundings. It's basking on a sunny beach. It's swimming in a clear blue mountain lake.

It's a leisurely stroll or a rugged hike through virgin stands of cedar, pine and oak.

It's golf on a new 18-hole championship course.

It's boating, water skiing, horseback riding and nighttime fun.

It's Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter—and all the moods the four seasons create. People flock to it to sample each mood.

Nature provided the setting for Lake Arrowhead: majestic mountains with sylvan stands of blue-green trees and a giant outcropping of rock in the shape of an Indian arrowhead.

Man added to it by building a dam in 1907 at the north end of a grassy meadow.

Lake's 185-foot tower is a landmark, and covers a 5-foot pipe to carry runoff in case of a flood.

With impounded watershed runoff, the meadow became Lake Arrowhead, a clear blue mountain lake rated as the greatest single attraction for water buffs in this area outside the Pacific Ocean itself.

Lake Arrowhead village on the south shore, a pioneer Alpine community enhanced by Old World Normandy architecture, is picturesquely settled among tall stands of trees, its shops, hotels, stores and restaurants blending with the surroundings. There's a new post office and all the facilities one needs to "rough it" modern style.

In the recently refurbished Lake Arrowhead Lodge, movie stars, socialites, residents, tourists and just plain folks visit, play cards, compare golf scores and fishing catches.

Lake Arrowhead Yacht Club, whose members include many who also are members of exclusive country clubs, is the social center of Lake Arrowhead in the summertime, with a full program of races, dances and competitions.

FOR THE GOLFER, the Lake Arrowhead Country Club, opened last summer, boasts an 18-hole championship course blended into the pine trees and an $850,000 clubhouse of dramatic double-A frame design.

The $1 million course covers 137 acres including a 40-acre lake which provides natural water hazards for three holes in addition to sailboating and swimming.

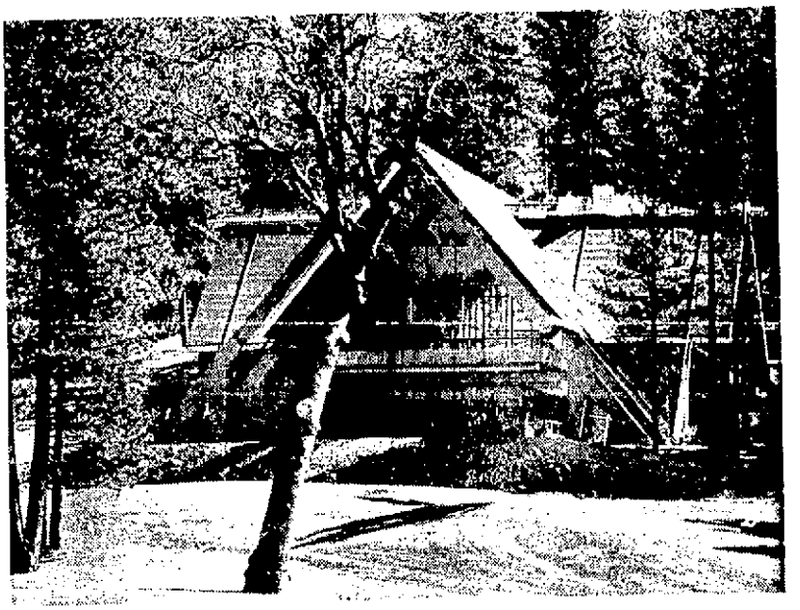

The clubhouse has a pro shop, cocktail lounges, gourmet dining room, coffee shop, men's and women's locker rooms with sauna baths, tennis courts and swimming pool.

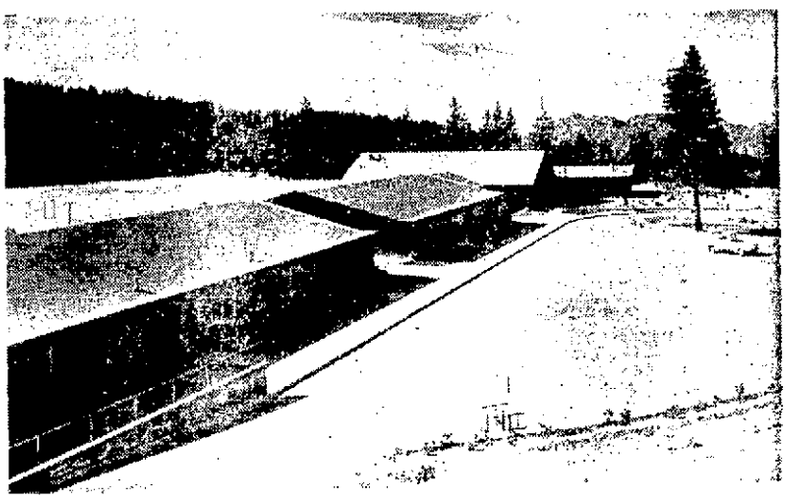

Persons who have trekked to Lake Arrowhead and decided to buy or build homes there, either for weekend or year-around living, rejoice that the Lake Arrowhead Development Co. fosters the area's heritage.

They find out two things: the area is virtually surrounded by natural forest which means that it will remain in its natural state, and the firm provides safeguards to keep the area a prestige locality.

THE LAKE is expected always to have a bountiful supply of water for all sports, in addition to a plentiful supply of rainbow trout and kokanee salmon. The lake is

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

CITY OF LONG BEACH

Cal-Tex Improvements, Inc. is a licensed City of Long Beach Building Contractor. Most of the work now being done by Cal-Tex is in the greater Long Beach Area.

Cal-Tex has been selected as the exclusive franchised contractor of FLEXON in Southern Calif. You can obtain free information or have a free home demonstration without obligation. The low cost will surprise you and terms can be arranged to suit your pocket book.

ONCE THE BUILDING BLOCKS OF THE DONS:

Adobe Does a Comeback

By Bob Loeffelbein

This art gallery at Escondido is a good example of how new adobe blocks are employed.

DID you ever get paid for making mud pies?

There's a concern in Escondido doing it, though it's not quite so simple as that.

From the time of the Babylonians, more than 5,000 years ago, to the days of the early California missions, in many parts of the world the only easily accessible building material was soil in one form or another. The most common weakness in this form of construction was its susceptibility to moisture.

The early California missions, constructed of adobe, were protected against this moisture with plaster. The old haciendas of Mexico and the southwest United States had large porches to divert moisture, as well as the plaster for added protection.

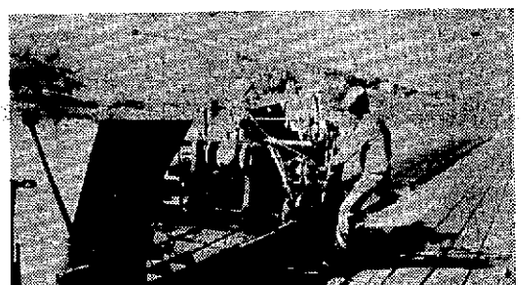

Then 17 years ago Standard Oil of California perfected an oil additive of petroleum asphalt to waterproof adobe soil.

THUS, TODAY, modern adobe is indistinguishable from the rough-hewn appearances of the original. Yet it has become the driest building material known, except for metal and glass. Nothing can equal it for insulating qualities. Adobe resists fire, heat, cold, vibration and sound, without additional insulation. Termites and dry rot are unknown, and maintenance is nearly nil.

Unless desired for decorative purposes, plaster is no longer necessary as adobe covering either inside or out. To bond the blocks together the builder can use cement mortar, plastic cement, hydrated lime and plaster sand, or a mixture of soil and binder from which the blocks themselves are made.

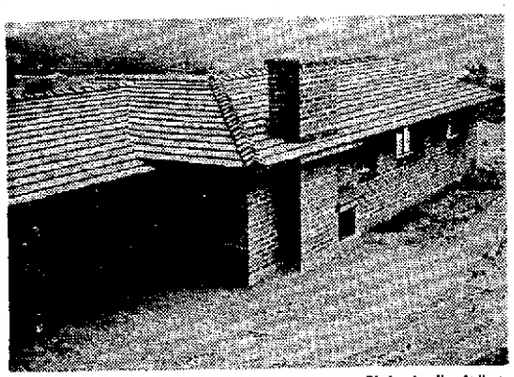

Further research and experimentation have resulted in a chlorinated rubber base paint that is nearly a permanent covering. Use of wrought iron and stained glass and glazing of kitchen and bathroom walls have recently added to the old Spanish look of permanence and peacefulness in housing developments, country clubs, office buildings and other constructions. Some places are even using slab-placed flooring, with colorful carpeting, wood parquet or mission tiles overlaid.

IN SPITE OF all these advantages of adobe, there are only two fully qualified companies producing these blocks in the entire state. These are located at Fresno (Hans Sumpf Co.) and the Adobe Block Company in Escondido.

"Mother hen" machine lays 20 adobe blocks at a setting. Blocks then "cure" in the sunshine.

Such construction firms as Weir Brothers in Escondido are currently pushing the popularity of adobe. They have built Adobe Villas, a plush apartment complex with pool and putting green adjoining their own pleasant Spanish style offices, and have a second already on the drawing boards. Other adobe building is going on in Fresno, Calabasas, Ontario and Murietta. The blocks are being used for a golf clubhouse, horse barns, a mortuary, a major office complex, a Masonic Hall, a group of health spa buildings, as well as many smaller uses such as retaining walls, sidewalks and barbecues.

Photos by the Author

White mortar sets off the blocks in building above. New process gives blocks permanency.

Probably the main reason adobe isn't used more in buildings is the Uniform Building Code in use by many cities and counties throughout the Western states. The Los Angeles County Building Code permits adobe construction for both residential and commercial buildings, but Section 2405 states, for example, that masonry of unburned clay units (adobe) shall not be used in any buiding more than one story in height. John F. Lewis, Principal Structural Engineer in the County of Los Angeles Building and Safety Division for the County Engineer, states that adobe use is "apparently limited currently for other economical or other practical reasons."

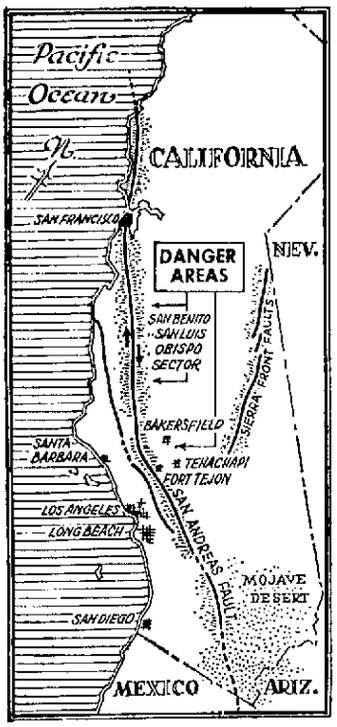

THE FACT THAT adobe dwelings, constructed even before the binding agent was discovered, have successfully withstood earthquakes and lesser elements for more than a century in Southern California holds no sway over building inspectors. For example, recent quakes at Tehachapi raised havoc with all types of building materials except adobe. The Public Works buildings, so constructed, remained in good shape.

To look at an adobe "plant" is to see an ankle-deep dust plot of some 50 acres, stacked with thousands of adobe blocks.

A skip loader scoops up the dust (for the block-making plant is set up right on top of a plat of adobe land) and piles it onto a conveyor belt leading to the mixing pot. A second worker mixes this dirt with the oil binder into an adobe mud pie mix. A jitney-type dump truck shuttles back and forth between the funnel loader on this mixing pot and the brick "laying" machine. The "mother hen" laying machine rolls out heavy paper sheeting under itself, trips a specified amount of the adobe mix into a kind of oversized ice-cube tray. After smooting, the dividers in the tray are lifted, cutting the mass into a "set" of bricks, and the machine moves on to lay another set. No pressure is used to form the bricks.

There are four sizes of blocks made, from the smallest 4x4x16 up to the 4x12x16 "economy size." The machine lays 4,500 blocks in an average day. The blocks then take a sun bath for two to six weeks, depending on size. This is for "curing." Costs run, again according to size, $110 to $195 per thousand blocks.

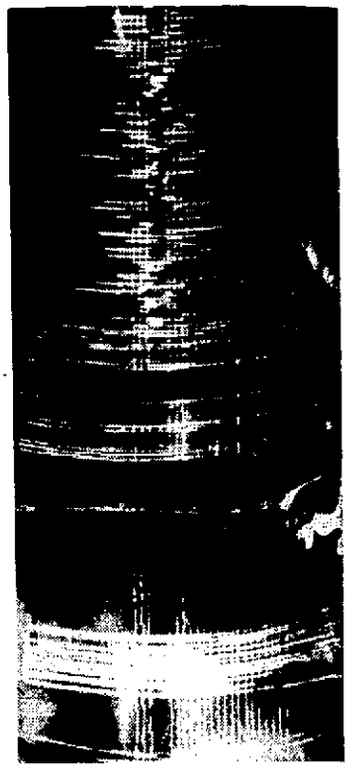

Which seems quite high for mud pies, but not for earthquake-proof building blocks!

Map shows San Andreas Fault and smaller faults in the state.

For 65 million years tremors have moved California slowly, but irrevocably, northward. When will this trend be stopped?

Will Science Learn to Foretell Quakes?

Tehachapi quake violence shook stylus off seismograph (above).

By LOU JOBST

Smashed cars in a Long Beach alley after 1933 earthquake.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA has moved more than 300 miles in an awesome, terrifying and unbelievably violent stagger toward the north.

This incredible northbound movement started during the Cretaceous Period about 65 million years ago and continues today.

It has made this otherwise pleasant and quiescent place an apprehensive land where the earth trembles and people quake nearly every day.

The best estimates are that Southern California has about 200 earthquakes each year and that 95% of the 5,000 or so temblors recorded in the U. S. annually occur in the Golden State or adjoining Nevada.

MOST OF THIS stomach-turning instability centers around the San Andreas Fault, an unhealed gash in the earth surface that is 50 miles deep in places and more than 650 miles long.

The longest, continuous subsurface rent in the world, the San Andreas Fault emerges from under the Pacific Ocean at Pt. Arenas north of San Francisco and runs the length of the state, disappearing again under the Mexican waters of the Gulf of California.

While the average movement along the fault line is a plodding, barely discernable two inches a year, there have been some stupendous movements.

These have included, in recent times, a 15-foot movement in the Imperial Valley in 1940, the 20-foot lateral slip at San Francisco in 1906, in which 700 persons died, the $60 million Tehachapi quake of 1952 and the relatively punchless, but tragic temblor at Long Beach in 1933.

THE 19TH CENTURY produced some memorable California shakes, including the granddady of them all in 1857, a quake estimated as Intensity 11 (Long Beach was 6.3 on the Richter scale) that ripped the earth open from San Luis Obispo to San Bernardino.

So violent was the earthquake that contemporaries reported that water was thrown out of the bed of the Los Angeles River and grape bunches and vines were seen to swing up and strike the tops of arbors.

Other accounts tell of a great quake that wrecked or destroyed five missions and produced a 50-foot tidal wave at Gaviota in 1812.

Even bigger tremors probably occurred before the arrival of the white man and geologists recently have uncovered evidence of cumulative prehistoric slips that produced more than 14 miles of movement in the past one million years alone.

MOST EXPERTS agree the region is ripe for a "really big" quake, but no one is able or willing to predict when.

The U. S. Geological Survey this year reported that a temblor as big as the one that leveled San Francisco could be triggered "at any time."

Famed Caltech seismologist Dr. Charles F. Richter also believes a big earthquake is overdue and has even noted the areas in the state he considers the safest and most dangerous places.

Highest risk locations are the valleys and sandy areas near the coasts, including lowland parts of the Los Angeles Basin, San Francisco Bay Area and the Imperial Valley.

Safest spots are in the mountains, Richter asserted.

Retrospect shows one bit of luck in the Long Beach quake: No schools were in session and children escaped. This shows one badly damaged school house.

THE DANGERS to human life have been greatly diminished by the advent of tougher controls on building and the use of earthquake-resistant construction materials and methods.

The Long Beach quake, which leveled several schools, was greatly responsible for bringing about these reforms in building codes and techniques.

Efforts are being made to find a way to predict earthquakes.

Dr. Frank D. Stacey of Cambridge, England, who is studying the possibility that quakes give an advance warning through detectable changes in magnetization of masses of rock along faults, believes man will be able to forecast earthquakes "reliably" within 10 years.

AN AMERICAN, Dr. Sheldon Breiner of Palo Alto, is also pursuing this line of research and reported recently he measured changes in rock magnetism just before a minor earthquake.

California Institute of Technology in Pasadena is undertaking a major two-year study aimed at finding a way to predict earth seismic actions. The plan is to install dozens of instruments along the San Andreas Fault and measure precisely its movement to determine if small, undetected quakes are occurring regularly and relieving the tension and strain.

The researchers plan to drill 1,500-foot-deep holes to record heat and changes in rock elasticity which could give important clues to strain loads which are believed to trigger a quake.

Burgeoning sport of sidewalk surfing leads to Anaheim

While most Long Beach-Orange County residents have become inured to the sound of skate wheels on sidewalks, there is much more to the sport than straight-line progress.

AN ADEPT RIDER can weave from side to side, do kick-turns, go from standing to a supine position while in motion, even leap from his board, clear a hurdle and remount on the fly.

The tricks have provided impetus for organizing clubs into competing groups. In Santa Monica recently, a monthly meet was started, calling for downhill and level slalom events, along with trick riding.

Thanks to alert manufacturers, publications and fans, the Anaheim event will become the first national competition attempted in the United States, perhaps the world.

Alan Silver does a hand stand in motion. Such stunts will be Anaheim competition feature.

Most American cities seem tolerant toward sidewalk surfers, but sprawling Los Angeles has been the target of newspaper articles decrying an archaic attitude. The city's ordinances allow no skateboarding on a sidewalk, period. Adding to the skateboarder's ire, no plans seem to be forthcoming from either city or county recreation departments regarding supervised facilities.

Long Beach is more progressive. So long as the hobbyist confines his activities to hours between 6 a. m. and 10 p. m. and exercises proper consideration toward other sidewalk users, he'll have no problem with the law.

THE SKATEBOARD Quarterly editorializes on another element of the sport. Too often, a youngster develops an appetite for speed before he learns control. The result may well be a fast downhill trip with bruises at the end. While skilled teen-agers and aduts negotiate some of the steeper runs with grace, it's no sport for those lacking coordination and practice.

The American Medical Association adds its voice in a word of caution, pointing out that skateboarding tumbles can cause fractures and severe head injuries.

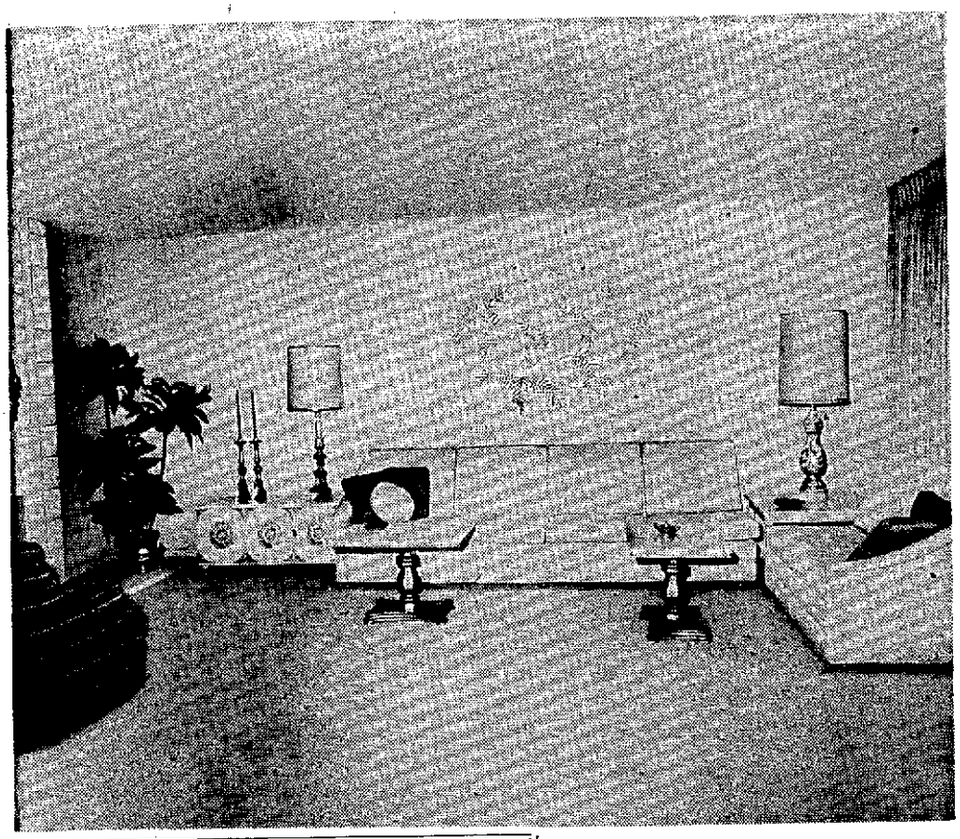

The difficulty, according to those who know, is in underestimating speed. Veterans simply jump off before trouble starts. Those of lesser ability find themselves hoping to stay with their boards as speed builds then getting thrown by a stray pebble or bump.

On a happier theme, a dream run exists for Southern California skateboarders; a dream akin to the five-mile slope for the skier, the long-faced wave for the surfer. It's an 11-story auto park in the San Diego area, built with spiral ramps of smooth concrete. An elevator takes the rider back up when he finishes his run. As one fan put it, ". . . They really shouldn't let cars in there—it's too good for them. The should keep that place only for skateboarding."

Chances are, they won't.

USING THE WORD "formal" to describe the appearance of a home often conjures an idea of stiff discomfort, but such is not the case in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Schulman, 3410 Lama Ave., El Dorado Park Estates. Formal it is, but with a warmth that is carried throughout the household, reflecting the touch of Bryan Waller, interior decorator.

Tones of soft beige and off-white are used in the formal living room. The nylon carpeting was especially dyed since the color was considered so important to the over-all decor. The sofa and chairs were designed by Waller. The sofa is a two-piece sectional covered in pale beige silk with a banoque-scroll pattern. The lounge chair is of multi-stripe violet, hot pink and persimmon chenille. The hi-back chair and ottoman is a silk and rayon textured fabric in a red-orange shade. The Van Luit wallpaper "Persian Stripe" is in the same colorings as the chair. A small pedestal table has simulated marble effect in gilt, orange and gunmetal glaze. Accessories (such as pillows) are antique gold, hot pink, and violet. A handsome wall decoration over the sofa is a gold leaf metal spray from Italy.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

CITY OF LONG BEACH

Cal-Tex Improvements, Inc. is a licensed City of Long Beach Building Contractor. Most of the work now being done by Cal-Tex is in the greater Long Beach Area.

Cal-Tex has been selected as the exclusive franchised contractor of FLEXON in Southern Calif. You can obtain free information or have a free home demonstration without obligation. The low cost will surprise you and terms can be arranged to suit your pocket book.

ONCE THE BUILDING BLOCKS OF THE DONS:

Adobe Does a Comeback

By Bob Loeffelbein

DID you ever get paid for making mud pies?

There's a concern in Escondido doing it, though it's not quite so simple as that.

From the time of the Babylonians, more than 5,000 years ago, to the days of the early California missions, in many parts of the world the only easily accessible building material was soil in one form or another. The most common weakness in this form of construction was its susceptibility to moisture.

The early California missions, constructed of adobe, were protected against this moisture with plaster. The old haciendas of Mexico and the southwest United States had large porches to divert moisture, as well as the plaster for added protection.

Then 17 years ago Standard Oil of California perfected an oil additive of petroleum asphalt to waterproof adobe soil.

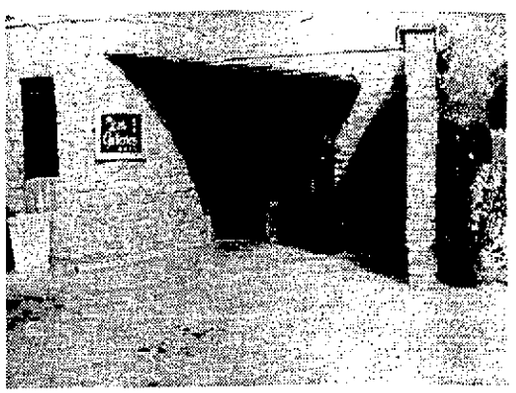

THUS, TODAY, modern adobe is indistinguishable from the rough-hewn appearances of the original. Yet it has become the driest building material known, except for metal and glass. Nothing can equal it for insulating qualities. Adobe resists fire, heat, cold, vibration and sound, without additional insulation. Termites and dry rot are unknown, and maintenance is nearly nil.

Unless desired for decorative purposes, plaster is no longer necessary as adobe covering either inside or out. To bond the blocks together the builder can use cement mortar, plastic cement, hydrated lime and plaster sand, or a mixture of soil and binder from which the blocks themselves are made.

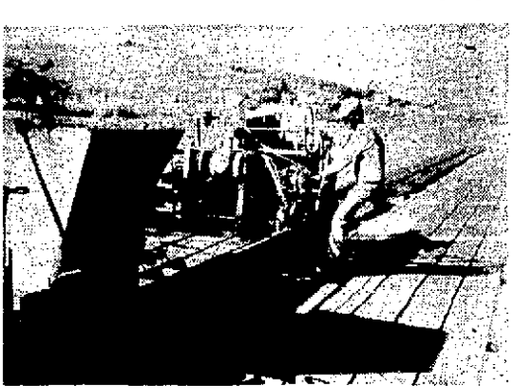

Further research and experimentation have resulted in a chlorinated rubber base paint that is nearly a permanent covering. Use of wrought iron and stained glass and glazing of kitchen and bathroom walls have recently added to the old Spanish look of permanence and peacefulness in housing developments, country clubs, office buildings and other constructions. Some places are even using slab-placed flooring, with colorful carpeting, wood parquet or mission tiles overlaid.

IN SPITE OF all these advantages of adobe, there are only two fully qualified companies producing these blocks in the entire state. These are located at Fresno (Hans Sumpf Co.) and the Adobe Block Company in Escondido.

Such construction firms as Weir Brothers in Escondido are currently pushing the popularity of adobe. They have built Adobe Villas, a plush apartment complex with pool and putting green adjoining their own pleasant Spanish style offices, and have a second already on the drawing boards. Other adobe building is going on in Fresno, Calabasas, Ontario and Murietta. The blocks are being used for a golf clubhouse, horse barns, a mortuary, a major office complex, a Masonic Hall, a group of health spa buildings, as well as many smaller uses such as retaining walls, sidewalks and barbecues.

This art gallery at Escondido is a good example of how new adobe blocks are employed.

"Mother hen" machine lays 20 adobe blocks at a setting. Blocks then "cure" in the sunshine.

Photos by the Author

White mortar sets off the blocks in building above. New process gives blocks permanency.

Probably the main reason adobe isn't used more in buildings is the Uniform Building Code in use by many cities and counties throughout the Western states. The Los Angeles County Building Code permits adobe construction for both residential and commercial buildings, but Section 2405 states, for example, that masonry of unburned clay units (adobe) shall not be used in any building more than one story in height. John F. Lewis, Principal Structural Engineer in the County of Los Angeles Building and Safety Division for the County Engineer, states that adobe use is "apparently limited currently for other economical or other practical reasons."

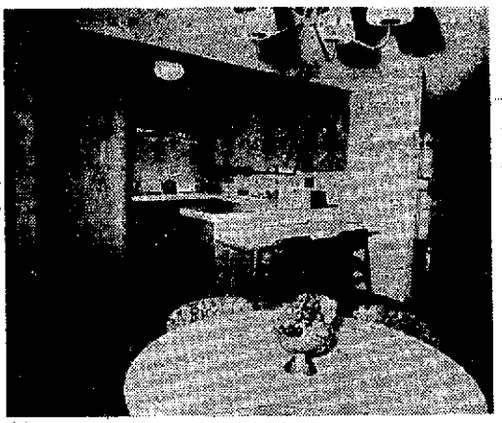

THE FACT THAT adobe dwellings, constructed even before the binding agent was discovered, have successfully withstood earthquakes and lesser elements for more than a century in Southern California holds no sway over building inspectors. For example, recent quakes at Tehachapi raised havoc with all types of building materials except adobe. The Public Works buildings, so constructed, remained in good shape.

To look at an adobe "plant" is to see an ankle-deep dust plot of some 50 acres, stacked with thousands of adobe blocks.

A skip loader scoops up the dust (for the block-making plant is set up right on top of a plat of adobe land) and piles it onto a conveyor belt leading to the mixing pot. A second worker mixes this dirt with the oil binder into an adobe mud pie mix. A jitney-type dump truck shuttles back and forth between the funnel loader on this mixing pot and the brick "laying" machine. The "mother hen" laying machine rolls out heavy paper sheeting under itself, trips a specified amount of the adobe mix into a kind of oversized ice-cube tray. After smooting, the dividers in the tray are lifted, cutting the mass into a "set" of bricks, and the machine moves on to lay another set. No pressure is used to form the bricks.

There are four sizes of blocks made, from the smallest 4x4x16 up to the 4x12x16 "economy size." The machine lays 4,500 blocks in an average day. The blocks then take a sun bath for two to six weeks, depending on size. This is for "curing." Costs run, again according to size, $110 to $195 per thousand blocks.

Which seems quite high for mud pies, but not for earthquake-proof building blocks!

dining room. It was so well done (also, there is the fact to consider that the home is new) that it does not, in any sense, seem like an addition. Gay colors predominate the area. A large rug in the family room is of circle design in colorings of royal blue, turquoise, emerald green and black. The sofa is covered in textured vinyl, done in white and gives the effect of woven fabric. The same thing is accomplished with the lounge chair and ottoman in the blue and green stripe. The back wall is completely lined with built-in storage and open shelving of walnut wood. The television set is in the center with the stereo on either side. The room opens to the patio.

There is a round table, extendable, in the spacious dining room. Chairs are upholstered in the same bright colors used in the adjoining room. A handsome tapestry decorates the wall near the table. Two additional dining room chairs face the open bar which separates the kitchen from the dining room. It is interesting to note that there is nothing breakable in the area—two sons think this is a fine idea. Even the lamps have cork bases.

The patio is cozy and intimate with a small Oriental garden dominating the scene. This is surrounded by an L-shaped slat bench. It presents a pretty picture viewed from several windows.

Outside Paint Now Guaranteed 10 Years

Now, the homeowners of America have available a remarkable product for exterior walls that virtually eliminates outside painting for many years to come. This product, called KENITEX, combines the long lasting properties of fiberglass, asbestos, mica, and perlite to make a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Throughout the country, School Boards have found textured coatings so economical and lasting over the past several years that they are now specifying this type material for a large amount of new construction and renovation work.

Many thousands of textured coating applications have been made on home, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, and these buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all weather extremes.

Waterproofs, Insulates, Fire Retardant

In addition to beauty, KENITEX has the additional advantages of water-proofing and insulation. Through the use of silicones, a modern day scientific advance, a water repellent "blanket" envelopes the entire building so that no moisture can penetrate and damage the interior of the home.

Applied With a Gun

KENITEX is applied with heavy duty spray equipment under high pressure. It fuses itself to the wall surface to a thickness 15 to 20 times that of normal paint. It remains flexible and withstands cracking and normal surface expansion and contraction.

Factory Guaranteed

Every KENITEX job is registered and factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking or peeling.

No Obligation

Applications of KENITEX are being made in this area by Universe Builders, licensed and approved applicators. Free information on how easily you may have KENITEX applied at low bank terms may be obtained by calling collect or by mailing coupon below.

FOOD

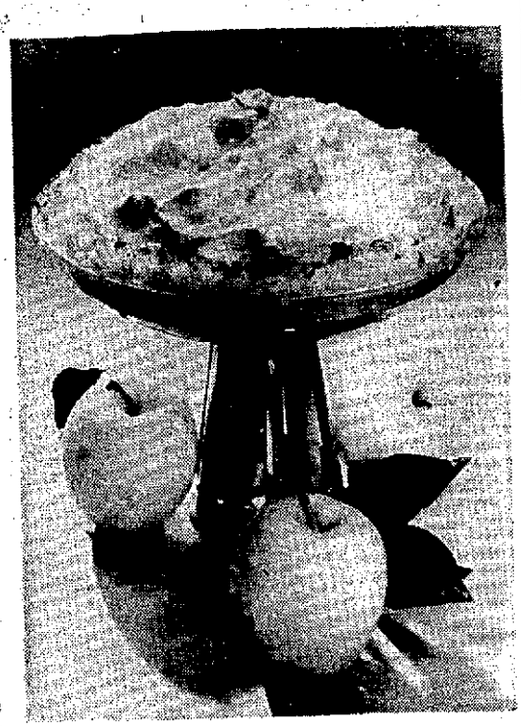

Apple Pie--With Frills

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

ROME BEAUTY has been considered one of the best apple varieties for baking. This still holds true, but the Golden Delicious has joined its cousin for this purpose.

It is sweet-meated, fine grained, and will retain whiteness when sliced longer than most varieties. Because it is less tart than the Winesap, Newton, Jonathan, or other cooking varieties, its flavor is complemented by partnership with citrus fruits or other tart fruits, such as cranberries or apricots.

Today we suggest using it as a dessert in a Golden Apple Chiffon.

Apple Pie adds new eye appeal to its ever-tantalizing flavor in Golden Apple Chiffon.

Golden Apple Chiffon

Crust:
1½ cups flaked coconut
2 tbsp. soft butter

Spread 9-inch pie plate with soft butter. Press coconut firmly into butter. Bake at 325 degrees F. about 10 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool.

Filling:
1 tbsp. unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
4 egg yolks
⅓ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup lemon juice
1½ tsp. grated lemon peel
4 egg whites
½ cup sugar
2 Washington Golden Delicious apples, peeled, cored, and coarsely grated

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks slightly; add ⅓ cup sugar, salt, and lemon juice. Cook in saucepan over medium-low heat stirring constantly until thickened. Add lemon peel. Add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Cool until it just begins to jell, then stir in grated apple. Beat egg whites until frothy; add ½ cup sugar gradually, beating until soft peak stage. Fold into lemon-apple mixture. Pile into baked coconut shell. Top with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

Fresh Apple Crisp-Cake

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ tsp. vanilla
1½ cups enriched flour
⅛ tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ cup milk
4-5 Washington apples, cored and sliced
1 cup sugar
1 tbsp. cinnamon
1 tbsp. enriched flour

Cream thoroughly the shortening and sugar; add egg and vanilla and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Divide cooky dough in half and roll each piece 8-inches square. Line an 8-inch square baking dish with one square of dough; arrange apple slices over dough and sprinkle with mixture of sugar, cinnamon, and flour. Top with second square of cooky dough and sprinkle lightly with sugar and cinnamon mixture. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F., about 40 minutes. Serve warm with cream. Serves 9.

Recipe of the Week

PEANUT butter has its many devotees, and is the important ingredient in this week's prize recipe that wins $5 for Mrs. Lloyd Davis, 475 E. Plymouth St., Long Beach 90805. The recipe:

Peanut Butter Pie

⅓ cup peanut butter
¾ cup powdered sugar
1 9" baked pie shell
⅓ cup flour
½ cup sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
2 cups scalded milk
3 eggs (separated)
2 tblsp. butter or margarine
½ tsp. vanilla

Blend peanut butter with powdered sugar until mealy. Sprinkle ⅔ of mixture over baked pie shell. Combine flour, ½ cup sugar and salt. Stir in scalded milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir a small amount of filling into slightly beaten egg yolks, combine and cook few minutes longer. Add butter and vanilla. Pour into pie shell.

Meringue

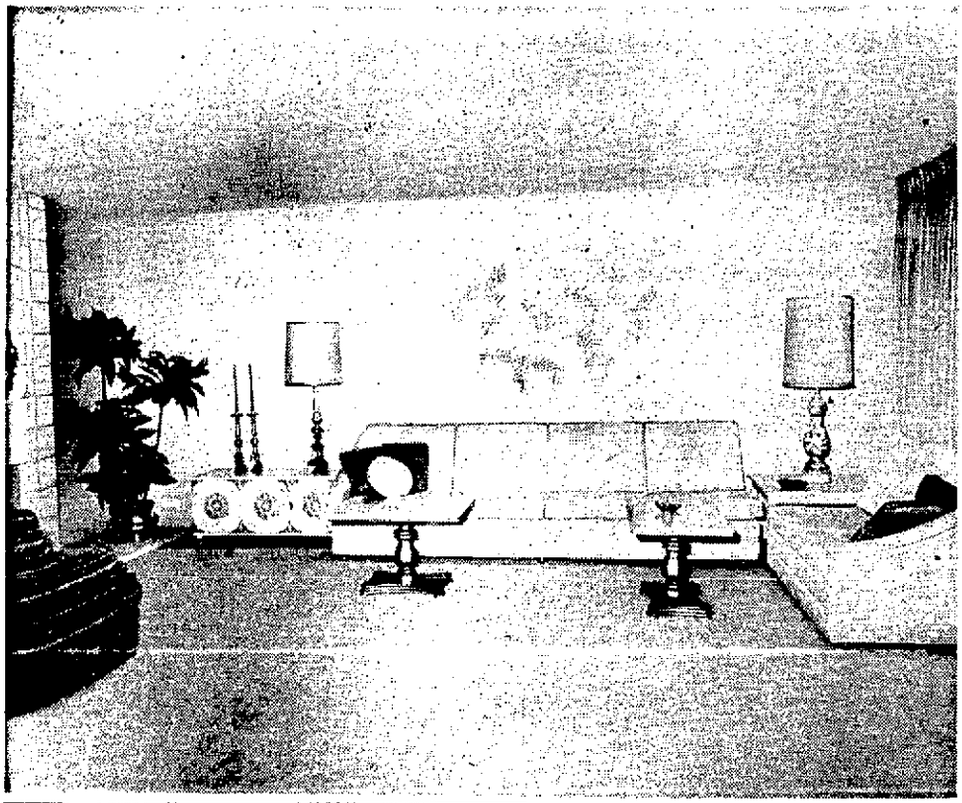

¼ tsp. cream of tartar
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. cornstarch
3 egg whites

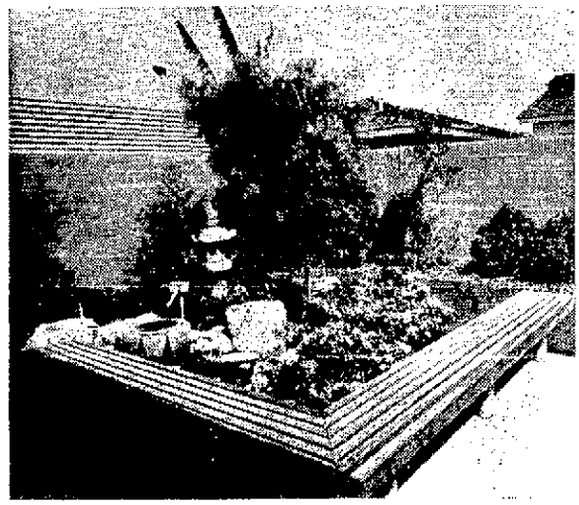

Beat egg whites until foamy then add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Gradually add sugar mixed with cornstarch. Beat until stiff and shiny. Pile on the filling and sprinkle with remaining peanut butter mixture. Bake about 15 or 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Chill before serving.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812.

owned by the company so only properly owners may put boats into its waters.

LADCO invested $450,000 to refurbish Lake Arrowhead Lodge.

Across the lake is the site of the planned Meadow Bay Center, sheltered in a bay on the west shore. A marina, partly completed, already is in use, plus a shopping and recreation center.

Preservation of the pine trees and mountain beauty is a prime project. Roads follow natural land patterns and as a result are often virtually hidden. There's a wide paved street to every home-site, but usually it cannot be seen at a distance.

The same thing is true of most homes. They're smartly designed residences, hidden by the trees. An architecural committee guides the sites and construction of homes, to preserve the natural beauty. No tree is removed unless it is absolutely necessary to do so.

To make mountain living virtually as comfortable as city living, Lake Arrowhead has sewers (rare in mountain resort areas), electricity, natural gas, piped-in water and telephones.

LAST YEAR Lake Arrowhead Development Co. sold more than $7 million worth of one-third-acre homesites. Privately-built homes range in value from $13,000 to $75,000. A dozen building contractors now are building 40 homes.

"The leisure-time habits of Americans are changing rapidly," explains Cliff Helms, LADCO's sales director. "People are becoming conscious of the need for change from daily routines. But they are sophisticated about it. Even if they live and work in the city, they like a modern, comfortable home in a rustic setting."

The company now is developing the west shore, a hitherto untouched forest section which once was dotted only by movie sets. The west shore sites are amid tall pines, romping squirrels and occasional deer.

Lake Arrowhead is a pleasant two-hour drive from Long Beach, over freeways and wide, well-banked highways.

Its moods are close to home.

dining room. It was so well done (also, there is the fact to consider that the home is new) that it does not, in any sense, seem like an addition. Gay colors predominate the area. A large rug in the family room is of circle design in colorings of royal blue, turquoise, emerald green and black. The sofa is covered in textured vinyl, done in white and gives the effect of woven fabric. The same thing is accomplished with the lounge chair and ottoman in the blue and green stripe. The back wall is completely lined with built-in storage and open shelving of walnut wood. The television set is in the center with the stereo on either side. The room opens to the patio.

There is a round table, extendable, in the spacious dining room. Chairs are upholstered in the same bright colors used in the adjoining room. A handsome tapestry decorates the wall near the table. Two additional dining room chairs face the open bar which separates the kitchen from the dining room. It is interesting to note that there is nothing breakable in the area—two sons think this is a fine idea. Even the lamps have cork bases.

The patio is cozy and intimate with a small Oriental garden dominating the scene. This is surrounded by an L-shaped slat bench. It presents a pretty picture viewed from several windows.

Outside Paint Now Guaranteed 10 Years

Now, the homeowners of America have available a remarkable product for exterior walls that virtually eliminates outside painting for many years to come. This product, called KENITEX, combines the long lasting properties of fiberglass, asbestos, mica, and perlite to make a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Throughout the country, School Boards have found textured coatings so economical and lasting over the past several years that they are now specifying this type material for a large amount of new construction and renovation work.

Many thousands of textured coating applications have been made on home, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, and these buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all weather extremes.

Waterproofs, Insulates, Fire Retardant

In addition to beauty, KENITEX has the additional advantages of water-proofing and insulation. Through the use of silicones, a modern day scientific advance, a water repellent "blanket" envelopes the entire building so that no moisture can penetrate and damage the interior of the home.

Applied With a Gun

KENITEX is applied with heavy duty spray equipment under high pressure. It fuses itself to the wall surface to a thickness 15 to 20 times that of normal paint. It remains flexible and withstands cracking and normal surface expansion and contraction.

Factory Guaranteed

Every KENITEX job is registered and factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking or peeling.

No Obligation

Applications of KENITEX are being made in this area by Universe Builders, licensed and approved applicators. Free information on how easily you may have KENITEX applied at low bank terms may be obtained by calling collect or by mailing coupon below.

Old Journals, Scrapbooks and Albums Yield Historical Data

By Helen L. Gillum

A GRATIFYING amount of historical data has been preserved within old family journals, scrapbooks, legal documents, private letters, albums and the like. Yellowed newspapers and magazines, treasured by descendants for years, have also contributed to this abundance of hand-written and printed records.

Such sentimental hoarding is good because memorabilia of this type is becoming more important to collectors every day. Particularly are museums, research departments of universities and colleges, historical societies, librarians and writers interested in this valuable material.

An old account book of 1865, owned by Mrs. Maude Davis, 3750 Charlemagne Ave., is interesting because it reveals business practices, prices and commodities of Civil War days. It was used by her great-grandfather in his general merchandise store at Montgomery, Ala., during the Civil War. Carefully entered in blue ink in the 11x17-inch, pasteboard-covered journal, are such startling items as opium, scalpels, lancets and laudanum!

"MY GREAT-GRANDFATHER had several doctors among his customers," says Mrs. Davis. "That explains the instruments and drugs. Of course, he sold opium and other narcotics by prescription, too. But these were also sold 'straight over the counter,' just like other merchandise."

And, judging by the frequent notations of opium sales to several persons, there was an addict or two among his customers!

Sugar at 50 cents a pound and 1½ gallons of ink for $1.50 indicate that there was inflation in those days, just as the modern world has experienced. Sugar, matches, pepper and ink were no more popular than were "bitters," vermifuge, paregoric, calomel, whisky and tobacco. There was also assafetida! (Who remembers the fetid little medicinal packets suspended around the necks of small children, even as late as the 1900s, supposedly to ward off spasms and coughs?)

Other Civil War mementos possessed by Mrs. Davis are Confederate money and an income tax receipt for the year 1864. (There were income taxes for a short period during and after the Civil War.)

LONG BEACH old-timer, Paul Wilcox, 1100 Elm Ave., owns several newspapers and magazines from the last century, including an Illustrated London News for Aug. 2, 1856, and a Harper's Weekly for Aug. 19, 1882.

The advertisements in these old journals are almost as intriguing as are the news items. For instance, an advertisement in the Harper's Weekly that promised to "... cure the opium and morphine habit in ten days" might have appealed to the devotees of the drug as listed in Mrs. Davis' Civil War account book.

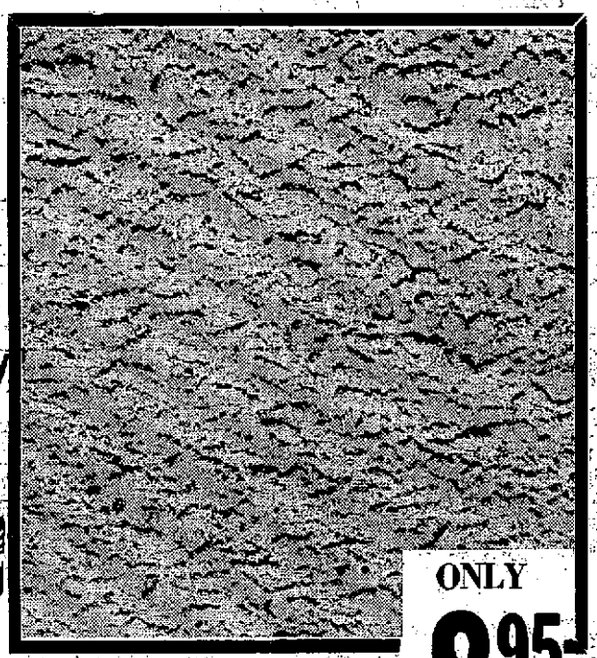

What may have been the forerunner of modern "digest" magazines is a time-worn issue of Niles' Weekly Register of Baltimore, dated Aug. 30, 1817, owned by Harry Myers, 26 La Verne Ave. While both covers are missing from this 148-year-old magazine, all original 16 pages are intact. Many of the articles in the 6½x10½-inch paper are reprints from other publications.

C. D. SIMPSON of the Seaside Hotel owns an important document, an original deed to a land grant which bears the signature of President Andrew Jackson. Simpson's great-grandfather received the land and deed to it in Green County, Ala., in 1835.

Food

Apple Pie--With Frills

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

ROME BEAUTY has been considered one of the best apple varieties for baking. This still holds true, but the Golden Delicious has joined its cousin for this purpose.

It is sweet-meated, fine grained, and will retain whiteness when sliced longer than most varieties. Because it is less tart than the Winesap, Newton, Jonathan, or other cooking varieties, its flavor is complemented by partnership with citrus fruits or other tart fruits, such as cranberries or apricots.

Today we suggest using it as a dessert in a Golden Apple Chiffon.

Golden Apple Chiffon

Crust:
1½ cups flaked coconut
2 tbsp. soft butter

Spread 9-inch pie plate with soft butter. Press coconut firmly into butter. Bake at 325 degrees F. about 10 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool.

Filling:
1 tbsp. unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
4 egg yolks
⅓ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup lemon juice
1½ tsp. grated lemon peel
4 egg whites
½ cup sugar
2 Washington Golden Delicious apples, peeled, cored, and coarsely grated

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks slightly; add ⅓ cup sugar, salt, and lemon juice. Cook in saucepan over medium-low heat stirring constantly until thickened. Add lemon peel. Add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Cool until it just begins to jell, then stir in grated apple. Beat egg whites until frothy; add ½ cup sugar gradually, beating until soft peak stage. Fold into lemon-apple mixture. Pile into baked coconut shell. Top with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

Fresh Apple Crisp-Cake

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ tsp. vanilla
1½ cups enriched flour
⅛ tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ cup milk
4-5 Washington apples, cored and sliced
1 cup sugar
1 tbsp. cinnamon
1 tbsp. enriched flour

Cream thoroughly the shortening and sugar; add egg and vanilla and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Divide cooky dough in half and roll each piece 8-inches square. Line an 8-inch square baking dish with one square of dough; arrange apple slices over dough and sprinkle with mixture of sugar, cinnamon, and flour. Top with second square of cooky dough and sprinkle lightly with sugar and cinnamon mixture. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F., about 40 minutes. Serve warm with cream. Serves 9.

Apple Pie adds new eye appeal to its ever-tantalizing flavor in Golden Apple Chiffon.

Recipe of the Week

PEANUT butter has its many devotees, and is the important ingredient in this week's prize recipe that wins $5 for Mrs. Lloyd Davis, 475 E. Plymouth St., Long Beach 90805. The recipe:

Peanut Butter Pie

½ cup peanut butter
¾ cup powdered sugar
1 9" baked pie shell
⅓ cup flour
½ cup sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
2 cups scalded milk
3 eggs (separated)
2 tblsp. butter or margarine
½ tsp. vanilla

Blend peanut butter with powdered sugar until mealy. Sprinkle ⅔ of mixture over baked pie shell. Combine flour, ½ cup sugar and salt. Stir in scalded milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir a small amount of filling into slightly beaten egg yolks, combine and cook few minutes longer. Add butter and vanilla. Pour into pie shell.

Meringue

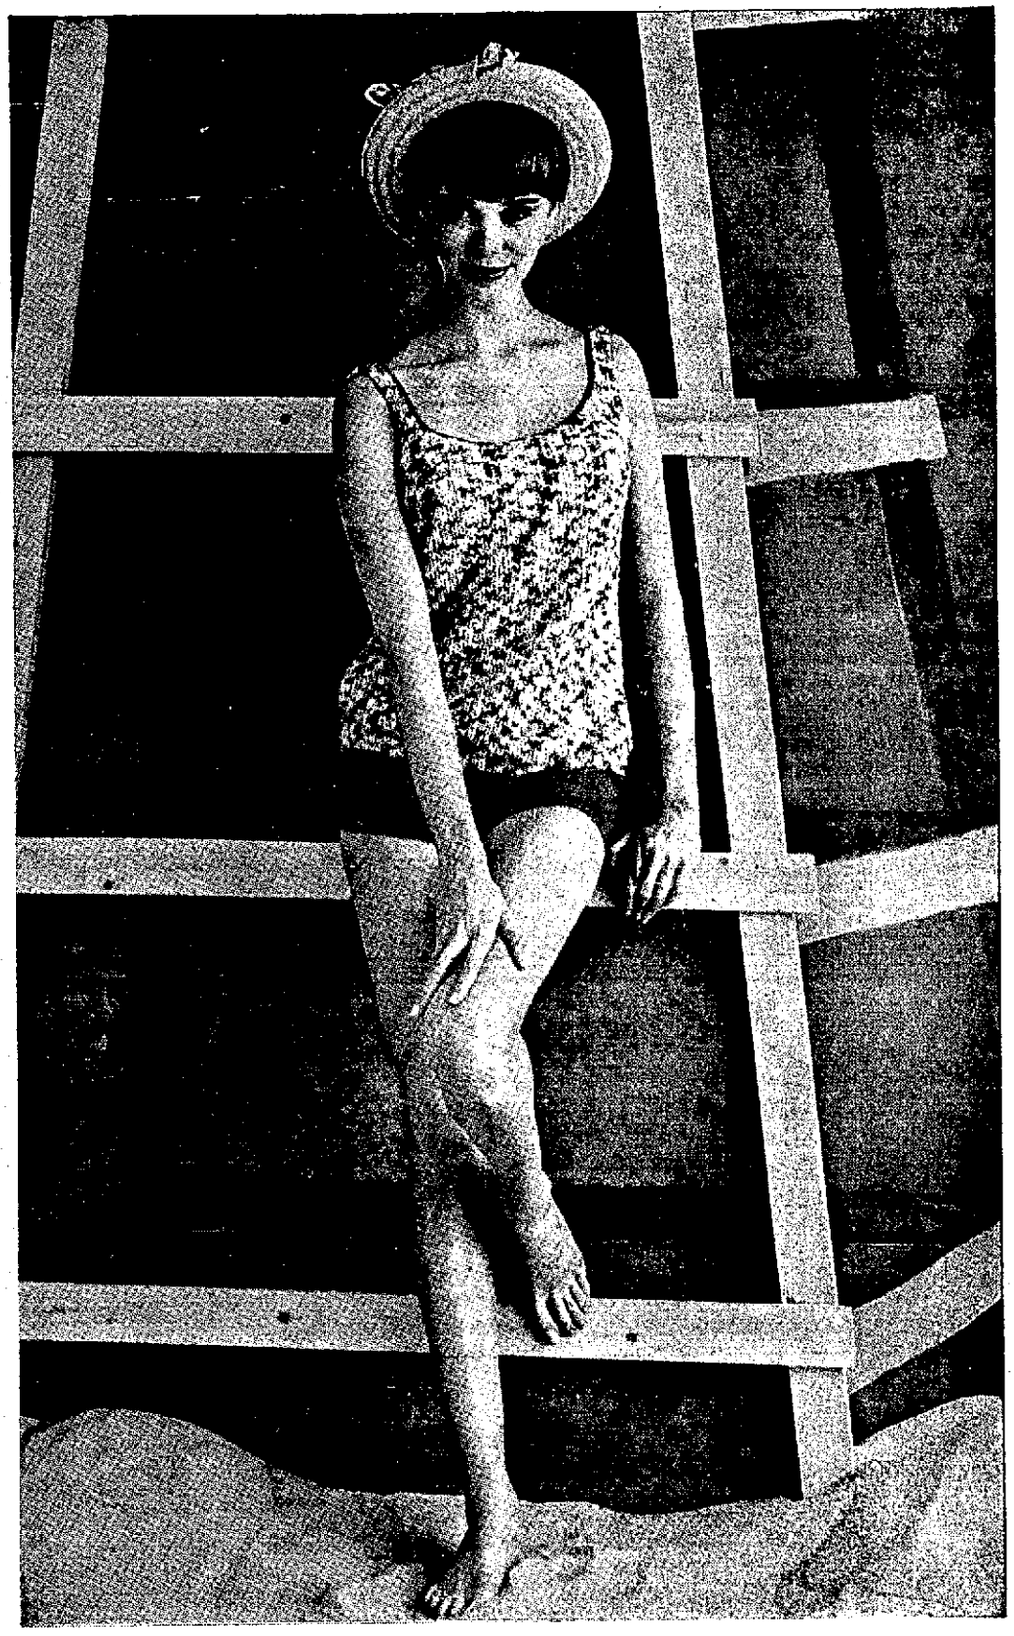

¼ tsp. cream of tartar
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. cornstarch
3 egg whites

Beat egg whites until foamy then add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Gradually add sugar mixed with cornstarch. Beat until stiff and shiny. Pile on the filling and sprinkle with remaining peanut butter mixture. Bake about 15 or 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Chill before serving.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812.

Sun, Sand and the Soft Look

For summer '65, the dashing, splashing, surfing "wahini" has her choice of a beach-wide variety of feminine swim looks designed by Bobbie Brooks. The silhouettes are gently eased . . . either draped with fluid lines or slightly defining. There are blouson suits in a wide selection of textures or two-piecers, shaped to the body. The languid beach bunny may choose a sweater top softly draped over maillot stretch shorts. And sandcastle dreamers may prefer the lace-covered "illusion" suit (translation: a two-piece suit covered with a filmy blouson) worn under its own airy beach coat . . . that seems almost a direct descendant from the white-capped waves. Bobbie Brooks colors its swim fabrics in summer brights and gives them a variety of textures. Orlon shaker suit knit spills over a smooth stretch of nylon . . . and cotton is spun into a lacey confection or checked to a surfer's beat. The freshness and easy care of these fabrics keeps your swimsuits at their best from the first hesitant warmth of May to the lazy golden heat of August.

Dashing through the waves or stretching lazily in the sand, the active beach bunny will be well suited for fun this summer in this shaker knit blouson swimsuit. Knitted in 3 coordinate tones, the pebbly textured top is tumbled gracefully over solid maillot stretch shorts and lightly bowed at the hip. Bobbie Brooks designs it in Orlon and stretch nylon to give the suit shape retention and lasting wearability.

Arrowhead

owned by the company so only property owners may put boats into its waters.

LADCO invested $450,000 to refurbish Lake Arrowhead Lodge.

Across the lake is the site of the planned Meadow Bay Center, sheltered in a bay on the west shore. A marina, partly completed, already is in use, plus a shopping and recreation center.

Preservation of the pine trees and mountain beauty is a prime project. Roads follow natural land patterns and as a result are often virtually hidden. There's a wide paved street to every homesite, but usually it cannot be seen at a distance.

The same thing is true of most homes. They're smartly designed residences, hidden by the trees. An architecural committee guides the sites and construction of homes, to preserve the natural beauty. No tree is removed unless it is absolutely necessary to do so.

To make mountain living virtually as comfortable as city living, Lake Arrowhead has sewers (rare in mountain resort areas), electricity, natural gas, piped-in water and telephones.

LAST YEAR Lake Arrowhead Development Co. sold more than $7 million worth of one-third-acre homesites. Privately-built homes range in value from $13,000 to $75,000. A dozen building contractors now are building 40 homes.

"The leisure-time habits of Americans are changing rapidly," explains Cliff Helms, LADCO's sales director. "People are becoming conscious of the need for change from daily routines. But they are sophisticated about it. Even if they live and work in the city, they like a modern, comfortable home in a rustic setting."

The company now is developing the west shore, a hitherto untouched forest section which once was dotted only by movie sets. The west shore sites are amid tall pines, romping squirrels and occasional deer.

Lake Arrowhead is a pleasant two-hour drive from Long Beach, over freeways and wide, well-banked highways.

Its moods are close to home.

Ceramics Puts Talents to Work

Student decorator is advised by instructor in a Manhattan Beach ceramics production plant.

By Charlene Geisel

IF YOU are looking for a hobby that can add those special touches to the decor of your home that compliment you, perhaps ceramics is the answer. It is easy and, upon accomplishment, can give you the illusion of creative genius.

A beginner in ceramics may study modeling; sculpturing of his own design from the soft clay, or he may purchase a ceramic piece, already designed, and paint it himself. This art, popularly called ceramic decoration, can be achieved with little or no previous artistic background.

Small pieces of bisque, plain undecorated pieces of ceramic, in the forms of ash trays, wall ornaments, dressing table dolls, and dishes are available for purchase in many ceramic and hobby shops. They are inexpensive in price, ranging from between $1.50 through $10, depending on the piece and the intricacy of design. As a matter of fact, involvement in the matter may not have to go much farther than the initial selection.

LET'S SAY you're looking for just the right ash tray or lamp base to set off your coffee or end table. You've been unable to pick up this item in department stores or decorator shops.

Finally, you locate and decide on an unpainted bisque object. Now all you have to do is pick out the right glaze, have the proprietor of the shop dip and fire the prize, then take your place within the realm of personalized interior decorating.

If you wish to handle the situation in your own inimitable way, you may probe even deeper into an art that has flourished since citizens of ancient Babylonia walked the earth. You may do this by painting your own piece, by hand. The proprietor of any hobby or ceramic shop will advise you as to the proper brushes and glazes that will be necessary to complete your work of art. Most bisque ware has indentations and depressions that may be highlighted by the novice, thereby creating a professional flair with a minimum of effort.

EVENTUALLY, a newcomer will want to achieve more skill in the ceramic field. This may be accomplished by enrolling in a class at night school. For a nominal fee you may learn the mode of modeling simple pieces, acquire the ability to throw a vase on the potter's wheel, and practice building special effects with glazes. Junior colleges and universities offer such classes.

Leaders and teachers of scout and youth organizations would find it to their advantage to study the art of pottery. Because the craft is so inexpensive and rewarding in creative effort it meets the requirements associations of this type desire. It's absorbing for young and old alike to witness the ability to take a clump of soil and fashion a likeness that has dimension, substance, and usefulness. Many California commercial potteries invite interested groups and tourists to visit their factories and see what goes into ceramic construction.

Metlox, a Manhattan Beach dinnerware plant, is especially courteous to visitors anxious to peep behind the scenes. Here you may view the step-by-step glorifica-

"MY GREAT-GRANDFATHER had several doctors among his customers," says Mrs. Davis. "That explains the instruments and drugs. Of course, he sold opium and other narcotics by prescription, too. But these were also sold 'straight over the counter,' just like other merchandise."

And, judging by the frequent notations of opium sales to several persons, there was an addict or two among his customers!

Sugar at 50 cents a pound and 1½ gallons of ink for $1.50 indicate that there was inflation in those days, just as the modern world has experienced. Sugar, matches, pepper and ink were no more popular than were "bitters," vermifuge, paregoric, calomel, whisky and tobacco. There was also assafetida! (Who remembers the fetid little medicinal packets suspended around the necks of small children, even as late as the 1900s, supposedly to ward off spasms and coughs?)

Other Civil War mementos possessed by Mrs. Davis are Confederate money and an income tax receipt for the year 1864. (There were income taxes for a short period during and after the Civil War.)

LONG BEACH old-timer, Paul Wilcox, 1100 Elm Ave., owns several newspapers and magazines from the last century, including an Illustrated London News for Aug. 2, 1856, and a Harper's Weekly for Aug. 19, 1882.

The advertisements in these old journals are almost as intriguing as are the news items. For instance, an advertisement in the Harper's Weekly that promised to " . . . cure the opium and morphine habit in ten days" might have appealed to the devotees of the drug as listed in Mrs. Davis' Civil War account book.

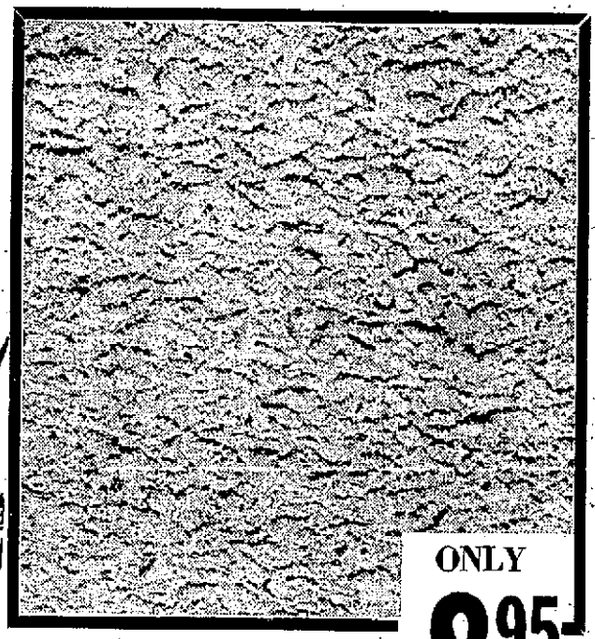

What may have been the forerunner of modern "digest" magazines is a time-worn issue of Niles' Weekly Register of Baltimore, dated Aug. 30, 1817, owned by Harry Myers, 26 La Verne Ave. While both covers are missing from this 148-year-old magazine, all original 16 pages are intact. Many of the articles in the 6½x10½-inch paper are reprints from other publications.

C. D. SIMPSON of the Seaside Hotel owns an important document, an original deed to a land grant which bears the signature of President Andrew Jackson. Simpson's great-grandfather received the land and deed to it in Green County, Ala., in 1835.

Cabin for a Hideaway

Building costs are kept low in this do-it-yourself cabin for resort area installation. Plans for building the unit simplify construction procedure.

By Steve Ellingson

IF YOU HAVE been a little slow about starting on a cabin for that small piece of resort property you own, procrastinate no more. For, with a week's time, a friend's help and approximately $1,000 you can build a frame cabin like the one shown here.

The secret of the cabin's success is its rigid frame — an engineered building method first developed for farm buildings. The system provides a relatively wide, clear span (up to 52 feet) with no interior posts, keeping building costs low and providing an economical way to add to the length of the building should you want to expand. Such a cabin will cost between $3 and $4 per square foot.

Rather than using conventional plate-and-stud walls with roof rafters, the rigid frame system depends on the principle of the arch. The four pieces of lumber that form the arch are locked together rigidly with plywood gusset plates; the member across the base of the arch absorbs the outward thrust developed by it and at the same time acts as a floor joist. Similarly, the plywood on the walls acts as both siding and sheathing to keep wind out, and at the same time withstands structural loads. The building can take heavy snow loads and has high earthquake and wind resistance.

The end result is a cabin which is comfortable to start with, as economical as possible to build, and can be upgraded in value. For instance, if you want to make the cabin larger to accommodate weekend guests or use it as a retirement home, just add a few more frames. Interior walls can be replaced with different woods as your needs change. It has a wide front deck with large expanses of glass on both end walls, and can easily be finished out later to become a building suitable for year around use. The basic structure is 20x24 feet of cabin with a covered deck six feet deep.

TO OBTAIN the easy-to-follow resort cabin plan, specify No. 370 and send $2 in currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

Sun, Sand and the Soft Look

For summer '65, the dashing, splashing, surfing "wahini" has her choice of a beach-wide variety of feminine swim looks designed by Bobbie Brooks. The silhouettes are gently eased . . . either draped with fluid lines or slightly defining. There are blouson suits in a wide selection of textures or two-piecers, shaped to the body. The languid beach bunny may choose a sweater top softly draped over maillot stretch shorts. And sandcastle dreamers may prefer the lace-covered "illusion" suit (translation: a two-piece suit covered with a filmy blouson) worn under its own airy beach coat . . . that seems almost a direct descendant from the white-capped waves. Bobbie Brooks colors its swim fabrics in summer brights and gives them a variety of textures. Orlon shaker suit knit spills over a smooth stretch of nylon . . . and cotton is spun into a lacey confection or checked to a surfer's beat. The freshness and easy care of these fabrics keeps your swimsuits at their best from the first hesitant warmth of May to the lazy golden heat of August.

Dashing through the waves or stretching lazily in the sand, the active beach bunny will be well suited for fun this summer in this shaker knit blouson swimsuit. Knitted in 3 coordinate tones, the pebbly textured top is tumbled gracefully over solid maillot stretch shorts and lightly bowed at the hip. Bobbie Brooks designs it in Orlon and stretch nylon to give the suit shape retention and lasting wearability.

Ceramics

tion of a piece of clay into a dish or cup. Like a French chef gathering ingredients for a special souffle, an earthenware factory will glean materials from far and near. Metlox uses clays from Kentucky, Tennessee, England and California.

AS SOON as a pottery receives the raw foundation of a Metlox product, quality control experts quickly inspect it for irregularities, such as foreign matter, etc., which would cause spots to appear on the finished similitude. Some of the clay will be used as liquid and the rest of it will be maintained in the familiar solid form. The liquid blend is poured into the molds to shape the more elaborate pieces, such as sugar bowls, and cream pitchers. The solid substance is used in modeling new designs and for spinning the platters and bowls on the jigger, the electrified brother of the old potter's wheel.

The freshly molded image is called green ware. Some studios decorate on the object when it's in this condition; however, green ware is rarely seen in hobby shops, because it is delicate and easily broken.

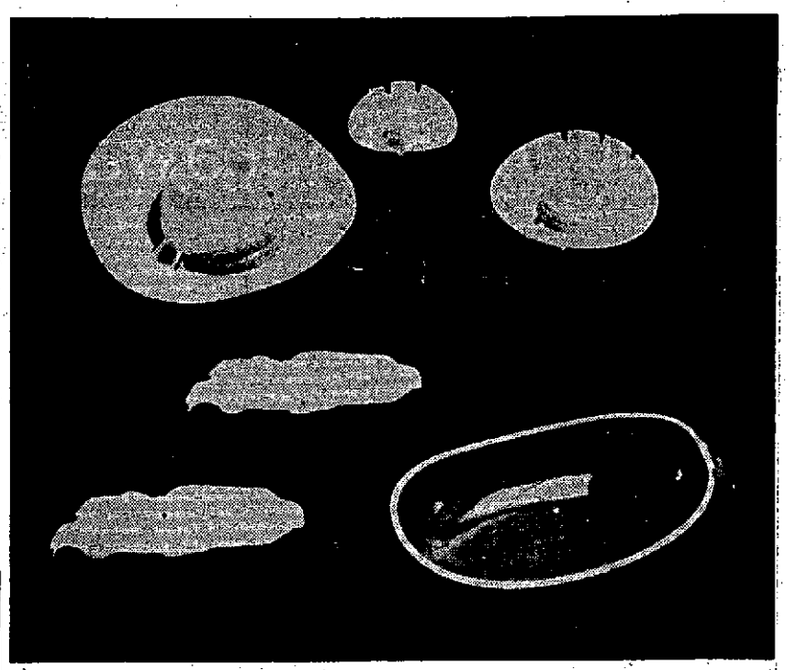

Newly formed ceramics are loaded on racks and moved to long, narrow ovens known as kilns. Here they are put on a "train" which moves continuously through the kiln. Kilns are fired with gas, and the temperatures are carefully regulated with electronic controls. The gas burners are in the center on the kiln so that the ware is brought up to the desired temperature slowly and cooled gradually. (Hobbyists may purchase small electric kilns.)

THE GREEN WARE is soaked to 2,150 degrees Fahrenheit for 44 hours. The ovens are open at each end and an on-looker may observe the various items as they bake. When the clay approaches the maximum level of intensity each reproduction takes on a bright, red glow. The completed firing produces the phase known as bisque, and the pieces are finally ready for decoration.

Metlox employs from 45 to 75 hand decorators. Each artist (most are women) will complete from 200 to 1,000 plates, mugs and other pieces per day, depending upon talent and experience. After an item is decorated it is sprayed with a translucent glaze, so that the final appearance will be glossy. The pieces are now refired, this time for 24 hours, at 1900 degrees Fahrenheit.

By following a ritual handed down from the dawn of civilization, a meaningless piece of clay has been transposed into a beautiful and useful object.

Why don't you see what you can do in the world of earthenware? Many of Southern California's potteries have grown from the homes of hobbyists.

With a little ingenuity, a beginner in ceramics can create such a matching coffee table set as this. Ceramics can be a highly satisfying hobby.

inally the Hebrew name Jehoiakim, deciphers as "appointed by Jehovah." The Joachim coat-of-arms is a shield divided into four sections. Two sections have a gold lion on a red background. The other two sections are blue, decorated with a spray of white ostrich plumes issuing from a gold crown.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the source of STEDDUM, STEDDOM.—C.S., Westminster; H.S., Seal Beach.

C.S., H.S.: STEDDUM and STEDDOM began in England as "Stead-hame," deciphered from Anglo-Saxon as "farm dwelling in the field." No other data is available on these families.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we learn about BANCE. — S.B., Norwalk.

S.B.: BANCE was initiated in medieval France from the Teutonic hero-name "Banz-Hard." This deciphers as "strong battle-standard bearer." Banz-Hard evolved as the surname Bansard, then was shortened to Bance. The Bance armorial shield is blue, embossed with two blue-centered stars lying above a gold chevron. Below the chevron is a pair of clasped hands.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on STINNETT.—M.S., Lakewood.

M.S.: STINNETT from England, is an unusual short form of the surname Stevenet used for an ancestor, meaning "young Stephen." Steven or Stephen deciphers as "crowned one." The Stinnett shield is red, crossed by a golden chevron placed between three gold fleur-de-lis (lilies).

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have data on VAN KAMPEN.—A.V., Lynwood; J.V., Lakewood.

A.V., J.V.: VAN KAMPEN, Dutch in background, developed from the Latin term "campus," meaning "field." Van Kampen, meaning "from the enclosed fields," was a proud Dutch lineage. The amorial shield for this family has an eagle with bowed head centered on a red background.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the source of GROUBERT.—J.G., Long Beach.

J.G.: GROUBERT from France, was initiated as the warrior-hero name "Grodo-Bert," a French-German dialect term for "shining with fame." The Groubert or Grobert coat-of-arms from Lorraine on the Franco-German border is a blue shield. On it is a silver crescent between three rampant gold unicorns.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on KAUP, KAUPP —W. K., J. K., M. B., Long Beach.

W. K., J. K., M. B.: KAUP, of German origin, was handed down from the Wendish-east German term "Kupa" describing "home on a height." Kaupp is an expanded spelling. The Kaup armorial shield is blue, decorated with three silver roses.

Ceramics Puts Talents to Work

By Charlene Geisel

IF YOU are looking for a hobby that can add those special touches to the decor of your home that compliment you, perhaps ceramics is the answer. It is easy and, upon accomplishment, can give you the illusion of creative genius.

A beginner in ceramics may study modeling; sculpturing of his own design from the soft clay, or he may purchase a ceramic piece, already designed, and paint it himself. This art, popularly called ceramic decoration, can be achieved with little or no previous artistic background.

Small pieces of bisque, plain undecorated pieces of ceramic, in the forms of ash trays, wall ornaments, dressing table dolls, and dishes are available for purchase in many ceramic and hobby shops. They are inexpensive in price, ranging from between $1.50 through $10, depending on the piece and the intricacy of design. As a matter of fact, involvement in the matter may not have to go much farther than the initial selection.

Student decorator is advised by instructor in a Manhattan Beach ceramics production plant.

LET'S SAY you're looking for just the right ash tray or lamp base to set off your coffee or end table. You've been unable to pick up this item in department stores or decorator shops.

Finally, you locate and decide on an unpainted bisque object. Now all you have to do is pick out the right glaze, have the proprietor of the shop dip and fire the prize, then take your place within the realm of personalized interior decorating.

If you wish to handle the situation in your own inimitable way, you may probe even deeper into an art that has flourished since citizens of ancient Babylonia walked the earth. You may do this by painting your own piece, by hand. The proprietor of any hobby or ceramic shop will advise you as to the proper brushes and glazes that will be necessary to complete your work of art. Most bisque ware has indentations and depressions that may be highlighted by the novice, thereby creating a professional flair with a minimum of effort.

EVENTUALLY, a newcomer will want to achieve more skill in the ceramic field. This may be accomplished by enrolling in a class at night school. For a nominal fee you may learn the mode of modeling simple pieces, acquire the ability to throw a vase on the potter's wheel, and practice building special effects with glazes. Junior colleges and universities offer such classes.

Leaders and teachers of scout and youth organizations would find it to their advantage to study the art of pottery. Because the craft is so inexpensive and rewarding in creative effort it meets the requirements associations of this type desire. It's absorbing for young and old alike to witness the ability to take a clump of soil and fashion a likeness that has dimension, substance, and usefulness. Many California commercial potteries invite interested groups and tourists to visit their factories and see what goes into ceramic construction.

Metlox, a Manhattan Beach dinnerware plant, is especially courteous to visitors anxious to peep behind the scenes. Here you may view the step-by-step glorifica-

MEDICINE AND YOU

Tar, Nicotine Cut

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

PRACTICAL MEHODS are available to reduce even further the tar and nicotine yield of cigarettes, two New York researchers says.

As a matter of fact, there already has been a gradual reduction of tar and nicotine content for American plain as well as filter cigarettes. Since 1960, according to a report in he AMA Journal, the reduction has ranged as high as 40%.

Ways of reducing tar yield include selection of certain tobaccos, use of porous paper, use of more finely cut tobacco and particularly use of tobacco stems and reconstituted tobacco. The latter is a mixture of tobacco dust and ground tobacco midribs to which certain cellulose derivatives are sometimes added.

EPISODES of erratic heartbeat may cause symptoms of mental illness, a heart specialist says.

Dr. Eliot Corday reports two such cases. In both instances, drugs which correct abnormal heartbeats also cleared up psychotic symptoms.

When heart rhythm is disturbed, blood pressure falls and brain areas may be robbed of blood supply, the doctor explains. Blood lack in the brain may lead to psychotic behavior.

A DENVER doctor reports the strange case of the 35-year-old man who got the "mumps" in 10 minutes and then was cured of them in a matter of hours.

Sudden painless swelling of a parotid gland (this gland is the largest of the salivary glands) occurred while the man was eating. Within 10 minutes his face had the appearance of acute mumps. (Mumps is inflammation of the parotid gland.)

A doctor found a round, yellowish fiber imbedded in the right Stensen's duct, the excretory duct of the parotid gland.

The little spicule turned out to be crab meat, which the patient had been eating when his face swelled. Within an hour of removal of the obstruction, most of the swelling of the right parotid gland had subsided. By noon the next day the man's face appeared normal.

RADIOFLUORINE (F18) can sometimes detect a bone tumor before such a malignancy shows up in X-rays.

Given by mouth or by injection in a vein, this radioisotope tends to concentrate in bone lesions. Within an hour after administration, a photo-scanning device can show where F18 has migrated.

Ordinary detergents will remove up to 99% of bacteria from clothing provided that the wash cycle on the machine lasts more than 10 minutes and the water temperature is between 145 and 160 degrees. So says a Columbus, Ohio, doctor in a medical journal. However, blankets and woolens are another matter. Water heated to these temperatures may damage the material and thus cannot be used. Consequently, ordinary detergents will not render such items germ-free.

ELECTROCARDIOGRAMS (heart-action tracings) of race horses may give some indication of future racing performance, a medical journal reports.

A veterinary researcher, J. D. Steel of the University of Sydney, says that horses with ECGs that are abnormal before their racing careers begin invariably race badly.

Horses that start their careers with normal ECGs that later become abnormal, race better when ECGs are normal.

The study, noted in Lancet, involved 3,500 ECGs of thoroughbreds and standardbreds.

This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.

Cabin for a Hideaway

Building costs are kept low in this do-it-yourself cabin for resort area installation. Plans for building the unit simplify construction procedure.

By Steve Ellingson

IF YOU HAVE been a little slow about starting on a cabin for that small piece of resort property you own, procrastinate no more. For, with a week's time, a friend's help and approximately $1,000 you can build a frame cabin like the one shown here.

The secret of the cabin's success is its rigid frame — an engineered building method first developed for farm buildings. The system provides a relatively wide, clear span (up to 52 feet) with no interior posts, keeping building costs low and providing an economical way to add to the length of the building should you want to expand. Such a cabin will cost between $3 and $4 per square foot.

Rather than using conventional plate-and-stud walls with roof rafters, the rigid frame system depends on the principle of the arch. The four pieces of lumber that form the arch are locked together rigidly with plywood gusset plates; the member across the base of the arch absorbs the outward thrust developed by it and at the same time acts as a floor joist. Similarly, the plywood on the walls acts as both siding and sheathing to keep wind out, and at the same time withstands structural loads. The building can take heavy snow loads and has high earthquake and wind resistance.

The end result is a cabin which is comfortable to start with, as economical as possible to build, and can be upgraded in value. For instance, if you want to make the cabin larger to accommodate weekend guests or use it as a retirement home, just add a few more frames. Interior walls can be replaced with different woods as your needs change. It has a wide front deck with large expanses of glass on both end walls, and can easily be finished out later to become a building suitable for year around use. The basic structure is 20x24 feet of cabin with a covered deck six feet deep.

TO OBTAIN the easy-to-follow resort cabin plan, specify No. 370 and send $2 in currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

Mike the Pink Pelican

By Dick Westermann

EVER HEAR of Mike, the Pelican? In the late 1930s he carved a niche for himself in Long Beach's Hall of Fame by his friendy way of gadding about Rainbow Pier and "mooching" mackerel and anchovies from friendly fishermen.

"That's Mike. Give him a mackerel," seasoned fishermen would say when novice anglers backed away from the awkward bird.

Mike rapidly learned who would feed him, and apparently made mental notes to "hit them up" for a mackerel the next time they came to the pier.

Usually Mike caught fish in the air when they were tossed to him, and usually he could swallow a fish at one gulp. Sometimes, however, Mike had trouble with a big fish. He would point his bill skyward and swallow . . . and swallow . . . The fish would go part way down the big bird's throat, then struggle back to the pouch beneath the bill. Mike would dance in angry frustration around the boardwalk. The pelican always won. He always got the fish down, and then triumphantly he would take off for open water.

In the spring of 1938, when the days turned warm, Mike appeared with a shy female pelican whom the fishermen named Maggie.

Fish-mooching Mike, the pelican, and a friend before somebody dyed Mike pink and he left.

Mike and Maggie were a happy pair, cadging mackerel from fishermen, kibitzing meetings of the Spit and Argue Club on the pier, receiving the plaudits of children.

One Sunday morning, a sad and dejected Mike appeared. He had been dyed BRIGHT PINK. Rumors said a couple of sailors had done that dastardly deed to Mike.

Mike and Maggie put up with the laughter and the jeers of the crowd for three days. Then they took off. Nothing was heard about them for more than a month.

Then they suddenly appeared at San Francisco, working the area from Seal Rocks to the Cliff House and on down to Fishermen's Wharf where they mooched fish from delighted fishermen and tourists.

So far as it is known, Mike and his mate never returned to Long Beach.

Ceramics

tion of a piece of clay into a dish or cup. Like a French chef gathering ingredients for a special souffle, an earthenware factory will glean materials from far and near. Metlox uses clays from Kentucky, Tennessee, England and California.

AS SOON as a pottery receives the raw foundation of a Metlox product, quality control experts quickly inspect it for irregularities, such as foreign matter, etc., which would cause spots to appear on the finished similitude. Some of the clay will be used as liquid and the rest of it will be maintained in the familiar solid form. The liquid blend is poured into the molds to shape the more elaborate pieces, such as sugar bowls, and cream pitchers. The solid substance is used in modeling new designs and for spinning the platters and bowls on the jigger, the electrified brother of the old potter's wheel.

The freshly molded image is called green ware. Some studios decorate on the object when it's in this condition; however, green ware is rarely seen in hobby shops, because it is delicate and easily broken.

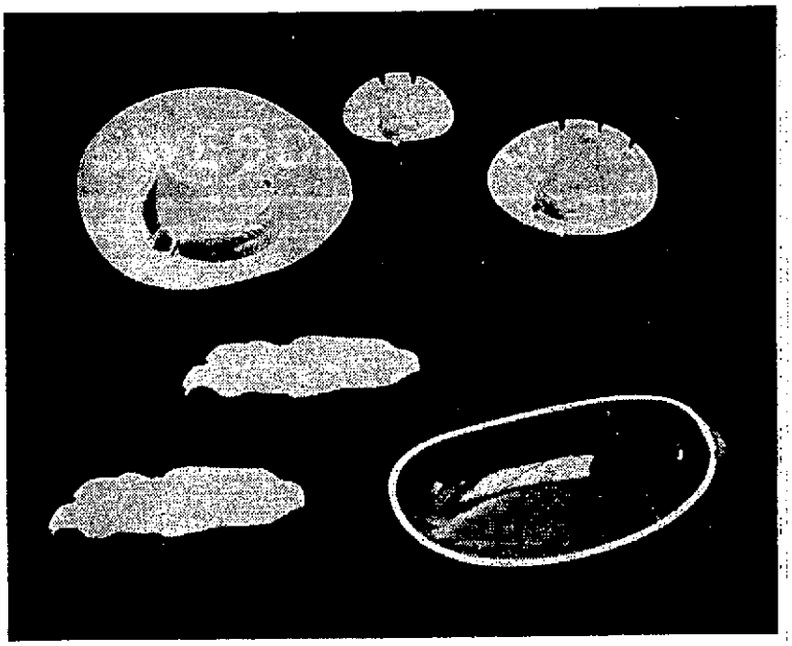

Newly formed ceramics are loaded on racks and moved to long, narrow ovens known as kilns. Here they are put on a "train" which moves continuously through the kiln. Kilns are fired with gas, and the temperatures are carefully regulated with electronic controls. The gas burners are in the center on the kiln so that the ware is brought up to the desired temperature slowly and cooled gradually. (Hobbyists may purchase small electric kilns.)

THE GREEN WARE is soaked to 2,150 degrees Fahrenheit for 44 hours. The ovens are open at each end and an on-looker may observe the various items as they bake. When the clay approaches the maximum level of intensity each reproduction takes on a bright, red glow. The completed firing produces the phase known as bisque, and the pieces are finally ready for decoration.

Metlox employs from 45 to 75 hand decorators. Each artist (most are women) will complete from 200 to 1,000 plates, mugs and other pieces per day, depending upon talent and experience. After an item is decorated it is sprayed with a translucent glaze, so that the final appearance will be glossy. The pieces are now refired, this time for 24 hours, at 1900 degrees Fahrenheit.

By following a ritual handed down from the dawn of civilization, a meaningless piece of clay has been transposed into a beautiful and useful object.

Why don't you see what you can do in the world of earthenware? Many of Southern California's potteries have grown from the homes of hobbyists.

With a little ingenuity, a beginner in ceramics can create such a matching coffee table set as this. Ceramics can be a highly satisfying hobby.

What Your Name Means

inally the Hebrew name Jehoiakim, deciphers as "appointed by Jehovah." The Joachim coat-of-arms is a shield divided into four sections. Two sections have a gold lion on a red background. The other two sections are blue, decorated with a spray of white ostrich plumes issuing from a gold crown.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the source of STEDDUM, STEDDOM.—C.S., Westminster; H.S., Seal Beach.

C.S., H.S.: STEDDUM and STEDDOM began in England as "Stead-hame," deciphered from Anglo-Saxon as "farm dwelling in the field." No other data is available on these families.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we learn about BANCE. — S.B., Norwalk.

S.B.: BANCE was initiated in medieval France from the Teutonic hero-name "Banz-Hard." This deciphers as "strong battle-standard bearer." Banz-Hard evolved as the surname Bansard, then was shortened to Bance. The Bance armorial shield is blue, embossed with two blue-centered stars lying above a gold chevron. Below the chevron is a pair of clasped hands.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on STINNETT.—M.S., Lakewood.

M.S.: STINNETT from England, is an unusual short form of the surname Stevenet used for an ancestor, meaning "young Stephen." Steven or Stephen deciphers as "crowned one." The Stinnett shield is red; crossed by a golden chevron placed between three gold fleur-de-lis (lilies).

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have data on VAN KAMPEN.—A.V., Lynwood; J.V., Lakewood.

A.V., J.V.: VAN KAMPEN, Dutch in background, developed from the Latin term "campus," meaning "field." Van Kampen, meaning "from the enclosed fields," was a proud Dutch lineage. The amorial shield for this family has an eagle with bowed head centered on a red background.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the source of GROUBERT.—J.G., Long Beach.

J.G.: GROUBERT from France, was initiated as the warrior-hero name "Grodo-Bert," a French-German dialect term for "shining with fame." The Groubert or Grobert coat-of-arms from Lorraine on the Franco-German border is a blue shield. On it is a silver crescent between three rampant gold unicorns.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on KAUP, KAUPP —W. K., J. K., M. B., Long Beach.

W. K., J. K., M. B.: KAUP, of German origin, was handed down from the Wendish-east German term "Kupa" describing "home on a height." Kaupp is an expanded spelling. The Kaup armorial shield is blue, decorated with three silver roses.

Railroad Historian of the West

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

HANK JOHNSTON, 1933 Fanwood Ave., rapidly is becoming the railroad historian of the West.

"THE RAILROAD THAT LIGHTED SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA" (Trans-Anglo Books, P.O. Box 2252, Los Angeles, $7.50) tells about the San Joaquin & Eastern, constructed in the lofty Sierra in 157 days by Henry E. Huntington, tycoon of the far-flung Pacific Electric trolley system, to supply "juice" for his P.E. With railroad's help he built Big Creek hydro-electric power plant, then the largest in the world.

The San Joaquin & Eastern had several claims to distinction. Besides being one of the few common carriers that operated geared passenger engines on passenger runs, it is said to have been the crookedest railroad ever built and the only one ever to have four huge inclines simultaneously connecting with its main line.

For years the plant and railroad were owned and operated by Southern Edison Co., and provided nearly all the electricity used in the lower half of the state. Even today Big Creek, boasting eight powerhouses, six lakes, 15 dams and 10 tunnels, is a major part of the Edison empire.

The volume has 243 illustrations, including a double-page fold map in two colors, also locomotive and equipment rosters. Railroad buffs especially will like pictures of Shays and Climaxes chugging up 5½% grades and around sharp curves, sometimes in deep snow.

Johnston preceded this book with "Shortline to Paradise" and "The Railroads of the Yosemite Valley."

WHEN Erskine Caldwell was a small boy in Coweta County, Ga., his only playmate was a mulatto lad named Bisco. Recently Caldwell toured the Deep South, searching for his old friend. He did not find him — Bisco and his family apparently were run out of the country by the night riders — but he did find many white Southerners, with views ranging from rightist to moderate, who talked freely about the volatile white-black relationship of the South. "IN SEARCH OF BISCO" (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, $4.95) reproduces these monologs, with Caldwell's marvelous facility for capturing ideas and regional idioms.

GUNNER ASCH, the recalcitrant cog of the German war machine, is back in uniform.

The famed charactor created by Prussian writer Hans Hellmut Kirst returns in "WHAT BECAME OF GUNNER ASCH" (Harper & Row, $5), sixth Kirst novel and the fourth about the inimitable Asch.

In this new book Kirst, irrepressible and caustic observer of military manners and morals in the Fatherland, takes a look at the new postwar German army, the Bundeswehr.

The aging Asch ("Forward Gunner Ash") is out of uniform and the mayor of a small West German town, home base of an Air Force unit and a Grenadier regiment of the Bundeswehr.

There is an evitable clash between the new "democratic" elements in the military and martinet commander of the grenadiers, with Asch and a hilarious new understudy, Corporal Kamnitzer, a German version of Til Eulenspiegel (Sergeant Bilko), trying but failing to head off a climatic court martial.

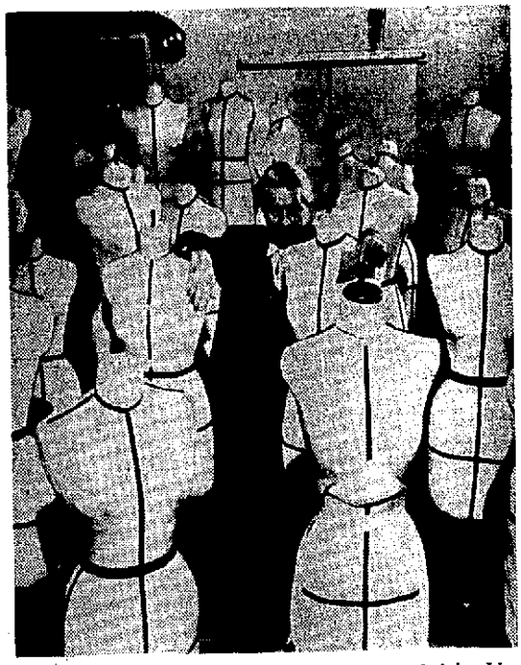

THE LONELINESS of the expatriate gives the French novelist Henri-Francois Roy's "THE MECHANICAL PIANO" (Farrar, Straus $5.95) its fabric. Spain's Costa Brava is its locale, as Paris was for the Hemingway expatriates, and Antibes for those of Fitzgerald.

A "negative breed" of doomed runaways from life are the figures of a rich profusion of themes and actions. Vincent Moreuil has run away from one failure in love and is heading for another with Jenny, proprietor of the "Estrella."

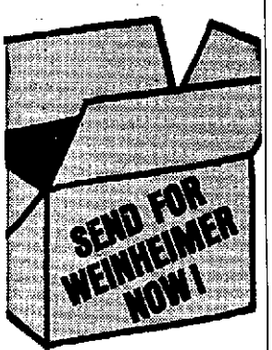

Serge and Nadine are adolescents escaping from bored parents.

Regnie is a distinguished writer, drowning in drink and women, whose son Daniel tries to save him and who is saved finally by Jenny. Finally, there is La Gloria, caretaker of Vincent's house, who has long loved Pinero, Picassoesque painter of great brilliance. Pinero, who after 50 years discovers the real meaning of La Gloria to his life.

The multiplicity of plots and counterplots does not obscure the brilliance of the writing, and attention is held to the end.

MAINBOCHER in his workroom surrounded by his famous "clients"—One of the 37 photographs illustrating THE WHEELS OF FASHION by Phyllis Lee Levin (Doubleday $5.95). In it, Mrs. Levin explores and explains the past and present of one of the most influential parts of American life. Her candid and lively history of the fashion industry in America is the result of more than four years spent digging through files and interviewing the czars and peasants of the fashion world. Mrs. Levin has for the past 15 years contributed women's features to the New York Times. She was formerly an editor with Mademoiselle and Harper's Bazaar.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Tar, Nicotine Cut

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

PRACTICAL MEHODS are available to reduce even further the tar and nicotine yield of cigarettes, two New York researchers says.

As a matter of fact, there already has been a gradual reduction of tar and nicotine content for American plain as well as filter cigarettes. Since 1960, according to a report in the AMA Journal, the reduction has ranged as high as 40%.

Ways of reducing tar yield include selection of certain tobaccos, use of porous paper, use of more finely cut tobacco and particularly use of tobacco stems and reconstituted tobacco. The latter is a mixture of tobacco dust and ground tobacco midribs to which certain cellulose derivatives are sometimes added.

EPISODES of erratic heartbeat may cause symptoms of mental illness, a heart specialist says.

Dr. Eliot Corday reports two such cases. In both instances, drugs which correct abnormal heartbeats also cleared up psychotic symptoms.

When heart rhythm is disturbed, blood pressure falls and brain areas may be robbed of blood supply, the doctor explains. Blood lack in the brain may lead to psychotic behavior.

A DENVER doctor reports the strange case of the 35-year-old man who got the "mumps" in 10 minutes and then was cured of them in a matter of hours.

Sudden painless swelling of a parotid gland (this gland is the largest of the salivary glands) occurred while the man was eating. Within 10 minutes his face had the appearance of acute mumps. (Mumps is inflammation of the parotid gland.)

A doctor found a round, yellowish fiber imbedded in the right Stensen's duct, the excretory duct of the parotid gland.

The little spicule turned out to be crab meat, which the patient had been eating when his face swelled. Within an hour of removal of the obstruction, most of the swelling of the right parotid gland had subsided. By noon the next day the man's face appeared normal.

RADIOFLUORINE (F18) can sometimes detect a bone tumor before such a malignancy shows up in X-rays.

Given by mouth or by injection in a vein, this radioisotope tends to concentrate in bone lesions. Within an hour after administration, a photoscanning device can show where F18 has migrated.

Ordinary detergents will remove up to 99% of bacteria from clothing provided that the wash cycle on the machine lasts more than 10 minutes and the water temperature is between 145 and 160 degrees. So says a Columbus, Ohio, doctor in a medical journal. However, blankets and woolens are another matter. Water heated to these temperatures may damage the material and thus cannot be used. Consequently, ordinary detergents will not render such items germ-free.

ELECTROCARDIOGRAMS (heart-action tracings) of race horses may give some indication of future racing performance, a medical journal reports.

A veterinary researcher, J. D. Steel of the University of Sydney, says that horses with ECGs that are abnormal before their racing careers begin invariably race badly.

Horses that start their careers with normal ECGs that later become abnormal, race better when ECGs are normal.

The study, noted in Lancet, involved 3,500 ECGs of thoroughbreds and standardbreds.

This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.

PET PARADE

But Never Turtle Soup

By Eleanor Avery Price

Robin Cummins' beagle and a tortoise friend appear a little bit nosey about each other.

IF YOU take a desert excursion, do not remove the tortoises from their native habitat. However, if you have such a pet or can get someone to give you one, you might be interested in the California Turtle and Tortoise Club. Membership is 50 cents monthly for adults and the bulletin alone is worth this much. The secretary is Mrs. William Trenbeth, 8847 DeHaviland Ave., Los Angeles 45, or address Jack Beattie, 22419 Warmside Ave., Torrance.

About 100 fanciers belong to this club. They meet at Westchester Recreation Center, 7000 W. Manchester Blvd., Los Angeles, at 7:30 p.m. the third Friday of each month. Take a notebook and pencil, as you will want to jot down some of the information given by guest speakers and experienced fanciers. There is also a social gathering afterwards, with refreshments (not to include turtle soup).

THE WORLD is full of interesting turtle varieties—the African hinge-back, Star of India, Thailand snaileater, Mata Mata from Brazil, and many others. The combined membership of the club may have a larger collection than you'll ever find in a zoo. Turtles, the only creatures that exist in the exact form as in the days of dinosaurs, have been found by archeologists in ancient diggings, and the image of the turtle was etched on the earliest recorded "money" in the world in ancient Lydia. Mrs. Trenbeth says one of these "coins" can be seen at Forest Lawn museum.

As stated before, the club bulletin is a good one, filled with pertinent information. For instance, did you know that turtles and tortoises are susceptible to respiratory ailments and can be helped with children's nose drops? Did you ever consider trimming your turtle's toenails? Did you know a turtle can

By Dick Westermann

Fish-mooching Mike, the pelican, and a friend before somebody dyed Mike pink and he left.

EVER HEAR of Mike, the Pelican? In the late 1930s he carved a niche for himself in Long Beach's Hall of Fame by his friendy way of gadding about Rainbow Pier and "mooching" mackerel and anchovies from friendly fishermen.

"That's Mike. Give him a mackerel," seasoned fishermen would say when novice anglers backed away from the awkward bird.

Mike rapidly learned who would feed him, and apparently made mental notes to "hit them up" for a mackerel the next time they came to the pier.

Usually Mike caught fish in the air when they were tossed to him, and usually he could swallow a fish at one gulp. Sometimes, however, Mike had trouble with a big fish. He would point his bill skyward and swallow . . . and swallow . . . The fish would go part way down the big bird's throat, then struggle back to the pouch beneath the bill. Mike would dance in angry frustration around the boardwalk. The pelican always won. He always got the fish down, and then triumphantly he would take off for open water.

In the spring of 1938, when the days turned warm, Mike appeared with a shy female pelican whom the fishermen named Maggie. Mike and Maggie were a happy pair, cadging mackerel from fishermen, kibitzing meetings of the Spit and Argue Club on the pier, receiving the plaudits of children.

One Sunday morning, a sad and dejected Mike appeared. He had been dyed BRIGHT PINK. Rumors said a couple of sailors had done that dastardly deed to Mike.

Mike and Maggie put up with the laughter and the jeers of the crowd for three days. Then they took off. Nothing was heard about them for more than a month.

Then they suddenly appeared at San Francisco, working the area from Seal Rocks to the Cliff House and on down to Fishermen's Wharf where they mooched fish from delighted fishermen and tourists.

So far as it is known, Mike and his mate never returned to Long Beach.

Hollywood Version

Pied Piper

By Warren and Barbara Transue

—Author's Photos

Peter Meremblum demonstrates correct bowing technique to teen orchestra violin section.

HOLLYWOOD has harbored a latter-day Pied Piper for lo, these nearly 30 years, and this one is famous not only in his own hamlet but the world over.

He is Peter Meremblum, slight, smooth-cheeked and smiling mentor of the internationally famed California Junior Symphony Orchestra, which since 1936 has set the pattern for youth symphonics all over the globe. The orchestra, with headquarters at Plummer Park in Hollywood, rehearses every Saturday morning, its teen-age members not one whit fazed by the constant stream of luminaries from the concert and motion picture world who drop in to conduct or to run through a concerto with them.

Last fall, Jack Benny offered to be guest soloist at their annual concert, a fund raising event. Hilarious as always, Benny unsmilingly battled his way through a concerto, numerous encores, and a brief bit as the group's concertmaster. It all stemmed from an encounter with Meremblum and the kids in 1959, an encounter so gratifying to all concerned that Peter Meremblum and his young musicians soon found themselves sharing Benny's two-week engagement at the Greek Theater.

THE CALIFORNIA Junior Symphony came into being at Christmas time 1936, when Meremblum, recently arrived from Seattle after 11 years preparing orchestra players at the Cornish School, called together a group of his violin students for an informal chamber music session. He failed to reckon with their enthusiasm; their pleas for permission to bring their string-playing brothers, sisters and pals to further meetings resulted in an immediate need for a move from Meremblum's small living room to a nearby church. There was no stopping the giant new baby; it mushroomed almost overnight into a fully instrumented symphony orchestra. Since then, the full complement has never numbered less than 110, a tight squeeze for any stage—except for the one in Plummer Park's Fiesta Hall, which was designed specifically to accommodate the youthful players.

The rest is musical history. Leopold Stokowski, who attended one of those early rehearsals, was the first of a long list of renowned artists and conductors who have contributed their genius to musical Young America over the years. Many a professional musician now in his 30s or 40s still thrills to the memory of rehearsals under the baton of Bruno Walter, Ormandy, Mitropoulos, Barbirolli. An even more material assist came from some of Hollywood's motion picture

Railroad Historian of the West

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

HANK JOHNSTON, 1933 Fanwood Ave., rapidly is becoming the railroad historian of the West.

"THE RAILROAD THAT LIGHTED SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA" (Trans-Anglo Books, P.O. Box 2252, Los Angeles, $7.50) tells about the San Joaquin & Eastern, constructed in the lofty Sierra in 157 days by Henry E. Huntington, tycoon of the far-flung Pacific Electric trolley system, to supply "juice" for his P.E. With railroad's help he built Big Creek hydro-electric power plant, then the largest in the world.

The San Joaquin & Eastern had several claims to distinction. Besides being one of the few common carriers that operated geared passenger engines on passenger runs, it is said to have been the crookedest railroad ever built and the only one ever to have four huge inclines simultaneously connecting with its main line.

For years the plant and railroad were owned and operated by Southern Edison Co., and provided nearly all the electricity used in the lower half of the state. Even today Big Creek, boasting eight powerhouses, six lakes, 15 dams and 10 tunnels, is a major part of the Edison empire.

The volume has 243 illustrations, including a double-page fold map in two colors, also locomotive and equipment rosters. Railroad buffs especially will like pictures of Shays and Climaxes chugging up 5½% grades and around sharp curves, sometimes in deep snow.

Johnston preceded this book with "Shortline to Paradise" and "The Railroads of the Yosemite Valley."

WHEN Erskine Caldwell was a small boy in Coweta County, Ga., his only playmate was a mulatto lad named Bisco. Recently Caldwell toured the Deep South, searching for his old friend. He did not find him — Bisco and his family apparently were run out of the country by the night riders — but he did find many white Southerners, with views ranging from rightist to moderate, who talked freely about the volatile white-black relationship of the South. "IN SEARCH OF BISCO" (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, $4.95) reproduces these monologs, with Caldwell's marvelous facility for capturing ideas and regional idioms.

GUNNER ASCH, the recalcitrant cog of the German war machine, is back in uniform.

The famed character created by Prussian writer Hans Hellmut Kirst returns in "WHAT BECAME OF GUNNER ASCH" (Harper & Row, $5), sixth Kirst novel and the fourth about the inimitable Asch.

In this new book Kirst, irrepressible and caustic observer of military manners and morals in the Fatherland, takes a look at the new postwar German army, the Bundeswehr.

The aging Asch ("Forward Gunner Ash") is out of uniform and the mayor of a small West German town, home base of an Air Force unit and a Grenadier regiment of the Bundeswehr.

There is an evitable clash between the new "democratic" elements in the military and martinet commander of the grenadiers, with Asch and a hilarious new understudy, Corporal Kammitzer, a German version of Til Eulenspiegel (Sergeant Bilko), trying but failing to head off a climatic court martial.

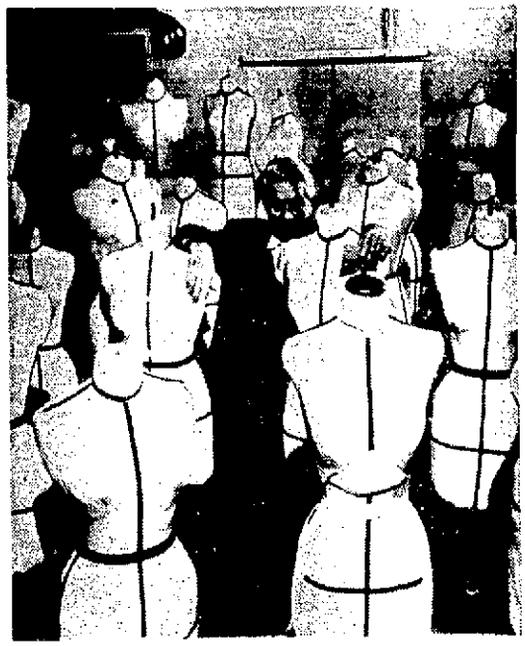

THE LONELINESS of the expatriate gives the French novelist Henri-Francois Roy's "THE MECHANICAL PIANO" (Farrar, Straus $5.95) its fabric. Spain's Costa Brava is its locale, as Paris was for the Hemingway expatriates, and Antibes for those of Fitzgerald.

A "negative breed" of doomed runaways from life are the figures of a rich profusion of themes and actions. Vincent Moreuil has run away from one failure in love and is heading for another with Jenny, proprietor of the "Estrella."

Serge and Nadine are adolescents escaping from bored parents.

Regnie is a distinguished writer, drowning in drink and women, whose son Daniel tries to save him and who is saved finally by Jenny. Finally, there is La Gloria, caretaker of Vincent's house, who has long loved Pinero, Picassoesque painter of great brilliance. Pinero, who after 50 years discovers the real meaning of La Gloria to his life.

The multiplicity of plots and counterplots does not obscure the brilliance of the writing, and attention is held to the end.

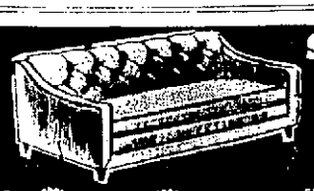

MAINBOCHER in his workroom surrounded by his famous "clients"—One of the 37 photographs illustrating THE WHEELS OF FASHION by Phyllis Lee Levin (Doubleday $5.95). In it, Mrs. Levin explores and explains the past and present of one of the most influential parts of American life. Her candid and lively history of the fashion industry in America is the result of more than four years spent digging through files and interviewing the czars and peasants of the fashion world. Mrs. Levin has for the past 15 years contributed women's features to the New York Times. She was formerly an editor with Mademoiselle and Harper's Bazaar.

Families Incorporated

By Ruth C. Ikerman

ONE OF MY favorite families has two small children who sometimes take a long time finishing up their plates at the evening meal. This bothered the young father no end, because he was in a hurry to get into his evening paper and the television program. The young mother wanted the family to finish dinner together as a unit, and to have this hour in which to teach the "small fry" some manners about their food and napkins.

The last time I was at the family home for dinner, I was introduced to a marvelous new game which makes them a part of "Families Incorporated." Anybody can play it, and there can be as many important officers as there are people who sit around the table, eating the casserole and bread and butter.

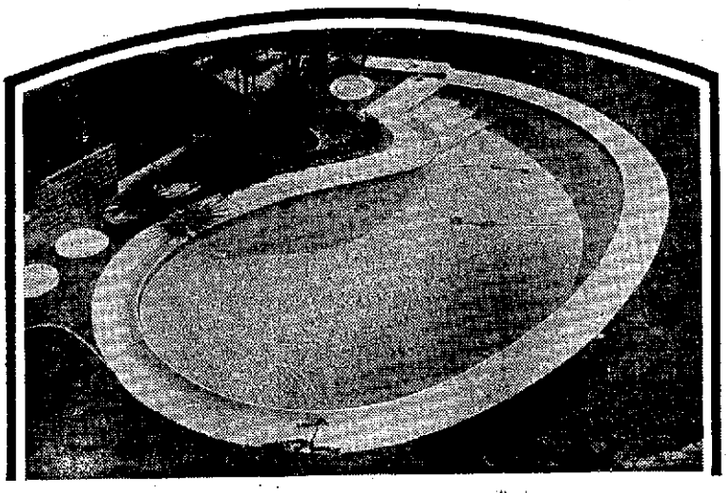

FIRST OF ALL, you serve yourself to what you want of the food, and you have to promise not to wolf it down in a great big hurry just to get through in a rush. But you also have to take a pledge to clean up your plate, and eat everything on it, if you have any desire to win the game.

The first one who finishes eating his food and cleans up his plate neatly is for that night officially the "Vice-President" and the third one gets to be the "Secretary-Treasurer." The fourth one is dubbed the "tail wagger," and of course anybody would rather work his way up to being president of any corporation someday, this family thinks.

IT'S SURPRISING how often father turns out to be the last one through, and maybe that is because mother likes to prepare his special dishes for him, like that goulash casserole with lots of cheese on top. Sometimes mother is last, and that may be because she is looking for a little bit more of the blackberry jelly in the glass to go with the muffin which daughter made as her school cooking project.

Somehow or other, the two children in the family seem to get through rather early these days, and are President and Vice President, permitted to make speeches about company policy and what they think the corporation ought to do on its next summer vacation. As a guest enjoying the good food and fellowship, I came in last and was made second assistant secretary to the board, the young president having power to appoint me to any office he chose.

Families Incorporated are lots of fun to visit with, and they tell me that their houses are fun to live in, too.

This complete FAMILY POOL only $2095*

including deck, electric, and everything you'll need!

Compare this pool's value! For only $27.93 a monthyou can give your family this beautiful Anthony Constellation pool. Complete. Ready for a summer's fun. Everything you'll need has been combined into one low monthly payment. This is a deluxe pool, now priced lower because of Anthony's greater summer volume. Compare. You'll find the Constellation is larger (389 sq. ft.); has a host of quality features. Ask for free sketch of this pool in your yard.

How Anthony gives greater value. By building almost four times as many pools as any other single builder†, Anthony's overhead per pool is less. This is one way prices can be cut without cutting value —and only Anthony, the world's largest pool builder, can do it.

The Anthony Constellation style 290, is 16' x 30', 389 sq. ft., 3' to 8' deep; has 88' perimeter. Lifetime structural guarantee. Features: (1) coping and deck, total of 27 inches wide around entire pool, (2) electrical hookup to 50 feet, (3) ¾ H.P. pump, (4) filter, (5) skimmer, (6) white plaster interior, (7) steps, (8) cleaning tools, (9) test kit, (10) plans, permits, earth removal. *Summer Special list price for Zone I. Subject to change for conditions of expansive soil or difficult access.

Letter from pool buyer cites fast construction schedule

"Mr. Phil Anthony:
Recently our pool was completed by you and we wish to take this opportunity to compliment you and your organization on the fine job you did. From start to finish it was handled with speed (17 days) and efficiency."
Sincerely
Gilbert and Betty Harris

The recommendation of satisfied pool owners has helped Anthony become by far the world's largest pool builder.

PET PARADE

But Never Turtle Soup

By Eleanor Avery Price

IF YOU take a desert excursion, do not remove the tortoises from their native habitat. However, if you have such a pet or can get someone to give you one, you might be interested in the California Turtle and Tortoise Club. Membership is 50 cents monthly for adults and the bulletin alone is worth this much. The secretary is Mrs. William Trenbeth, 8847 DeHaviland Ave., Los Angeles 45, or address Jack Beattie, 22419 Warmside Ave., Torrance.

About 100 fanciers belong to this club. They meet at Westchester Recreation Center, 7000 W. Manchester Blvd., Los Angeles, at 7:30 p.m. the third Friday of each month. Take a notebook and pencil, as you will want to jot down some of the information given by guest speakers and experienced fanciers. There is also a social gathering afterwards, with refreshments (not to include turtle soup).

THE WORLD is full of interesting turtle varieties—the African hinge-back, Star of India, Thailand snaileater, Mata Mata from Brazil, and many others. The combined membership of the club may have a larger collection than you'll ever find in a zoo. Turtles, the only creatures that exist in the exact form as in the days of dinosaurs, have been found by archeologists in ancient diggings, and the image of the turtle was etched on the earliest recorded "money" in the world in ancient Lydia. Mrs. Trenbeth says one of these "coins" can be seen at Forest Lawn museum.

As stated before, the club bulletin is a good one, filled with pertinent information. For instance, did you know that turtles and tortoises are susceptible to respiratory ailments and can be helped with children's nose drops? Did you ever consider trimming your turtle's toenails? Did you know a turtle can

Young cellists in Meremblum's Pioneer Group aspire to membership in the "big orchestra."

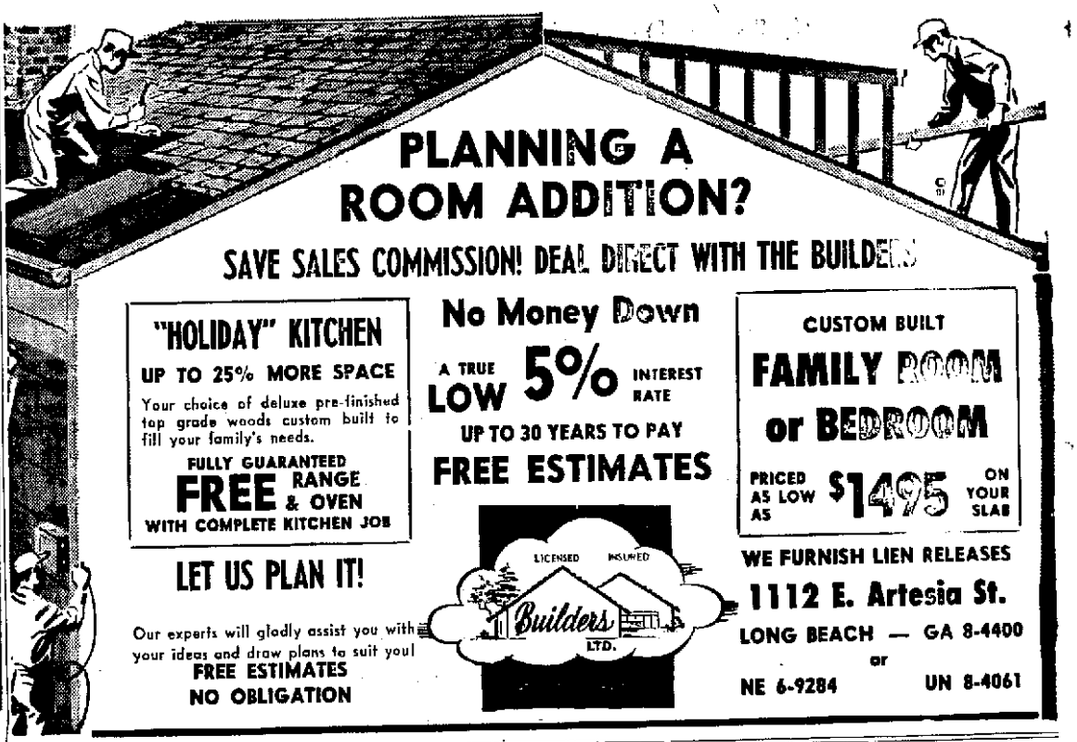

Pied Piper

studio musical directors: such men as Charles Previn of Universal, Constantin Bakaleinikoff of RKO, and 20th Century-Fox's Alfred Newman were sufficiently impressed with the youngsters' ability to give some of them that long-dreamed-of "first break" in the studio orchestras.

THE ENERGETIC Meremblum, an outstanding concert violinist whose musical education included coaching with the great Russian pedagogue Leopold Auer, has hosted such all-time favorites as Heifetz, Piatigorsky, Rubinstein, and the late beloved Jeanette MacDonald as soloists with his orchestra. When Heifetz starred in the Goldwyn film "They Shall Have Music," he broke a long-standing studio precedent by insisting that Meremblum's orchestra, featured with him in the picture, do the actual recording of music to be used, including the accompaniment for his playing of the Mendelssohn Concerto. Such recording had always been done by professional studio musicians, but Peter Meremblum brought his charges through the difficult assignment with such success that the group was later the subject of a series of short features filmed by Warner Brothers.

As he approaches his 80s, the legendary and indefatigable Meremblum entertains no thoughts of retiring. His youngsters—he has none of his own, but 110 in the "big orchestra" and another 100 in a preparatory group of younger children called the Pioneers—are a delight and a necessity in his life.

Hollywood Version

Pied Piper

By Warren and Barbara Transue

—Author's Photos

Peter Meremblum demonstrates correct bowing technique to teen orchestra violin section.

HOLLYWOOD has harbored a latter-day Pied Piper for lo, these nearly 30 years, and this one is famous not only in his own hamlet but the world over.

He is Peter Meremblum, slight, smooth-cheeked and smiling mentor of the internationally famed California Junior Symphony Orchestra, which since 1936 has set the pattern for youth symphonies all over the globe. The orchestra, with headquarters at Plummer Park in Hollywood, rehearses every Saturday morning, its teen-age members not one whit fazed by the constant stream of luminaries from the concert and motion picture world who drop in to conduct or to run through a concerto with them.

Last fall, Jack Benny offered to be guest soloist at their annual concert, a fund raising event. Hilarious as always, Benny unsmilingly battled his way through a concerto, numerous encores, and a brief bit as the group's concertmaster. It all stemmed from an encounter with Meremblum and the kids in 1959, an encounter so gratifying to all concerned that Peter Meremblum and his young musicians soun found themselves sharing Benny's two-week engagement at the Greek Theater.

THE CALIFORNIA Junior Symphony came into being at Christmas time 1936, when Meremblum, recently arrived from Seattle after 11 years preparing orchestra players at the Cornish School, called together a group of his violin students for an informal chamber music session. He failed to reckon with their enthusiasm: their pleas for permission to bring their string-playing brothers, sisters and pals to further meetings resulted in an immediate need for a move from Meremblum's small living room to a nearby church. There was no stopping the giant new baby; it mushroomed almost overnight into a fully instrumented symphony orchestra. Since then, the full complement has never numbered less than 110, a tight squeeze for any stage—except for the one in Plummer Park's Fiesta Hall, which was designed specifically to accommodate the youthful players.

The rest is musical history. Leopold Stokowski, who attended one of those early rehearsals, was the first of a long list of renowned artists and conductors who have contributed their genius to musical Young America over the years. Many a professional musician now in his 30s or 40s still thrills to the memory of rehearsals under the baton of Bruno Walter, Ormandy, Mitropoulos, Barbirolli. An even more material assist came from some of Hollywood's motion picture

Petunias Fill a Stand-In Role

By Joe Littlefield

NOTHING looks so unattractive as the wide bare spaces between small junipers while they are slowly growing together. Smartest thing one can do is to plant some bright flowered petunias for gay splashes of color between the gray green junipers.

Petunias are obtainable in a wide range of colorful flowers. Work some humus mulch material into the small holes dug for the plants because petunias will get a quicker, better root start.

Petunias aren't the only plants that fit such a planting area in full sun or mostly sun. Persian carpet zinnias, alyssum, and portulaca are some of the other showy summer blooming plants.

A sun loving perennial that flowers the year around and lasts several years is hybrid gazania. The single daisy-like blossoms in colors of rose, white, various shades of yellow and orange will liven up the juniper planting area.

A SUGGESTION, for rose growers:

Some roses have branching growth habits and others produce vigorous canes that keep growing up out of the base. These canes should not be confused with suckers which originate below the crown or bud and should be removed. Many of these basal canes often will tower above the contour of the bush before it divides into two or more stems.

After blooming, these canes can't be cut back much below the established height of the bush. If instead, we snap off the top two inches of the basal cane when it reaches 15 or 20 inches high depending upon the size of bush, it will divide into two or more almost equally sturdy stems.

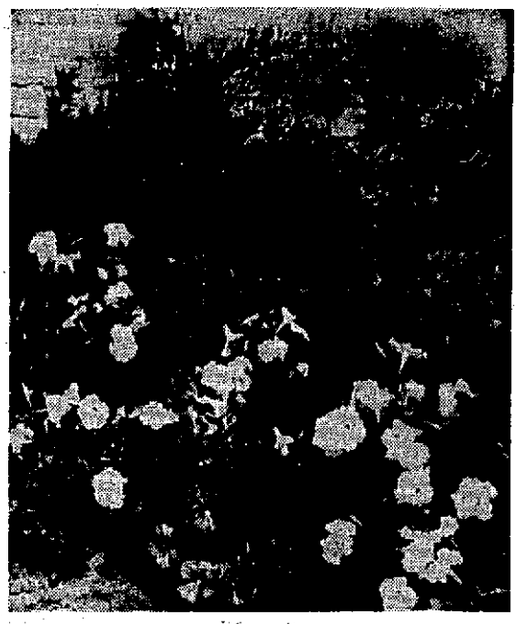

AT THIS STAGE the cane is very succulent and will snap like a string bean. Since there was no cut made, the end dries up with little danger of infection. In place of one, two or more stems will now come up through the top of the bush with more blooms and less top heaviness. After blooming, these stems can be cut back just a little below the contour of the bush and then be able to put forth more productive new growth.

Dorothy Digs

In some areas the Wooly Aphis is a problem on pyracantha this year and the best way to control it is with a multi-purpose, combination spray containing a broad spectrum insecticide such as dieldrin or chlordane or both. Spray with a high pressure not only on the plant to knock off the cottony substance in the crotches, but thoroughly on the ground to kill the root aphis which is usually also present. It may take two applications to completely eradicate these pests but you will be rewarded this fall and winter by the beautiful red berries.

Hacksaw Tip

Don't ruin a good hacksaw by sawing away on metal too hard to be cut in this way. Crescent Tool Co. says there is a limit to the hardness of metal that can be hacksawed and suggests you test the metal with the very front or rear teeth or with a file to determine if it can be cut. Then always use the entire length of the blade on every stroke to distribute wear evenly.

Petunias can stand in for junipers until the junipers spread to fill landscape bare spots.

But Never Turtle Soup

"go down" in the hind legs, usually from poor diet? Many persons think these pets can live on lettuce alone. They can't, not if they are to be healthy. In spite of the argument that tortoises do not eat meat, some really do. Also hard boiled egg yolk, bits of tomato and even canned dog food. Have you ever seen a turtle nipping eagerly at cuttlebone? Have you heard copper, such as pennies or tubing, in the water helps strengthen shell growth?

The club not only dispenses valuable advice and conducts a social hour, it also sponsors bus trips with a minimum charge. So, whether you are a businessman, teacher, housewife, bricklayer, or whatever, if you like turtles, this club is looking for you.

German Shepherd Dog Club of Long Beach has a match today at Long Beach Recreation Park, an event that is always of interest to local dog fanciers.

ALL SETTLERS Club has a setter show and all-breed obedience match today at Rancho Park, Motor Avenue south of Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles; entries taken until noon.

Chihuahuas will participate in a sanctioned match May 22 at 887 Sherman St., San Diego; entries taken until noon.

DEL SUR Kennel Club has an unbenched show and trial Saturday at Wells Park, 1153 Madison Ave., El Cajon. Entries close tomorrow for Pasadena Kennel Club event June 6 at Brookside Park, Pasadena.

Item: There is only one magazine devoted just to cats. Cats Magazine, 2900 Jefferson Ave., Washington, Pa. 15301, 40 cents per copy, $4 per year.

By action of the AKC Board of Directors, the breed Belgian Malinois will leave the miscellaneous class and join the working group effective at all shows for which entries close after June 30. At the same time, the breeds Chinese Crested and Russian Owtchars will be dropped from the miscellaneous class, and the name Australian Heeler will be changed to Australian Cattle Dog.

Families Incorporated

By Ruth C. Ikerman

ONE OF MY favorite families has two small children who sometimes take a long time finishing up their plates at the evening meal. This bothered the young father no end, because he was in a hurry to get into his evening paper and the television program. The young mother wanted the family to finish dinner together as a unit, and to have this hour in which to teach the "small fry" some manners about their food and napkins.

The last time I was at the family home for dinner, I was introduced to a marvelous new game which makes them a part of "Families Incorporated." Anybody can play it, and there can be as many important officers as there are people who sit around the table, eating the casserole and bread and butter.

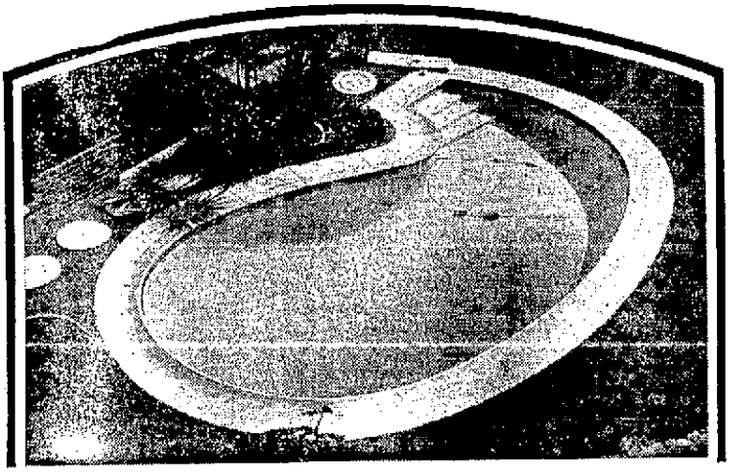

FIRST OF ALL, you serve yourself to what you want of the food, and you have to promise not to wolf it down in a great big hurry just to get through in a rush. But you also have to take a pledge to clean up your plate, and eat everything on it, if you have any desire to win the game.

The first one who finishes eating his food and cleans up his plate neatly is for that night officially the "Vice-President" and the third one gets to be the "Secretary-Treasurer." The fourth one is dubbed the "tail wagger," and of course anybody would rather work his way up to being president of any corporation someday, this family thinks.

IT'S SURPRISING how often father turns out to be the last one through, and maybe that is because mother likes to prepare his special dishes for him, like that goulash casserole with lots of cheese on top. Sometimes mother is last, and that may be because she is looking for a little bit more of the blackberry jelly in the glass to go with the muffin which daughter made as her school cooking project.

Somehow or other, the two children in the family seem to get through rather early these days, and are President and Vice President, permitted to make speeches about company policy and what they think the corporation ought to do on its next summer vacation. As a guest enjoying the good food and fellowship, I came in last and was made second assistant secretary to the board, the young president having power to appoint me to any office he chose.

Families Incorporated are lots of fun to visit with, and they tell me that their houses are fun to live in, too.

This complete FAMILY POOL only $2095*

Letter from pool buyer cites fast construction schedule

"Mr. Phil Anthony:
Recently our pool was completed by you and we wish to take this opportunity to compliment you and your organization on the fine job you did. From start to finish it was handled with speed (17 days) and efficiency."
Sincerely
Gilbert and Betty Harris

The recommendation of satisfied pool owners has helped Anthony become by far the world's largest pool builder.

Desert Tree

By Dorothy Wilson

Joshua trees extend their "praying" arms skyward picturesquely on the high desert.

PICTURESQUE in its high desert settings, the joshua tree (Yucca brevifolia) delights the brush of the artist and the camera of the tourist alike. Growing to a height of 40 feet, it blossoms in season with fascinating creamy white clusters of 8 to 10 inches width on the ends of the long and twisting branches.

Called a tree, it is very different from an ordinary tree and does not have the annual rings from which to determine age. Some are ancient and have been long standing in all their splendor, like giant sentinels guarding the hills and valleys of the desert. They have become symbolic of the high desert.

The yucca brevifolia is of the lily variety. It is difficult to realize that a giant growth as weird and majestic as the joshua tree as being any relation what-soever to the lily family, however it is a fact.

THE YUCCA has served as useful to mankind, termed as a "survival plant." The Indians used it as food, for clothing and for medicinal purposes. Yucca fiber combined with juniper bark was woven into baskets, tote bags and sandals. The buds, flowers, fruit and the young shoots peppered nourishing food; the roots were also eaten raw, boiled or baked as a vegetable. The roots and stems were made into a soap with which the Indians washed their hair. It was used to make a stain or varnish. An infusion of roots (steeped in a liquid) served as a mild laxative. A fermented drink was also made from the fruit.

There are many varieties of the yucca but only a few are well known specimens. The yucca whippielii or the "Lord's Candle" has a large flower like a taper. The flowers that dot the hillsides sparkle at night, thus the name of the "Lord's Candle." The plant grows from the base minus a large trunk. The long, sharp leaves or spiny growth has blossoms after it has grown to about four feet in height then it dies after it blooms. It is slow growing.

THE YUCCA arborsence and the yucca schudigera grow in the rolling hills of the desert and are beautiful but none equals the splender or majestic beauty of the giant joshuas that seemed to be touched by the Creator's hand and are like symbols from the Holy Land. They possess a strange fascination for most anyone who beholds them. The Mormons who were spellbound by them many years ago and who gave them the well-known name of joshua tree or the "tree that prays," as it does seem to be in a gesture of prayer with its arms outstretched.

GARDEN CLUBS

"Ladies Nite," an annual event of the Orange County Branch, California National Fuchsia Society, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday in George Washington School, Emily and Chartres Streets, Anaheim. Prizes, a plant table and refreshments will be part of the program, according to George F. Roy Sr. of Garden Grove, press chairman of the group. Plans for the annual Fuchsia and Shade Plant Show June 25, 26 and 27 in the Floriculture Building, Orange County Fairgrounds, Costa Mesa, are in progress. Theme will be "Wonderful World of Fuchsias."

Entertainment for a meeting of Dominguez Lincoln Village Garden Club at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Dominguez Building, 21156 S. Santa Fe Ave., will be provided by the Kitchen Band of the Gold Star Mothers Home, under the leadership of Mrs. Beth Benson. Round table discussion and a plant table are on the program. Hostesses are Alice Bush and Bea Tafilmeir.

Lakewood Garden Club will install new officers at a luncheon at noon Thursday in the patio of the Palms Restaurant, 1010 E. Orangethorpe Ave., Anaheim. Gordon Baker Lloyd will be installing officer and will show color slides taken on recent tours and titled "California Is My Garden."

Allen Miller, city college student, will receive the club's annual scholarship award.

Officers to be installed include Gladys Ragon, president; Mrs. Bettie Derifield, first vice president; Mrs. Betty Cooper, second vice president; Mrs. Florence Wylie, secretary; Lyman Tew, treasurer, and Mrs. Julia Owen, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Frank Connors, 6018 Greenmeadow Rd., Lakewood, is in charge of luncheon reservations.

Long Beach Parent Chapter, American Begonia Society, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Community Savings & Loan Assn. Building, 3901 Atlantic Ave. G. Bowen will speak.

Young cellists in Meremblum's Pioneer Group aspire to membership in the "big orchestra."

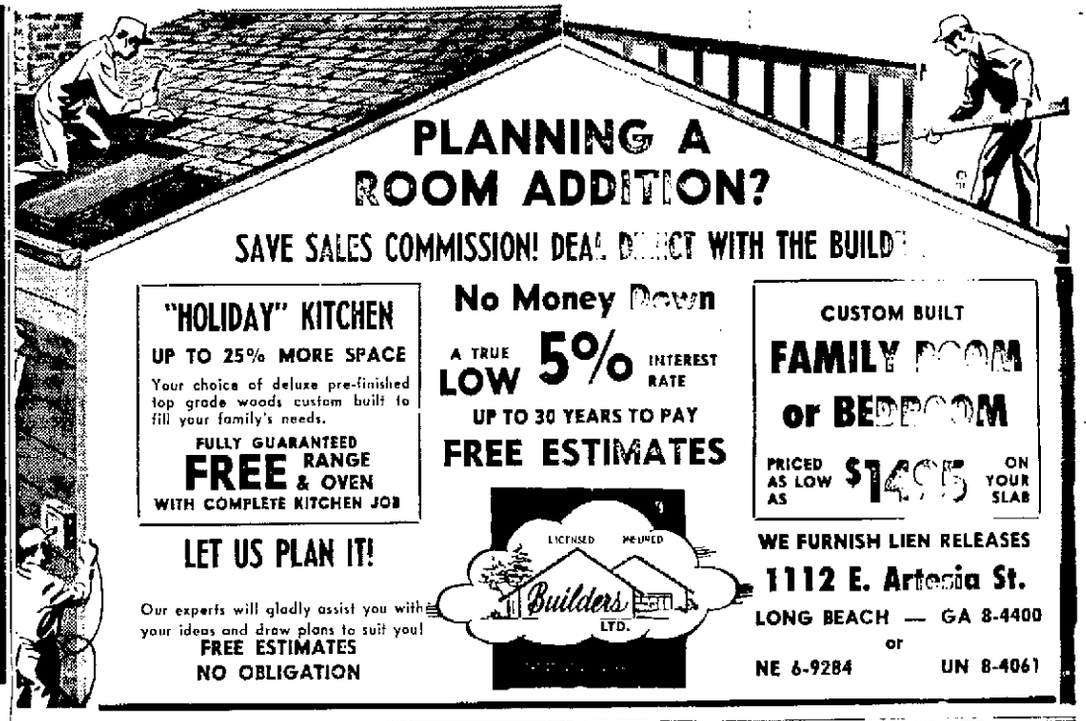

Pied Piper

studio musical directors: such men as Charles Previn of Universal, Constantin Bakaleinikoff of RKO, and 20th Century-Fox's Alfred Newman were sufficiently impressed with the youngsters' ability to give some of them that long-dreamed-of "first break" in the studio orchestras.

THE ENERGETIC Meremblum, an outstanding concert violinist whose musical education included coaching with the great Russian pedagogue Leopold Auer, has hosted such all-time favorites as Heifetz, Piatigorsky, Rubinstein, and the late beloved Jeanette MacDonald as soloists with his orchestra. When Heifetz starred in the Goldwyn film "They Shall Have Music," he broke a long-standing studio precedent by insisting that Meremblum's orchestra, featured with him in the picture, do the actual recording of music to be used, including the accompaniment for his playing of the Mendelssohn Concerto. Such recording had always been done by professional studio musicians, but Peter Meremblum brought his charges through the difficult assignment with such success that the group was later the subject of a series of short features filmed by Warner Brothers.

As he approaches his 80s, the legendary and indefatigable Meremblum entertains no thoughts of retiring. His youngsters—he has none of his own, but 110 in the "big orchestra" and another 100 in a preparatory group of younger children called the Pioneers—are a delight and a necessity in his life.

Baby's Coach

Storks are old-fashioned, at least, in view of this modern coach to greet baby's arrival.

By Lorena Fleissig

SPRINGTIME could never be other than gay with treasures like babies, flowers and friends to brighten each day.

Babies do not always have to arrive by stork flight. They have imagination, too, and often choose to be ushered in with more pomp. Like driving a golden carriage with trailing spring blossoms which would be preferable to being precariously swung in a towel from the beak of a spindly legged bird; so did this charmer (see illustration) decide to make a posh entrance.

With the delicate plastic fruit baskets available in the markets again, one can devise an elegant conveyance by upending a similarly designed basket upon another. To seal them together use plastic cement, the same clear liquid prepared for splicing home movie film. The trick is to brush the surfaces to be sealed thoroughly and quickly, i.e., the flat basket rim, and join, allow to set and like magic, the body of the carriage is formed.

To cut openings on all sides of the carriage use a scissors, cutting a triangle from each side of the two baskets which will result in a diamond shaped doorway.

IF THE BASKETS are fashioned in squares, follow the pattern to make an oblong opening on each of the sides.

The carriage body is sprayed inside and out with gold and later with spray glue to hold a thin scatter of glitter, mainly at the corners and some on the lower sides. To decorate the top gold buttons are glued to the corners. The pale green carved bead in the center is topped by a gold Christmas bead wired through a very small gold doily.

In place of the buttons, a circlet of beads might be wired in place with the fine gold or silver spool wire sold in ten cent stores. Instead of the gold doily, a small circle or square of gold giftwrap could be cut to fit the top.

THE CHASSIS is a long narrow strip of lace-like but firm wire "cloth" used in building construction. It is slightly wider than the base of the carriage and long enough to bend around the axles, front and back. The axles are four-inch metal spools from roll film. They are fastened to the wheels which are typewriter spools. Small movie film spools could be used.

When the chassis is assembled spray it with gold. Secure the carriage body to the center of the chassis which is made to bend downward from front and back axles, using the spool wire to tie down the four corners of the carriage base.

Now is the time to make a plush seat for the VIP who has charge of the carriage and the happiness of the occasion. Illustrated is a seat of rose-red velva paper which was the lid of a gift box. Seated thereon is the expectant ceramic symbol of the coming happy event accompanied at the rear by two pink plastic baby guards.

This sentimental carriage, bearing a gift of pastel pink and lilac tinted blossoms should challenge old Doc Stork as centerpiece for the baby party.

Plant Early

Count sweet william among the flowers that should be planted early in the season. Even though sweet william is a biennial, normally blooming the year after seeds are sown, it will bloom the first year if seeds are planted sufficiently early. The flower colors are so bright and gay, the scent so sweet, that every garden should boast sweet william.

Petunias Fill a Stand-In Role

By Joe Littlefield

NOTHING looks so unattractive as the wide bare spaces between small junipers while they are slowly growing together. Smartest thing one can do is to plant some bright flowered petunias for gay splashes of color between the gray green junipers.

Petunias are obtainable in a wide range of colorful flowers. Work some humus mulch material into the small holes dug for the plants because petunias will get a quicker, better root start.

Petunias aren't the only plants that fit such a planting area in full sun or mostly sun. Persian carpet zinnias, alyssum, and portulaca are some of the other showy summer blooming plants.

A sun loving perennial that flowers the year around and lasts several years is hybrid gazania. The single daisy-like blossoms in colors of rose, white, various shades of yellow and orange will liven up the juniper planting area.

A SUGGESTION, for rose growers:

Some roses have branching growth habits and others produce vigorous canes that keep growing up out of the base. These canes should not be confused with suckers which originate below the crown or bud and should be removed. Many of these basal canes often will tower above the contour of the bush before it divides into two or more stems.

After blooming, these canes can't be cut back much below the established height of the bush. If instead, we snap off the top two inches of the basal cane when it reaches 15 or 20 inches high depending upon the size of bush, it will divide into two or more almost equally sturdy stems.

AT THIS STAGE the cane is very succulent and will snap like a string bean. Since there was no cut made, the end dries up with little danger of infection. In place of one, two or more stems will now come up through the top of the bush with more blooms and less top heaviness. After blooming, these stems can be cut back just a little below the contour of the bush and then be able to put forth more productive new growth.

Petunias can stand in for junipers until the junipers spread to fill landscape bare spots.

Dorothy Digs

In some areas the Wooly Aphis is a problem on pyracantha this year and the best way to control it is with a multi-purpose, combination spray containing a broad spectrum insecticide such as dieldrin or chlordane or both. Spray with a high pressure not only on the plant to knock off the cottony substance in the crotches, but thoroughly on the ground to kill the root aphis which is usually also present. It may take two applications to completely eradicate these pests but you will be rewarded this fall and winter by the beautiful red berries.

Hacksaw Tip

Don't ruin a good hacksaw by sawing away on metal too hard to be cut in this way. Crescent Tool Co. says there is a limit to the hardness of metal that can be hacksawed and suggests you test the metal with the very front or rear teeth or with a file to determine if it can be cut. Then always use the entire length of the blade on every stroke to distribute wear evenly.

But Never Turtle Soup

"go down" in the hind legs, usually from poor diet? Many persons think these pets can live on lettuce alone. They can't, not if they are to be healthy. In spite of the argument that tortoises do not eat meat, some really do. Also hard boiled egg yolk, bits of tomato and even canned dog food. Have you ever seen a turtle nipping eagerly at cuttlebone? Have you heard copper, such as pennies or tubing, in the water helps strengthen shell growth?

The club not only dispenses valuable advice and conducts a social hour, it also sponsors bus trips with a minimum charge. So, whether you are a businessman, teacher, housewife, bricklayer, or whatever, if you like turtles, this club is looking for you.

Southland Dining at its Finest in the Long Beach and Orange County Area

WEARING expectant smiles, people often troop into the Leilani restaurant, 5236 E. Second St., carrying assorted containers. They depart happily with their jugs, crocks or bottles filled with a mysterious dark brown fluid which has the exotic ability of transforming them into master chefs at home.

The fluid is the Leilani's teriyaki steak marinade, consisting of soya sauce, fresh ginger, honey, brown sugar and secret amounts of tropical herbs. After tasting its wonderful flavor while dining on the restaurant's teriyaki steak, many guests become so enamored that they purchase quantities to take hmoe. Host Don May charges $2 a quart for the magic concoction and supplies containers for those who don't bring their own.

The recipe for that marinade, which works equally well on chicken, is hidden in the Leilani's vault to keep it from prying eyes. It originated perhaps generations ago in Japan before being acquired by Robert McCorriston, a Honolulu banker. Don acquired it through McCorriston's daughter, Mary Lou Smith, wife of a Navy captain stationed here. To obtain it, Don traded Mrs. Smith the recipe for his delicious barbecued spareribs.

Don soaks his 12-ounce New York steaks in the marinade for 24 hours. They are then broiled until they have a black exterior and pink interior. They have a sweetish, tropical flavor which is quite incomparable. Served for $4.25 each, the steaks are accompanied by soup du jour, chilled green salad, tiny tender Chinese green peas, rice and beverage. The Leilani, which has booths constructed like tropical bamboo huts, is also famed for its Celestial dinner ($9 for two persons), a multi-course feast of fascinating Cantonese foods. Also popular are the generous American dinners, from $2.75, including soup, salad, beverage and dessert.

SUNDAY TREAT — A wonderful place to take the children for supper on Sunday evening — that's Me-n-Ed's pizza parlor, 4115 Paramount Blvd. Clean as a clinic but 10 times more friendly, this restaurant features pizzas topped with six kinds of the finest quality cheeses obtainable. The crust is light and crispy with a unique nut-like flavor. On Sunday nights pianist Dorothy Connors and banjoist Tommy Gripp start their roaring 20s entertainment at 6:30, so the small fry can enjoy it.

Desert Tree

By Dorothy Wilson

Joshua trees extend their "praying" arms skyward picturesquely on the high desert.

PICTURESQUE in its high desert settings, the joshua tree (Yucca brevifolia) delights the brush of the artist and the camera of the tourist alike. Growing to a height of 40 feet, it blossoms in season with fascinating creamy white clusters of 8 to 10 inches width on the ends of the long and twisting branches.

Called a tree, it is very different from an ordinary tree and does not have the annual rings from which to determine age. Some are ancient and have been long standing in all their splendor, like giant sentinels guarding the hills and valleys of the desert. They have become symbolic of the high desert.

The yucca brevifolia is of the lily variety. It is difficult to realize that a giant growth as weird and majestic as the joshua tree as being any relation what-soever to the lily family, however it is a fact.

THE YUCCA has served as useful to mankind, termed as a "survival plant." The Indians used it as food, for clothing and for medicinal purposes. Yucca fiber combined with juniper bark was woven into baskets, tote bags and sandals. The buds, flowers, fruit and the young shoots peppered nourishing food; the roots were also eaten raw, boiled or baked as a vegetable. The routs and stems were made into a soap with which the Indians washed their hair. It was used to make a stain or varnish. An infusion of roots (steeped in a liquid) served as a mild laxative. A fermented drink was also made from the fruit.

There are many varieties of the yucca but only a few are well known specimens. The yucca whippielii or the "Lord's Candle" has a large flower like a taper. The flowers that dot the hillsides sparkle at night, thus the name of the "Lord's Candle." The plant grows from the base minus a large trunk. The long, sharp leaves or spiny growth has blossoms after it has grown to about four feet in height then it dies after it blooms. It is slow growing.

THE YUCCA arborsence and the yucca schudigera grow in the rolling hills of the desert and are beautiful but none equals the splender or majestic beauty of the giant joshuas that seemed to be touched by the Creator's hand and are like symbols from the Holy Land. They possess a strange fascination for most anyone who beholds them. The Mormons who were spellbound by them many years ago and who gave them the well-known name of joshua tree or the "tree that prays," as it does seem to be in a gesture of prayer with its arms outstretched.

GARDEN CLUBS

"Ladies Nite," an annual event of the Orange County Branch, California National Fuchsia Society, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday in George Washington School, Emily and Chartres Streets, Anaheim. Prizes, a plant table and refreshments will be part of the program, according to George F. Roy Sr. of Garden Grove, press chairman of the group. Plans for the annual Fuchsia and Shade Plant Show June 25, 26 and 27 in the Floriculture Building, Orange County Fairgrounds, Costa Mesa, are in progress. Theme will be "Wonderful World of Fuchsias."

Entertainment for a meeting of Dominguez Lincoln Village Garden Club at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Dominguez Building, 21156 S. Santa Fe Ave., will be provided by the Kitchen Band of the Gold Star Mothers Home, under the leadership of Mrs. Beth Benson. Round table discussion and a plant table are on the program. Hostesses are Alice Bush and Bea Tafilmeir.

Lakewood Garden Club will install new officers at a luncheon at noon Thursday in the patio of the Palms Restaurant, 1010 E. Orangethorpe Ave., Anaheim. Gordon Baker Lloyd will be installing officer and will show color slides taken on recent tours and titled "California Is My Garden."

Allen Miller, city college student, will receive the club's annual scholarship award.

Officers to be installed include Gladys Ragon, president; Mrs. Bettie Derifield, first vice president; Mrs. Betty Cooper, second vice president; Mrs. Florence Wylic, secretary; Lyman Tew, treasurer, and Mrs. Julia Owen, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Frank Connors, 6018 Greenmeadow Rd., Lakewood, is in charge of luncheon reservations.

Long Beach Parent Chapter, American Begonia Society, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Community Savings & Loan Assn. Building, 3901 Atlantic Ave. G. Bowen will speak.

Baby's Coach

Southland Crossword Puzzle

Solution to Puzzle on Page 28

—Larry Reichner Studio Photo.

Storks are old-fashioned, at least, in view of this modern coach to greet baby's arrival.

By Lorena Fleissig

SPRINGTIME could never be other than gay with treasures like babies, flowers and friends to brighten each day.

Babies do not always have to arrive by stork flight. They have imagination, too, and often choose to be ushered in with more pomp. Like driving a golden carriage with trailing spring blossoms which would be preferable to being precariously swung in a towel from the beak of a spindly legged bird; so did this charmer (see illustration) decide to make a posh entrance.

With the delicate plastic fruit baskets available in the markets again, one can devise an elegant conveyance by upending a similarly designed basket upon another. To seal them together use plastic cement, the same clear liquid prepared for splicing home movie film. The trick is to brush the surfaces to be sealed thoroughly and quickly, i.e., the flat basket rim, and join, allow to set and like magic, the body of the carriage is formed.

To cut openings on all sides of the carriage use a scissors, cutting a triangle from each side of the two baskets which will result in a diamond shaped doorway.

IF THE BASKETS are fashioned in squares, follow the pattern to make an oblong opening on each of the sides.

The carriage body is sprayed inside and out with gold and later with spray glue to hold a thin scatter of glitter, mainly at the corners and some on the lower sides. To decorate the top gold buttons are glued to the corners. The pale green carved bead in the center is topped by a gold Christmas bead wired through a very small gold doily.

In place of the buttons, a circlet of beads might be wired in place with the fine gold or silver spool wire sold in ten cent stores. Instead of the gold doily, a small circle or square of gold giftwrap could be cut to fit the top.

THE CHASSIS is a long narrow strip of lace-like but firm wire "cloth" used in building construction. It is slightly wider than the base of the carriage and long enough to bend around the axles, front and back. The axles are four-inch metal spools from roll film. They are fastened to the wheels which are typewriter spools. Small movie film spools could be used.

When the chassis is assembled spray it with gold. Secure the carriage body to the center of the chassis which is made to bend downward from front and back axles, using the spool wire to tie down the four corners of the carriage base.

Now is the time to make a plush seat for the VIP who has charge of the carriage and the happiness of the occasion. Illustrated is a seat of rose-red velva paper which was the lid of a gift box. Seated thereon is the expectant ceramic symbol of the coming happy event accompanied at the rear by two pink plastic baby guards.

This sentimental carriage, bearing a gift of pastel pink and lilac tinted blossoms should challenge old Doc Stork as centerpiece for the baby party.

Plant Early

Count sweet william among the flowers that should be planted early in the season. Even though sweet william is a biennial, normally blooming the year after seeds are sown, it will bloom the first year if seeds are planted sufficiently early. The flower colors are so bright and gay, the scent so sweet, that every garden should boast sweet william.

WEARING expectant smiles, people often troop into the Leilani restaurant, 5236 E. Second St., carrying assorted containers. They depart happily with their jugs, crocks or bottles filled with a mysterious dark brown fluid which has the exotic ability of transforming them into master chefs at home.

The fluid is the Leilani's teriyaki steak marinade, consisting of soya sauce, fresh ginger, honey, brown sugar and secret amounts of tropical herbs. After tasting its wonderful flavor while dining on the restaurant's teriyaki steak, many guests become so enamored that they purchase quantities to take home. Host Don May charges $2 a quart for the magic concoction and supplies containers for those who don't bring their own.

The recipe for that marinade, which works equally well on chicken, is hidden in the Leilani's vault to keep it from prying eyes. It originated perhaps generations ago in Japan before being acquired by Robert McCorriston, a Honolulu banker. Don acquired it through McCorriston's daughter, Mary Lou Smith, wife of a Navy captain stationed here. To obtain it, Don traded Mrs. Smith the recipe for his delicious barbecued spareribs.

Don soaks his 12-ounce New York steaks in the marinade for 24 hours. They are then broiled until they have a black exterior and pink interior. They have a sweetish, tropical flavor which is quite incomparable. Served for $4.25 each, the steaks are accompanied by soup du jour, chilled green salad, tiny tender Chinese green peas, rice and beverage. The Leilani, which has booths constructed like tropical bamboo huts, is also famed for its Celestial dinner ($9 for two persons), a multi-course feast of fascinating Cantonese foods. Also popular are the generous American dinners, from $2.75, including soup, salad, beverage and dessert.

SUNDAY TREAT — A wonderful place to take the children for supper on Sunday evening — that's Me-n-Ed's pizza parlor, 4115 Paramount Blvd. Clean as a clinic but 10 times more friendly, this restaurant features pizzas topped with six kinds of the finest quality cheeses obtainable. The crust is light and crispy with a unique nut-like flavor. On Sunday nights pianist Dorothy Connors and banjoist Tommy Gripp start their roaring 20s entertainment at 6:30, so the small fry can enjoy it.

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Why are we spending $30 billion to put a man on the moon? Isn't that a stupid waste of the taxpayers' money?—K. T., Princeton, N.J.

A. It is part of our space program, which in turn is a continuation of man's quest for new knowledge. Man has always been interested in the nature of his world. Modern science figuratively began in space—from the observations of Galileo with his telescope, the mathematical calculations of Kepler on planetary motions, the laws of gravitation and motion devised by Newton.

Q. Where was ex-King Farouk finally buried? — J. Burch, New Cumberland, W. Va.

A. He was quietly buried near the grave of his father, King Fuad, at a mosque near the citadel of Saladin in Egypt.

Q. How far is the moon from the earth? How far is Mars from the earth?—Ralph Irwin, Ft. Worth, Tex.

A. The moon is 240,000 miles from the earth. Mars is 34 million miles from earth.

Q. In their second movie do the Beatles actually ski? Or are doubles used?—Edith Coleman, Washington, D.C.

A. The Beatles tried to ski at Obertauern, Austria, for their second film, but local skiers were eventually used instead. Fritz Lang, their ski instructor said without mentioning names: "Some were eager to learn, and some were plain lazy."

Q. Does Sean Connery get any profit percentage from the James Bond films he stars in? — S. H., Bangs, Tex.

A. He owns 5 per cent of Goldfinger which reportedly will gross $40 million world-wide.

Q. How many people in the U.S. are on some form of public relief?—L. Donovan, Croton, N.Y.

A. At this writing 1 in every 25, or approximately 7,900,000.

Q. George V and Queen Mary had a son named Prince John. How come no one ever hears of him or reads about him?—G. Elson, New York, N.Y.

A. He died in 1919, age 13.

Q. I read that Eartha Kitt married her white husband, Bill McDonald, now her manager, on the rebound. Is this on the level?—A. L. T., Birmingham, Ala.

A. Miss Kitt recently told a London reporter: "I'll be quite honest with you. I was never really in love with Bill. I've only loved one man in my life, Arthur Loew, and when he married someone else, I married Bill on the rebound, you might say. But he knew what the score was from the beginning."

Q. Anything to the Patty Duke–Frank Sinatra, Jr., romance?—Helen James, Knoxville, Tenn.

A. It has possibilities.

Q. Has anything authoritative ever been written on who are the worst tippers?—F. L., Washington, D.C.

A. Nothing authoritative. A recent survey of bartenders, however, has them choosing baseball players, doctors, dentists, lawyers and women.

Q. Bing Crosby's four sons by his wife Dixie—all divorced? How many times?—Gigi French, Palo Alto, Calif.

A. Phil Crosby has been divorced twice. Linnie and Dennis once. Son Gary still happily married to his first bride.

Q. I would like to know what roles the following people played in the popularization of the Ku Klux Klan: D. C. Stephenson, Elizabeth Tyler and Edward Clarke.—R. T., Indianapolis, Ind.

A. D. C. Stephenson was the Klan organizer in Indiana in the early 1920's. In 1925 he was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the rape of a young secretary who later died. According to the testimony of C. Anderson Wright, former Klan kleagle in New York state before a 1921 congressional committee: Elizabeth Tyler and Edward Clarke owned the Southern Publicity Association in Atlanta, which was hired to boost Klan membership.

Q. Elizabeth Montgomery, daughter of film star Robert Montgomery, is herself the TV star of Bewitched. How many times has she been married? Who were her husbands?—L. T., Troy, N.Y.

A. Elizabeth has been married three times. First husband, Frederick Camman; second husband, Gig Young; third husband, Bill Asher.

Q. Does the Welch Grape Juice Company of Westfield, N.Y., have any connection with the Robert Welch of the John Birch Society? — Jene Nathans, Miami Beach, Fla.

A. No connection.

Q. Is Yul Brynner naturally bald, or does he have to have his head shaven? — Robert L. Macchia, Ozone Park, N.Y.

A. Brynner is not completely bald has to have his head shaven regularly.

Q. Who is the Chief Butler of England? Is it true that the Chief Butler is in charge of conducting all state functions, such as coronations and burials?—George Kent Baker, Cambridge, Mass.

A. The Chief Butler of England is Bernard Marmaduke FitzAlan-Howard, 16th Duke of Norfolk. In addition to arranging two royal funerals and coronations, he has organized the proclamation of three monarchs —Edward VIII, George VI and Elizabeth II—plus the funeral of Winston Churchill. The Duke was born in 1908 and is the leading Catholic layman in England. In 1937 he broke with family custom and married a Protestant, the Hon. Lavinia Strutt without persuading her to become a Catholic. They have four daughters. The Duke is one of the wealthiest men in England, an aristocrat who detests publicity. He performs his functions as Earl Marshal of England and not as Chief Butler. The sole function of the Chief Butler of England is to pass a cup of wine to the sovereign at coronation banquets. Last such banquet was held in 1821.

Q. Why are we spending $30 billion to put a man on the moon? Isn't that a stupid waste of the taxpayers' money?—K. T., Princeton, N.J.

A. It is part of our space program which in turn is a continuation of man's quest for new knowledge. Man has always been interested in the nature of his world. Modern science figuratively began in space—from the observations of Galileo with his telescope, the mathematical calculations of Kepler on planetary motions, the laws of gravitation and motion devised by Newton.

Q. Where was ex-King Farouk finally buried? — J. Burch, New Cumberland, W. Va.

A. He was quietly buried near the grave of his father, King Fuad, at a mosque near the citadel of Saladin in Egypt.

Q. How far is the moon from the earth? How far is Mars from the earth?—Ralph Irwin, Ft. Worth, Tex.

A. The moon is 240,000 miles from the earth. Mars is 34 million miles from earth.

Q. In their second movie do the Beatles actually ski? Or are doubles used?—Edith Coleman, Washington, D.C.

A. The Beatles tried to ski at Obertauern, Austria, for their second film, but local skiers were eventually used instead. Fritz Lang, their ski instructor said without mentioning names: "Some were eager to learn, and some were plain lazy."

Q. Does Sean Connery get any profit percentage from the James Bond films he stars in? — S. H., Bangs, Tex.

A. He owns 5 per cent of Goldfinger which reportedly will gross $40 million world-wide.

Q. How many people in the U.S. are on some form of public relief?—L. Donovan, Croton, N.Y.

A. At this writing 1 in every 25, or approximately 7,900,000.

Q. George V and Queen Mary had a son named Prince John. How come no one ever hears of him or reads about him?—G. Elson, New York, N.Y.

A. He died in 1919, age 13.

Q. I read that Eartha Kitt married her white husband, Bill McDonald, now her manager, on the rebound. Is this on the level?—A. L. T., Birmingham, Ala.

A. Miss Kitt recently told a London reporter: "I'll be quite honest with you. I was never really in love with Bill. I've only loved one man in my life, Arthur Loew, and when he married someone else, I married Bill on the rebound, you might say. But he knew what the score was from the beginning."

Q. Anything to the Patty Duke–Frank Sinatra, Jr., romance?—Helen James, Knoxville, Tenn.

A. It has possibilities.

Q. Has anything authoritative ever been written on who are the worst tippers?—F. L., Washington, D.C.

A. Nothing authoritative. A recent survey of bartenders, however, has them choosing baseball players, doctors, dentists, lawyers and women.

Q. Bing Crosby's four sons by his wife Dixie—all divorced? How many times?—Gigi French, Palo Alto, Calif.

A. Phil Crosby has been divorced twice. Linnie and Dennis once. Son Gary still happily married to his first bride.

Q. I would like to know what roles the following people played in the popularization of the Ku Klux Klan: D. C. Stephenson, Elizabeth Tyler and Edward Clarke.—R. T., Indianapolis, Ind.

A. D. C. Stephenson was the Klan organizer in Indiana in the early 1920's. In 1925 he was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the rape of a young secretary who later died. According to the testimony of C. Anderson Wright, former Klan kleagle in New York state before a 1921 congressional committee: Elizabeth Tyler and Edward Clarke owned the Southern Publicity Association in Atlanta, which was hired to boost Klan membership.

Q. Elizabeth Montgomery, daughter of film star Robert Montgomery, is herself the TV star of* Bewitched. *How many times has she been married? Who were her husbands?—L. T., Troy, N.Y.

A. Elizabeth has been married three times. First husband, Frederick Camman; second husband, Gig Young; third husband, Bill Asher.

Q. Does the Welch Grape Juice Company of Westfield, N.Y., have any connection with the Robert Welch of the John Birch Society? — Jene Nathans, Miami Beach, Fla.

A. No connection.

Q. Is Yul Brynner naturally bald, or does he have to have his head shaven? — Robert L. Macchia, Ozone Park, N.Y.

A. Brynner is not completely bald has to have his head shaven regularly.

Q. Who is the Chief Butler of England? Is it true that the Chief Butler is in charge of conducting all state functions, such as coronations and burials?—George Kent Baker, Cambridge, Mass.

A. The Chief Butler of England is Bernard Marmaduke FitzAlan-Howard, 16th Duke of Norfolk. In addition to arranging two royal funerals and coronations, he has organized the proclamation of three monarchs —Edward VIII, George VI and Elizabeth II—plus the funeral of Winston Churchill. The Duke was born in 1908 and is the leading Catholic layman in England. In 1937 he broke with family custom and married a Protestant, the Hon. Lavinia Strutt without persuading her to become a Catholic. They have four daughters. The Duke is one of the wealthiest men in England, an aristocrat who detests publicity. He performs his functions as Earl Marshal of England and not as Chief Butler. The sole function of the Chief Butler of England is to pass a cup of wine to the sovereign at coronation banquets. Last such banquet was held in 1821.

Artificial heart above was first used on a female dog. Device is size of two cigarette packs.

HOUSTON, TEX.

Several weeks ago a small, wafer-thin, French housewife, 42, Madame Claire Lestienne, appeared on a Paris television program.

Weak and worn, hollow-cheeked and anemic, around her eyes the jaundiced rings of impending death, she declared in a voice, tired and anguished: "I am doomed to die unless someone watching this program will help me."

Pitifully and simply, Claire Lestienne explained that she was in desperate need of a delicate, complicated heart operation.

"There is only one surgeon in the world," she cried out suddenly and incorrectly, "who can perform that operation and save my life. His name is Dr. Michael DeBakey, and he lives in Houston, Tex. I need $3,500 for my journey and hospital treatment. I have been able to raise only half. If I cannot find the rest of the money I will die in a matter of weeks."

Before the program was finished, a woman-viewer phoned, offering to pay Madame Lestienne's way to and from Houston. "All I ask," she implored, "is that my name be kept secret. I want absolutely no publicity."

The caller, it leaked out, was Sophia Loren.

Thanks to the screen star, Claire Lestienne flew to Houston and checked into the Methodist Hospital. There, Michael Ellis DeBakey, 56, one of the world's great heart surgeons, a no-nonsense taskmaster with much of his staff—he's known as the Texas Tornado. "Watch out men, here he comes, hell on wheels"—but surprisingly gentle with all his patients, took the small, gnarled right hand of housewife Lestienne and rested it in his. In warm tones of French he reassured her that with a little luck and a little surgery, she would enjoy a new lease on life. For the first time in weeks, Claire Lestienne smiled.

Several days later DeBakey ordered her into surgery. From her heart he removed a leaky, defective valve, replaced it with a new artificial one.

Today Claire Lestienne has returned to France, happy, healthier than she's been in decades, adding weight, her morale restored, living evidence of the amazing progress made by adventurous surgery in its all-out attack on diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Roots in Louisiana

No man has launched this attack with more sustained dedication, with more fanatical obsessiveness than Michael DeBakey, lean, driving, dour, hawk-nosed son of an immigrant Lebanese merchant, Shaker DeBakey. At this century's turn Shaker DeBakey settled in the Cajun country of Lake Charles, La., fathered 5 children, among them two surgeons, Michael and Ernest, and a medical writer, Selma.

As a surgeon and a human being, Michael DeBakey's history and way of life are both well-nigh incredible. Since 1948 when he first came to Baylor University as chairman of its surgery department, DeBakey has performed 10,500 operations, invented 55 new surgical instruments, written approximately 500 papers, taught thousands of students and physicians, devised new techniques for the repair of blood vessels, saved thousands of lives.

One of his most important contributions to vascular surgery was his introduction of synthetic vessels made of crimpled dacron to replace worn and blocked blood vessels.

When the Duke of Windsor some months ago arrived in Houston with a ballooned artery (the medical term is "aneurysm") DeBakey cut out the damaged section, deftly substituted a 6-inch tube of dacron which cost 11¢.

"A few years ago," the physician told me, "when I first got the idea of using dacron for a graft, I stitched it together in the form of a tube on my wife's sewing machine."

Before DeBakey dreamed up the dacron replacement for defective blood vessels, an estimated 90 per cent of aneurysm sufferers died, because generally the aneurysm occurs in the aorta, the large artery originating in the left ventricle of the heart with branches carrying blood to all parts of the body. The mortality rate for such patients is now down to 5 per cent.

If DeBakey had done nothing else in his life, that contribution would prove accomplishment enough. But he has contributed much more. In the 1930's he developed a roller pump which became a key part of the heart-lung machines so crucial in open-heart surgery. He was one of the pioneers in recognizing the importance of blood banks and transfusions and one of the first to prevent paralytic strokes and death by reaming out the clogged arteries leading to the brain. In one series of 800 operations he and his colleagues relieved the stroke symptoms in 95 per cent of the patients they treated early. In the fall of 1963 DeBakey and his team, working in the field of open-heart surgery, installed a mechanism inside a patient's chest to help pump blood.

Most recently he and a team of surgeons at Baylor and a team of engineers at Rice University under Dr. W. W. Akers, have launched a program to develop an implantable artificial heart, an undertaking of tremendous complexity involving surgeons, scientists, physicists, engineers, biologists.

"I think," DeBakey says, "that with the right backing we can do it in five years."

Endless Energy

When DeBakey offers such a time estimate, it is possibly unrealistic because he is talking in terms of himself. He is a dynamo who defies time. His pace is inhuman. He wakes at 4, works 2 or 3 hours on his medical papers, finds himself in surgery by 6:30 A.M. or 7. He operates hour after hour—installing an artificial heart valve, reaming out the carotid artery in the neck, sectioning out an aneurysm of the aorta, repairing a damaged heart. Between operations he dashes down to the closet he calls his office, dictates memos, answers mail, takes a long distance call from Paris or the White House.

At around 3 he leaves surgery to confer with his teams of residents, cardiologists and researchers. Together they pore over X rays, arteriograms, medical charts, decide on the next day's operations. Some of these men, like Drs. George Morris, Jr., Denton Cooley, Stanley Crawford and Arthur Beall, Jr. are ace surgeons in their own right, men DeBakey describes as "the finest, finest men in the country." Some, like Drs. Bill Hall and Bill Akers, are directors of the artificial heart project.

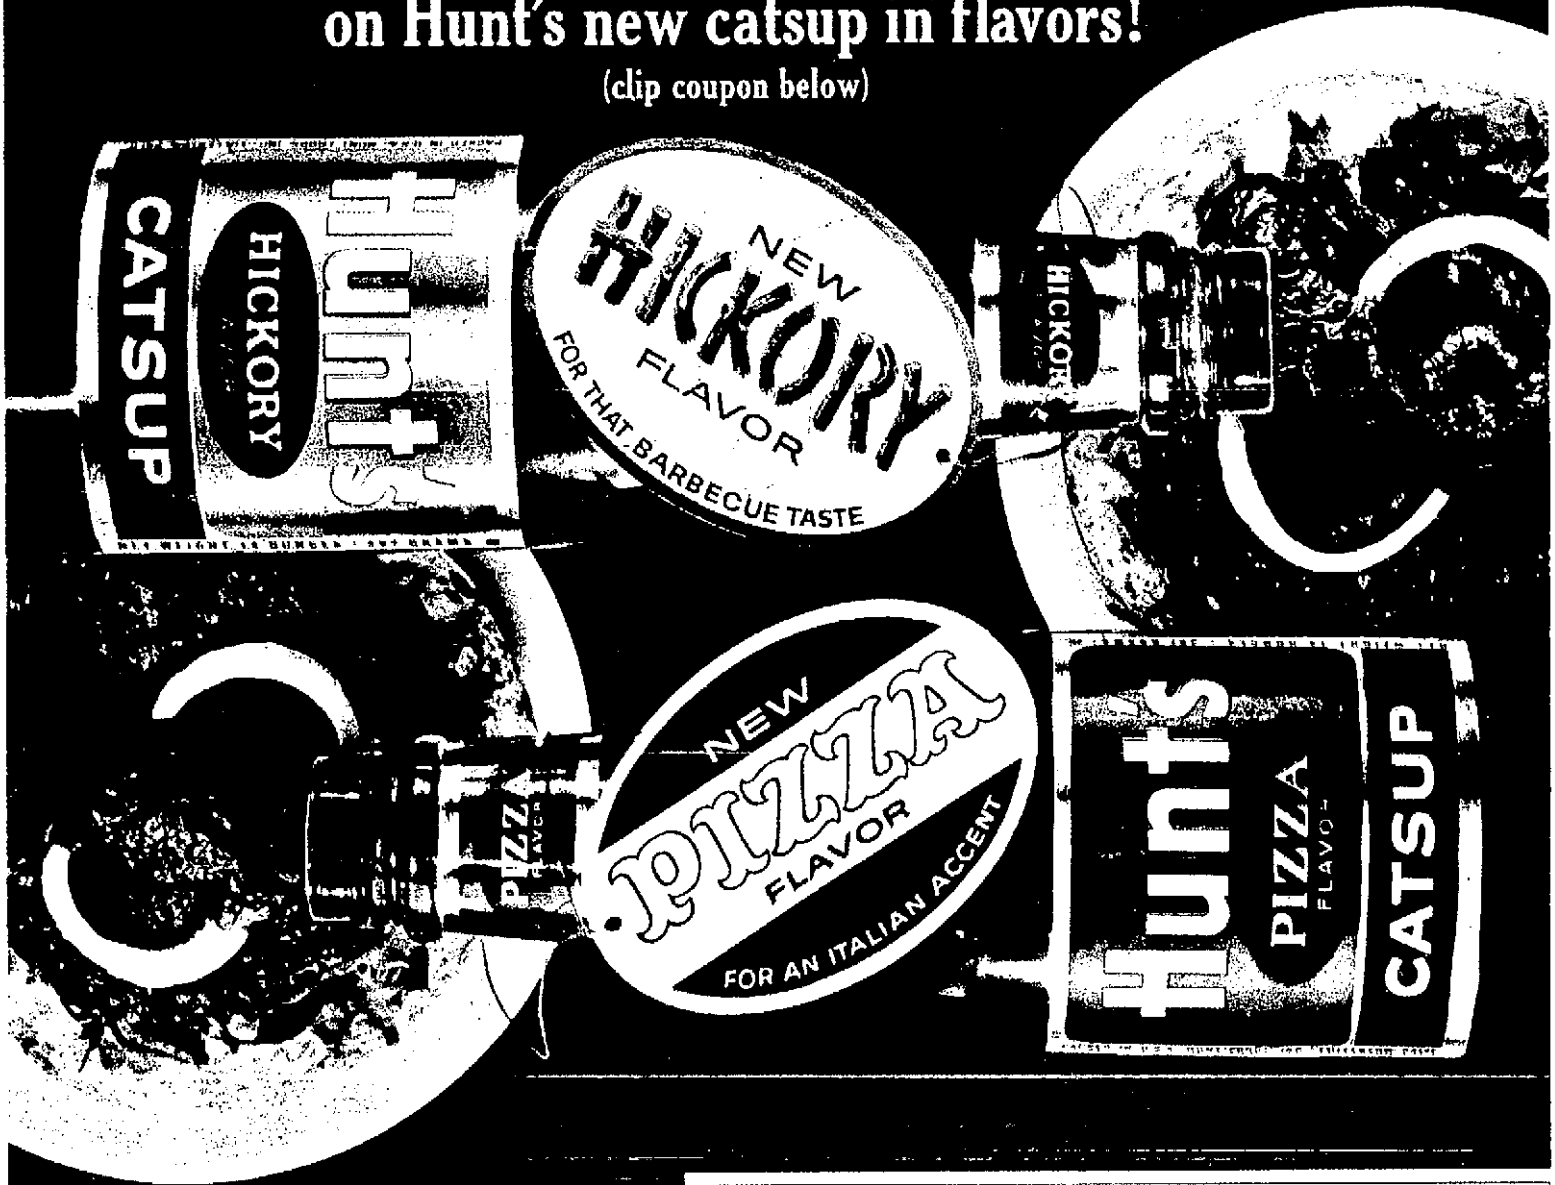

Always there are visiting firemen of various stripe, professors, physicians, patients, politicians. DeBakey is chairman of President Johnson's commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke. A passionate believer in research, he serves on more community, medical, government and teaching societies than there is room enough to list. Married 28 years, he has a wife (a former nurse, Diana Cooper), four sons and an Alfa-Romeo coupe, gift from a grateful cardiac patient. He drives the Alfa-Romeo to and from the hospital each day and therefore sees it. But when and for how long he sees his wife and children, no one would care to guess.

THE PROBLEMS AND HOW THEY MAY BE SOLVED

On the evening we were scheduled to dine together, I wound up watching him and his team perform an emergency operation on a patient whose swollen aorta was about to burst like a blown-out tire tube. The surgery was over at midnight. Later, standing with him in front of a small restaurant bar, eating oysters, I noticed how refreshed DeBakey looked. He is amazingly tireless. Surgery somehow holds for him the rites of exorcism.

What drives this owlish-looking bespectacled man —5-feet-9, 155 pounds, black hair, brown eyes—to work a 20-hour day? By nature he is restless, kinetic, ambitious, curious, an intellectual with an insatiable hunger for knowledge. A colleague who served with him in World War II, when both were assigned to the Office of the Surgeon General, says, "I suspect that as a child Mike was not a member of the in-group in Lake Charles. I know he played the saxophone in the high school band, but the South is no section to take an immigrant's son close to its social bosom. A good thing for the rest of the world, because Mike was driven by this insecurity to prove his worth, to accomplish, achieve, to show the world he would leave his mark on it. Certainly he's the best thing Lake Charles ever produced. But he's a driven man, a possessed man—a welcome case in my opinion of psychological overcompensation."

"Sure, Mike DeBakey is a driven man," says another colleague. "But you know what drives him? The sight of the Promised Land. He sees how far we've come. He sees what surgery has done in the fight against heart disease. He knows that cardiovascular disease is the nation's number one killer. It takes one American life every minute of every hour of every day. He looks towards the day when faulty or dying human hearts can be replaced by artificial ones, and he wants to see that day, bring that day, enjoy that day, be part of that day—make it a day in his lifetime. No wonder he drives himself. Does any man have a better cause for speed?"

In manner, however, unless triggered by the incompetency or disobedience of subordinates—and this is frequent because he is an absolute perfectionist—DeBakey is soft-spoken, personally charming and capable of patient pedagogy with inquiring reporters. Generally he refuses to discuss himself, prefers to talk about the accomplishments of vascular surgery, the prime role of research in medicine, the various team projects he has on the boards.

Ask him about the causes of coronary heart disease and hardening of the arteries, and he says frankly: "I am not a cardiologist. I am a cardiovascular surgeon. But I think it's safe to say that we don't know the causes. We suspect on a statistical basis that overweight, heredity, lack of exercise, too much cholesterol and some other factors all have some role to play. But we don't know specifically. What we surgeons have been able to do, however, is to provide some effective therapy for the ravages of the disease.

"The man who suffers from heart-block—Adams-Stokes disease—can have a little electric pacemaker implanted under his chest so that it regularly stimulates the heart to beat.

"People who suffer from a generalized disease like atherosclerosis [hardening of the arteries]—we've discovered that the disease does not spread evenly through all their arteries. Frequently it focuses its attack on certain localized areas like the aorta which now we're able to repair with a substitute. We're able to ream out arteries, to enlarge them slightly and prevent further clotting. We've got the means and technique to cure little strokes before they become big ones. We've come a long way."

Ask him about the challenge of the artificial heart, and he says: "I feel confident that we can develop one for humans in 5 years, at the outside 10 years, but there are certain problems to surmount. First, we have to design a pumping mechanism that will not only stimulate the heart function but will not traumatize or destroy the blood. (Once the biologic heart is by-passed or removed, and a pumping mechanism assumes its function, it can only pump blood five or six hours before the blood deteriorates.) Second, our artificial heart must have built into it a control mechanism that permits the proper controls of the simulated function of both chambers of the heart. In the normal heart the controls are so delicate that they provide a co-ordinating function—the output of one chamber is comparable to the output of the other. They never get out of balance.

"In addition to this," DeBakey continues, "we must develop materials which will last. And another problem we'll have to solve is related to a power source to drive the artificial heart. And of course, the whole package must be small enough to be implanted within the human body.

'We're Making Progress'

"These are all major problems," he concedes, "but we're making steady progress, and I know we can beat them: The answer lies in constant support and constant research."

Last month a team of Baylor University physicians and Rice University engineers tested their latest artificial heart on a female mongrel. They implanted a two-ventricle mechanism about the size of two packages of cigarettes. The dog lived with it for more than three hours, and according to Dr. William Hall, "We could have kept her alive quite a while longer."

Research centers in Cleveland and elsewhere have previously implanted artificial hearts in dogs and calves and kept them alive for as long as 27 hours, using of course, periodic transfusions of fresh blood. But the accomplishment of the Baylor-Rice artificial heart is that it succeeded in duplicating the delicate, complicated action of the human heart, allowing each chamber of the heart to pump blood at its needed rate.

Made of silastic, an inert plastic, the two chambers of the Baylor-Rice heart were lashed together with a band of nylon, and for reinforcement, the two chambers were lined with stainless steel screen wire. In the experiment the first band broke and had to be replaced with a second.

The artificial heart was designed and built at Rice by the Biomedical Engineering Lab where researchers emphasize that it will not be the model eventually used in humans "but maybe something like it."

Before the year is out, artificial heart experiments will probably be conducted on human beings, undoubtedly on terminal heart patients. All over the country—at Thermo Electron Engineering in Waltham, Mass., Autonetics in Anaheim, Calif.—engineers are working on small pumps capable of circulating blood through the body and developing power sources from air, heat, nuclear energy and body metabolism.

In a matter of years plastic hearts will be substituted for damaged ones. They will serve either temporarily until the damage is healed, or they will permanently take over the heart's function.

When that memorable day arrives, what will it mean to you? What will it mean to your children, your grandchildren? Inevitably many of us will live longer and longer, and the earth will fill up with more and more old people. Suppose future generations live to age 100 or 125 which is a distinct possibility. Will there be enough food to feed them, enough room to shelter them, enough work to employ them?

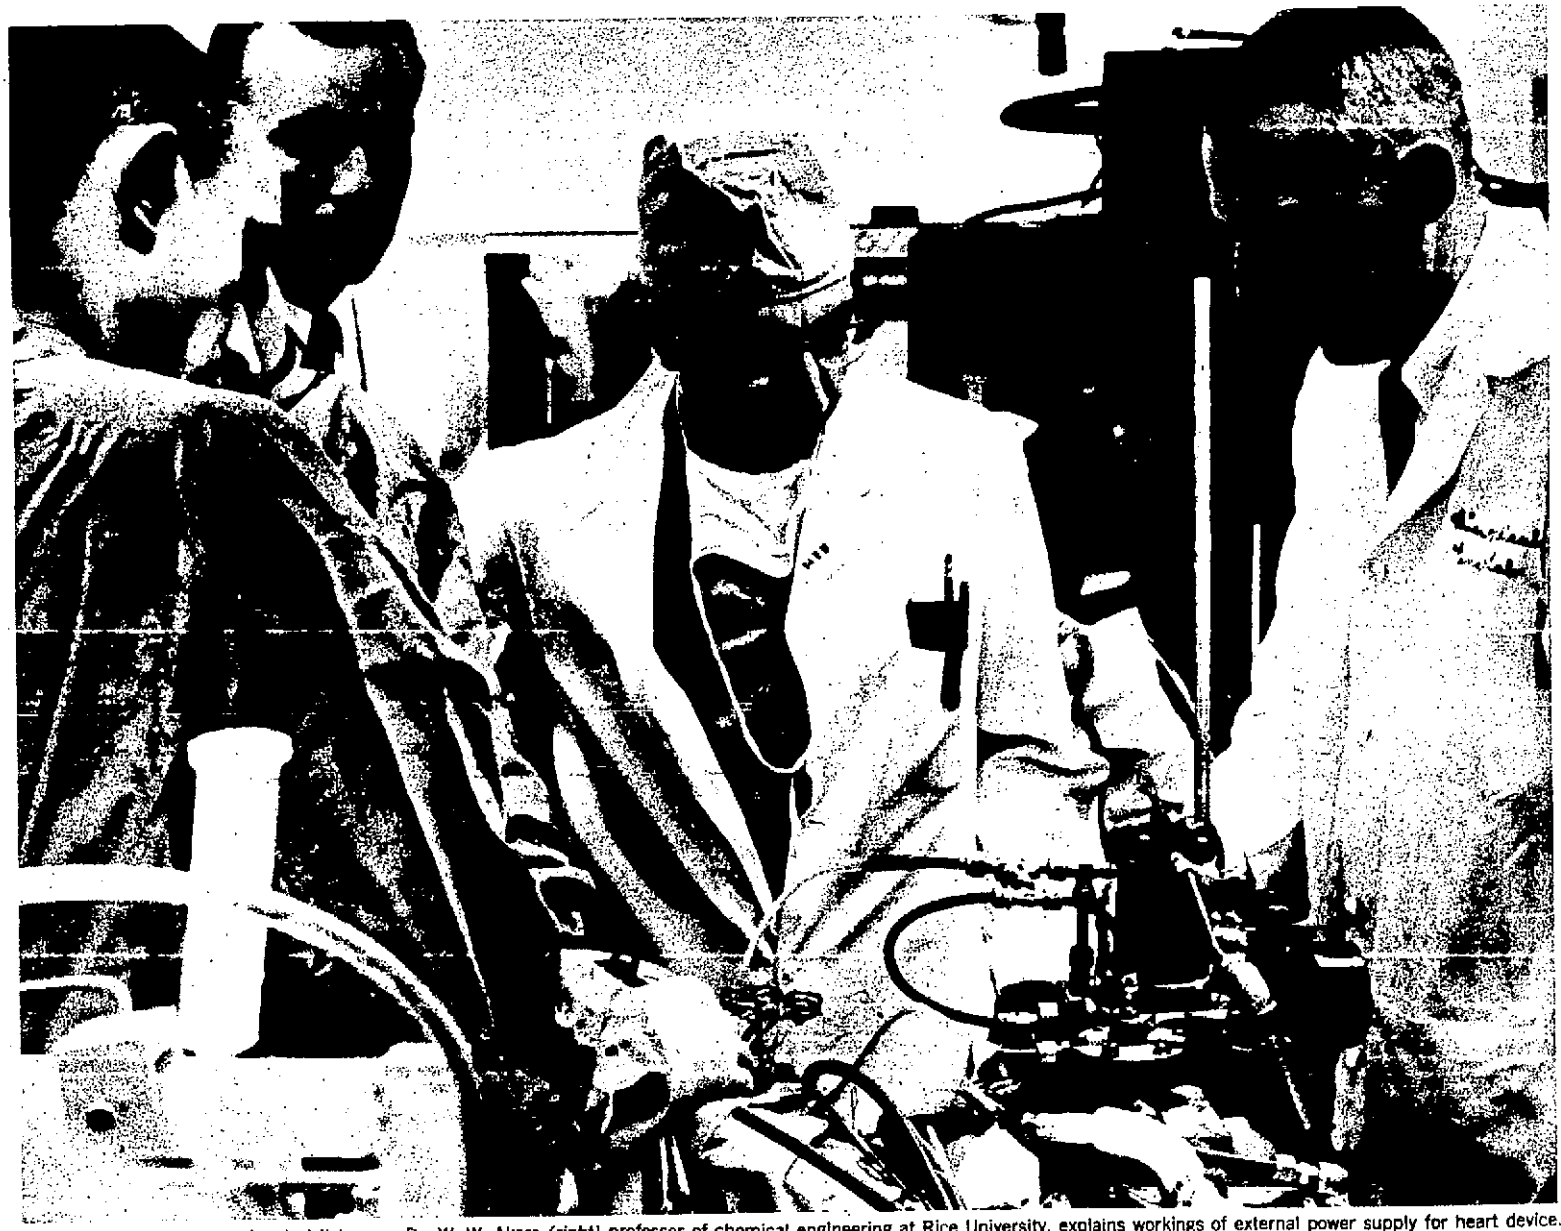

When I asked Dr. DeBakey those same questions, a small sonata of a smile played itself on his lips. He raised both his superb, life-restoring surgeon's hands with palms outstretched. He shook his head from side to side, quickly and good-naturedly confessed: "For those questions, I'm afraid, I have no answers. I'm only a surgeon—not a god. And I'm sure the Lord will agree that I've got enough problems on my hands without taking over some of His."

The Duke of Windsor, who recently had abdominal surgery for an aneurysm, leaves Methodist Hospital, Houston, Tex., with the Duchess, Dr. DeBakey (in white), who performed operation, hospital administrator Ted Bowen

He wakes at 4, works 2 or 3 hours on his medical papers, finds himself in surgery by 6:30 A.M. or 7. He operates hour after hour—installing an artificial heart valve, reaming out the carotid artery in the neck, sectioning out an aneurysm of the aorta, repairing a damaged heart. Between operations he dashes down to the closet he calls his office, dictates memos, answers mail, takes a long distance call from Paris or the White House.

At around 3 he leaves surgery to confer with his teams of residents, cardiologists and researchers. Together they pore over X rays, arteriograms, medical charts, decide on the next day's operations. Some of these men, like Drs. George Morris, Jr., Denton Cooley, Stanley Crawford and Arthur Beall, Jr. are ace surgeons in their own right, men DeBakey describes as "the finest, finest men in the country." Some, like Drs. Bill Hall and Bill Akers, are directors of the artificial heart project.

Always there are visiting firemen of various stripe, professors, physicians, patients, politicians. DeBakey is chairman of President Johnson's commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke. A passionate believer in research, he serves on more community, medical, government and teaching societies than there is room enough to list. Married 28 years, he has a wife (a former nurse, Diana Cooper), four sons and an Alfa-Romeo coupe, gift from a grateful cardiac patient. He drives the Alfa-Romeo to and from the hospital each day and therefore sees it. But when and for how long he sees his wife and children, no one would care to guess.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

TROUBLES IN MARRIAGE. When patients discuss marital problems with their doctors, what subjects come to the fore? Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, C. N. Herndon and E. M. Nash report the following marriage problems of most concern to men in the order of importance:(1) sex, (2) money, (3) affection -- too much or too little, (4) inability to discuss problems with wife, (5) in-laws, (6) failure of wife to express appreciation, (7) inability of wife to conceive, (8) wife's fear of pregnancy. Marital problems of most concern to women in order of their importance: (1) sex, (2) fear of pregnancy, (3) affection -- too much or too little, (4) money, (5) inability to discuss problems with husband, (6) failure of husband to express appreciation, (7) inability to conceive, (8) in-laws.

YOUNG SOLDIERS. Being a child in Red China is no fun these days. Children as young as 12, both boys and girls, are taught how to fire real guns with real bullets, how to kill enemy soldiers in war.

BE CAREFUL. Are you a prospective parent? If so, make sure to choose your child's first name with care lest you cause him unnecessary and frequently insurmountable psychological problems. "A person's name is the most important sound in the world to him, and his response to it often causes trouble," the American Institute of Hypnosis Journal reports. "Criminality, homosexuality, maladjustment often follow selection of an ill-advised name...An extreme case is 'Jesus,' often used by Latin Americans. It is such an outstanding, impelling name, a child named thusly often rebels to become the extreme opposite of his name's suggestion...

"Any name with confusing gender should be avoided; a boy called Carol or Caryl (Chessman, for example) or Francis may be plagued with a suggestion of homosexuality from his playmates. 'Junior' should be avoided. It is a derogatory term. A 'junior' automatically is compared to his father, and many feel they must exceed the father's qualities whether they be good or bad. It is a stress-provoking name...

"If the surname is unusual, the child should never, never be given an unusual first name; it's just too much. The Snodgrass family should call its son Charles, William, or Richard, and never 'Gilmore,' 'Beauregard' or 'Shamrock.' "

THE PROBLEMS AND HOW THEY MAY BE SOLVED

On the evening we were scheduled to dine together, I wound up watching him and his team perform an emergency operation on a patient whose swollen aorta was about to burst like a blown-out tire tube. The surgery was over at midnight. Later, standing with him in front of a small restaurant bar, eating oysters, I noticed how refreshed DeBakey looked. He is amazingly tireless. Surgery somehow holds for him the rites of exorcism.

What drives this owlish-looking bespectacled man —5-feet-9, 155 pounds, black hair, brown eyes—to work a 20-hour day? By nature he is restless, kinetic, ambitious, curious, an intellectual with an insatiable hunger for knowledge. A colleague who served with him in World War II, when both were assigned to the Office of the Surgeon General, says, "I suspect that as a child Mike was not a member of the in-group in Lake Charles. I know he played the saxophone in the high school band, but the South is no section to take an immigrant's son close to its social bosom. A good thing for the rest of the world, because Mike was driven by this insecurity to prove his worth, to accomplish, achieve, to show the world he would leave his mark on it. Certainly he's the best thing Lake Charles ever produced. But he's a driven man, a possessed man—a welcome case in my opinion of psychological overcompensation."

"Sure, Mike DeBakey is a driven man," says another colleague. "But you know what drives him? The sight of the Promised Land. He sees how far we've come. He sees what surgery has done in the fight against heart disease. He knows that cardiovascular disease is the nation's number one killer. It takes one American life every minute of every hour of every day. He looks towards the day when faulty or dying human hearts can be replaced by artificial ones, and he wants to see that day, bring that day, enjoy that day, be part of that day—make it a day in his lifetime. No wonder he drives himself. Does any man have a better cause for speed?"

In manner, however, unless triggered by the incompetency or disobedience of subordinates—and this is frequent because he is an absolute perfectionist—DeBakey is soft-spoken, personally charming and capable of patient pedagogy with inquiring reporters. Generally he refuses to discuss himself, prefers to talk about the accomplishments of vascular surgery, the prime role of research in medicine, the various team projects he has on the boards.

Ask him about the causes of coronary heart disease and hardening of the arteries, and he says frankly: "I am not a cardiologist. I am a cardiovascular surgeon. But I think it's safe to say that we don't know the causes. We suspect on a statistical basis that overweight, heredity, lack of exercise, too much cholesterol and some other factors all have some role to play. But we don't know specifically. What we surgeons have been able to do, however, is to provide some effective therapy for the ravages of the disease.

"The man who suffers from heart-block—Adams-Stokes disease—can have a little electric pacemaker implanted under his chest so that it regularly stimulates the heart to beat.

"People who suffer from a generalized disease like atherosclerosis [hardening of the arteries]—we've discovered that the disease does not spread evenly through all their arteries. Frequently it focuses its attack on certain localized areas like the aorta which now we're able to repair with a substitute. We're able to ream out arteries, to enlarge them slightly and prevent further clotting. We've got the means and technique to cure little strokes before they become big ones. We've come a long way."

Ask him about the challenge of the artificial heart, and he says: "I feel confident that we can develop one for humans in 5 years, at the outside 10 years, but there are certain problems to surmount. First, we have to design a pumping mechanism that will not only stimulate the heart function but will not traumatize or destroy the blood. (Once the biologic heart is by-passed or removed, and a pumping mechanism assumes its function, it can only pump blood five or six hours before the blood deteriorates.) Second, our artificial heart must have built into it a control mechanism that permits the proper controls of the simulated function of both chambers of the heart. In the normal heart the controls are so delicate that they provide a co-ordinating function—the output of one chamber is comparable to the output of the other. They never get out of balance.

"In addition to this," DeBakey continues, "we must develop materials which will last. And another problem we'll have to solve is related to a power source to drive the artificial heart. And of course, the whole package must be small enough to be implanted within the human body.

'We're Making Progress'

"These are all major problems," he concedes, "but we're making steady progress, and I know we can beat them. The answer lies in constant support and constant research."

Last month a team of Baylor University physicians and Rice University engineers tested their latest artificial heart on a female mongrel. They implanted a two-ventricle mechanism about the size of two packages of cigarettes. The dog lived with it for more than three hours, and according to Dr. William Hall, "We could have kept her alive quite a while longer."

Research centers in Cleveland and elsewhere have previously implanted artificial hearts in dogs and calves and kept them alive for as long as 27 hours, using of course, periodic transfusions of fresh blood. But the accomplishment of the Baylor-Rice artificial heart is that it succeeded in duplicating the delicate, complicated action of the human heart, allowing each chamber of the heart to pump blood at its needed rate.

Made of silastic, an inert plastic, the two chambers of the Baylor-Rice heart were lashed together with a band of nylon, and for reinforcement, the two chambers were lined with stainless steel screen wire. In the experiment the first band broke and had to be replaced with a second.

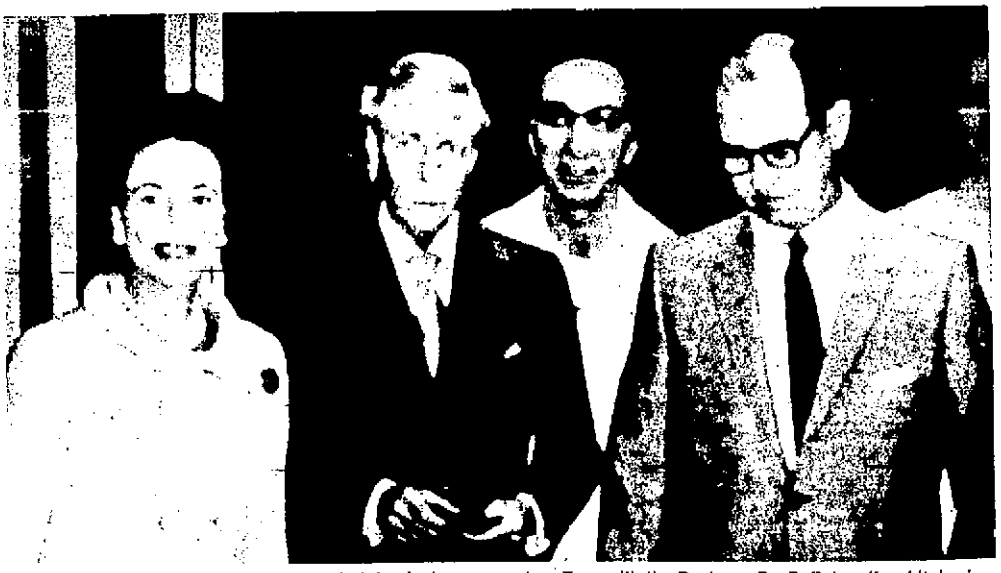

The artificial heart was designed and built at Rice by the Biomedical Engineering Lab where researchers emphasize that it will not be the model eventually used in humans "but maybe something like it."

Before the year is out, artificial heart experiments will probably be conducted on human beings, undoubtedly on terminal heart patients. All over the country—at Thermo Electron Engineering in Waltham, Mass., Autonetics in Anaheim, Calif.—engineers are working on small pumps capable of circulating blood through the body and developing power sources from air, heat, nuclear energy and body metabolism.

In a matter of years plastic hearts will be substituted for damaged ones. They will serve either temporarily until the damage is healed, or they will permanently take over the heart's function.

When that memorable day arrives, what will it mean to you? What will it mean to your children, your grandchildren? Inevitably many of us will live longer and longer, and the earth will fill up with more and more old people. Suppose future generations live to age 100 or 125 which is a distinct possibility. Will there be enough food to feed them, enough room to shelter them, enough work to employ them?

When I asked Dr. DeBakey those same questions, a small sonata of a smile played itself on his lips. He raised both his superb, life-restoring surgeon's hands with palms outstretched. He shook his head from side to side, quickly and good-naturedly confessed: "For those questions, I'm afraid, I have no answers. I'm only a surgeon—not a god. And I'm sure the Lord will agree that I've got enough problems on my hands without taking over some of His."

The Duke of Windsor, who recently had abdominal surgery for an aneurysm, leaves Methodist Hospital, Houston, Tex., with the Duchess, Dr. DeBakey (in white), who performed operation, hospital administrator Ted Bowen

With new automated phone system, caller gets immediate help in case of emergency.

FASTEST WAY TO CALL THE COPS

by R. H. HUBBARD

A famous Hollywood star woke up in the middle of the night and heard a burglar prowling downstairs. He called the police—only to be told that his house was in the wrong district for the station he had reached. He dialed another number with the same result. By the time he had found help, the burglar had casually helped himself to what he wanted and driven away. "He even had trouble getting his car started," the star commented wryly.

In New York City a woman called a special number, recently established and highly publicized as the quickest way to summon emergency aid. After dialing three times and getting no answer, she finally looked up the number of the nearest police station and got help immediately. "Luckily, it was only a case of getting my husband out of a stalled elevator," she said. "But just out of curiosity, I kept dialing the special police emergency number. It was a full two hours before anyone answered."

Cases like these—some just annoying but many potentially tragic—are plaguing people all over the country. But if an automated emergency system performs the way its inventors say it will, such deadly delays could become a thing of the past. In fact, with this system it may be possible for a person anywhere in the U.S., to pick up the phone and immediately reach the nearest police, fire, ambulance or other emergency service.

This July the state of California will begin a one-year project to test two kinds of emergency telephone systems—one using operators, the other completely automated. The one that functions best will be adopted on a state-wide basis.

The first system involves the use of special operators, trained in the location and jurisdiction of police stations, fire houses and other emergency services. The caller first dials "O" for operator, tells her he has an emergency and is switched to the special operator. As soon as she knows the nature of the emergency and the location, the operator dials the proper service.

With the second, automated system, the caller also dials "O" for operator—plus one more digit (1 for police, 2 for fire, 3 for ambulance and so forth). The connection is made immediately, without time-consuming intermediate steps.

call diverter

Key to the automated system is a device called the "call diverter." Developed and manufactured by the Marcom Corporation, of Oakland, Calif., it is already available through some independent telephone companies for use in offices and homes. For example, if a doctor's nurse is out and he's called away, he simply sets a series of numbered thumb wheels in the call diverter to the number of the place where he will be. Incoming calls are then automatically "diverted" to the new number.

The same device, installed in each telephone office, can be set to divert emergency calls automatically to the proper service. "If somebody needs to call the police or fire department today, he usually has to dial a seven-digit number that he probably has to look up in the telephone book," a Marcom spokesman points out. "The chances are he's panicky, too; he's certainly in a hurry, and he's got seven chances of dialing the wrong number. But anybody can remember 'O' and one other digit—and with our system, if he hesitates after dialing 'O,' the operator will come on the line and tell him which digit to dial."

Marcom also claims that its emergency system is "the cheapest kind there is." Marcom is offering the call diverters to phone companies at cost; the only expense after this is installation and maintenance. "New York City recently set up an intricate emergency system that cost $250,000, and it takes personnel to operate it," the Marcom spokesman notes. "For about half that amount we could have installed our own two-digit system there, and it doesn't need any special operators."

Useful and economical as the call diverter appears to be, so far it's available only through independent telephone companies. A spokesman for the sprawling Bell system, which controls about 80 per cent of this country's telephone lines, told PARADE that the Marcom device "is being tested right now in New Jersey and California. We always test every new piece of equipment very thoroughly."

In the meantime, the California test project should answer a lot of questions about the call diverter. If the Marcom system really works, it will be one kind of automation that everyone will cheer.

DRUG FIRM WAGES WAR on SKIN PROBLEMS

Medical scientists have conquered 6 dread diseases in the past decade, but they are still having difficulty in finding relief for many who are constantly scratching their skin.

New remedies containing antibiotic ingredients have been tested, but these have often caused side effects which are worse than the maddening desire to scratch a possibly already infected skin. RESINOL OINTMENT, a doctor's formula containing simple yet powerful and safe ingredients containing an amazing proven "anti-itch" ingredient called RESORCIN. Quickly relieves many minor skin problems such as dry and rough skin, athlete's foot, rashes, itching of piles or hemorrhoids, etc.

ARE INSECTICIDES REALLY HARMING US?

by JACK ANDERSON

This month, all over the U.S., blossoms will be out, birds will be back in the trees and insects will be on the wing. And throughout the nation there will be revived controversy about the late Rachel Carson and her stirring best-seller, Silent Spring.

In her book Miss Carson argued that wildlife was being doomed to extinction by man's reckless use of chemical pesticides and insecticides. She forecast the day when the song of birds would no longer accompany the bursting of the first buds, because there would be few birds left to sing.

But another group of experts disagrees strongly with Miss Carson. They argue that her book has started a panic against pesticides that itself could have dangerous consequences to mankind.

Without pesticides, these experts see fields blighted by insects, forests defoliated, men debilitated by disease and hunger. They contend that not only would man have to work harder to produce less food, but the food would be of poorer quality. Here are some findings these experts say cannot be disputed:

The 800,000 species of insects which infest the earth already destroy one-third of everything man grows or stores.

There are 10,000 kinds of mites, ticks and insects which infect man directly or indirectly with disease. Half of all human deaths are caused by these tiniest of enemies.

If pesticides were outlawed, homes soon would be filled with buzzing and creeping menaces. Fields and forests would swarm with insects.

Rats, also deadly carriers of disease, would flourish. Already they devour or spoil millions of dollars worth of food in New York alone. They also would destroy the very birds that Miss Carson sought to save.

Jet-set beetle

In the jet age, the exchange of pests from one part of the world to another is increasing. The cereal leaf beetle, which could threaten our grain production, has shown up in this country. The soya bean cyst nematode, another unwelcome immigrant, could devastate the soya bean crop if not controlled. The fire ant, also a newcomer, already has caused great damage to farmlands in the South.

The Department of Agriculture estimates damage to crops by some 600 kinds of plant insects at nearly $4 billion a year, under these headings: plant parasites, $2 billion; stored grain and household insects, $1 billion; cotton insects, $600 million; cereal and forage insects, $400 million. That long-time scourge of the cotton crop, the boll weevil, accounts for 3 to 5 million bales of cotton a year.

Without pesticides, cattle production could easily be cut in half in a few years. Forests would fade away as insects destroyed the trees and ground vermin devoured young shoots. The citrus industry could hardly exist and 80 per cent of the Virginia apple crop would perish.

Mississippi Congressman Jamie Whitten says bluntly that without pesticides "in five years, the cost of a very inferior quality of food to the American consumer would double."

Helicopter gives woodland a dose of DDT, now banned from use on government land.

Pesticides have also helped to reduce the terrible toll of disease. Malaria, for instance, has been all but wiped out. Yet as recently as 1935, before the development of modern pesticides, there were 900,000 cases a year in the U.S., 4,000 of them fatal.

All health authorities agree that the guard must not be let down. Only this year, mosquitoes caused an epidemic of encephalitis in Texas. Some 200 cases and 18 deaths were reported. Coast Guard helicopters dumped thousands of pounds of pesticide on the bay where the disease-carrying mosquitoes were breeding. Husbands and wives queued up at fire stations with pickle jars, jugs, plastic bottles and paint cans to draw rations of pesticide for their immediate protection.

That midget murderer, the house fly, is still loose across the country contaminating food and spreading cholera, yaws, trachoma, dysentery, diarrhea, digestive troubles and even tuberculosis.

Yet in the wake of Silent Spring, the President appointed a science advisory committee to study pesticides which recommended that, for the sake of wildlife, "persistent toxic pesticides" be eliminated. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall issued orders virtually outlawing DDT on the 550 million acres of public land. The Connecticut legislature, also impressed, failed in 1963 to appropriate funds for spraying against the gypsy moth. In Montana's Garnet Range, where the Department of the Interior has stopped using DDT on a 225,000-acre tract of timber infested with budworm, foresters are betting more trees will die than wildlife be saved.

Some wildlife deaths

There's no denying that some wildlife has been sacrificed to save crops and reduce disease. Pesticides have been responsible for the death of wildlife, but there is no evidence that they have caused mass deaths or are about to do so. Moreover, certain deaths ascribed to pesticides were on further investigation found to be due to other causes. But the question really is: Has any loss been so serious that man should surrender his weapons against insects and vermin?

And much of Miss Carson's evidence about wildlife death is disputed by others. A recent survey in 45 states finds wildlife not only flourishing but increasing. In the Mississippi delta, the deer and bird population has skyrocketed since pest spraying became widespread. Louisiana says that in 1963 hunters had their best year in history. A Wisconsin report declared, "Game populations are decidedly greater than in the good old days."

Miss Carson also alleged that DDT and other hydrocarbon pesticides contribute to cumulative poisoning of the human system: "We are in little better position than the guests of the Borgias." But Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, chief of toxicology for the U.S. Public Health Service and one of the world's great authorities on DDT, disagrees. He conducted a series of tests with 51 convict volunteers, fed them 200 times the normal intake of DDT for a year. Once the accumulation reached a certain but safe level, the volunteers excreted DDT as fast as they took it in. At the end of the test, they were as healthy as another group who had been fed no DDT at all.

Any nation's wildlife is a part of its heritage and should be preserved. But the anti-Silent Spring experts note that man is also fighting a desperate struggle for his own existence. It would be folly to abandon any weapons he has—and pesticides are among the most important—until he has found better ones.

The birds would not be grateful to Rachel Carson if the insects had gnawed away the branches from which they sing.

The beautiful fashions on these pages are three good reasons why so many women are making their own clothes these days. Designed especially for home sewers, these elegant dresses, plus dozens more, are described fully in Parade's new Pattern Book, just off the press. Pauline, Parade's creative designer, has come up with a line of new fashions which reflect the growing trend towards more feminine-looking clothes. There's fullness without bulk in pleated and flared skirts, softly bloused bodices which drape lightly over the belt and a new awareness of the waistline. For information on how to secure book and patterns, see bottom of next page.

No one would ever guess that this stunning sleeveless dress with its shutter-pleated skirt is a home-sewn product. Pattern 438, with its slightly bloused bodice, comes in sizes 10 to 20. Size 12 requires 3½ yds. of 35-in. linen-type rayon fabric.

SEE THE NEW USA

WHAT'S NEW IN OLD NEW YORK!

by NEAL ASHBY

NEW YORK, N.Y.

East Side, West Side, all around the town, the sidewalks of New York are pathways to stimulating new things to do and places to see.

The "New" USA which our government and the travel industry are urging vacationers to tour does not encompass only canyon parks and lakeside recreation centers. Our oldest and biggest cities hold new architectural spectaculars, original restaurants, exhibition halls, swimming pools and stadiums.

New York is 300 years old, but it's building a new cultural center that will be the envy of the world. The next additions to Lincoln Center—the Vivian Beaumont Theater and the Library & Museum of the Performing Arts—are expected to open late this summer. Meantime, musicals will be presented in the New York State Theater and pops concerts at Philharmonic Hall.

Skyscrapers are sprouting to increase the blue-ribbon crop New York already possesses. Most celebrated is the 38-story black granite-clad CBS tower amid a cluster of new buildings on Avenue of the Americas at 52nd Street.

The city is adding to its art museums —new wings at the Metropolitan and the Museum of Modern Art, plus the all-new Gallery of Modern Art.

But big and serious things aren't all that's new in Gotham. There are adventurous "flea market" shops where you can buy curiosities from a hundred nations. Newcomer Greek, Pakistani, Japanese and German restaurants have eagerly opened in Manhattan in just the last year or so. So new that many Americans still haven't heard of them, discotheques for dancers, borrowed from Europe, are jammed with intense, undulating patrons every night.

family tour

PARADE "did" the new things in town with a visiting family from Greens Farms, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fields, daughter, Tara, 11, and son, Adam, 9. There they are in the accompanying photos.

Leaving the City Squire motor inn bright and early, the Fields started off in the new portion of the Museum of Modern Art, viewing ultramodern "Op Art" paintings. They gaped at new shapes on the skyline, had lunch in a novel new restaurant, drove to Brooklyn to see the mammoth infant of bridges, the Verrazano-Narrows to Staten Island, world's longest suspension span. "I'd like to ride my bike over it!" Adam exulted.

At the World's Fair at Flushing Meadow, the family examined the Winston Churchill memorabilia in the Hallmark Pavilion and watched the brief show at the nearly-new Hall of Science.

In their one-day whirl, the Fields had to leave out a lot of fine new attractions: a tour of the new Police Academy and a visit to its museum, where they would have seen what narcotics and bomb-handling apparatus look like; a performance by the incomparable, last-place Mets at new Shea Stadium.

They would never have thought to look for something new at the Empire State Building. But it's there—20 4x5-foot display cases containing sample displays from leading cultural, historic, religious and educational institutions in that ever-youthful megalopolis—New York City.

It's lunch at the Zum Zum, a new restaurant featuring sausage specialties. Tara and Adam Fields had hotdogs.

Children tucked in bed, Jerry and Eleanor Fields go on the town, dance the Frug at Ondine's discotheque.

Once you taste B&M BRICK OVEN you'll forget all the ordinary beans

Most beans you buy nowadays aren't even baked—just steamed in the can. But at Burnham & Morrill, we slow bake our beans—all day—in special brick ovens before they go into the can or jar.

And what a sauce! Rich brown sugar, mustard, subtle spices, succulent pork... baked right through the beans. All you do is heat and serve for a mouth-watering, nourishing dish that would make any chef proud. Small wonder B&M Brick Oven Baked Beans are featured at the New York World's Fair.

by Shecky Greene

EDITOR'S NOTE: Shecky Greene, originally Sheldon Greene of Chicago, is a 37-year-old comic who was first hired by Martha Raye 15 years ago. At that time Martha owned a supper club in Miami Beach, and Greene had just been discharged from the U.S. Navy. Shecky did so well in Florida that he was booked into the Copacabana in New York, the Chez Paree in Chicago and subsequently The Tropicana in Las Vegas, where for years he was regarded as a semifixture. Chunky, brash, wild, raucous, unpredictable, Greene is a comedian whose humor leans to the physical, borders on the slapstick. His jokes are conversational in tone and topical in subject: Although he's appeared on all the major TV variety programs, Shecky prefers to work Las Vegas, where he usually averages $100,000 for 20 weeks' work. Herewith some of his favorite funnies:

My agent has two windows in his office. One is easy to raise and the other always gives him trouble—so he has them labeled, "His" and "Hernia."

I just discovered a way to make my wife drive more carefully. I remind her that if she has an accident, the Las Vegas newspapers will print her age.

I sometimes wonder if Alexander Graham Bell would have invented the telephone if he had had teenagers in his own home.

You've heard of the rambling wreck from Georgia Tech? You should meet my brother-in-law—a total loss from Holy Cross.

I was walking my dog in Los Angeles one afternoon and ran into a little girl walking her poodle. "What a beautiful puppy," I said. "Do you have papers with it?"

"We sure do," the cute thing said. "All over the floor."

Diner: "Waiter, my plate is damp."
Waiter: "Sorry, sir. That's your soup."

The other day I heard a pair of girls discussing their favorite subject: boys. Said the first girl, "Bobby's crazy about me. I think he's going to propose any day now."

"What makes you so sure?" asked her friend.

"Well," came the answer, "he's begun to hate my mother violently."

A young lawyer, having heard that a prominent attorney had been considered for a partnership in his firm and subsequently had been turned down without any good reason, asked his boss about it.

"Stop me if I'm out of line," he said, "but would you tell me, sir, why you rejected Bill Cunningham, an old friend of yours, as a partner?"

"If you must know," explained the boss, "I turned Bill down because he's smarter than I am, much smarter. You see, he could have married my wife, but didn't."

The ex-Nazi tried hard after World War II to hide the fact that he was once a Storm Trooper—so he decided to become an opera singer. When the night came for his big debut, he walked on stage, looked at his audience and announced: "I am going to sing—and you are going to listen."

ANECDOTE of THE WEEK

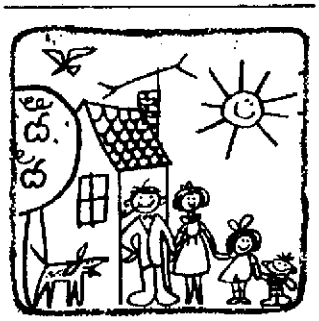

■ One of the top dress designers in Paris is Pierre Cardin, great and good friend of actress Jeanne Moreau. Last week Cardin, who has an eye for beauty, stopped Arlette Leroux, 21, an assistant who works in his sewing room and whose job it is to carry the dresses from the work rooms to the front office.

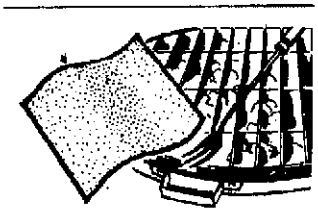

"You have a good figure," said Cardin. "Here, see if you can model this dress."

He tossed her a gown, and Arlette modeled it. Immensely pleased, Cardin promoted the girl on the spot to be a model. "From now on," he declared, "you are a model in this enterprise, and your new name is Sabine."

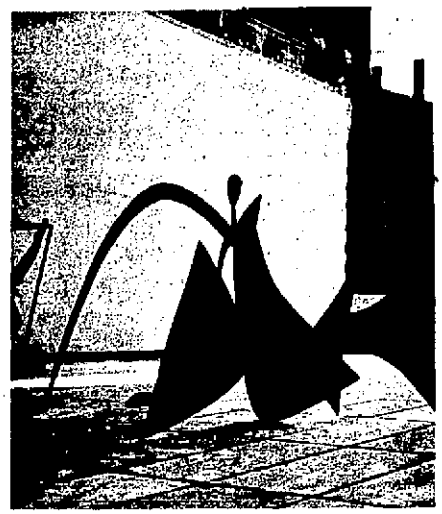

As a model Sabine earns a basic salary of $45 a week. In the sewing room she earned $60. ■

SEE THE NEW USA

WHAT'S NEW IN OLD NEW YORK!

by NEAL ASHBY

NEW YORK, N.Y.

East Side, West Side, all around the town, the sidewalks of New York are pathways to stimulating new things to do and places to see.

The "New" USA which our government and the travel industry are urging vacationers to tour does not encompass only canyon parks and lakeside recreation centers. Our oldest and biggest cities hold new architectural spectaculars, original restaurants, exhibition halls, swimming pools and stadiums.

New York is 300 years old, but it's building a new cultural center that will be the envy of the world. The next additions to Lincoln Center—the Vivian Beaumont Theater and the Library & Museum of the Performing Arts—are expected to open late this summer. Meantime, musicals will be presented in the New York State Theater and pops concerts at Philharmonic Hall.

Skyscrapers are sprouting to increase the blue-ribbon crop New York already possesses. Most celebrated is the 38-story black granite-clad CBS tower amid a cluster of new buildings on Avenue of the Americas at 52nd Street.

The city is adding to its art museums —new wings at the Metropolitan and the Museum of Modern Art, plus the all-new Gallery of Modern Art.

But big and serious things aren't all that's new in Gotham. There are adventurous "flea market" shops where you can buy curiosities from a hundred nations. Newcomer Greek, Pakistani, Japanese and German restaurants have eagerly opened in Manhattan in just the last year or so. So new that many Americans still haven't heard of them, discotheques for dancers, borrowed from Europe, are jammed with intense, undulating patrons every night.

family tour

PARADE "did" the new things in town with a visiting family from Greens Farms, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fields, daughter, Tara, 11, and son, Adam, 9. There they are in the accompanying photos.

Leaving the City Squire motor inn bright and early, the Fields started off in the new portion of the Museum of Modern Art, viewing ultramodern "Op Art" paintings. They gaped at new shapes on the skyline, had lunch in a novel new restaurant, drove to Brooklyn to see the mammoth infant of bridges, the Verrazano-Narrows to Staten Island, world's longest suspension span. "I'd like to ride my bike over it!" Adam exulted.

At the World's Fair at Flushing Meadow, the family examined the Winston Churchill memorabilia in the Hallmark Pavilion and watched the brief show at the nearly-new Hall of Science.

In their one-day whirl, the Fields had to leave out a lot of fine new attractions: a tour of the new Police Academy and a visit to its museum, where they would have seen what narcotics and bomb-handling apparatus look like; a performance by the incomparable, last-place Mets at new Shea Stadium.

They would never have thought to look for something new at the Empire State Building. But it's there—20 4x5-foot display cases containing sample displays from leading cultural, historic, religious and educational institutions in that ever-youthful megalopolis—New York City.

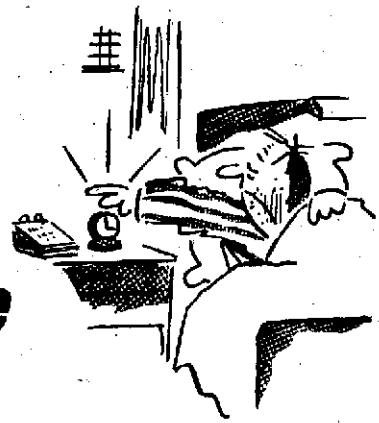

It's lunch at the Zum Zum, a new restaurant featuring sausage specialties. Tara and Adam Fields had hotdogs.

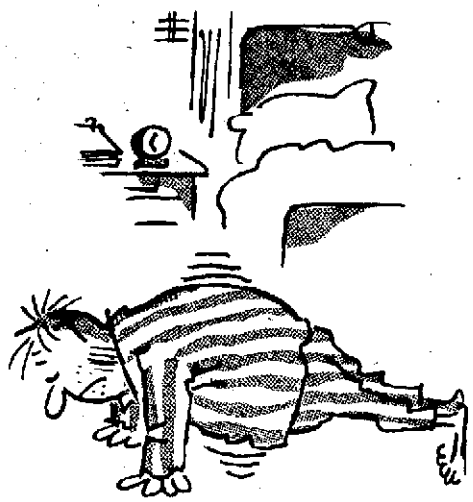

Children tucked in bed, Jerry and Eleanor Fields go on the town, dance the Frug at Ondine's discotheque.

Knox has discovered a way to put that pure protein goodness into a refreshing orange drink, so good you'll want to drink it for refreshment alone. But remember—drinking Knox Gelatine is the only way to stronger, longer, lovelier fingernails, with published medical proof that it has worked in 7 out of 10 cases. No more splitting, brittle nails. No more "tissue-paper tips." Now start each day the help-your-nails way, with sunny, orange-bright Knox Gelatine Drink.

Bewitching news!

©1965 The Procter & Gamble Company.

"It's Hidden Magic–the new hair spray that holds and holds... yet loves to be combed!"

Spray it...if your hair does get mussed...it combs right back!

"New Hidden Magic stands up to a windy day with all the holding power of a stiff hair spray—only Hidden Magic isn't stiff! It's enchantingly easy to comb. The reason is an exclusive new holding ingredient...*Flexinol. Procter & Gamble invented it. And it leaves your hair soft and flexible. Really combable! And if that isn't Hidden Magic, my name isn't Wanda the Witch."

P.S. There's also a Hidden Magic "For Extra Control." Just look for the red label.

*Flexinol is Procter & Gamble's trademark for its exclusive holding ingredient.
